FARMERS BUSY GATHERING AND MARKETING CROPS; PLENTY BUYERS

This has been a busy week for the farmers, ginners, grain buyers and the public weigher. Cotton is coming in rapidly, and feed by the four score and more loads every day. Feed is bringing from $8 to $8.50 per ton in the head with B. L. Kinsey, Chas. Boles, J. L. Tims, and Harris & Wicks all buying. Quite a lot of corn is also coming in and bringing about 42c per bushels.

Harris & Wicks are threshing the feed they buy as fast as it comes in. E. C. Kerley is getting his threshing outfit lined up to thresh also. The busiest place in town is on the yards south of the railroad.

Keep your eye on Hedley for the next few months.

MEMPHIS WEDDINGS

Leck Moreman and Miss Ruby Long were married last Saturday evening in the presence of a few friends by Rev. W. T. Swaim at the manse. Leck Moreman is the son of R. L. Moreman and wife now of Corpus Christi. He was reared in this county, and is now running the Deep Lake gin for his uncle, T. L. Moreman. He has many friends here. The bride is the second daughter of N. H. Long and wife. She is a graduate of the Memphis High school and a very pretty and accomplished young lady. They will make their home at Deep Lake for the present, where his work is now located. Congratulations are extended and may their pathway always be bright. —Hall County Herald.

At the Presbyterian manse Tuesday night in the presence of several relatives and friends occurred the marriage of Mr. E. W. Curry and Miss Ethel Stephens, both of this city. The ceremony was performed at 8 p. m. in the parlors of the manse by Rev. W. T. Swaim. The bridal party came in two autos and spent only a few minutes there. The groom is a well known young man who has been in the auto repair business here for some time. The bride is the youngest daughter of H. G. Stephens and wife. She was born and has been reared in this city and has many friends here. They will reside in this city. Congratulations are extended. —Hall County Herald.

WILL RECEIVE BIDS

The Board of Trustees of the Hedley Independent School District will receive bids from banks on the deposits of the Hedley Independent School District funds, on Monday, Nov. 1, 1915. The bank offering the highest rate of interest will be the depository. Bids must be turned over to the secretary, C. E. Johnson. By order of the Board of Trustees.

Five Years Ago

Five years ago last Friday the initial number of the Hedley Informer was published.

Five years—an eighth of a man's life, ordinarily.

Five years—a long time—yet short.

Many changes have been made in the town and community during that time.

In looking over our file copy of the first issue we find there are very few business firms in Hedley that have not changed in management during the five years. The first issue shows ads carried by O. H. Britain, Johnston Hdw. Co., J. A. Adams, J. S. Stidham, Kendall & Gammon, Cates Bros., W. S. McCrory, P. C. Johnson—confectioner, Wood & Shelton, Rowe Merc. Co., Dr. A. M. Sarvis, W. G. Brinson, Cicero Smith and J. C. Woodridge Lbr. Cos., besides two pages of ads from Memphis firms. Just half as many business houses as now, but twice the amount of advertising.

Here are a few excerpts taken from the first issue printed Oct. 21, 1910.

The Rowe Merc. Co., has moved to Hedley; J. T. McHan, manager.

O. L. Robinson of Alameda, Cal., has bought lots in the Woodridge block and will build a residence thereon.

District court is in session at Clarendon.

The town cistern went dry last week—didn't hold an election either.

Miss Nelson is quite sick with fever.

G. C. Dunn sold his blacksmith shop last week to A. N. Wood.

Cates Bros. have bought the barber shop from Sid Newberry.

W. E. Reeves, while scuffling with the boys last week fell and hurt his hip and is having to use a crutch.

Last of last week cotton went way over the 15 cent mark, but dropped off several points this week.

Kendall & Gammon have their stock of saddle and harness about straightened out.

At the parsonage of Rev. Holt Oct. 9 occurred the wedding of B. C. Cates and Miss Minnie Jamar.

Nice shower fell Monday night E. E. McGee, R. H. Jones, Ed Blankenship, S. P. Hamblen, J. R. Boston, W. T. McBride, N. R. Darnell were visitors at Clarendon this week.

