I Benefits of Women's Tight Fitting Skirts By Alex Gustafson, Schenectady, N. Y.

As one who supremely respects womanhood and who looks forward to a new and blessed era for humanity through woman's emancipation, I would like to say a word in defense of the so-called "suggestive" garments. To me it seems almost incredible that ordinarily decent, respectable, God-fearing men should have the hardihood to denounce all women who wear such skirts as wantons, when surely everybody knows that multitudes of as good and modest women as can be found anywhere use these tight-fightting garments.

prurient minded men than the modern tight-fitting skirt. But they were not denounced in any brutal or ferocious manner. Why?

Not because they were considered more free from suggestion than and one or two of the big halls have the modern skirt, but because they gave no indication that woman intended to free herself from male tutelage.

That is the suggestion in the tight-fitting skirt which so terribly mum of from 50 to 100 representascandalizes woman in the eye of her master. The clumsy, cumbersome, ungainly skirts worn by woman in the past gave man a tremendous physical and psychological advantage over her.

So long as she wore such garments he need not fear losing his mastery over her, and he might humor her by granting her education, access to industries and professions and even limited powers of voting. But when woman sets to work to revolutionize her dress, as she now is doing, then he knows that she is, indeed, earnest to break all her immemorial bonds of servitude. No wonder he cries, in the name of outraged moral-

> Many Roomers Dread Happy Holiday Season By A. J. KING, New York

Why don't people who have homes invite those who have none to spend one of the holidays with them? There are thousands of men and women in any big city who dread the holiday season because of the homesickness it brings to them-men and women whose only home now is one room and who have to depend upon the board- the 40 years that he has held a ing house or restaurant for their meals, and, in many cases, the table talk of these boarding houses is all the social pleasure they have.

I have known of both men and women who have had to spend these days in awful loneliness and whose hearts ached as only those who have experienced such utter loneliness can appreciate.

The majority of those who have homes have "company" on the holidays, it is true, but in most cases their "company" consists of those who have homes of their own and who they know will be able to reciprocate in the same manner. But I believe that there are those who, if they realized how much it would mean and how much pleasure it would give. would invite some man or woman, without home and without friends to spend at least one of the holidays with them in their homes. If they know of none such themselves I am sure that if they made inquiry among their friends they could find some one who would value it.

Combine to Fight Evils of Divorce By A. J. Greenfell, Indianapolis, Ind.

It was announced recently that churches of all denominations were combining to fight the divorce evil. It is positively useless for them to think of bettering conditions to any great extent unless they start at the root of the evil-drink. Intoxication is the cause of nine-tenths of the divorces, and if the churches would combine to fight down the liquor traffic they would be doing a world-wide good, instead of attempting to force one who is unfortunate enough to marry a drunkard to spend the remainder of her life in poverty and abuse. Such a course as they propose would not tend toward the betterment of society, but instead would force people to worse lives and to suicide.

Let the churches start this work with their eyes wide open, so that they may make every stroke count.

Hundreds of young men and young women, too, could be saved from utter ruin-caused directly through spirituous liquors-if the churches would only combine and start at the bottom instead of trying just to the two hearing the case. He looked skim off a little bit at the top.

When a girl has to tell how many men she might have married it's a pretty good sign that she sees single blessedness for her lot and has to brag to keep her courage up.

A man of ninety-two has just married a woman of fifty-two. There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream.

Probably the first to initiate the enormous fees that have now become common was Adelina Patti, who 27 years ago asked $3,000 to sing three little songs of five minutes each at the Eden Concert in Paris, which works out at $200 a minute. 'As for Caruso, who has beaten all records, he receives $200,000 a year by contract from his impressario for singing 80 times. He is not allowed to sing elsewhere in public without M. Couried's permission, but the phonograph still pays him $400 a record, and this ances. It is by no means the maximum, however, as was seen when Caruso was present as a spectator at Mr. Smith offered him $1.500 to come and sing two songs in his drawing-"Impossible," replied the "I am here to rest and enjoy myself." Mr. H. Smith then doubled his offer, and said: "Only a quarter of an hour and the motor car is at If you would talk well the door." Twenty minutes later, in time for the next act, Caruso was back at the opera with $3,000 in his pocket that he had not exerted himself very seriously to earn. ## A TONIC LAXATIVE

Pe-ru-na, an Up-to-Date Family Medicine That Should Be In Every Home

S. B. HARTMAN, M. D.

Nearly everybody is obliged more or less to take a laxative. There are of course a few exceptions. A great many people also need occasionally to take a tonic. Probably few households exist that do not make use of tonics and laxatives.

