The January term of district court for Donley county will convene Monday, January 2, 1923, at Clarendon, Judge Henry C. Fletcher presiding, and Attorney C. E. Fletcher prosecuting.

The docket is full, but as we know there are no cases of unusual magnitude or importance.

Following is the list of grand jurors: T. C. Johnson, T. R. Moreman, W. F. Walker, Harry Wilson, Wilson Gray, W. L. Goldston, Jodie Helm, R. S. Thompson, W. E. Hodges, R. L. Mason, G. Leathers, Pat Loppin, Jim Patman, W. R. Holder, Bennett Kerbow, Andrew Donnell.

Hedley men called for petit jury duty include: F. G. Watt, P. C. Johnson and Clyde Grimley, first week; O. A. Heath, M. W. Mosley and A. N. Wood, second week; John Mace and U. J. Boston, third week.

Z. A. Moore and family were here this week from Memphis.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas
To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Know Ye:

That, whereas, on the 8th day of December, 1922, pursuant to a judgment in cause No. 1199 in the District Court of Donley county, Texas, wherein C. L. Fields as plaintiff recovered a judgment against R. F. Morris and H. M. Crawford for the sum of $988.55, together with a fore closure of the vendor's lien, W. E. Bray, as clerk of the District court of Donley county, Texas, wherein said judgment was rendered, did issue an order of sale directed to me as sheriff of Donley county, Texas, requiring me to seize and sell all of the South three fourths of Section 110 in Block E in Donley county, Texas, and all the interests of the defendants R. F. Morris and H. M. Crawford had therein on or at any time since the 18th day of August, 1917.

And, whereas, I did on the first said date levy said writ upon said premises; Now, therefore, Know Ye: That pursuant to said order of sale I shall at the court house door of Donley county, Texas, between the hours of ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m., on Tuesday,

January 2nd, 1923, sell the said premises at public vendue to the highest and best bidder for cash in satisfaction of said judgment of said court and costs of execution of said writ; that I shall proper deed to the purchaser. The aforementioned premises lie about four teen miles northeast of the town of Clarendon, in Donley county, Texas, and is known as the Morris Crawford place.

Witness my hand at Clarendon, Texas, this the 8th day of December, A. D. 1922.

J. H. Rutherford, Sheriff

Ware's Baby Powder Relieved His Baby of Intestinal Indigestion in 48 Hours Cured in a Few Days

Geo. W. Thomas, prominent citizen of Shreveport, La., wrote us March 1922, as follows: "Please send me twenty boxes of your Ware's Baby Powder by parcel post, c. o. d. I have tried your baby powder in my home and many of my friends and your Ware's Baby Powder have seen what it did for my home. One of my children weighed 15 pounds before he began using your Baby Powder; before two months had passed he had gained 25 pounds and today he weighs 45 pounds and is in perfect health. I am over forty years, Ware's Baby Powder has been a healing boon for me. I have had several colds, coughs, and bowels in a healthy condition and you need have no fear of any distressing troubles so general among babies especially during the teething period. Perfectly healthful, mixed according to directions, is a teaspoonful of Ware's Baby Powder, a half teaspoonful of sugar, and enough water to make four ounces; children love to take it. At one drug store, in 50c and $1.00 packages. Prepared in the laboratories of The Ware Chemical Co., Dallas, Texas. Adv. No. 3"

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
The State of Texas.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Donley County—Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon Jim Sherman by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county to appear at the next regular term of the Justice court of Precinct No. 2 of Donley county, Texas, to be held at the office of said Justice of the Peace in the city of Clarendon, said state and county, the same being the 25th day of December, A. D. 1922, then and there to answer the suit of J. O. Killough and G. E. Killough, plaintiffs, against Jim Sherman, defendant, being numbered No. 1201 on the docket of said court and filed on the 5th day of December, A. D. 1922, the nature of plaintiff's demand being in substance as follows, to-wit:

This is a suit on an open account for the sum of $33.00 for services rendered at the special instance and request of the defendant, by plaintiffs, in the preparation of an abstr. act of title to Lots 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 in Block 83 in the city of Clarendon, Donley county, Texas, and delivered and accepted by the defendant in September 1st, 1922.

