For Your Children's Sake

Everyone that bothers to think at all will be going to the polls on November 6. And while they're there, they'll most probably vote for the men or party of their choice, get to the end of the ballot, see the fine print concerning amendments to the Texas Constitution, then vote on them haphazardly, not taking time to study them properly.

But everyone should take these amendments seriously. Especially Number 4. For your children's sakes, by voting for amendment Number 4, you can vote to help provide an improved Teacher Retirement System that will attract desirable young people to teaching and hold in service experienced teachers now leaving the field.

A total of 350,000 additional children will be enrolled in our public schools by 1960. Our present system is not adequately equipped with teachers to handle this great influx. So what are we going to do?

Texas teachers are trying to help solve this problem themselves. They want the chance to bring up to date a retirement program enacted in 1937 (a depression year by the way) and to provide disability, death and survivor benefits comparable to those in private industry and governmental programs.

And they don't want to do the above necessary jobs at the expense of the tax payers. If the amendment passes, the teachers will get the chance to contribute more money into the teacher retirement fund themselves.

Your children deserve good teachers. So why not improve the Teacher Retirement System so as to recruit needed young people and to hold our capable experienced teachers.

People who are against the proposed amendment Number 4 probably won't be the ones to defeat it. The people who stay away from the polls will be the ones responsible.

Brito-Baca Vows Solemnized In Bovina Recently

Marriage vows were exchanged recently in St. Anne's Catholic Church of Bovina by Miss Matilda Jane Brito, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Brito of Bovina and John Baca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Baca of Booker.

Father Cletus Gorry of St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Hereford read the double ring ceremony at 9:00 a. m., Friday October 5.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of white antique lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and the five tiered skirt of gathered net fell to the floor with a train-like effect. She wore full length gauntlets of matching antique lace and her veil of illusion fell full in back and finger-tip length in front from a tiara fashioned of smoke grey and white seed pearls in a heart design. The bride carried a cascade nosegay of white feathered carnations on a white prayer book.

As something old, Miss Brito carried the prayer book which was borrowed from her sister. The prayer book has been a tradition with brides of the Brito family. She chose her ensemble as something new and borrowed her brother's rosary, which she carried with her nosegay. As something blue, the bride wore a blue garter that was made and given to her by her matron of honor.

The groom's sister, Mrs. Gene Brito, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length dress of orchid pima organdy over taffeta. The bodice featured a scoop neckline with a tiny, off the shoulder, pleated nylon net stole. Her accessories were white and she carried a nosegay of white button mums with orchid ribbon streamers. Her headpiece was a halo of orchid horsehair braid with miniature touch-me-nots gracing the circulate. Mrs. R. L. Cervantez and Mrs. Jim Duran also attended the bride. They wore dresses identical to the matron of honor's with the exception of color. Theirs were blue and yellow.

Attendants to the groom were Gene Brito, Jim Duran and R. L. Cervantez.

The altar of the church was banked with bouquets of white gladioli and white carnations. Twin candelabra of white candles flanked the altar and potted ferns were tastefully arranged throughout the church.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The wedding party was seated under an archway of multicolored carnations and streamers. In the background, a heart-shaped plaque announced the wedding of the couple, with the names of their attendants written and encircled with miniature flowers.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served from a table overlaid with white tulle. The four-tiered cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom and had delicate pink rosebuds and silver leaves placed around the edges. The bride's sisters, Mrs. Pete Cervantez and Miss Lucy Brito served the guests. Miss Phyllis Mendoza presided at the guest book. Background music was provided by a three piece string band from Clovis.

Miss Brito was graduated from Bovina High School last spring and the groom was graduated in 1950. He attended a business college in Albuquerque, N. M., for a year and is now employed at the West Hub Gin.

The families and friends of the couple met Friday evening in the Brito home for a dance, at the end of which, the couple left for their wedding trip. The bride chose an avocado green suit, featuring a box jacket and pencil slim skirt as her going away attire. She wore black accessories. The newlyweds are now making their home near Hub.

Mrs. Looney Reports On HD Convention

Mrs. D. C. Looney of Bovina was one of four Home Demonstration Club ladies from Parmer County who attended the state and national HD meetings in San Antonio recently. This article is a report from her that will be of interest to all Parmer County Club women.

Sunday morning, September 23, I left from Amarillo on one of two chartered buses with 63 other women from District I at 7:00.

There were four of us from Parmer County: Mrs. Floyd Rector of Friona, Mrs. Dick Rockey from Black, and Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill, also from Black, besides myself. We arrived in San Antonio around 8 that night, too late for the vesper services that marked the opening of the national convention. Dr. Imogene Bentley, dean of women, North Texas State College, was the speaker.

