CHAUTAUQUA AND BARBECUE IN AUGUST

Mr. Dunlap, a representative of the Standard Chautauqua Co., was in Hedley Wednesday to cooperate with our citizens in arranging to put over the Hedley Chautauqua August 5, 6 and 7.

A meeting was held in the Pleasant Hour Theater at 4 p. m., organization perfected, and important matters threshed out. The following officers were selected:

B. W. Moreman, president.
J. R. Benson, Sec. Treasurer.
J. P. Pool, chairman of ticket committee.
John Crow, chairman advertising committee.
D. C. Moore, chairman ground committee.

Mrs. B. W. Moreman, chairman decorating committee; Mrs. P. V. Dishman, Assistant.

A vote was taken as to whether or not we should buy the Chautauqua outright for above dates, for $500, the vote being favorable to that proposition.

Those present also looked with favor on the picnic idea, so it was decided to have a big basket picnic on the first day of the Chautauqua—August 5th. Committees for the double event will work hard for its success, and should have the cooperation of all our people.

An enjoyable time is assured all who attend the Hedley chautauqua this year, for we are going to have a great program.

The Novelty Trio, with pep and versatility; Vierra's Royal Hawaiian Quartet, native Hawaiians, enthusiastically received everywhere; Cumberland Singers, popular and thoroughly enjoyable; Dr. Mattison W. Chase, lecturer with a national reputation; Rena Gilman, in a real purposeful program. "Overseas With the Yanks" will be a thrilling lecture full of information, by Bob Whiston, who has been over there for fifteen months.

This is an opportunity for the citizens of Hedley to show their loyalty to the community and their appreciation of the local men who are responsible for bringing the Chautauqua to the town. BUY SEASON Tickets.

TO HAVE BARBECUE

Another meeting was held on Thursday morning, at which it was decided to have a barbecue instead of basket dinner on the big picnic day, and to furnish some extra attraction for the three chautauqua days. There will be cow pony racing, bronc and bull riding and a number of other events. Picnic committees were appointed as follows:

Finance: W. L. Rains, L. B. Muncie, W. D. Shelton and Van Boone.

Program: M. O. Barnett, W. A. Armstrong, J. D. Shaw, U. J. Boston.

MAN DROPS DEAD IN HEDLEY MONDAY

Considerable excitement was created in Hedley Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock when it became known that a man had dropped dead on the sidewalk, on the south side of Jim's Cafe.

The man, about 65 years old, was a stranger here, having arrived only that morning. Investigation at the Hess Hotel disclosed the fact that he was B. S. Ross, that he lived in Lawton, Okla., and that he was a chiroprodist and book agent.

He had just approached J. R. Boston and F. M. Acord, introduced himself, and was shaking hands with Mr. Acord, when he suddenly fell backward, gasped once or twice and was dead.

Justice of the Peace Hoggard, acting as coroner, held an inquest and pronounced death due to heart failure. He immediately set out to get in connection with relatives of the deceased. After one or two unsuccessful attempts, he talked with a Baptist pastor's wife in Lawton. She didn't know the family, but promised to make inquiry, and a few hours later Mr. Hoggard was talking to J. E. Ross, a son of the dead man. He later talked to his daughter, Mrs. Pearl Snider, of E. Dorado, Okla. As a result of these conversations, the body was embalmed by G. H. Hattenbach of Memphis, and the remains shipped to E. Dorado for interment.

TO SELL PICNIC RIGHTS

Saturday afternoon at 3:30, in front of the First State Bank of Hedley, we will sell the exclusive rights for cold drink stands, etc., at the Hedley chautauqua and barbecue to be held August 5, 6 and 7.

Those interested should take notice and be on hand.