That since the filing of this suit, plaintiffs filed in said court their affidavit and bond in attachment and caused to be issued a writ of attachment directed to the sheriff or any constable of Donley county, commanding him to attach so much of the property of the defendant, if to be found in Donley county, as shall be sufficient to make the amount of plaintiff's debt together with costs of suit, etc.

That in obedience to said writ of attachment said sheriff did on the 5th day of December, A. D. 1922 levy upon and take into his possession all of Lots 10, 11 and 12, in Block 80 in the city of Clarendon, Donley county, Texas, and holds said property subject to the orders of this court.

Herein fail not, but of this writ make due return to the next regular term of the Justice court of Precinct No. 2 in said county of Donley to be held the 25th day of December, A. D. 1922.

You are hereby commanded to summon C. M. Blanton, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, but if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, the nearest county where a newspaper is published, appear at the next regular term of the District Court of County, to be held at the house thereof in Clarendon, Texas, on the 2nd Monday in January, A. D. 1923, the same being the 8th day of January, 1923, then and there to answer the petition filed in said Court on the 28th day of November, A. D. 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 1257, wherein Geo. S. Slover, J. W. Gordon and O. A. Barrett are plaintiffs and C. M. Blanton is defendant, said petition alleging that on or about July 3rd, A. D. 1920 defendant C. M. Blanton, for a valuable consideration, made, executed and delivered his one certain promissory vendor's lien note to plaintiffs, for the sum of $1000.00, to be due in one year after date, to draw interest at the rate of 8 percent per annum from date till paid, said note carried the usual ten percent atorneys fee clause, the excoellation clause, and a vendors lien was reserved on the following described land, to-wit: Being all of lots number 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and the south half of lot number 11, in Block number 21, of the Wesson Sub division of the McLean Addition to the town of Clarendon Texas; that certain portions of said land has been deeded back to plaintiffs by defendant and wife the same being of record Vol. 45, page 350, deed records of Donley county, Texas; that said note is past due, the interest unpaid, and that to enforce the payment of same it has been placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, that the usual ten percent attorneys fees has been contracted to be paid and that the same is reasonable; that defendant has heretofore refused to pay principal or interest, and still refuses to pay either principal or interest, though often asked to do so by plaintiffs Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to appear and answer the plea and on final hearing they have judgment against defendant C. M. Blanton for costs herein, attorneys fees, for the foreclosure of their vendors lien on so much of Block number 21, Wesson Sub division McLean Addition, town of Clarendon, Texas, as was deeded to defendant by plaintiffs, and which has not been deeded back to plaintiffs by defendant, as shown by the deed of record in Volume 45 page 55, deed records of Donley county, Texas, for the sale of said land, under such foreclosure, of lien, order of sale, writ of possession and all such other and further relief, legal and equitable, special and general, as they may be justly entitled to, etc.
Herein fail not, but have you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Plaintiff Mrs. M. E. Holland sues to foreclose six $500.00 vendors lien notes executed by W. B. Webb and payable to the plaintiff Mrs. M. E. Holland, each retaining a lien against the North one half of Section No. 128 Block C 6, G C & S F Ry. Co. Survey, Abstract No. 1181, certificate 1160, Donley county, Texas. Plaintiff alleges that said notes are second only to the balance, if any there may be, due on the $4000.00 deed of trust note given against the land above described by plaintiff to the Western and Hawaiian Investment Company, and also one $3000.00 deed of trust note given to the company last named by W. B. Webb. Plaintiff alleges that Webb purchased said land and gave six $500.00 notes as part of the purchase price, and later sold the same to the defendant Rucker, and that defendant Alexander is a tenant on said land claiming some kind of an interest therein. Plaintiff asks judgment for the amount of the notes and for a foreclosure of her lien, subject to said deed of trust notes.
Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Fur-Trimmed Fabric Wraps; Knitted Wear for Juniors

BEAUTIFUL woven furs, called either fabric-furs or fur-fabrics, are having their day, not to mention their evening, as well. They are climbing to the peak and become fashionable. Its, which are mainly the foremost recommended, comes next, made of them are as warm as natural furs, because they tired, as when wearing pretty sweaters, capes, dresses, mittens, leggings and other toggery.

The ever-increasing demand for knitted wear for the youngsters and growing girls, has challenged designer and producer to create as interesting styles for them as for adults.