O. H. Brittain and son, Tom Stallings, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McDougal, Mrs. K. W. Howell, and Miss Laura Brinson attended the Dallas Fair.

Over 700 bales of cotton have been ginned at Hedley this fall. The ginners think they will get 800 more.

Wednesday morning a norther blew up. Thursday it snowed almost incessantly all day but melted as it fell. Cleared off that night, frosted, but did but little damage to green stuff.

Extracts from Oct. 28 issue

Dr. J. B. Ozier and wife have moved to Hedley from Clarendon.

Rowe Merc. Co. will open a meat market Monday.

A. F. Maldron has 25 acres of cotton, has ginned 12 bales and will get 6 more.

Box supper was held at Rowe Friday night.

Born Oct. 25 a boy to Dan Grimsley and wife.

Frank McClure is building a nice residence two miles east of town.

O. C. Hill is in town from his ranch.

Chas. Kinslow spent Sunday in Estelline.

Paul Sarvis returned from Dallas Tuesday.

G. A. Wimberly attended court in Clarendon Wednesday. Tom Shelton kept the bank for him.

A long distance telephone booth has been installed in the Rowe Merc. Co. building.

McKINNON-TORM

Thursday readers of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram read "License issued Wednesday to Mr. M. R. McKinnon of Dallas, and Miss Zoe Storm of Hedley."

Her many friends here began to inquire of Mrs. Storm, or rather Mrs. McKinnon, who arrived Thursday morning, if it were true that she had married, and she blushing admitted it to be a fact. And she has been busy ever since receiving congratulations from her friends.

The groom is a travelling salesman and is highly spoken of by those who know him.

The bride is popular among the young folks and the public in general as she has been actively engaged in the Storm Hdw. Co. store for more than a year.

The Informer extends congratulations and best wishes.

Modern Woodman Attention

Would like to meet every member of Hedley Camp Monday evening. Come out and help start the logs rolling. Visiting neighbors welcome.

W. S. Samsberry,
Asst. Deputy Lead Consul.

Rev. J. C. Henson of Roscoe, Texas will be here next week to preach Friday night, Saturday and night and Sunday and night, and to organize a Nazarene church.

We are requested to announce that Rev. C. E. Linn will preach at Hedley Sunday morning and Rev. Story will preach that night. It will be Bro. Story's last sermon before Conference.

FOR SALE—10 acres joining incorporated town of Hedley, on public highway, good improvements, good cistern, most all fenced with hog and poultry wire. Would consider some trade in good stock; right price. Call on or write J. L. Morrow, 4341 Hedley, Texas.

The Informer $1.00 per year.

A REUNION OF THE JONES BROTHERS AND SISTERS

R. H. Jones, while at Dallas taking in the Fair, went to Dun-canville Sunday accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. McHan and her husband, and Miss Ruth Miller, to attend a reunion of his brothers and sisters. There were thirty six people present—mostly relatives. They met at home of Mr. Jones' sister, Mrs. Husted. The sisters were Mesdames Newton, James, Murrell, and Husted, and the brothers were R. H. H. K., and J. T. Jones. The first time in many years they were all together, and the reunion was greatly enjoyed.

Stop at Mrs. W. M. Dyer's Private Boarding House on block East of Woodridge lumber yard. Nice clean beds and good meals for 25c. Board per week $4.00; per month $16.00.

REMINISCENCES OF THE EDITOR

(Not Sworn to and Not Copyrighted)

A little personal experience of an editor might be interesting, as some people don't seem to understand that he is human like other white folks. In a certain town not many years ago the editor usually had as much as $10 worth of advertising each week in his paper. The editor and editress worked hard every day to get out a good paper. The ink, gasoline, paper, etc., for each issue cost over half the above $10. The balance, some four or five plunks, was pure velvet, and we would turn around and spend it all with the advertisers, even if we really didn't need the merchandise, to show them we appreciated their patronage and to give them an opportunity to get back some of the money they gave to charity (the editor.) And with what we had left we would start National Banks over the country every day, buy a few securities, and then we mainder we would invest in six per cent bonds.