To Mend an Ugly Tear.
Sometimes you are unfortunate enough to make an ugly tear in a handsome new gown. It may be mended very successfully, and if in an inconspicuous place it will not show at all. Lay the tear edge to edge, and baste across it, being careful that while the edges meet, they do not overlap. Cut a piece of rubber tissue, which may be obtained at any tailoring shop, to amply cover the tear. Lay the garment on the ironing board right side down, place the rubber over the rent, and over the rubber lay a piece of goods of the same material as that of the garment to be mended. Keep both rubber and goods perfectly smooth, and press out with a hot iron for several minutes. Now cut out the basting threads on the right side, and shave off any rough edges remaining. When there is no material of the dress on hand, a piece of lightweight woolen goods of the same color will answer. That the bottoms of men's trousers are held together in this way is a good sign that the method is practical and successful.

To Pad Embroidery.
In padding embroidery use the chain stitch. This is an especially good hint for making scalloped edges.
In making patch work, if you cut your pattern in table oil cloth instead of paper, you will find the work much more satisfactory. The oil-cloth pattern will not slip when cutting and there is no danger of snipping off a portion with the scissors.

A Dress Protector.
When the yoke of a nightdress becomes worn, cut off the nightdress skirt, take out the sleeves and sew it together across the top, leaving a small opening through which the hook of a suit hanger may be slipped, and use it to protect a nice dress hanging in the closet. Washed but seldom it will last a long time, and will be found more convenient than a bag, as it is so much easier to insert the dress without crushing.

Use for Old Leather.
One should always save the tops of old shoes, or the gauntlets of heavy riding gloves or other pieces of leather. They are excellent as an interlining for iron holders.
Do not make the holder too large, as it is clumsy to handle. Those which are oval in shape are preferable. Cut the covering and the interlining the same size and shape, stitch all the thicknesses on the machine, close to the edge of the material, then bind with a tape or piece of sear binding.

Pongee Again.
As sure as the coming of summer pongee in some form appears. This year there are lovely pongee parasols. Some are mounted on brown frames and sticks, with no other trimming than brown cords on the handles and brown tassels on the ends. Another shows lovely blue butterflies embroidered all over the inside of the parasol, with blue cord and blue ends to the sticks.

A Footwear Fad.
The few who wish to follow fashion's whim in footwear can wear, this summer, white oxfords with black shoe laces and black stockings. This combination is sanctioned by New York's latest decree. Of course the generality of women will use the conservative all white.

Summer and Sport Suits

No one is prepared for midsummer unless she has ready for warm weather a sport suit, or a sport coat that may be worn with skirts of the same character, supplemented by a sweater of sweater-coat. The sport suit has made a place for itself that nothing else can fill. It is not an extravagance even for the woman who believes in reducing her expenditure on clothes to necessities, for the sport suit replaces dressier and less generally wearable clothes. It is smart enough to take the place of afternoon frocks and it remains informal, whatever it is made of. "Suit" is a term that covers the combination of a sport skirt and a sport coat that do not match, as well as skirt and coat of the same material.

A handsome example of the first combination appears in the suit on the left of the two models shown in the picture. In this the skirt is of white satin and is made of one of those new weaves that appear to be better suited to sport skirts than to anything else. It is strong and brilliant. On the overlapped seam at the left side, five large, flat pearl buttons are set near the bottom. Nothing could be done more to emphasize the character of the skirt.
The coat is in the same class as the skirt, and is made of bright green silk tricolette, with sailor collar and band of self-colored embroidery about the bottom. A satin vest worn with it has small pearl buttons, set close together, down the front. Bright green taffeta coats with machine stitching of white silk, and coats crocheted of the green silk in lace designs are noteworthy among the novelties to be worn with white satin or silk sport skirts. All the coats have belts or sashes.

The suit at the right is made of a heavy ribbed silk—skirt and coat of the same material. There are several patterns in these sport silks, some of them in two colors, others in figured designs of one color. Angora cloth is a favorite for embellishing them, placed in bands about the skirt and coat and as cuffs and collars. But many of these silks are untrimmed, as the fanciful fabric makes variety enough. Even in sport suits the vest has made a place for itself, and it appears in this model with cuff at the bottom having six little buttons set along the center. But there are many sport coats that ignore the vogue of vests.

