MARRIED

Last Sunday afternoon, at the home of Rev. Malcom Black, Will N. Reed was married to Miss Anita Longshore, Reverend Black officiating.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Reed, and was born and bred in him in his native Texas. It is hard for a Texas raised boy to learn to like coon odor. It is likely, if Black lived a hundred years in Chicago, he could not bring himself to consort with coons.

millling with the convention bunch some. They look like typical politicians and I would hate to leave an umbrella where they could see it. It is horrible—the odor the negro delegates leave in the swell lobbies of the hotels—shaking hands with their white brethren.

Evidently, young black still retains the white instinct which was born and bred in him in his native Texas. It is hard for a Texas raised boy to learn to like coon odor. It is likely, if Black lived a hundred years in Chicago, he could not bring himself to consort with coons.

HAL KNIGHT WINS HONORS

It has leaked out that Hal Knight won the faculty prize at Daniel Baker College, at Brownwood, which was offered for the best grades this year. The prize was a handsome set of Shakespeare's works. He had the choice between the books and a ring of equal value, but he chose the books. Evidently, he prefers to ornament the brain instead of the fingers.

Hal wouldn't tell the reporter about his success, but we got the good news anyway. However, this success is no surprise to us, for when these Sterling boys get into a contest with boys elsewhere, it is a general rule that they come out winners.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

Ralph Peters
On Railway Mail Pay

A controversy has been raging in the columns of the press between the railroads and the Federal Post Office Department over the question of proper compensation for handling the United States mails. Mr. Ralph Peters, Chairman of the Railway Mail Committee, was asked to state the railroad side of the controversy to the American farmer, said in part:

"The railway mail pay question will be settled, not settled permanently and with justice to all concerned, as soon as the American people realize that the whole subject, while seemingly complicated and technical, boils down to a few simple points of fair business dealing which no one need be a ratio expert to understand. The first is that the Post Office Department weighs the mails and adjusts the pay of the railroads, only once in four years. This is done in the many cases in which it merely requires the use of post office apartments in combination cars, although such apartments differ from the full railway post office cars only in size. More than 4,000 apartments of this character have been fitted up, and are maintained for the exclusive use of the Post Office Department. Failure to pay for them has been an especial hardship to the smaller roads on which the Department does not find it necessary to utilize whole cars.

One last point: In thousands of instances (though not in all) the Post Office Department requires the railroads to carry the mails back and forth between railroad stations and post offices, but pays them nothing for this extra service beyond the rates covering the rail transportation. The railroads have no choice but to perform this additional service gratis, or to refuse to carry the mails at all.

Now for the remedies the railroads ask: They do not ask to have the mails weighed daily, or to have each shipment weighed and paid for separately, as is done in the case of private shippers. They merely ask to have the mails weighed, and the pay of the railroads adjusted, at least once a year, instead of once in four years. They also ask that apartment post office cars be paid for, at reasonable rates, according to size. Lastly, they ask that the Post Office Department cease to require of them free messenger service between stations and post offices, and either relieve them of this service or pay fairly for it. These are the reforms the railroads list of Congress. They gladly lay these reforms before the public, confident that they will appeal to the common sense and fairness of American voters."

From 1910 to 1914, the value of the Texas steer has increased $11.20.

Fifteen per cent of the beef cattle of the United States are in Texas. We have more than twice as many as any other state.

Texas ranks fifth in number of milk cows and first in quality of milk, cream and butter produced.

The Texas milk cow on January 1st, 1914, was valued at $45.00 by Uncle Sam, while five years ago she was worth only $29.70.

There are 17,500 cowboys on the cattle ranches in Texas.

The average cotton production of the world is 13 bales per 1,000 population, and the average for Texas is 1,000 bales per 1,000 population.

