A TRAGIC ACCIDENT NEAR ROCKWALL

No doubt Informer readers read in the daily papers several days ago of a sad tragedy which occurred near Dallas, an old tree falling on an auto loaded with Rockwall people en route to the state fair. Frank Boyd and his sister in law, Miss Jean Hanby, were killed instantly, 12 year old Bonnie Boyd has since been hovering between life and death, and other members of the family were badly hurt.

The Hanby and Boyd families are among the most prominent in Rockwall county, substantial and highly esteemed. They are life long friends of the J. K. P. Kyser family, living near here in the Bray community. The Hanby and Kyser families are also connected by ties of marriage; the latter are sorely grieved at the tragic occurrence. H. A. Peck, a relative, was one of the first to arrive at the scene of the accident. He is one of Rockwall's leading citizens.

The dead man had been a popular peace officer for ten years and was also a prosperous farmer. Miss Hanby was a most excellent young woman and for several years has been teaching school.

Mr. J. K. P. Kyser, who is himself a Rockwall county pioneer, having arrived there in 1845, was a caller at The Informer office

Tuesday and gave us the foregoing facts. In the following words he expresses his family's sorrow and sympathy:

A happy group, young, stalwart and fair,
Innocent joy, hearts pure as morning air,
All buoyant—bright future, hope, success,
Parted with home and loved ones dearest.

Gliding over hill and dale,
Past fleecy fields and golden grain,
All nature waved a silent salute,
Even the little birds paid tribute—
In note and song.

No thought of harm for the day,
No thought of death lurking on the way,
A tree ahead had lived its day,
And as a beast waiting for its prey—
The old tree fell with a crash, a thud,
Two lives went out; a spot of earth baptized in blood.

Why, oh why, was this old tree left there
To crush dear lives visiting a great State Fair?

Away, three hundred miles or more,
We see, we feel your grief and woe.

To those bruised, mangled, in pain:
May they be spared to live again.
To those bereaved, in trouble and pain,
You have the sympathy of all humane;
May God be with you to the end
Is the wish and prayer of a friend.

OTHER HICKS TO MIAMI; REV. WRIGHT HERE

Hedley people were very sorry to learn Monday morning that at the annual conference held in Memphis the past week it had seemed best to send our pastor, Rev. John H. Hicks, to another charge the coming year. He goes to Miami, which is a promotion for him. On this we congratulate him, and assure our Miami friends that they are fortunate indeed.

While we lose Bro. Hicks, we have been shabbily treated by any means, for we get as our pastor another splendid young man, Rev. Cal C. Wright, who for the past three years has served the Wheeler church.

Rev. A. W. Hall returns to us as presiding elder; Rev. J. W. Story remains in Clarendon; Dr. G. S. Slover and Dr. S. E. Burkhead retain their respective offices in Clarendon College.

WE MISS YOU, BOYS!

"Do they miss me at home, do they miss me?" runs the first line of a Civil War song which has become a classic.

Were the home people to unite in answering such a query today a mighty chorus would go up to cheer the boys who have gone off to our various armies.

Perhaps the big fellow wasn't always easy to pry out of bed in the morning. Maybe he had irritating ways of teasing Sis. But how we all miss him! How selfishly we miss him!

When no one could make the ice chest stay closed, he fixed the lock. When the grammar school brother couldn't do his decimals, he became a willing teacher. When Sis needed an escort he was at hand. When baby locked himself into the bathroom alone, he rescued the prisoner by climbing thru the window. When the doctor was called for grand mother at midnight, he hurried to the drug store to get the prescription filled. When mother traveled, he bought the tickets and checked the baggage and put her on the train.

And when, at his country's summons, a train swallowed up his khaki-clad form, we all wanted to cry, but tried to set an example in courage.

YES, WE MISS YOU!