One thing that was hard to do, was to keep from trading more of the "velvet" with one advertiser than with another. When we did trade more with one than another, the one grew rich immediately and retired from business for life, while the other went broke.
We finally had to leave that place because we got careless and didn't trade it all back to the ones who thought we were objects of charity. Of course the advertisers got their money's worth and a big profit besides when they bought advertising, but that didn't count. And they finally got to the point where, when they bought goods from the wholesale house they would make said wholesale house turn around and buy the goods back at a profit so as to show they appreciated the retailer's trade.

Practical Study of Science of Physics
By Prof. Frank Gooden, Denver, Colo.

A middle-aged man sitting on the doorsteps with a thoughtful expression on his face was asked the following question: "Why do you sit and sit; what are you doing?" The ready reply was, "Just living, that is all."

Too many people go through the world without seeing the beauty and the wonderful side of life, but are just living, seemingly there is nothing that they can do.

Why not start to thinking when there is so much to be done? Ask yourself some questions and proceed to answer them and be surprised at the outcome. Did you ever stop to think what makes the planets keep moving, and what holds them on their orbits out in the infinite space? What causes the vapor to rise when heat is applied to a liquid? What causes the noise which follows an explosion? Such questions may be asked by the hundreds, and still to all these there is an answer. How wonderful it is to be able to converse upon such questions and give thought to them instead of letting them pass unnoticed.

It seems to me there is no better subject that will start the young man or woman to thinking and develop that dormant phase of life than the study of the science of physics. In this subject we are awakened to the fact that these things exist and the reasons are given in such a manner that there is plenty of room to expand upon them. Start to thinking, and when we see the effect let's get at the cause.

Ragtime Is Most Vulgar Music Written
By JOSEPH DE VALDON, Chicago

A recent editorial on music, based on an interview given by the pianist, Joseph Hoffman, is a welcome one. Yes, ragtime is the most vulgar music that ever was written, and I regret to observe that even society is listening to such music, which doesn't elevate but demoralizes.

I have studied this country and have taken an interest in the American fine arts, literature and music. No country can record as many pianos as this, but, to my sorrow, in sequencing all classes, I very seldom have the good fortune to hear good music in the homes. The great majority of Americans neglect their good composers. The brilliant MacDowell, with his brilliant Indian suite; Mrs. H. A. Beach, George Chadwick, Cadman, Victor Herbert, the new composer, Carpenter, are enough to show that we over here have good music.

Do away with ragtime, the disgrace of music. The verses applied to ragtime are even more vulgar, more immoral than the music. In first-class restaurants the sound of ragtime is sickening the ears of serious listeners.

The public, the press and music publishers should endeavor to popularize the refined American composers, just as Mrs. Bloomfield-Zeisler popularized MacDowell in Europe.

Observations Made by the Astronomer
By S. L. Macdonald, Colorado Agricultural College.

To the average man the stars seem to have very little relation to his daily life. He may have some vague idea that the calendar and the clock owe their precision to the astronomer but probably is not aware that at the principal observatories of the country astronomical observations are made on every clear night for the express purpose of regulating an astronomical clock with the greatest exactness, and that from the information used on these observations, on every day at noon an electric signal is flashed to all parts of the country, by which timepieces are set to the second. We owe to the astronomer the beginning of our seasons, the schedule of the moon and the announcements for morning and evening stars.

The astronomer gives us the distance from San Francisco to Manila, from London to Melbourne. He has not only measured and mapped the surface of the earth, but has given this planet a definite setting in the universe. He has charted the divisions of space until the boundaries of his explorations are a hundred million times the distance of the sun from us. He has brought order and array out of what would otherwise be abysmal chaos. He has had his full share in the elimination of myth and superstition and in the determination of present standards of civilization and progress.

Take Lead in Art and Literature
By Dr. A. L. ALLEN, New York

There is no line of industry or art in which America will not benefit because of the European war, but we are likely, I fear, to overlook the great opportunity that offers to take the lead in art and literature. Europe is giving its best blood to the war god. Dispatches every day tell us of the sacrifice of men high in the literary and art world, not to speak of famous musicians who are laying down their lives. There are hundreds of literary men and artists who probably will not again give their best work to the world.

