HEDLEY, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1911

N

Come to Hedley, the Town with a Future, Situated in the Famous Farming Coun

ELECTION GOES WET BY 6,000 VOTES

The state went anti. They only beat us about six thousand votes which is not such a great majority in a total vote of about 468,000.

The reports sent out Saturday night and Sunday looked like a dry landslide and some of the anti left town. Monday reports began to show a wet victory and we suppose some of the pros left town as they haven't been seen since.

Leaders on both sides are talking of contesting, both claiming irregularities. It is to be hoped that no such action will be taken.

The election passed off quietly here, the voters going about their business or going back home as soon as they voted.

Donley county went dry 501 to 188. The vote at Hedley was 88 for and 32 against.

Below is the vote in Donley:

	pro	anti
Old Town	15	5
Clarendon	266	80
Lelia Lake	51	25
Giles	22	15
Hedley	88	32
Rowe Ranch	5	4
Jericho	5	10
Oller	4	6
Bray	25	4
Martin School-house	14	5
Pleasant Valley	6	2
Total	501	188

The Panhandle rolled up a big majority for the amendment.

MILLINERY

Miss Matthews and Mrs. J. B. Ozier have formed a partnership for the coming season and have planned to open up a real Bon-Ton Millinery Establishment in our Hedley town. The old stand in Bond W. Johnson's store will be enlarged and fitted up especially for their work.

HELP THE PICNIC BY INFLUENCE, PRECEPT AND EXAMPLE. BRING PLENTY OF THE "EATS."

YOUNG FOLKS

On Tuesday evening Miss Ruby Jones entertained a number of friends with 42 and other games. Those present were: Misses Connell of Fort Worth, Brown of Itasca, McHan, Waldron, Newton, Matthews, Miller, Messrs. Jones, E. and L. Dishman, Matthews, Myers, Harris, and McGee.

Music was rendered by Misses McHan, Connell and Brown.

Delicious refreshments were served. Announcing a delightful evening all bade adieu to the hostess.

---Reported.

The young folks were entertained at the home of W. S. McCrory Thursday evening with music and games to a late hour. After which some of them started out serenading. It was certainly appreciated, but as we had no cake, not even bread, we had to let slip the opportunity to fill their "inards".

B. W. M. U.

The B. W. M. U. Society met with Mrs. W. G. Brinson Thursday. The Sunday School work was taken up with a great deal of interest. August 10th is our next regular meeting day, but will be deferred until August 24th on account of the picnic. Will meet with Mrs. Albright.

Press Reporter.

H. V. Byrd of Ryan, Oklahoma, visited his sister, Mrs. J. H. Richey, and his mother, Mrs. Byrd, this week. He said this country certainly looks good to him. In fact, the country from Childress to Quanah has by far the best crops he saw on his entire trip.

Rev. E. Dubbs was here first of week selling his "Pioneer Days in the Southwest." He finds a ready sale for the book. It contains many items of interest relating to Indian times of which he had a good share. He will preach here 4th Sunday in August.

MRS. J. M. OXNER LECTURED JULY 23

Mrs. Oxner delivered an interesting lecture Sunday afternoon to a crowded house. The lecture dealt with missionary work in China, their customs, etc.

After the lecture it was the former family's happy privilege to be with Mrs. Oxner the rest of the afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McDougal, and heard quite a lot more about the Chinese. Mrs. McDougal set before her guests some fine fruit, and later one of the finest suppers we have ever eaten.

HARLAND NAYLOR LOSES AN EYE

Yesterday morning, Harland Naylor, 15-year-old son of T. N. Naylor, living on Lake Creek north of town, lost an eye. He and his brother Tom were cleaning out a horse's hoof with a pocket knife when the horse jerked loose and caused Tom to stick the knife in Harland's eye. It entered about the center of the ball and ranged downward. He was taken to the Adair Hospital at Clarendon.

In talking with a horticulturalist who has lived in the west all his life and who knows more about trees than the average man knows about his own family, we are informed that the only real, tried in the bark, dry clim-

GEORGIA WOMAN 111 YEARS OLD

Atlanta, Ga. July 27.— Mrs. Mary Trawick Proctor, who is said to be 111 years old, a real daughter of the American revolution who has lived in three centuries, has just been discovered in a humble one room cabin in Bartow county, Ga.

Her sole companions are her daughter, Miss Mary Proctor aged 90, and two great-great-grandchildren, descendants of another daughter.