We four from Parmer County stayed in the St. Anthony Hotel. The headquarters for the convention were at the Gunther Hotel, although all of our meetings were held in the municipal auditorium, which was only about two blocks from all of the hotels.

The convention opened Monday morning with several speakers, among them the mayor of San Antonio who welcomed the women, and made the president of the national organization, Mrs. Homer Remsburg of Maryland, an honorary mayor of the old La Valita village in the middle of San Antonio. He also offered to take care of all traffic tickets the women received during their stay.

Before the speeches, the Texas and national flags were presented by members of the Fort Sam Houston color guard.

Monday afternoon, several tours were conducted around San Antonio. We were fortunate to have our own bus, police escort, and a native San Antonian to describe the many historical places of interest. We made several stops to visit the Alamo, San Jose Mission, the sunken gardens, and the Buckhorn Saloon.

Monday night, the Texas women presented a pageant about Texas under the six flags. Several dances representing the countries which once ruled Texas were given by girls and boys of San Antonio who were students being instructed under the free recreational program of San Antonio.

A lot of them were Spanish dances with the kids clicking their castanets and swirling their brilliant skirts like professionals. A few members of the casts were all of three years old.

Tuesday morning, the members heard an address by Governor Shivers, who talked briefly about state government, particularly the Texas government, and the things they have accomplished the last few years and what is planned for the future, especially where our highways are concerned. Traffic safety is one of the many programs the NHDC is stressing the coming year.

Tuesday afternoon began the long series of states' reports of their activities of the previous year. Some of them were very interesting and inspiring to hear. One of the highlights of this convention to me was the opportunity to meet and talk with the ladies from far-away states.

Forty-four states were represented—not all of them are members of the NHDC—Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Alaska. The last three also are active in HD work. Alaska last year sponsored a short course for homemakers at the University of Alaska. The ladies stayed on the campus and went to school for a short period.

Wednesday morning, we heard an address by Congressman Omar Burleson, who stressed the importance of America taking part of foreign trade, as 9 of our 15 basic items must be imported. He said we must build up and maintain our military strength, and concluded his speech by saying "Put our faith in the Lord, and keep our powder dry."

Wednesday afternoon the states' reports were concluded, and the election of the new National officers was carried out. Since the presidents of each state were the only qualified voters, we were merely onlookers during this procedure.

Wednesday night concluded the national meeting with a banquet at the Gunther Hotel, with Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby as the main speaker. She was an excellent speaker, and held the audience's undivided attention the length of her talk. It concerned the role women play today as compared with the one they played in years past.

Thursday night the state convention was begun. It seemed rather pale in comparison with the national meeting, and we crowded a lot of work into the short time left us. The election of the new officers was the main item on the agenda, and we were very happy that our own district vice-president, Mrs. Melton McGehee of Wayside, Texas, was elected the new treasurer. She is a very charming woman to meet, and has been active in HD work for many years.

Friday started with a meeting at 8 a. m. Officers' reports were given, and several new resolutions were voted on, among them the resolution that the 4-H creed include "and my God" at the conclusion.

There were 793 present for the state, and 2221 for national meetings.

Friday afternoon we attended the various workshops, each delegate attending one, where we were given instruction on work to be taken back for our own clubs to accomplish the next year. My own workshop was on citizenship, where two speakers talked on Amendment No. 3 which we will vote on in November.

It amazed me that no more publicity had been given this amendment than had, as important as it evidently is. It concerns the state supported schools and the increased number of students that are going to overwhelm them in the coming years if this amendment is not passed. The schools get their funds only from the interest received from government and state bonds bought from the permanent fund which cannot be spent in any other way.

If passed, this amendment provides for the investment of this permanent fund in common stocks also, which will give a greater return. It also permits the board of directors at A. and M. to allocate funds for agriculture extension service.

The speaker stated that the board may—and he stressed that "may"—allocate funds for permanent 4-H club installations all over the state. He also stated that unless this amendment is passed, we will either have to pay a whole lot more in state taxes, or only the more brilliant of our kids will be permitted in the schools—it will be impossible to accommodate all of them. The speaker was E. L. Angel, who is assistant chancellor at A&M.

Friday night we attended the installation of the officers, then went to our rooms and packed. We were supposed to leave at 6:30 the next morning, and believe me, we were all ready to get home. We left at 7 and pulled into Amarillo about 6:15. I wouldn't take a million for this experience, and I would like to publicly thank all the HD members in the county who made it possible by paying our expenses.

All of us have our favorite cake, but I believe if a poll were taken, chocolate cake would be way up on the list.

I helped judge the Castro County Fair during September. The blue ribbon cake was a German Chocolate cake that was "just out of this world." I finally got the recipe. It's pure calories, but one nice thing about it is that it freezes so nicely. In freezing cakes, place them in the freezer until frozen and then wrap in moisture-vapor proof wrapping.