The remedy Peruna is a laxative tonic. It not only operates as a gentle lavative but also as a tonic. The benefit derived from such remedy is a great deal more in the prevention of disease than in the cure. After a person has really become sick, either with an acute or chronic ailment, the rule should be to employ a physician, or some one who can give the bus, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores. case his personal attention. But long before this happens the person will complain of this or that symptom, which is not severe enough to interfere with his regular activities. If at this place before the discount of the complain activities and the complain activities are the complain activities. If at this place before the discount it.

sease has really gained a foothold in the system, a person was to take a dose or twoof a good tonic laxative the great majority of cases of sickness would be prevented.

Peruna is a remedy that should be kept in the house. Its virtue as a preventive to disease is the thing I wish chiefly to emphasize. A slight condition of constipation may lead to serious sluggishness of the bowels, biliousness, re-absorption of poisonous material and finally sickness. Or apathy of the stomach in which the food is not rel-ished, may gradually lead to atonic dyspepsia or to the acquisition of some acute disease. For either one of these conditions a few doses of the tonic laxative Peruna would set matters right. This is why the remedy should always be kept handy by.

When once the value of Peruna as household remedy is understood no home would be without it. Catharties, pills and powders would be discarded. Irritating tonics would be no longer taken. Alcoholic drinks would have no place. With a few doses of Peruna a vigorous appetite is produced and if there be any sluggishness of the bowels their function is gradually restored

Most laxatives are weakening in their effect. A tonic laxative guards against this weakening effect. Until right living has become so thoroughly established that all medicines are superfluous, Peruna will be needed. It is exactly the remedy that meets numerous necessities of the house-hold. Sold at all drug stores.

Mr. John B. Perkins, 22 Whiting St., Plymouth, Mass., writes: "I think Pe-Plymouth, Mass., writes: runa is a number one medicine. I was troubled with catarrh and bowel complaint. I tried several doctors, but could only find temporary relief. I took Peruna and am glad to say that it cured my catarrh and corrected my bowels.'

REALLY NAMED FOR STATE

Mississippi River Steamers Originated Cognomen That Has Now Become Universal.

On the Mississippi river in olden days the passenger steamboats were very ornate affairs, vying with each other in garish glory. One owner hit on the idea of naming his steamboat's cabins instead of numbering them. So he named them in honor of the states of the union, each having above the door the gilt title of some state, the big central cabin being called the "Texas," after the largest state. Other boat owners took up the idea, and thus the word cabin was gradually alternated by "state" room. For years the best cabin was still known as the Texas. Then that sobriquet died with the ebbing glory of the old river steamers. But the word "stateroom" became incorporated into our language, and in time even broke into the dictionary, as does many another catch phrase. Not one person in a thousand who occupies a stateroom knows the term once meant "a room named for a state."

COFFEE THRESHED HER. 15 Long Years.

"For over fifteen years," writes a patient, hopeful little Ills. woman, "while a coffee drinker, I suffered from Spinal Irritation and Nervous trouble. I was treated by good physicians, but did not get much relief. "I never suspected that coffee might be aggravating by condition. (Tea is just as injurious, because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.) I was down-hearted and discouraged, but prayed daily that I might find something to help me.

"Several years ago, while at a friend's house I drank a cup of Postum and though I had never tasted anything more delicious.

"From that time on I used Postum instead of coffee and soon began to improve in health, so that now I can walk half a dozen blocks or more with ease, and do many other things that I never thought I would be able to do again in this world.

"My appetite is good, I sleep well and find life is worth living. A lady of my acquaintance said she did not like Postum, it was so weak and taste-

"I explained to her the difference when it is made right-boiled according to directions. She was glad to know this because coffee did not agree with her. Infantile Paralysis.