Texas has more cotton gins, compresses and cotton seed oil mills than any other state.

extremely courteous toward his opponents, personally, he certainly robbed them of their weapons and turned them upon his critics. The "garden seed graft," of which so much has been said, was made plain to all that congressmen had nothing to do with the distribution of seeds, except that they furnished the Department of Agriculture with the names of their constituents. He answered the "mileage graft" insinuation by saying that he always voted for a reduction of mileage whenever he had the opportunity. He stated that he had been continuously at his post of duty, and was here at this time by reason of being "paired" with a Republican.

ODOR AND COLOR AT THE CONVENTION

We swiped the following paragraph of a letter from Zenus Black, a former Sterling boy now in Chicago, to his father:

"It is needless to say the Convention is causing a lot of excitement. I hear bands and a parade going by now, with banners: 'We Want Teddy,' but it looks now that Hughes will have the nomination. I have been ity accorded us during our stay in Sterling. True, we were disappointed in not being allowed to hold public meetings; but we hold no ill feeling toward anyone, and can truly say with the Savior on the cross: 'Forgive them Father, for they know not what they do.' A work has begun, which will never cease until "the latter house" has been built in all its glory and splendor.

JAMES

FOR SALE: A new phone box in good order, together with 100 lbs. of phone wire at a bargain. J. E. Davis, Sterling City, Texas.

M. C. MITCHELL

Last week, we announced M. C. Mitchell a candidate for the office of Treasurer of Sterling county.

Mr. Mitchell has been a resident of Sterling County for a quarter of a century, and if he has been guilty of any mean tricks, they have not come to our knowledge; and if his campaign develops nothing, you may be sure that "Marion" is o. k. He has always proven himself to be an industrious, honest and law-abiding citizen, and we feel sure that he is competent to safely keep and intelligently disburse the shekels of the county.

Honest, capable and courageous, we submit him to the hands of Sterling's democracy; and if Marion Mitchell is elected, we shall have in him an officer who will do his whole duty.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

H. N. Pope
ON OUR EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.

Our educational system is more in need of intelligent consideration than any other public institution supported by the people. There has been much said and done about our penitentiary system and making good citizens out of criminals is a laudable undertaking, but children are more important and more numerous than convicts, and we should all go to school a part of the time and keep out of the penitentiary all the time. Our educational system has defects both natural and acquired which should be remedied. I will mention a few of these.

We have in Texas a half million children of school age that do not attend school. The census enumerators found that 42 per cent of our children of school age were not enrolled in any kind of a school. The average annual attendance of those who do enter is 56 days, and we rank 42nd with other States in this respect. Seven per cent of our white and 25 per cent of our colored population that is ten years of age and over is unable to read and write, and if we do not overcome illiteracy more rapidly in the future than we have in the past decade, it will require three generations for all our people to become able to read and write. A comparison of our percentage of illiteracy with other states shows that we rank 26th and we have remained stationary in relative position during the past decade. This defect could, it seems, be best remedied by a compulsory educational law, and the Farmers' Union has always stood for such legislation. Texas is one of the six remaining states that has never adopted a compulsory educational law, and these states are at the bottom of the list in illiteracy.

Turning to the other extreme we will examine the finished product of our educational system regarding the State University as a basis. In looking over a recent bulletin issued by the University listing the occupations of nearly a thousand graduates after leaving the University we find that 44 per cent have been elected to office, and probably half the remainder were beaten in the race for office, making a total of 75 per cent politicians with, of course an occasional statesman. Many of these boys soon after their graduate get into the legislature and sow their wild oats on the statute books. Thirty-five per cent of the University's male graduates are lawyers, and many times they take good slow hands and make poor lawyers out of them. Every time the University turns out a lawyer it throws upon society an expense of thousands of dollars, and it costs the people approximately $300.00 to educate one, for the tax payer supports the University. It must be said to the credit of the University, however, that it has among its graduates some of the most capable citizens of Texas.

The farmers of this state want the University and favor higher education, and we must have lawyers in reasonable quantities and statesmen are a necessity in government, but the educational system needs a general overhauling, and the farmers want to bear the subject discussed.