Tobacco Growing After Corn, Creedmoor, N. C.—This Plot Was Cropped for Corn for Five Years, 1911 to 1915, Inclusive, With Crimson Clover as a Winter Crop—Less Than 3 Per Cent of the Plants Showed Wilt on July 27, 1916, but It Should Be Noted That the Tobacco Is Decidedly Smaller in Size Than That After Grass and Clover.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Tobacco wilt, which has proved to be a destructive disease in the flue-cured tobacco district, can be controlled through crop rotations and the exclusion of infection from drainage, from fertilization and from the use of infected implements. This has been brought out by experiments carried on by specialists of the department for a series of years.
The disease is exceedingly destructive, causing the plant to die outright and frequently resulting in a practically complete failure of the crop. It produces symptoms in the leaves, the stalk, and the roots of the tobacco plant. The more prominent features are a characteristic umbrella-like drooping of the leaves, the presence of a yellowish to black discoloration in the woody portion of the stalk (showing as streaks when the bark is stripped off), the presence of a slimy ooze when the stalk is cut across with a knife, and a decided decay of the root system.
The wilt is caused by an organism which enters the plant through the root and eventually brings about a plugging of the vessels, thus cutting off the water supply from the leaves and causing them to wilt and perish. Fertilizers, cultural methods, weather conditions, and the like may influence the extent or progress of the disease, and it has been observed that it is decidedly more destructive in relatively wet seasons.

Possible Remedies Tried.
In the tests made by the department numerous possible remedies were tried, including crop rotation, treatment with various alkalis, acids, and neutral salts, including fertilizer materials and germicides, and the use of physical treatment such as subsiding with a plow and dynamite. None of these methods other than crop rotation were effective, however, and it is believed that where the infection is present chief dependence must be placed on decreasing its destructive efforts by the use of rotations. Where the wilt is not present, steps should be taken, of course, to prevent infection reaching the soil.

Field Showing Results of Continuous Tobacco Cropping, Creedmoor, N. C.—Tobacco Was Grown on This Plot Each Year From 1911 to 1916, Inclusive—Fully 80 Per Cent of Plants Showed Wilt on July 27, 1916.

In the tests made by the department it was found that by cropping badly infested land for five years with crops not affected by wilt the injury to the tobacco from the disease was reduced from 80 to less than 10 per cent.
The crops tested which gave satisfactory results for the practical control of the wilt are corn, wheat, rye (as a cover crop), sweet potatoes, cowpeas, grasses, red clover, and crimson clover. There is good evidence tending to show that cotton also is not affected by tobacco wilt, and there is no reason for supposing that oats are affected.

The wilt germ attacks a number of plants other than tobacco, and these plants must be kept off the land if the rotation is to be effective. These plants include tomatoes, Irish potatoes, and peanuts.
Ragweed, which is very common in the flue-cured district also is attacked; it is important that this weed be kept down.
It appears from the test that on badly infested land the growing of crops not attacked by wilt for four or five years will give better results than only three years of such cropping. The three-year period greatly reduced the amount of wilt, however. It is believed that on badly infested soils a crop of tobacco should not be grown oftener than once in every five years, but after the disease has been brought under control tobacco probably may be grown safely every fourth year. Under no circumstances should two crops of tobacco be grown in succession on infested soil.

Prevent Spread of Disease.
Although the rotation of crops makes it possible to grow tobacco on land infested with wilt, those farms in the wilt area that are still free from the disease command a considerable premium, because a larger acreage of tobacco can be grown on them. It is clearly to the interest of the owner to use every possible means of keeping his farm free from the tobacco wilt. Thorough burning of tobacco seed beds will destroy the wilt parasite, but the seed bed may become reinfested if diseased soil from surrounding fields, even in very small quantities, is allowed to reach the bed after it has been sterilized. The seed bed, as well as the field, also may become infested by surface drainage from infested fields. This explains the frequent observation by farmers that wilt may appear in the first crop of tobacco grown on freshly cleared lands, a fact which should serve as a warning of what may be expected if the surface drainage from neighboring wilt-infested farms is allowed to reach noninfested tobacco lands. For the above reasons tobacco growers are advised to avoid setting in fields free from infestation plants obtained from seed beds which may be infested. A half dozen infested plants may easily be the means of establishing the wilt permanently on a plantation.