The horrors of infantile paralysis will not be alleviated by the note of Dr. Simon Flexner and two associates, appearing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, that the healthy parents of patients may be carriers of the disease. Dr. Flexner reports that washings from the nasopharynx of the parents of a child suffering from an acute attack were inoculated on October 28 last in a monkey, the Macaucus synomolgus:

"Recovery from the anesthetic was prompt and the animal remained well until November 11, when it was noted to be excitable and to drag the right leg. The left leg proved to be weak. November 12 the right leg was definitely flaccid."

Two days later portions of the spinal cord and medulla showed typical lesions of experimental poliomyelitis."

Acid Kills Waterfowl.

That sulphuric acid, discharged into the water of Great Salt Lake, Utah, is responsible for the death of two million water fowl last year has been ascertained by Dr. Buckley of the pathological division of the bureau of animal industry. The American Game Protective association sent Dr. Buckley to Salt Lake City, thinking that some contagious disease caused the death of so many birds.

To Pop Corn.

Very often corn will not pop quickly, even over a very hot fire. If you will put the corn to be popped in a sieve and pour cold water over it, not allowing the water to stand on the corn, it will not only pop quickly, but the open kernels will be larger and lighter and more flaky than they otherwise would have been.

BEAUTY IN AMERICAN CITIES

Field for Artists Has as Yet Scarcely Been Prospected, Says Writer in Scribner's.

As I wandered about the streets and the parks, studying them under the constantly shifting and kaleidostopic effects which are peculiar to our thangeable climate (it might be at twilight with the lights reflected in tong streamers from the wet pavements, or perhaps twinkling through a blur of snow-on rainy days, at night, or during the Indian summer flays, when the tall skyscrapers showed only as towering ghosts through the universal purple haze.) I came gradually to perceive that here was another kind of beautiful which, however much it might differ from that to which I had been so long accustomed abroad, was none the less intrinsic and admirable, says a writer in Scribaer's. As time went on I became more and more fascinated with this strange new loveliness. And now, after thirty years, I have come to hold New York the most beautiful city in the world! Not Parts, nor London, nor Rome, nor Antwerp can, in my opinion, compare with it, either in color or effect, or in the unexpected character and beauty of its piled-up buildings. Even the admitted charm of Venice becomes somewhat petty by comparison; for mere picturesqueness does not necessarily connote beauty, and a scene which will make an excellent picture postal card will not always make an excellent picture.

I soon found that what was true of New York city was equally true of our American landscape in general. The quality of its beauty differed wholty from that of northern Europe, but it was equally adapted to pictorial expression on canvas. It had only to be approached by a systematic temperament and with unprejudiced eyes to yield limitless material for the painter's art. And, inasmuch as nature's moods on this side of the ocean are infinitely more varied than they are abroad, they lend themselves to the most divergent artistic temperament and permit of a very wide range of personal expression in art.

Finally, it can safely be stated that the field has as yet scarcely been prospected. Between Quebec and New Orleans, between the coast of Maine and California, there are countless beauty spots which are still virgin soil for the artist-each offering motives as different from those of Inness, Wyant, Homer Martin and Winslow Homer as theirs were from the motives employed by Corot and Mauve, and Millet and Monet.

NEED CARE IN ARRANGEMENT

Proper Display of Trees and Shrubs Must Be Made, to Secure the Best Results.

Mrs. Van Rensselaer, one of our most artistic writers on the subject of landscape gardening, says:

"If now we ask when and where we need the fine art of landscape gardening, must not the answer be: Whenever and wherever we touch the surface of the ground and the plants it bears with the wish to produce an organized result that shall please the eye? The name we usually apply to it must not mislead us into thinking that this art is needed only for the creation of broad landscape effects. It is needed wherever we do more than grow plants for the money we may save or gain by them. It does not matter whether we have in mind a great park or a small city square, a large estate or a modest dooryard, we must go about our work in an artistic spirit if we want a good result. Two trees and six shrubs, a scrap of lawn and a dozen flowering plants may form either a beautiful little picture or a disarray of forms and col-

Offenses Against Public Taste.