Now is the time when we can take the lead. We have too long been followers. Europe will be too busy after the war rebuilding her broken nations to think of art or literature or music. This country in the last hundred years has led the world in invention and mechanical achievement. It is time we were thinking of other things that soften civilization; this is our chance.

Eat Less Meat and More Vegetable Food
By Charles A. Appelman, Portland, Ore.

The law of compensation applies to everything. Ever since the meat supply began to decrease and the price of beef and mutton to go up, there have been unusually heavy fruit and vegetable crops. This certainly has had its effect in educating the public into less meat and more grain and fruit.

The food value of fruit never has been really understood by the general public. Outside of the sirup, the food value of fruits is quite as high, actually higher, than that of meats.

The best way to get the most food products in this country is to encourage the growing, gathering and marketing. This applies to fruits, vegetables, and notably to eggs.

HANDICRAFT FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

By A. NEELY HALL and DOROTHY PERKINS

(Copyright, by A. Neely Hall.)

FOR CITY LOT BASEBALL.

There would be less objection to vacant lot ball games if adjoining property owners could be relieved of their fear of broken windows. Show an owner this article, and call his attention to Fig. 1, that he may see exactly what you propose to do, and it is not likely that you will have difficulty with him.

Make each frame to fit the window opening, in the manner shown in Fig.

2, using 1x2 inch "furring strips," lapping the ends, and re-enforcing the connections with strips of tin (Figs. 2 and 3). Then buy enough chicken wire netting at the hardware store to cover the frame.

For hanging the screens in place, purchase a pair of hooks and a pair of screw-eyes, for each, and screw the eyes into the top edge of the frame, and the hooks into the top of the window frame.

A wire covered backstop will not only save you boys lots of chasing after "passed balls" and "fouls," but also give protection to adjoining property.

Fig. 4 shows the completed framework. The first portion to build is the front frame, which consists of the two 2x4 uprights A, and three horizontal pieces B. Eight feet square is a good size for this frame, but make it wider if you can. Cut a notch in each end of uprights A, also one in the center of the length, of the right width and depth for the horizontal members B to fit in. Then place the uprights A upon the ground, and spike pieces B in their notches. Before raising the frame, buy wire netting and staples, and cover it.

Have several boys raise and support the framework on the spot it is to occupy, then quickly drive stakes C into the ground, and connect them and uprights A with diagonals D, and the ends of D and A with pieces E.

Base sacks almost as good as the best to be bought, can be made of eight or ten ounce cotton duck, stuffed with excelsior (Fig. 6). Fig. 8 shows a diagram for cutting the cloth. Use a doubled coarse linen thread. Sew up all but one end, lapping the edges about one-half inch, and sewing with a double row of stitching. Then turn the sack inside out, stuff with excelsior moistened to make it pack solidly.

Get a strap long enough to buckle around the sack, and fasten this to the sack with straps of canvas sewed across it (Fig. 6). Prepare a stake with a staple in its top (Fig. 7), and drive one of these into the ground in the proper place for each sack.

Usually almost anything at all serves the purpose of home use in article

FOR A GIRL'S ROOM.

What girl would not like to own the set of shelves shown in Fig. 1, to hang upon the wall in her room? The shelf boards should be about three-fourths inch thick and ten inches wide, by whatever length you wish to have them. Buy eight half-inch screw-eyes and screw one into each corner of each shelf; and get some heavy wrapping-twine on which to string the corner spools.

The illustrations show how the spools are strung, with a spool below the screw-eyes of the bottom shelf, and another above those of the top shelf, with a knot tied upon the lower end of the cords, and a loop upon the upper end, to hold the spools together. The cords must be pulled tight, and the loops tied close to the top spools, to make the corner stiff.

Every girl needs a work box like that shown in Fig. 3. The only carpen work necessary is the fastening together of the cover boards with a couple of strips nailed across them as shown in Fig. 5.

The box must be covered to conceal the roughness of the boards. A pretty figured cretonne looks well for the outside, and a plain colored lining is best for the inside.