BETTER BARNS NOW THE RULE

Farmers Going More and More to Better Type.

DESIGN THAT IS FAVORITE

Erect Houses for Live Stock and Winter Supply of Feed That Keep Animals at Their Best—Profit Producer.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 187 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Everywhere throughout the country the farmers this year are going more and more to the modern type of barn—a barn that will keep their live stock in the best of health and at their highest point of productivity all winter. Such barns cost more than the old-fashioned, loosely constructed is a litter alley. The overhead carrier track is extended over this part of the barn, which makes the work of removing the manure easy.

In the arrangement of the stalls here shown, the cows face each other at the end of the barn. Between the stalls is a feed alley, while litter alleys run back of each row of stalls. The hay chute is located in the center of the building with the feed bin. Each stall is equipped with modern stanchions, which give the animals much freedom and at the same time hold them securely, while at each stall is an individual drinking cup.

Cutters are sunk into the concrete floor back of each row of stalls. The water system is used to flush these daily, as well as the floor, thus keeping the stable floor clean and wholesome.

This barn provides three features that all animals need to be kept healthy and at their highest point of productivity. They are sunlight, fresh air and fresh water. It will be noted that there are many windows ranged along each side of the building. These admit quantities of sunlight, and are at a height that will permit the sun's rays to hit the litter alley. Sunlight is nature's greatest germ killer, and by admitting the sunshine there is less danger of the spread of disease among the animals. On the ridge of the building are two ventilators, which are connected with foul air shafts leading out of the stable. These ventilators suck out the foul air, which is replaced by buildings, but in the end they more than pay for themselves. Warm animals produce more from the feed they consume for the simple reason that the nourishment is not required to keep them warm. While it is a long time until winter, now is the time to build barns, houses and the other buildings the modern up-to-date farm requires.

Foresight, someone has said, is better than hindsight. This is true in planning the sort of barn to be erected this year. By taking into consideration the facts that the successful farmers have found during their experience, the modern farmer will profit in the end. These facts are that good houses are the most important feature in making dairying profitable.

Illustrated here is the type of barn the modern farmer erects. It is what is known as a plank-frame barn, one constructed of lumber, but framed on the foundation, rather than on the ground. The latter type was popular in the days of the "barn-raising bees." This is the most economical type of construction, and, at the same time, provides the best sort of a weather-proof barn for the live stock.

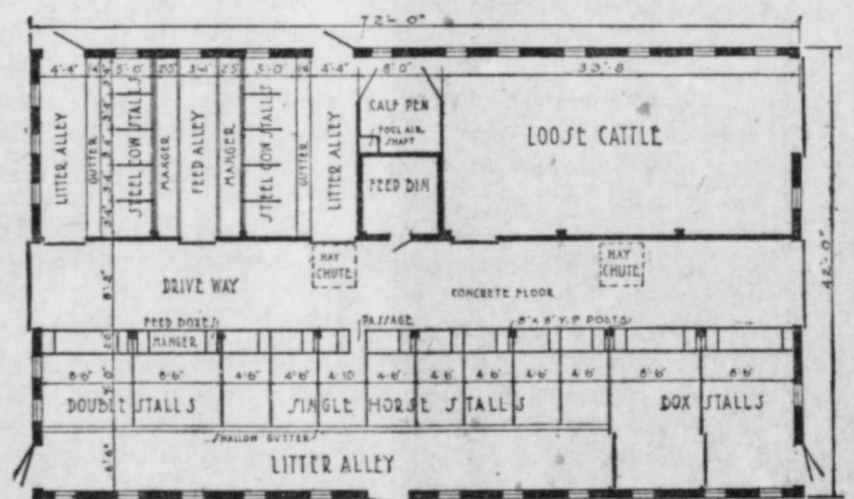

The dimensions of this barn are 42 by 72 feet, which is amply large for fresh air. The fresh air is admitted at a height that prevents the animals from being in a draft. The drinking cups at the stall provide the cows and horses with fresh water at all times. Water makes milk, and those who have put in water cups have been surprised at the amount of water a cow will consume while standing in the barn, and at the increase in the amount of milk she will give.