It is astonishing that men of wealth and culture should fail to recognize the rights of the public in property which is owned in fee by individuals or corporations. Putting up bill boards, unsightly walls or fences, the cutting of a sightly tree or hedge or the failure to cut an unsightly one are offenses against the public which the owner of otherwise private grounds has no moral right to commit. We should remember that the earth was made for man-that we should keep and leave it more beautiful than we found it. This is true of our home acre as well as the more elaborate park systems of our largest cities.

For Rural Highways.

The blue gum probably makes our finest country avenue trees, but it should be planted only where it will have plenty of room when fully grown, and where it will not be injurious to adjoining property. It is easily and quickly grown, but is a gross feeder, the roots depredating severely on adjoining fields. Its bark shedding is objectionable, especially along alfalfa or grain fields. On the street the blue gum should stand not less than 40 or 50 feet apart to secure spreading growth and best type of individual

SYNOPSIS.

Harding Kent calls on Louise Farrish to propose marriage and finds the house in great excitement over the attempted suicide of her sister Katharine. Kent starts an investgation and finds that Hugh Crandall, suitor for Katherine, who had been forbidden the house by General Farrish, had talked with Katharine over the telephone just before she shot herself. A torn piece of yellow paper is found, at sight of which General Farrish is stricken with paralysis. Kent discovers that Crandall has left town hurriedly. Audrew Elser, an aged banker, commits suicide about the same time as Katharine attempted her life. A yellow envelope is found in Elser's room. Post Office Inspector Davis, Kent's friend, takes up the case, Kent is convinced that Crandall is at the bottom of the mystery. Katharine's strange outery puzzles the detectives. Kent and Davis search Crandall's room and find an address, Lock Box II, Ardway, N. J. Kent goes to Ardway to investigate and becomes suspicious of a "Henry Cook.' A woman commits suicide at the Ardway Hotel. A yellow letter also figures in this case. Kent calls Louise on the long distance telephone and finds that she had just been called by Crandall from the same booth "Cook" disappears. The Ardway postmaster is missing. Inspector Davis arrives at Ardway and takes up the investigation. He discovers that the dead woman is Sarah Sacket of Bridgeport. Louise telephones Kent imploring him to drop the investigation. Kent returns to New York to get an explanation from Louise. He finds the body of a woman in Central Park and more yellow letters. He sees Crandall, whom he recognizes as "Cook," enter the Farrish home. Louise again implores Kent to drop the investigation and refuses to give any explanation. Later Kent sees Crandall and Louise in an automobile. Kent returns to Ardway.

"Let me see," she continued, "it was week ago Tuesday-no, it was Wednesday, for I went over to my sister's Tuesday and Mr. Rouser left word for me, and I found it waiting for me when I came back. He asked me to come over and take the office for the day. I was surprised when I come over here to open up to find him here, for I'd understood that he was going to be gone all day. 'Which direction did he go?" I asked, feeling more and more sure cleared up I was positive that the only that I had struck the right trail. In criminal who would be uncovered all probability this young fellow in the post-office was merely an innocent tool of Crandall. He had driven off somewhere to meet Crandall and give him the Lock Box 17 letters, for I was convinced that Stewart was merely an alias of the villain who had been sending out the yellow letters. If I could learn where the postmaster had gone on this visit, I might be able to find him now.

"Every time Charlie Rouser goes driving," said Miss Cox, "he always goes that way," indicating the opposite direction from the station, "I shouldn't be surprised in the least if he was keeping company with some farmer's daughter."

A sudden light came into her eyes and a smile of satisfaction spread over her face.

"Land alive, I never thought of it anything he's gone off to get married.'

"Hardly likely," said I. "He wouldn't go off and leave the office unguarded ence. without telling any one. And he wouldn't leave five thousand dollars lying there in the drawer."

"That's just what he would do. I'll bet he had a windfall of some sort and the minute he got the money in his hands he just couldn't wait to go

He generally keeps it over there in the corner, and it ain't there now." "It might be up at his boarding-house.'

"It might be," said Miss Cox. It came to me that if Davis had thought it worth while to go to the Widow Smith's to make inquiries, it might be worth my while, too After asking Miss Cox for directions, I told her I was going to see if Rouser's wheel was missing, and made my way up one of the side streets to the boarding-house. Davis' visit evidently had ruffled the widow. I found her in anything but a communicative mood.