Fig. 4 shows how a cloth pocket and elastic tapes should be tacked to the inside of the cover; also how to make a spool rack by driving nails into the cover and slipping rubber bands over the nail heads (Fig. 6) to keep the spools from dropping off. A bolster roll to encase the pillow is quite the proper thing for a girl's bed, and a roll like that shown in Fig. 7 is not difficult to construct. Get two barrel hoops for the ends, and three wooden strips one-half inch thick and one and one-half inches wide with which to connect them (Fig. 10). The length of the strips should equal the width of the bed the roll is made for.

The diameter of the hoops must be made 11 inches from outside to outside. Remove the hoop fastenings, turn in the ends until the right diameter is obtained, and re-nail (Figs 8 and 9). Connect the hoops with the strips, spacing these equidistantly around the inside.

Two-thirds of the framework must be covered with cardboard, the other third is left open. Cardboard boxes may be used for covering material. Bend this around the framework, being careful to curve each piece the same, and tack to the ends to cover the barrel

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK, UGH! IT'S MERCURY AND SALIVATES

Straighten Up! Don't Lose a Day's Work! Clean Your Sluggish Liver and Bowels With "Dodson's Liver Tone."

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. Take a dose of the vile, dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you feel sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store or dealer and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

COULDN'T BLAME THE GIRL

Business Delay a Trifling Matter to Fair Maiden Who Had Mis-laid Articles of Apparel.

The twenty-year-old daughter of the president of one bank, director of two others and a railroad or two stood before her dressing table in a brown study. Meanwhile—

Three men, each one of whom wanted to make a loan of a hundred thousand dollars, paced the floor.

Her father sat inwardly fuming in the auto while a hundred business letters remained unread.

Twenty clerks paused until the work of a day could be given out.

Six cylinders, accomplishing nothing, buzzed on.

Four servants, leaving their morning's routine, rushed aimlessly about. And the girl called: "Oh, papa, it isn't my fault. I cannot find my gloves!"—Life.

Had Liquidated.

"Look here, waiter. Eighty cents is an outrageous price for a portion of asparagus."

"Yes, sir, but you see, sir, we're putting on a very expensive cabaret show, and—"

"I know all about the cabaret show, and—"

"I paid for that with the soup."

Seems Strange.

"What was that?"

"He couldn't find anybody who belonged to a Greek letter society."

Many Positions Carrying Large Salaries

are open today to men in every walk of life. But the men must possess vigorous bodies and keen, active minds.

Success-making mental and physical activity relies largely upon right living wherein the right kind of food plays a most vital part.

In many cases the daily diet lacks certain of Nature's elements essential to energizing and upbuilding the mental and physical faculties. Most white flour products, such as white bread and many other commonly used foods, are in that class.

A food especially designed to offset this lack—

Grape-Nuts

—made of wheat and malted barley—rich in nutriment of the grains, including the sturdy builders of brain, nerves and muscles.

Grape-Nuts is the most palatable and healthful food from the pack.

Just seven protracted meetings have been held in Hedley this year, and some $600 have been paid out for help in the meetings. Every meeting wanted the business men to close their places of business for the morning services. If they had closed it would have meant a continual thing for at least three months. In justice to the business men, we believe they would, to a man, close for a revival meeting if that meeting was to be the only one held in the town during the year—and the meeting would do treble the amount of good. The point we are driving at is that the churches of the town ought to have a co-operative meeting, let every pastor and Christian join in the meeting and put their soul in it. If Christian people can't work together on earth for the saving of souls, how can they expect to get along in the world above? We'd hate to think that when we get to our final home we'd have to inquire where to find a bunch of Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterians or Christians, or members of any certain denomination so as to join the one of our faith. Wouldn't you? We'll now (and pledge ourselves to) being in the meeting only.