GERMAN CHOCOLATE CAKE
Make the filling first as it takes a long time to cook and then cool.

FILLING:
4 egg yolks
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 cup coconut
3/4 cup chopped pecans
1 pt. whipping cream (not whipped)
1/2 stick butter
Mix all together and cook until thick (this takes a long time). Let cool before icing cake.

CAKE:
2 cups sugar
1 cup Crisco
1 cup buttermilk
4 egg yolks
2 1/2 cups flour
1/3 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites (beaten stiff)
1 box Baker's German Chocolate (this is a small thin package with 18 squares), dissolved in 1/2 cup hot water.

Dissolve soda in 1/4 cup buttermilk. Beat sugar, Crisco and egg yolks together. Add buttermilk, flour, soda and chocolate. Beat well and fold in beaten egg whites. Makes 4 big layers. Bake at 350 degrees. Icing is enough for two 2 layer cakes.

First Light Frost
Nips Growing Crops

The first frost of the season for the Parmer County area came Sunday morning, October 21. It was so mild, however, that scarcely anyone paid any attention to it. Some cotton fields showed signs of being spotted in low places by the frost, which nipped tender leaves. The cold weather was not regarded as a thorough killing freeze, and much cotton and maize still awaits more severe weather before harvesting can begin.

THE PARING KNIFE
 BY JEANIE MOTEN

You know, some people were real happy about the fact that Truman was going to campaign for Adlai because they felt that he could really do some good for the Democrats.

As for myself, was real pleased to see Truman hop to Adlai's support. Can't think of anything that would be more detrimental to Adlai or more helpful to the Republicans than Little Truman's brash remarks and actions.

Think I would like to see Texas Tech and Texas University play a game of their particular brand of football. Have no idea who would win.

If I may say so without sticking my neck out too far, believe that the race between Ike and Adlai will be just a whole lot closer in Texas than most people are expecting.

Some people insist that a return to 90-percent-of-parity would do much to solve falling farm prices. You know, they believe in that just as in days of old when people staked their lives by the traveling medicine men with their cure-all medicines.

Anyway, will quote here part of an article from The New York Times:

"As for the proposal that we return to 90-percent-of-parity price supports, it may be worth observing that, of the total decline of 33 points in farm prices since early 1951, 27 points were accounted for in the era of high, rigid price supports."

Maybe Ike's ideas as to how to help the farmer will prove to be worthless, I don't know, and doubt very much if anyone else does.

But at least he's trying to work something out. He for sure doesn't stand up and scream "return to 90-percent of parity," which has been proved to not be a cure-all.

Seems to me that the Demos want votes; so they go after them without giving just a whole lot of thought to the far reaching effects of their "vote-getting" promises.

Again, I would like to quote. This time from an article written by John Strohm, former president of the American Agricultural Editors' Association:

"Unrealistic price supports are losing the American farmer markets at home and abroad. When butter was priced by law at 80 cents a pound, the housewife bought oleomargarine. Today we use 9.2 pounds of butter per capita, compared with 16.7 pounds in 1940. So in 15 years the dairyman has lost nearly half his butter market."

(You say, so what? We're not dairymen in this country. Why should that concern me. The rest of the quote affects this section more directly.)

"Cotton growers have been heavy losers. They have lost ground at home to synthetics; and when we held a price umbrella over the world market, the price zoomed and countries like Mexico and Brazil found it profitable to step up cotton-growing. In the last two years, U. S. farmers have reduced cotton acreage by 7.8 million acres, while foreign acreage has jumped 6.8 million acres. Informed government observers say that in two more years we shall have lost all of our foreign market for cotton."

So if a person thinks that a return to 90-percent of parity will solve farm problems, then just about the only thing to do is for that person to go vote for Adlai and Coonskin Hat.

But seems to me, if something has been tried and didn't work, then something else should be done. That's what Ike is trying to do.

Chiefs Scalp Mustangs By 52-6 Count
 made the score 38-6. Weatherly again carried the point over and the score was 39-6.

And even then the Chiefs weren't finished.

Johnson passed to McLellan for the seventh touchdown. The extra point was good and the score was 46-6.

After the kickoff, an exchange of fumbles gave Friona the ball on the 44. A 15-yard penalty set the winners back in their own territory, but Weldon Fairchild came bounding out over the right side for the final scoring sprint of the game. His tally made the score 52-6. The extra point attempt was spoiled by Mustang defenders and the scoring was, at last, over for the evening.

However, after an intercepted pass, the Chiefs were again knocking at the touchdown door as Larnie Blake carried to the Bovina nine as the game ended.

Dickie Steelman, Terry Adams, Horn, and Kent Glasscock led the Mustangs defensively. Defensive standouts for Friona were Leon Massey, Don Reevo, and Weatherly.