In fact, grownups' knitted styles are reproduced in miniature to a great extent. Such, for instance, as the knitted poesies which are serving little girls so admirably this time of the year.

Some lovely models for the tiny child are shown in the way of dresses hav-much time and work for matching and piecing and sewing of the pelts, before garments can be cut from them. There is a great saving of labor in the fabric garments.

Very handsome natural furs are used in collars, cuffs and trimmings in wraps of fur-fabrics, which match them in luxuriousness. Like wraps of natural fur, they are rich enough for evening, dignified and conservative enough for daytime wear. Two fine examples are shown in the illustration, one of black broadtail fur-fabric and the other of taupe moleskin fabric. The broadtail wrap, at the left of the two pictured, is a straight coat, with dolman sleeves finished with silk tassels. It has a ing plain knitted bodices with ruffled skirts starting at the normal waistline. Scarf and hat sets are very popular for little girls. They may be in dark or light colors, and the hat is usually a tam or a petite round shape with novel balls dangling to one side. Among exclusive showings one finds knitted coats to the bottom of the dress, and these are invariably accompanied with a matched knit hat. See, for instance, the handsome coat in the illustration. It is designed for a young hopeful of four years or so. Note the cleverly introduced yoke, and observe the plaited stitch at the top, with heavy ridges or stripes for the body of the garment. regal collar of fine, dark marten fur. The capelike coat at the left has smaller sleeves also adorned with tassels and a high collar of fitch fur. It narrows at the bottom where a band of the material, cut crosswise of the goods, has the effect of a fur border. These are really insignificant wraps, and a good investment in comfort and beauty, for their wearers. They are to be preferred, in every way, to inferior furs.

When it comes to clothing the children comfortably and attractively, there is nothing quite so adaptable as the knitted garment. No wonder we see so many little tots cunningly attired from head to foot in knitwear. Ask mother, she knows! It is not a matter of experiment, but logical conclusion, that her little ones are never so sensibly and pleasingly at-

EXCELLENT GIFT FOR YOUTH

Department of Agriculture Suggests Purebred Calf, Pig or Some Other Animal.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In selecting birthday and Christmas gifts for children in rural communities, why not give a purebred pig, calf, or other animal? This is the suggestion of the United States Department of Agriculture, which, with the various states, is conducting the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign. A recent questionnaire study of the utility value of purebred live stock showed, among other results, that home influence is an important factor governing the breeding of superior domestic animals. In fact, it ranks in importance next to sales, fairs, and shows, taken collectively. When parents show their interest in good stock the children are more likely to do so.

One breeder told of receiving some purebred live stock as a wedding gift from his father-in-law. That beginning was an important influence, which resulted in an entire herd of well-bred,

A Club Member and His Purebred Calf, profitable animals, a practical influence in the couple's prosperity and happiness.

Gifts of good live stock, the department points out, are not only acceptable in themselves but with proper handling multiply and give pleasure, satisfaction, and financial benefits for an indefinite period.

Common Sense Counts

Success in the dairy business or in keeping even a small herd of dairy cows depends (like most things do) in a great measure upon the use of good common sense. Cows produce the most milk usually in the latter part of May and June. Therefore, what does the wise dairy farmer do? He maintains as nearly as possible the year round, the conditions of those months when production is the highest.

Palatable food, a succulent ration, and a balanced ration, together with a moderate temperature and comfortable surroundings, will bring as near the ideal producing conditions as is possible, and an effort to keep conditions so will pay big returns.

FEED DRY COW ON ROUGHAGE

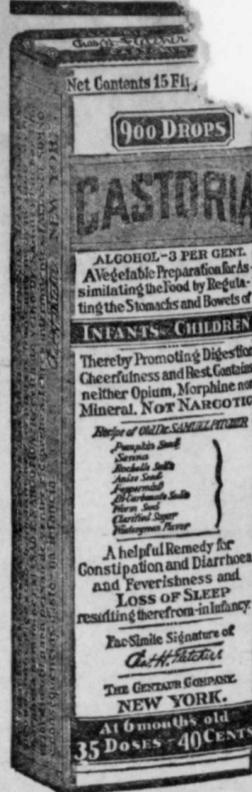

Daily Allowance of Bran or Oats Is Favored—Cabbage and Pumpkins Are Very Good.