A committee of business men has been appointed to assess the damage, and the railroad company will settle according to the committee's report. Railroad companies are supposed to be soulless corporations, but their acts do not always bear out this supposition. A leak in a gasoline tank is what most people would term an unavoidable accident, and never before was there an explosion from an attempt to repair the leak by striking the tank with a hammer. The railway company could not have known that the tank would spring a leak, neither could it have known that an attempt to repair the leak would cause an explosion. Few if any persons would assume responsibility for an accident they could not foresee, but the railroad company has agreed to pay such damages as the committee of citizens will say is just, and pay promptly, without recourse to law. In this matter it appears to us that the corporation has shown more soul than most persons would have shown.—Honey Grove Signal.

Instinct Versus Reason.
There has been current in England of recent years a reaction against instinct and tradition and even prejudice. The doctrine of this reaction are within themselves fascinating, and they have been preached by fascinating writers. The way of instinct and tradition is so full of ease, so full of strong and attractive influences of men who are wrapped up in some natural and instinctive purpose. Look at a dog chasing his prey, a cat pursuing his beloved, a band of heroes advancing to battle, a crowd of friends drinking and laughing. What life can be and what it ought to be. Let us not think and question. Let us be healthy and direct, not fret against the main current of instinctive feeling and tradition. In matters of art and science a habit of mind may be valuable; in matters of truth or of conduct it is I believe, as disastrous as it is alluring.—Gilbert Murray in the Atlantic.

Joking "Old Fellow"
One day Clark was visiting the weather bureau with reference to an appointment in which he was interested. His business concluded, he was rising to go, when suddenly he said: "If you don't mind, will you give me a tip as to the issuance of weather predictions?" The chief of the bureau smiled and said he'd like any practical help he could get. "I've been figuring it out a bit," said Clark, "and I find that you're not always right." "No; we sometimes do make mistakes." "Of course you do. Everybody makes mistakes. Now, I have been thinking that a line they put on the weather predictions in the newspaper might do first rate on your weather predictions and save lots of explanations." "What is the line?" "Wind and weather permitting," said Clark as he went out.

IN A NEIGHBORLY WAY COFFEE IN THE DESERT

MAGGIE'S MOTHER GOES TO BORROW A COUPLE OF EGGS.

As She Says, "She May Borrow an Egg Sometimes, But She's a Lady and No One Can Call Her Dishonest."

"What I'm wantin' this time," said Margaret's mother, as she appeared at the kitchen door of the neighbor's house, "is the loan of me two hands o' flour an' a wee bit o' baking powder. Maggie's beau, her new one, is comin' to supper the night an' we are goin' to have chicken dumplin' for supper, an' two eggs.

"No, indeed, Maggie ain't goin' to fix the supper, Maggie is too high an' mighty to go spollin' her complexion over th' cook stove whilst she's got a ma to do it for her. She might do like I was tellin' her an' leave her complexion in th' box it come in till after th' supper was made, but she got that insulted she went up th' stairs an' left me to do all th' work.

"No, indeed, I didn't return th' last two eggs I borried—I clean forgot them, an' I never would thought of them again if you had not reminded me of them. You have a grand memory, but what is the likes of two eggs between neighbors? Far be it from me to ever remind anyone of what they berry from me. If it's two eggs or a couple o' hands o' flour, what do I care? Come easy, go easy, says I. There'll be eggs an' flour when we are all dead an' gone to where we are goin', so why worry? I don't care no more for two eggs than Maggie does for my feelin's, an' th' Lord knows that ain't enough to be worth the mentionin'.

"Yes, this is her best beau but one th' last one never come back. Maggie thinks it's because her father borried two bones off him, and then sold him how he wiped up the floor with a feller that dunned him for two bones. But I says to Maggie it ain't nothin' of the kind. He just got cold feet because Mikey stuck feathers troo the top of his new stiff hat to play Indian with; if he didn't want to get bald headed from lack of ventilation he should have thanked Mikey an' said nothin'. It's like I tells Maggie, if he loved her truly he wouldn't let two bones an' a few feathers come between him an' her.

"As I was sayin', I wouldn't hesitate to loan nobody a few eggs any time they want 'em; eggs is made to use an' as long as they get used what's the odds who uses 'em? Of course, not havin' no hens like you, I don't never have no eggs, but what difference does that make? I'd loan 'em if I had 'em. It's the spirit that counts for more than the eggs any day, an' I have th' spirit to lend anything I got, only I ain't got nothin' but me health, praise the Lord for that.