"If you're another of those detective men coming prying around here,' she said, "you might just as well get out. I've said all I'm going to say, and that's all there is to it."

"Please don't mistake me for a de tective," I said as pleasantly as I could. "I'm-a-friend of Miss Cox down to the post-office and we were wondering whether Charlie had taken his bicycle when he went away, and Miss Cox thought you might know." "If you're a friend of Jennie Cox," said Mrs. Smith, "I guess I'd be likely to know it, being her own cousin and knowing as well as I know my own face that she hasn't had a man friend for eleven years, since Aleck Thompson died. As for Charlie Rouser going away on his bicycle, I don't know nothing about it. All I know is his wheel ain't here, but he never kept it here anyway. He always kept it down to the post-office."

With that she slammed the door in my face, but I went away well satisfied. As I walked down the dusty path of the so-called street toward the hotel I reviewed all I had learned and was delighted to think how amazed Davis would be when I presented my facts gathered in the last twenty-four hours, which were these: Hugh Crandall was aware that we were on his trail.

Unable to learn anything from Louise over the telephone, he had dared

As soon as he got them he bility for Crandall to have made away went away, and he didn't come back with Rouser for fear of betrayal. From all I had learned about the missing postmaster, I was convinced that he "When I come over here that day I was weak rather than vicious, and I crime of two persons, after all, was only a theory. When the mystery was would be Hugh Crandall. I shuddered as I recalled that Louise even now was somewhere with him, not exactly alone, to be sure, for the car was driven by her chauffeur, but still it was a most disconcerting thought.

As I approached the hotel I saw a buggy stop before it, the occupants of which were Davis and the constable. As Davis dismounted I heard him say to the constable:

"Tonight at eight." "I'll be on hand, you bet," said the constable as he drove off.

I quickened my steps and overtook Davis just as he started up the stairs to his room.

"I've got some great news for you." I whispered and went on up with him. "I have seen Hugh Crandall twice he got a horse at the livery stable, no, three times, today," I said by way of beginning, "and I have found out

I hastened up-stairs to get the weapon and when I returned he was waiting for me at the door and hurrisd me around the corner and into the buck-board. With Dodds crowded in between us we drove along the street leading away from the station and soon struck what is locally known as the Plank Road, skirting a chain of hills which the residents dignify by the name of mountains. #### VERY IMPORTANT ROOM

KITCHEN DESERVES ATTENTION BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE.

If Necessary to Stint, Let It Be Any where But There-Too Frequently Most Unsanitary Corner of the House.

A writer on hygiene has said that "the modern kitchen is a refinery, laboratory and disinfection station and a factory. If so, it is important to run it on hygienic lines; in many homes it is the unsanitary corner of the house. With the kitchenette habit less and ess attention is paid to sunlight; instead of being the cheeriest room in the house, the kitchen is often the darkest and worst ventilated. While it is not always possible to get the ideal kitchen, the woman who rents a house should see that it is not shaded by balconies, that the range is not in some dark alcove where light and air never reach, and that the sink has proper drainage and is free from backboards where grease can lodge.

In building a house stint on woodwork and furnishings rather than on the kitchen. It should be built with at least two windows, preferably so there may be a cross draught, and a third small window above the range to give light and let odors escape. Rounded corners, paneled walls and tiled floors make ideal furnishings for a kitchen, as dust and germs have fewer lurking places. If that is beyoud one's means, have a hard plaster wall and flush with wide, tight-fitting baseboard, and give all a coat of lightcolored paint once a year. Have the paint enameled, so it may be washed frequently. A hardwood floor is nearly as costly as a tiled one, so the average householder must fall back on linoleum. It pays to get the best qual-

Do not stint on your sink. Delay building if you must put in a wood and zine abomination, which breeds all sorts of germs. Solid porcelain is the first choice, next best is porcelainlined with tile backing, but even cast-Iron is better than wood.