Source of Disease.
There is no reason for supposing that the disease is carried over in the seed, and there is no doubt that the two principal sources from which healthy fields receive the disease are (1) soil from infested fields and (2) diseased tobacco plants, either living plants or the dead material of leaf, stem, stalk, or root. Infested soil carried on a plow borrowed from a neighbor or on the feet of an animal or of a man may serve to introduce the disease. In the process of flue curing it might be expected that the comparatively high temperatures used toward the end of the curing would be sufficient to kill the parasitic organism, but cases have been observed in Granville county in which it is highly probable that the wilt was introduced on tobacco farms through the use of stems as a fertilizer. It is not advisable to use tobacco stalks or stems from diseased fields on lands not already infested with wilt, since the curing process cannot be relied upon in all cases to sterilize these materials. Finally, tobacco growers are advised to practice rotation of crops on their tobacco lands as a means of preventing the wilt, for if the soil is exposed to infestation the disease is less likely to become established when a systematic rotation of crops is followed.

Cover Crops Benefit.
Cover crops of the right kind and planted at the right time benefit the soil. Progressive farming requires that a crop occupy the land in winter as well as in spring and summer.

Wanted It Cut Down.
Mrs. Strickitt, a lady notorious for her saving habits, one morning entered the doctor's office, leading by the hand a stoutly-built boy nine years of age and of exceedingly healthy appearance.

"Well, Mrs. Strickitt," said the doctor, "who's my patient? I don't seem to recognize his face. Not a village boy, is he?"
"No, doctor; my neevy from town."
"Not much wrong with him, I should say," laughed the doctor, pinching his red cheeks.
"It's about his appetite, doctor," said the boy's aunt in a low tone.
"What?" exclaimed the doctor, staring at the well-fed young patient.
"Surely he doesn't need an appetizer?"
"Good gracious, no, doctor!" replied the lady, in horrified accents. "I want you to give me something to make his appetite less. He'll eat me out of house afore his month's holiday is up if his appetite ain't cut down!"

THE HEDLEY INFORMER

ED C. BOLIVER
Publisher

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY

$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Entered as second class matter October 28, 1910, at the postoffice at Hedley, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Four issues make a newspaper month.

Advertising locals run and are charged for until ordered out, unless specific arrangements are made when the ad is brought in.

All obituaries, resolutions of respect, cards of thanks, advertising of church or society doings, when admission is charged, will be treated as advertising and charged for accordingly.

NOTICE.—Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Informer will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

Don't go away from home to buy anything you can buy at home. It isn't right and it isn't economy to do so.

If you can't boost, you can hush;—but of course you won't do it.

You discharge an important duty when you pay what's due on what's been charged. Avoid new debts as much as you can and void old ones as quick as you can.

Says President Wilson: "I expect to find the solution of the problems before me as president in the proportion that I am faithful in the study of the Word of God."

The Red Cross needs and deserves all the help you can possibly give it. Attend the Pie Supper Saturday evening.

Final success repays for many premature failures.

Every productive industry is on the battle line today and every man who quits it without good cause is a military deserter, says the Chicago Herald.

Those farmers who are dissatisfied with $2.20 wheat should be gently reminded that there is also the consumer to consider.

Some fools have asked Why should our boys fight abroad? Colonel Roosevelt answers: Our boys are fighting abroad with the allies so they will not have to fight at home without the allies.

Cuba has no army or navy, but will build airplanes for the allies. You just can't keep freedom out of freedom's war.

Official Washington warns the American people not to be too optimistic over the recent boat figures.

The more a man sings of his own virtues while he's living the less others will sing them when he's dead.

We all admit that half a loaf is better than no bread, but there isn't a darned bit of enthusiasm in the admission.