"What's that, you ain't got no eggs to lend, an' you seen me and Mikey chasin' your chicken around our lot, an' you think you know where I got th' chicken for th' dumplin's? An' what if you do? Is a chicken anything to be unneighborly about? I didn't think it of you? If I had a chicken you could chop th' head off it any time you felt like it, an' welcome. Though I don't never have no chickens. An' my takin' a loan o' your chicken shouldn't keep you from havin' a couple o' eggs to lend a neighbor, for it was a rooster I borried, an' anyone knows roosters don't lay eggs. But lemme have th' flour an' I'll go me way. I ain't the kind that gets offended an' refuses to be unneighborly because of a chicken. An' the first time one o' Smith's chickens flies over in our lot I'll pay you back your rooster an' welcome. I may be a plain woman, but I was raised a lady, an' no one can say I'm dishonest. Thank you for the flour."—Houston Post.

Valuable Botanical Specimens.
Dr. Nathaniel Lord Britton, director in general of the New York Botanical garden since 1895, has returned from a trip to Porto Rico, which was fraught with valuable results. The work was a continuation of the scientific survey of the island undertaken by the New York Academy of Sciences, in co-operation with the insular government, the American Museum of Natural History and other institutions. Parts of the island which scientists had not previously explored were visited, where more than eight thousand specimens, represented by 1925 field numbers, were collected. Many duplicates of rare or otherwise interesting species were obtained for use in exchanges with other gardens and museums.

Lightning Rings Alarm.
Fire companies in Philadelphia responded for the second time in 24 hours to an alarm of fire sent in to the electrical bureau from a box at Third street and Wyoming avenue, only to find upon their arrival that, as on the night before, lightning had struck the wire leading to the box.

The box is a private one, in the barn of the Rapid Transit company. The alarm was sent in during the height of the storm at 10:05, 15 minutes later than the alarm on Wednesday night, during the electrical disturbance.

Flowers for Summer Table.
It is so easy, in the country, to keep the house charming with fresh flowers—and any number of vases full will cost nothing at all. If you have not a garden of your own—and there seems no reason why every woman should not have a tiny garden at least if her country domain admits of space to grow them in—the field flowers will answer almost as well. Clover makes an enchanting bouquet, goldenrod is delightful in a brown and yellow living room or in great jars on the porch. The lovely blue gentians, and blue roadside asters are equally charming in slender glass vases. A bit of wire netting fitted into the top of a low fern dish will make it possible to use small flowers to good advantage on the breakfast table. Pansies are lovely used in this way. Nasturtiums and sweet peas will make a most attractive color if the stems are cut at an angle and the wire netting of the dish is

HOW AN ARAB CHIEF DISPENSES HOSPITALITY.

Making of the Beverage an Act of Some Solemnity—Guests Honored and Made Comfortable Before Conversation.

That morning we left the main caravan, but meant to rejoin it before night. An hour after sunset, however, we were wandering about without a path. Hearing the barking of dogs, we rode toward the sound and soon saw the fires of the encampment of an Arab chief who had been driven from the desert by the drought.

On one side of an open square a large fire was blazing at the man's end of the most spacious of the low black tents. The intermittent blaze, fed by dry weeds of the desert, lighted up a slab of limestone bearing the rudely scratched insignia of the tribe of Beni Salir. We dismounted silently, as men do in a land where no one knows whether those whom he meets are enemies or friends. The Arabs, grouped cross-legged or a-squat around the blaze, said nothing, but the chief men rose and motioned to us to be seated, while the others moved to places of less honor. A quilt was brought to spread on the coarse woolen rugs, and another was rolled up for me to rest my left elbow on.

It was only after we were comfortable that conversation slowly began. While we talked a servant, on signal, brought out the coffee tongs—two spoons of iron chained together—and having handled 18 inches long. Green coffee beans were placed on the larger spoon, which was about six inches in diameter, and were held over the fire to roast. The other spoon, only an inch in diameter, was used to stir the beans and prevent burning. When the coffee was roasted the slow process of grinding began.