The sanitary sink is open all around to light and air, has a continuous tiled backing, with no crevices for dirt, and the waste pipes must run separate from the soil pipes clear to the house "Turn out," whispered Davis to drain. At the right side have a draining board, and another at the left, even if it must be hinged for lack of

Utilize the wall space near the range with shelves and hooks, where can be stored some of the pots, pans, ladles and seasonings always needed in cooking. If there is a corner for a hanging clock there will be less guessing in cooking. Also have a nail where "lifters" may be fastened by an elastic hanger-it is a big saving on tea tow-

Every woman should insist upon sepervising the kitchen closet or dresser. In a small room space is saved by putting this in a corner. It may have a flat table surface, with shelves above reaching to the ceiling and below zinclined bins to hold sugar and flour at each side. Between the bins, which should be quite narrow and open like a drawer, have a closet for pots and pans.

Filled Cookles.

One cup sugar, one-half cup butter and milk, one egg, three and a half cups flour, two teaspoons cream of tartar, one teaspoon each of soda and vanilla and more flour if needed. Put cookies in a pan, put one teaspoon of filling on each, not letting it come to the edge. Then put another cooky on top. Bake in quick oven, taking care not to scorch, as it takes longer to bake than single cookies. Filling-One-half cup each of sugar and water, one teaspoon flour and one cup chopped raisins, figs or dates, or a portion of each. Cook until thick; stir to prevent burning. This filling is nice for layer cakes also. These cookies are very nice-most favorite among children.

Cleaning Velvet.

Stretch the velvet tautly, pile side apward, over a basin of boiling water. As the steam rises through the velvet get a second person to brush up the pile briskly with a stiff whisk. If the material is really dirty and not merely crushed and flattened, sponge it lightly with benzine, taking care that there is no artificial light or fire in the room in which the operation is performed, and also that there is no draught leading to an apartment containing heat or light of any kind.

Don't Let Your Opportunity Slip

"One day, when President Cleveland was called upon for some extra work, he asked the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General to send a good stenographer to the White House. The Fourth Assistant Postmaster General returned to his office and sent up George B. Cortelyou, because he was on the job and he had shown he could do the thing right "

There are no boundaries and no barriers to the young man or young woman who has had a practical working knowledge of Shorthand and Typewriting. Wherever people live and whereever the United States mail penetrates, there are opportunities awaiting the stenographer, either young man or young woman. It is no longer a question of securing a position if you are a stenographer. The position awaits you if you are "on the job" and can show that you can "do the right thing" when "opportunity knocks at your door." No business college receives more calls for its graduates than the Bowie Commercial College does, and not one of its graduates ever failed to "make good."

Visitors are always welcome. Students are enrolled at any time. School is in session the entire year. Backward students are given private help. There are no entrance examinations. One student is not held back for another. Our scholarships are unlimited. If interested in your future, write us.

I praise Cardui for my recovery and good health, and I feel sure it will do the same for others, as it has me, if they will only give it a trial."

The above letter is an earnest, frank statement of Miss Duff's opinion of Cardui. She has confidence in it, because it relieved her, after many different kinds of other remedies had failed, and she believes it will help you, just as it did her, if you will give We join Miss Duff in urging you to Casement Scheme of Decoration Is One of the Neatest and Most Serviceable Possible.

One of the neatest and prettiest ways of dressing the window of a room in which it is not desirable to have flowing draperies is to use the casement scheme of decorations. Holly berries are also seen scantily at both its ends upon fine sliding rods of brass which fit into groves at top and bottom of the casement if it be a full length French window, and against the sliding casements, if the window is of the American type. Another advantage of this scheme of window dressing is the ease with which the draperies may be laundered, for, being straight, guiltless of ruffles and always unstarched the merest tryo may wash, fron and readjust them.

New Dress Materials.

At the outset of every season a multitude of new materials for gowns is thrust upon the market, and by gradual elimination we soon know which will prove becoming and make up suitably. This year's fashion is particularly specializing in several new materials which come in a charming display of colors and changeable effects. The most fashonable material is the much-worn brocade, and it is sought by dressmakers for every conceivable type of gown from street suits to the most elaborate evening gowns and wraps .-Harper's Bazar.

The flounced skirts are quickly made when the bordered fabrics are used, and they are equally effective in the embroidered batistes and linens. Even the simple little dimity and muslin frocks take on a new air when fashioned with these narrow flounces. The flounces of 1913, however, are quite different in construction from those of previous seasons and are so cut that they add only a semblance o additional width to the skirt.