Mr. Proctor was born in Wake county, North Carolina, in 1800. At the age of 19 she married Hiram Proctor, veteran of the revolution and the war of 1812. She has lived under twenty-five presidents, including John Adams and William H. Taft.

On a bedding of straw; constituting a mattress so thin that the rough plank slats can be seen, this daughter of the revolution lies, her form emaciated, skin wrinkled and almost a skeleton.

Her aged daughter administers the wants and necessities of the little household and sometimes tills the soil in a small cotton and garden patch nearby.

The meager profits derived from this labor she adds to the $12 a month pension Mrs. Proctor receives for the service her husband rendered in the war of 1812. A movement has been started in Atlanta to raise funds sufficient to provide for the two old women the rest of their lives.

News has reached town from some source that some one in the community had raised three peaches that weighed five pounds but we will not vouch for the assertion because we haven't seen the peaches. But it is not out of reason for this country.

BASKET PICNIC IN HEDLEY AUGUST 10

Every arrangement possible is being made to have a successful picnic. Watch for program on posters. Everybody invited to come with full baskets.

The program for the day will consist of music, speeches, readings, ball games, tournament, relay races, races, and other features to make a full day.

Excursion rate of one and one-third fare has been granted for that day by the Denver from all points from Childress to Claude.

Following is a list of the committees selected so far, and others will be added as the necessity arises:

Arrangement: O. H. Britain, T. R. Moreman and J. C. Wells. Advisory: Bond W. Johnson, J. G. McDougal, L. A. Stroud. Transportation, Tournament, Relay: W. S. McCrory and Sid Harris.

Seating: S. A. McCarroll, E. H. Willis, W. E. Brooks.

Special Music: A. N. Wood, J. T. McHan, Mrs. McDougal, Miss Laura Brinson.

Soliciting Committee: R. H. Jones, P. C. Johnson, and John Harris.

Put up Stand: N. M. Hornsby, R. B. Jones, Will Jones.

Ball Games and Grounds: W. E. Brooks, E. L. Yelton and W. W. Gammon.

Every business house in town will be closed from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. on that day so the business men can be at the grounds to see that the visitors from far and near have a good time. They want a successful picnic and the good will of the people, and it is requested that all people who expect to do any shopping that day will make their arrangements to do so before or after the hours above mentioned.

and some 8 or 10 miles in length, was visited by a hail storm that literally and forever ruined the crops over which it passed, especially is this true with reference to cotton, which in most instances was beaten almost to the ground only a little stub being left standing. Some seem to think that there is a chance for most of the cotton to come out yet and make a fair yield. From what we can learn there was 15 or 20 farmers who suffered in this loss, and all with whom we have talked say that they never had prospects for better crops before.—Wellington Leader.

ate shade or ornamental trees are the honey locust and the male Russian mulberry. When you plan to put out trees this fall include some of them in your list. Next year is going to be a wet year and an excellent time to start trees. The honey locust is a dry climate tree, and has the advantage over others in that the worm never bothers it. The male mulberry is selected over the female because it has a better, larger growth, and devoid of fruit which is desirable for an ornamental tree as the fruit litters the ground and attract lots of flies.—Ex.

A SCARCE ARTICLE

A financier of Texico counfed his pocket change, drew out the balance in the bank as shown by his pass book, borrowed to the limit of his stock and bonds, and took the board to the dealer to buy the most palatable article in the world. Its fame was known from ocean to ocean and from continent to continent, and it was as scarce as truth to the nature faker. The dealer carefully counted the money and deposited it with his bank to know that it was not counterfeit, opened the time vault, unlocked the burglar proof safe and from a secret drawer extracted the article carefully wrapped in tin foil, and delivered it to the customer who put it in his strong box and carried it home to his good wife to make soup of.