The grinder evidently felt that his work was of great importance and should be done artistically. Each stroke of the great wooden pestle was accompanied by a double click on the side of the deep wooden mortar. Then the coffee was boiled, first in one blackened copper pot with a long straight handle, and then in another. Finally the grinder tasted it. Then the cups, two in number, began to circulate. Each man was served with only two or three swallows of the strong black fluid, but the cups were passed to the chief men several times.

As they sip the black unsweetened coffee, the desert prince and his companions talk not only of prices and of the doings of their great ones, but tried to make me understand how they and their people fought with the government not many years ago. The chief's eyes were so fierce and his gestures so violent that I began to think he was really getting angry. "Why does the government take taxes for even our coffee from poor Arabs who come from the desert in time of drought?" he asked. "Have not the Arabs the right to feed their flocks wherever there is grass? Some day soon the soldiers will see what my people will do."—From "Palestine and Its Transformation," by Ellsworth Huntington.

Fox Farms Fail.
Many failures in the new industry of fox farming in Alaska are recorded by E. Lester Jones, deputy commissioner of fisheries, in the report on his recent investigation in Alaska for the department of commerce. He finds that the promise of big profits caused many to rush into the business, and small fortunes were sunk by men who did not understand the difficulties of the industry.

The rush to raise foxes, the commissioner says, was due to the exorbitant prices paid for live black and silver-gray foxes raised in Canada. These prices, he declares, did not indicate a healthy condition in the industry. Nevertheless there was a rush to raise foxes in Alaska in the hope of reaping big profits quickly. One of the chief reasons for the large majority of failures, according to the commissioner, was the government's system of leasing certain islands to prospective fox farmers at a minimum of $200 a year for five years. The figure proved too high.

It is so easy, in the country, to keep the house charming with fresh flowers—and any number of vases full will cost nothing at all. If you have not a garden of your own—and there seems no reason why every woman should not have a tiny garden at least if her country domain admits of space to grow them in—the field flowers will answer almost as well. PROPER REARING OF CHICKS

Problem of Supplying Range and Green Feed for Fowls Not Given Sufficient Attention.

(By F. C. HARE, South Carolina Experiment Station.) The problem of supplying a range or green feed for chicks does not receive sufficient attention. This is an important side of the proper rearing of poultry and the farmer who has some milk or buttermilk to spare and a good green range has more than half his chick problem solved.

PROFITABLE TO GRADE EGGS

Difference in Prices Between Lowest and Highest Quality Ranges From Ten to Fifteen Cents.

It certainly pays to grade eggs. In many city markets the difference in prices between the highest and lowest grade is often fifteen or twenty cents on the dozen. First-quality eggs should be fresh and of a fairly large size, weighing around twenty-four grams to the dozen.

EXCELLENT POINTS OF SILO

Does Not Pay Farmer to Mix Corn and Sorghum Crops, Says Expert of Kansas College.

Mixing crops in a silo does not pay, according to J. B. Fitch, assistant in dairy husbandry in the Kansas State Agriculture college. He says that many farmers mix corn and sorghum crops, but that this does not increase the value of either feed, and generally means more work, in that material must be hauled from two fields.

MARKET HENS WHEN OVERFED

Best Layers Are in Good Condition When Only Reasonably Fat—Unprofitable to Doctor.

Sometimes a hen gets too fat to lay, although not often in her pullet year. The best layers are in good condition when only reasonably fat. Even where the ration furnished is a perfectly balanced one, an occasional hen will persist in putting on meat instead of laying eggs.

Asphyxiating Gas in War.
The use of asphyxiating gas in war is not new, as an article you carried recently showed. But one instance, from literature, as I recall it, you overlooked. That instance is in "Caesar's Column," a novel of the economic revolution in 1880 or thereabouts, written by Ignatius Donnelly, thirty or thirty-five years ago. In the book, Donnelly has a great scene showing how the Terrors, the airships, killed off the army of the plutocrats and captured New York with its ten millions for the army of the people by dropping gas bombs.—Kansas City Star.

The Informer $1.00 per year.