The mow floor is clear of obstruction in this type of a barn, the roof being supported by rafters only. A carrier track is run along the ridge and out underneath the gable at the front. The door drops down out of the way, and the hay is mowed away by power.

While no silo is shown in this illustration, one is put up in connection with most modern barns, as it has been discovered that the animals thrive on silage, while at the same time less hay is consumed. Hay demands a good price in the grain market, while there is no sale for corn stalks. A silo adds to the farmer's income.

While the cost of building now is higher than it was before the war, the farmer gets so much more for his products in proportion that he cannot the average farm. The floor plan shown is designed to accommodate ten milch cows and twelve horses, besides considerable loose stock. This can be changed, however, to suit the needs of the owner. For instance, one end of the barn can be partitioned off so as to have the horses separate from the cows, which is required by the pure food laws of some states. When this is done, as much or as little space can be set aside for the horses as is wanted, and the balance devoted to the cow stable.

This barn has an exceptionally attractive exterior appearance and will make a fine addition to any farm building group. It is of the gambrel-roof type, which provides a large amount of mow space. The building is set on a concrete foundation, with a concrete stable floor. The balance of the building is of wood.

As in most modern barns the stalls are placed so that the animals face in. Through the center of the building runs the feed alley, wide enough for a wagon to be driven through. This gives the owner an opportunity to carry the grain feed by wagon directly to the feed bin, from which it is distributed by an overhead carrier directly to the mangers. Along one side of the building, back of the horse stalls afford to put off building. As was said at the beginning, a modern barn is a profit producer. It will increase the milk production and will keep his high-priced animals healthy.

Prices of materials now have been stabilized. That is, there will be no change in them during the year. There is no reason why every farmer should not have the new buildings he needs. And now is the time to build them.

Lost French Children.
A correspondent in the London Daily Mail writes of the lost children of Lille as follows: "According to information received by me from France, the mother of Lille, through MM. G. Lyon, the sector, and E. Donner, professor of the University of Lille, have presented a petition to the president of the French republic asking him to demand from the German government the return of their children, of whom nothing is known except that they have been taken away by the Germans, and urging that it is possible that the fear of reprisals might induce the barbarians to return the children to their mothers."

The missing children include 13 under fourteen years of age, 1,109 under fifteen, 1,447 under sixteen, 1,449 under seventeen, or 4,018 in all.

Ugh! Calomel Sickens; Salivates! Please Try Dodson's Liver Tone

I am sincere! My medicine does not upset liver and bowels so you lose a day's work.

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick; you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into your bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tone instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of calomel is almost stopped entirely here.—Adv.

Penny Pinching Not Always True Economy

I have learned that the intelligent housewife—the woman schooled in really scientific domestic economy—no longer throws away a nickel to save a penny.

A good way to illustrate this point would be through comparison of baking powders.

Experience has taught me—and millions of other women that it doesn't pay to buy cheap baking powders. They cost a few cents less, but in the long run they are decidedly the most expensive. Because of the low grade materials employed in their manufacture they cause many bake day failures—and great loss of expensive ingredients. The housewife throws out, in wasted materials many times the amount saved on the cost of the baking powder. This is not economy, but extravagance.

True economy in baking powder demands the highest quality at the lowest price. Only baking powders that meet these demands should be used. Only baking powder that is made of the highest class ingredients so perfectly proportioned that it not only produces maximum leavening power but also preserves it.

Besides, the baking powder that meets the modern demand for economy should be economical in use—full strength—economical in cost—secured at a moderate price. The housewife should be able to effect a saving when buying—and another saving when using—and she should save materials it is used with.