The family gathered in anticipation of a look at the most precious and rapidly disappearing article in the world. The man's face glowed with triumph and self pride; with a wonderful key he opened the complex mechanism of the lock and opened the str-box, and his trained unwrapped the ten foil and brought to light the novelty while shouts of joy rent the air by members of the family. The reporter looked over his shoulder and saw in the hollow of his hand a measly little last year's potato!—Texico Trum-

HAVE CONFIDENCE

No one is to be more profoundly pitted than he who believes every evil thing reported of his neighbor. Such a disposition may be termed cancer of the heart and eats out all charity, mercy and faith in his kind.
We are dependent upon each other for life, and for all happiness in the world. And life is a dreary, dark dungeon to those who lose faith in humanity.
There are frailties enough in human hearts, but the world holds millions of men today who would die for honor, and whose word is as sure as life. Millions of pure women worthy of love and esteem live in our country, rear their children in the fear and admonition of the Lord, and who will some day pass through the pearly gates and he who sees evil in innocent actions and imputes wicked motives to others is a hyena, unworthy the name of man. This custom of belieing every evil report is so common the most notorious blackguard in the community holds the power to tarnish the name of the purest woman leaving upon it a smirch never to be affected.

No weakness is productive of so much harm as that credulity in reference to slander, being responsible for more broken hearts than any other sin. If you want to be kind or just or merciful, as you would obtain mercy hold fast to faith in the integrity and purity of your neighbor.—Vernon Call.

Just before going to press we learned that that Johnnie Moore has sold his home place and farm west of Memphis to J. C. Barnett of Hedley. Mr. Moore will move to Memphis and Mr. Barnett and family will move to this farm at once.—Democrat.

Mr. Blankenship came up first visit his sons. He lived here until last fall and is well known to the Hedley people.

A fine shower fell Thursday night. While not exactly needing the rain it came in time and will possibly be a benefit to crops.

COMFORT VS. LINCOLN CABIN

Young Admirers of "Honest Abe" Prefer Hut of Their Own Construction to Elaborate Home.

On a side hill of Sam Grossman's beautiful country home at Stop 17 on the C. P. & E., his two little boys, Marcus and Sam, together with their chums, young Tremaine, Polly Lewis and one or two others, have built a stanch little log cabin, weatherproof, where they do a bit of cooking in a brick fireplace and gather to enjoy outdoor life. They built the cabin without help, using the limbs of trees cut down for the material, and filling in the chinks with plaster. They have a lot of fun with their outdoor sports.

"But why do you want to live in a log cabin," asked the elder Gross-man, "when you have a big, comfortable house ready for you?"

Marcus was plainly embarrassed.
Then, "Abe Lincoln lived in a log cabin," he replied.

From which it may be inferred that the youngster is not without certain political ambitions.

BIRTHRATE OF NATIONALITIES.

Figures which throw light on what matrons of various nationalities are doing in the way of increasing the population of the city of New York have just been issued by the health department. In the Jewish districts the birth rate is the highest, averaging 55 per 1,000 of the population there. In typically Italian sections the rate is 53.5. In the negro districts the birth rate averages 26.6. But in the high-class native American private residence districts the rate is less than 7 per 1,000.

The number of children resulting from mixed marriages indicates, the experts say, that the second generation of immigrants are not as prolific in offspring as are the first generation.

THE TENTH MAN

"If a business proposition stood on the street corner, with hand extended, some men would not know enough to grasp it."— Mark Hanna.

If you suggest a good thing to ten men, this will happen:

Five of them will pass it by without serious thought. They are mortgaging their futures.
Poor fellows, they are bound to fail.

The sixth man will agree that it is a good thing as long as you talk with him, but that is all.
He will never act.

The seventh man will say the idea is a splendid one, but he is too busy--too many social functions to think about it now.

The eighth and ninth men will enthusiasm right away, but soon are "down and out". They lack "stickability"--the quality that wins.

The 10TH MAN will be awake.
He will see that it is a good thing, and will find time, or MAKE time, to use it. He will act upon it promptly, and get the benefits from it.

The result is that the TENTH MAN is usually found leading the others. In the shop or factory, the TENTH MAN is foreman or superintendent. In the store, the TENTH MAN is the manager or head of some department. In the office, the TENTH MAN is the chief clerk, head bookkeeper or secretary. Some call it luck which puts the TENTH MAN ahead of the others. He will say it is using opportunities and working hard.

Garfield said that if the power to do work is not talent, it is the known substitute for it.

YOU can be a TENTH MAN.
The TENTH MAN grasps the opportunity to educate himself.
He commands good wages. The other nine do work that any ordinary man can do. The wages of the ordinary man command them. The TENTH MAN has pure GRIT.

Graduates of this school are TENTH MEN and women, because it takes GRIT to successfully master their courses.
There is no "going across lots" to a good paying position. Those who think so and try it always find a big hedge-fence on the other side of the field.