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lyd'a E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills. Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk-only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them-and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

Iola, Kansaa.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. Brown, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

MRS. WILLIAMS SAYS: Elkhart, Ind. -" I suffered for "4 years from organic inflammation, f male weakness, pain and irregular-ties. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing or my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanitive Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they express my thanks for what they have done for me.—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James

WHY THE MEAL WAS HALTED

Nothing Seriously Wring, but Old Gentleman Had Some Trouble With the Elusive Onion.

An aged country couple, on the urgent invitation of a grandson who lived in the city, were on for a visit. The grandson's wife was very anxious that the first meal should be one which the aged couple would enjoy after their long ride in the train, and accordingly the table groaned under its burden of good things to eat.

In the course of the repast she noticed several times that the old man seemed to be making little progress ful of salt. with the meal.

When the Peanuts Ran Out.

For two hours an old back countryman, who had never before seen an elephant, had been standing before a row of them in enrapt silence dealing out peanuts one at a time. When the last was gone and no more forthcoming, Jumbo, the largest elephant, reached over and removed the entertainer's hat from his head to the top of a lion's cage nearby.

For the first time in two hours the old man expressed his emotions in words: "You old two-tailed Indianrubber nuisance you!" he exclaimed, indignantly. "If I knew which end your head was on, I'd slap your face."

Friendly Blow.

Louis Brownlow, Washington newspaper man, paused in a drug store in Greensboro, N. C., not so long ago, to ask for a match. While he was there a young colored chap came running in with a big gash the whole length of his skull, and apparently a good deal put out about some accident that had befallen him.

"What's happened to you?" asked Brownlow, excitedly but sympathetic-

"A friend hit me with a hatchet." replied the bleeding stranger.

The Real Villain.

"Are you the villain of this troupe?" asked the baggageman who was handling theatrical trunks. "No," replied the youth with black, curly hair. "I used to be, but the real villain is the treasurer of the company, and by this time he must be about five hundred miles on his way to somewhere west'

BOY OBEYED ORDERS GIVEN

Meant Well, but Information Was Not Welcomed by Hotel Manager Just at That Time.

A certain New York hotel manager is one of these nervous men who constantly warn their employes against keeping them in ignorance of any happening around the place. He hired a new bell boy recently, and gave him the usual warning:

"Remember," he warned, "if any thing happens around here I'm to be the first person to know about it." Soon after that he was showing three haughty Daughters of the Confederacy one of the best rooms in the place, when the new bell boy rushed in with his hair on end. "Something's happened!" he yelled. The three Daughters of the Confederacy turned coldly, and the manager, anxious to get rid of the boy, demanded to know the trouble. "That old cat down stairs," said the boy, "has lust had kittens. What shall we do?" The manager's suggestion was rough.

SURE.

Addressed to Women

That Backache of Yours

Is one of nature's warnings when all the joy of living has vanished because of trouble peculiar to womankind. Don't disregard this warning. Don't procrastinate. Now is the time to take steps to regain health and strength.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription NO NARCOTICS NO ALCOHOL

Has been recommended for over forty years as a remedy for ailments peculiar to women. Thousands of grateful women have testified to its effectiveness. You, too, will find it beneficial. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health.

This tonic, in liquid form, was devised over 40 years ago for the womanly system, by R.V. Pierce, M.D., and has benefited many thousand women. Now it can also be obtained in tablet form—from dealers in medicine, or send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box,

Every woman ought to possess Dr. Pierce's great book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in cloth covers will be sent on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of wrapping and mailing only. Address

A Case In Kind
"I wrote to you about six months ago for your kind advice in regard to my case," writes Mrs. Lizzie White. At times I was hardly able to be on my feet. I believe I had every pain and ache a woman could have. Had a very bad case of uterine disease. Ovaries wers very much diseased and my back was very weak. I suffered agreaf deal with nervous headaches, in fact I suffered all over. I followed your directions as closely as I could, and was well pleased with the results. I have taken your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Goiden Medical Discovery' for about three months and can now say that my health was never better. I can highly recommend Doctor Pierce's remedies to any woman suffering from female disease, and I do recommend them to every one I see. Have induced several to try your wonderful medicines."