That is economy in its highest form. Complete economy. The only kind of economy the housewife should attempt.

I have proved positively by exhaustive experiments and comparative tests that Calumet Baking Powder is best suited to these savings. It possesses the surety, the purity and goodness that make constant employment of utmost baking economy possible.

THE FOURTH IN CLARENDON

Perhaps half of the population of Hedley and vicinity went to Clarendon the Fourth to help celebrate. A freight wreck just west of town (in which little damage was done except to the trucks under one end of one car) delayed the passenger train for several hours and kept still others from going. Several thousand people were there, and in spite of considerable heat and some sand, it was plainly evident they were enjoying themselves. Cold drink establishments, novelty stands, cafes, and 'Melkey's' movie emporium did a flourishing business. A number of interesting events took place at the race track in the afternoon, but we returned home too early to attend this. A young man, whose name we did not learn, was seriously hurt in the cow pony race. The Informer editor had the pleasure of shaking hands with many friends, and enjoyed a most excellent dinner at the hospitable Joe M. Warren home.

CPL. ROBERT DAVIS

writes from Germany to his mother, Mrs. A. G. Davis.

June 2nd, 1919.

Dear Mother:

I received your letter last week just as I was ready to start back to France to take part in memorial services. We came back yesterday eve, so will try and write you a few lines. I'm well, but have had a sore foot for the last week. It got on the bum while in France, and I didn't get to stroll around very much. We went to Romagne; it's only a small place, or was, as it is just a pile of ruins now. It was near there that I was wounded, and that old torn up country looked natural to me. The cemetery sure is nice, though it's not finished yet; there are about 10,000 buried there now, and it will hold 27,000 when it is filled up. They have a lot of negroes working there, and they say it's sure tough digging up the bodies after so long a time; but they don't have to dig very deep, as most of them were barely covered up, and I saw a few that wasn't that much. But they are buried decently when they get through with them.

That sure is a torn up country and, as slow as the French are, it will be years before it is built up again, and there's some that never will be any more good.

Well, you are right, it does seem ages since I left, and don't seem like we'll ever get back; but if they ever sign peace I don't think we will be here very long; but they keep putting it off.

I'm sure glad you are having plenty of rain. Maybe crops will be good again; I hope they are, and that I can get to help gather them. Now, about those chickens, I believe I can eat a barnyard full of them.

I wrote Jess and got an answer yesterday. He was fine; said he had been to Coblenz twice. I'd sure like to see him. Don't you worry about me not getting any money; I was paid last month and had both shirt pockets full of the stuff, such as it is.

Well as I'm about out of anything to write, will close for this time. Much love to you all.

Your son,
Robert Davis.

Zemerine is sold in two sizes, 50c and $1. If not at your drugist's it will be sent postpaid up on receipt of price by Zemerine Chemical Company, Orangeburg, S. C. Sample 10c.

THE MCCARROLLS MOVE

Tuesday S. A. McCarroll left for Wichita Falls to work for the Cicero Smith Lumber Co. He has been manager of the local Cicero Smith yard for two years and made a host of friends who will regret to hear of his moving, but will be glad to know of his promotion. Mrs. McCarroll went to Hedley to visit her mother until her husband gets their new home in readiness. The Leader feels that Wellington has lost two of its best citizens in the removal of this couple from our midst, but wish them success in their new home.

Gas Stall has been promoted to the management of the local yard.—Wellington Leader.

R. R. Mebley's family arrived the past week from Memphis, and are now bona fide Hedley-ans. We bid them welcome.

NOEL HONORED

About fifty people, local bankers and families and employees, last Saturday afternoon held a picnic at Montgomery Park in honor of J. W. Noel, retiring cashier of the First National Bank of this city. The affair was in the nature of a farewell surprise for Mr. Noel, who resigned his place as cashier of the First National Bank to accept a place as cashier of the Guaranty State Bank of Hedley. Mr. Noel has been with the local bank fourteen years and has built up a host of friends and business acquaintances during that time who regret to see him leave, but who wish him well in his new field. D. L. C. Kinard, who has been with the First National Bank for the past fourteen years, succeeds him as cashier. Out of town guests present at the picnic were Joe Estes of Corpus Christi, John G. Reed of Hillsboro and Mr. and Mrs. Ewel Noel of Lakeview.—Hall County Herald.