Yes, a few of our students drop out when they can't spell a word or work a problem the first time. We are sorry for them, but they have no GRIT.
Most, however, do have GRIT to stick until they win out. Occasionally one comes back; his GRIT has been sharpened by the whetstone of experience, and he becomes successful. Will you be a TENTH MAN or a TENTH WOMAN by grasping the opportunity offered by the

HUMAN RACE OF THE FUTURE
Man Will Have Larger Head and Fewer Teeth and Fingers. Says Scientist.

Signor Enrico Morselli, the Genoese anthropologist, considers that the human race will undergo a process of physical change. Man in the future, he says, will have a bigger head than he has today. This will be accompanied by a modification of form, inasmuch as the head will be rounded in days to come. The short headed man will dominate, at least as far as white races are concerned, while, on the other hand, among the yellow peoples the long head will be the mark.

Signor Enrico Morselli considers that as the human head develops the other organs will undergo a process of atrophy. Man in the future will have only 28 teeth. Possibly he will have fewer fingers and the little toe is certainly condemned to disappear. The arms will be shorter and internally there will be changes; the coccum, the seat of the appendix, will cease to exist.—London Globe.

ANCIENT SCOTTISH KIRKS.

In the age of witchcraft and superstition it was believed that the fairies built the old kirks in Glasgow and that they had a right to them; so said W. B. Patterson, lecturing before the Old Glasgow club. The accommodations afforded the parishioners were very different from the present luxurious age. There were no new pews in Scottish kirks before the reign of Charles I. The people had to bring their stools with them, and those that did not do this simply sat down on the floor. For the evening service parishioners likewise brought candlesticks and candles. On the question of the separation of the sexes Mr. Patterson mentioned the interesting fact that there still existed a church in the city where this rule was observed.

GENIUS DIVIDED.

"The author of genius," said William Dean Howells at a dinner in New York, "expresses the thoughts of his time. He speaks out those things that his generation has all along been thinking—but thinking silently, and, perhaps, a little mistily. An author of transcendental genius speaks the thought of all time. For example—one summer at Sunapee I loaned a volume of Plato to a lean, shrewd farmer. When the volume was returned I said: 'Well, how did you like Plato?' 'Fust rate,' the farmer answered. 'I see he's got some of my ideas.'"

COURTESY BETWEEN TELEPHONE USERS

Would you rush into an office or up to the door of a residence and blurt out "Hello! Hello! who am I talking to?" and then, when you received a reply, follow up your wild, discourteous salutation with "I don't want you; get out of my way. I want to talk with Mr. Jones." Would you? That is merely a sample of the impolite and impatient conversations that the telephone transmits many times a day.

There is a most agreeable mode of beginning a telephone conversation which many people are now adopting, because it saves useless words and is, at the same time, courteous and direct. It runs thus:

The telephone bell rings, and the person answering it says: "Morton & Company, Mr. Baker speaking." The person calling then says: "Mr. Wood, of Curtis & Sons, wishes to talk with Mr. White."

When Mr. White picks up the receiver, he knows Mr. Wood is on the other end of the line, and without any unnecessary and undignified "Hallos," he at once greets him with the refreshingly courteous salutation: "Good morning, Mr. Wood." That savors of the genial handshake that Mr. Wood would have received had he called in person upon Mr. White.

Undoubtedly there would be a far higher degree of telephone courtesy, particularly in the way of reasonable consideration for the operators, if the "face-to-face" idea were more generally held in mind. The fact that a line of wire and two shining instruments separate you from the person with whom you are talking, takes none of the sting out of unkind words.

Telephone courtesy means answering the telephone as quickly as possible when the bell rings—not keeping the "caller" waiting until one gets good and ready to answer. Telephone courtesy, on party lines, means being polite when someone else unintentionally breaks in—not snapping, "Get off the line; I'm using it."

In a word, it is obviously true that that which is the correct thing to do in a face-to-face conversation, is also correct in a telephone conversation, and anyone has but to apply the rules of courtesy, prescribed long years before the telephone was first thought of, to know the proper manner for telephone usage.

Be forbearing, considerate and courteous. Do over the telephone as you would do face to face.—X.

J. C. WELLS
SOLE AGENT

Glasses and Glasses

Some people seem to think that if they only wear glasses it will be alright with their eyes. There would be just as much sense in prescribing the same medicine for every disease.

Consult me. I give examinations that leave no defects undiscovered.

CHAS. OREN