It seems human nature to want more than we have, but if you are able to live comfortably, why not be satisfied to live that way, and be happy?

lack of ideas, but those who can carry out the ideas it already has.

A paper says it cost Columbus only $7000 to discover America, but that it's costing the kaiser a whole lot more.

An easy way to prevent a logical overthrow is to call your opponent a liar. Like the Irish politician who was getting worsted in a debate when his campaign manager yelled: "Call him a liar, Mike, and make it a fight."

BARGAINS

A few special bargains in farms and city property this week. Hedley Realty Co. Phone 96.

Tom Goldston of Clarendon and Miss Donna Stubblefield, formerly of Clarendon but lately of Groom, were married a few days ago at the home of the bride. We extend congratulations and best wishes.

It will not cost twenty five or fifty cents to see the Gold Rooster play at the Pleasant Hour Theater Saturday night, and besides you help Uncle Sam whip the Huns, which is right. Ten and fifteen cents is the limit and the Government thanks you, so do we.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Meeting days: Second, third and fourth Sundays at 11 a. m., and the first Sunday at 2.30 p. m. Also preaching on each second Sunday by Brother G. O. Wood. Everybody invited.

FOR RESULTS

List your property with the Hedley Realty Co. Phone 96.

G. M. Smith, the new principal of the Bray school, was a pleasant caller at this office last Saturday, leaving an order with us for some printing. Mr. Smith is from Smith county, is a pleasing conversationalist and we enjoyed his visit. His sister in law Miss Lota Morgan, is the assistant teacher at Bray.

Dr. F. M. Blake, optometrist, who makes monthly visits to Hedley, is moving from Memphis back to Wellington. We are informed this will not interfere with his visits here. Look for him about Saturday, the 17th.

For Sale—My residence in West part of Hedley. A bargain to right party.

G. E. Davis.

County Attorney E. F. Ritchey of Clarendon was here Monday on business.

A complete line of Fresh Groceries at Lively's, and the prices are right—exactly right.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Lane of Clarendon were Hedley visitors last Sunday.

Circle
Lively entertained the Circle ladies of Hedley school auditorium at Lelia with Hallowe'en entertainment, and to say we had a delightful time is expressing it too mildly. The whole afternoon was spent in one continuous round of merriment, and there was an abundance of good things to eat. Each Hedley member came back loud in her praise of the Lelia ladies, for they certainly do know how to entertain.

Those who went from Hedley were Mesdames J. R. Cox, J. T. Bain, J. B. Turnbow, M. J. Smith, M. W. Mosley, John Dickson, A. L. Allen and A. B. Cloninger. The absent members of both Lelia and Hedley will never realize just what a good time they missed. We expect to entertain the good ladies of Lelia Lake in our Grove in the near future.

We are truly grateful to J. R. Cox and J. T. Bain for their kindness in taking us to Lelia.

ON GUARD AT THE READING GATE!

It is a fine thing to guard our homes against alien soldiers of whose purposes we are all aware.

But it is also very important to guard them against other insidious foes that creep in under the disguise of friendly entertainers to plunder and destroy the cherished ideals, the lofty standards, the clear views that have given the home its character.

If you will familiarize your people with the best reading, they will not be likely to crave what is inferior and demoralizing. The Youth's Companion is a powerful influence in awakening a taste for what is best in reading. It is on guard at the reading gate! Nothing cheap, mean or hateful passes its challenge. But neither does the crabbed and dull and austere. Cherry idealism is the Companion's countersign. Put it on guard at your reading gate!

The Companion is 2.00 a year. If you do not know it, by all means send for sample copies giving a forecast of what the next volume will bring. By adding 25 cents you can also get McCall's Magazine, the best fashion authority for women and girls—both publications for $2.25. Our two-at-one-price offer includes:

1. The Youth's Companion 52 issues of 1918.
2. All the remaining issues of 1917.
3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1918.
4. McCall's Magazine—12 fashion numbers of 1918.

All for only $2.25.