Mack White and family left Wednesday evening for Alford, where they will henceforth reside. We are sorry to see them leave, and trust that ere long they "see the error of their way" and come back to the garden spot.

P. C. Johnson and M. H. Bell made a business trip to Quanah, Bowie, Stoneburg, Montague, Rip Prairie, Cuinapin and intermediate points. They returned home Saturday evening.

The O. N. Stallworth family left Tuesday for Northern Oklahoma. They will first visit relatives at Tonkawa, then go on to Enid, in which city or vicinity they will reside. Our best wishes go with them.

Sheriff Rutherford was here Tuesday morning from Clarendon, bringing down the supplies for the special Senatorial election the 14th inst.

Howard Arnett and Wiston Jones are here from Mexico, visiting relatives and friends.

CONGRESSMAN JONES

WANTS PACKERS CURBED

Congressman Marvia Jones has introduced in the House a Bill similar to the one recently introduced by Senator Kendrick, providing for control of the slaughtering and meat packing industries. Some provisions have been added and other provisions of the Kendrick Bill have been more specific. With reference to the same Mr. Jones made the following statement:

"There are certain phases of the Packing industry which are very much in need of control in the interest of the public.

First: Refrigerator cars should be made common carriers in order to abolish the discrimination which privately owned cars occasions. However, in this connection the railroads should be required to furnish the same character and class of equipment which is now furnished by the packers so that there may be no reduction in the character of service or the quality of the product as delivered.

Second: The Packers interest in the Banking and Cattle Loan Companies, which deal directly or indirectly with the cattle producer, should be regulated in such a way as to prevent the congestion of the cattle market by the manipulation of call loans or short time obligations.

Third: The practice of the purchasing agents in any one cattle market of notifying the purchasing or commission agents of the packers in other cattle markets of the price bid on any particular cattle, thus making it impossible for the live stock owner to seek other markets for his animals, should be forbidden.

Fourth: As a direct result of privately owned refrigerator cars concerns engaged primarily in slaughtering or meat packing are given an advantage in the distribution of articles of commerce that are unrelated to the meat packing industry and that cannot be properly termed by-products inasmuch as some of the articles distributed have no ingredients that are derived from the products of such slaughtering or meat packing industries.

Of course, great care is necessary in carrying out such regulations in order to see that the meat packing industry is not seriously handicapped or crippled. The entire country is interested in seeing that the packing industry remains efficient and continuous in operation. At the same time it seems that proper regulation is necessary to prevent abuses in connection with such industries.

MRS. SNIDER WRITES

Mrs. Snider, daughter of B. S. Ross, who dropped dead here last Monday, writes as follows: Eldorado, Okla., July 10th, 1919.

Mr. W. Z. Hoggard, Hedley, Texas.

My very dear friend: I am writing you in answer to yours of yesterday. My poor heart cannot express the thanks to you for your kindness in this sad hour. We took Papa's death so hard! Just to think, he had to die away from us, and like he did. Still I feel like if he could have chosen the way to go, it would have been as he did.

I met the corpse at Quanah with the hearse and the remains were laid away yesterday evening at Gould, Okla., about six o'clock.

He left five children; all were present at the funeral service. I will send you the Eldorado paper and it will explain to you about my father. I was so glad to get your letter. It made us all have a tender feeling for you, and I wish I could meet you and talk to you, for I am sure you are a good man, and your memory will never be erased from our minds.

I am worn out and nervous. I am not strong, but the good Lord never puts more on us than we are able to bear. I am

Sincerely your friend,
Mrs. Pearl Snider.