During the eight or ten weeks that cows go dry, their food should be chiefly roughage. A daily allowance of two pounds of bran or oats, or a mixture of two parts each of bran and oats and one part of linseed meal or corn-oil meal makes a proper feed for a cow near calving. Some roots, cabbage, pumpkins, or squashes are also very good. Highly carbonaceous roughage, such as straw and corn stalks, is not good at this particular time. Such feeds, with cold water, cold drafts, or lying out at night on damp or frozen ground, are the chief causes of caked udder or garget.

Cleanliness in Everything. Milk pails and other utensils should be free so far as is possible from crevices where dirt may lodge and be hard to remove. Cream separators and other dairy utensils should always be cleaned properly immediately after use. This practice not only improves the quality of the milk and cream but makes the work easier and the utensils last longer.

Clean Utensils. All utensils which come in contact with milk and cream should be kept clean at all times. It is well to use pails with a partly covered top because this keeps out 50 per cent of the dirt and other impurities which would otherwise get into the milk.

Safeguards in Calf Feeding. Critical in a calf's life is when his feed is changed from whole milk to skim milk. To avoid scours make the change very gradually, adding a little skim milk to the whole milk each day.

"GOOD GIRL!"

SYNOPSIS—General factotum in the house of her sister Ina, wife of Herbert Deacon, in the small town of Warbleton, Lulu Bett leads a dull, cramped existence, with which she is constantly at enmity, though apparently satisfied with her lot. Bobby Larkin, recently graduated high-school youth, is secretly enamored of Deacon's elder daughter, Diana. The family is excited over the news of an approaching visit from Deacon's brother, Ninian, whom he had not seen for many years. Unexpectedly, Ninian arrives. Thus he becomes acquainted with Lulu first and understands her position in the house. To Lulu, Ninian is a much-traveled man of the world, and even the slight interest which he takes in her is appreciated, because it is something new in her life. At an outing which the family takes, Ninian and Lulu become confidential. He expresses his disapproval of her treatment as a sort of dependent in the Deacon home. Diana and Bobby, in the course of "soft nothings," discuss the possibility of eloping and "surprising the whole school." Lulu has awakened to pleasant possibilities concerning Ninian's intentions toward herself. Ninian takes the family for a "good time" in the adjacent city. At supper, after the theater, as part of a joke Lulu repeats the words of the civil marriage ceremony, with Ninian. Herbert remembers that a civil wedding is binding in the state, and inasmuch as he is a magistrate, Ninian and Lulu are legally married.

IV—Continued.

Ina inexplicably began touching away tears. "Oh," she said, "what will mamma say?"

Lulu hardly heard her. Mrs. Bett was inecolably distant.

"You sure?" Lulu said low to Ninian.

For the first time, something in her exceeding isolation really touched him. "Say," he said, "you come on with me. We'll have it done over again somewhere. If you say so."

"Oh," said Lulu, "if I thought—"

He leaned and patted her hand. "Good girl," he said.

They sat silent, Ninian padding on the cloth with the flat of his plump hands.

Dwight returned. "It's a go all right," he said. He sat down, laughed weakly, tubbed at his face. "You two are tied as tight as the church could tie you."

"Good enough," said Ninian. "Eh, Lulu?"

"It's—it's all right, I guess," Lulu said.

"Well, I'll be dished," said Dwight. "Sister!" said Ina.

Ninian meditated, his lips set tight and high. It is impossible to trace the processes of this man. Perhaps they were all compact of the devil-may-care attitude engendered in any persistent traveler. Perhaps the incomparable cookery of Lulu played its part.

"I was going to make a trip south this month," he said, "on my way home from here. Suppose we get married again by somebody or other, and start right off. You'd like that, wouldn't you—going south."

"Yes," said Lulu only.

"It's July," said Ina, with her sense of fitness, but no one heard.

It was arranged that their trunks should follow them—Ina would see to that, though she was scandalized that they were not first to return to Warbleton for the blessing of Mrs. Bett. "Mamma won't stand a fuss any more."

They left the table. The men and women still sitting at the other tables saw nothing unusual about these four, indifferently dressed, indifferently conditioned. The hotel orchestra, playing ragtime in deafening concord, made Lulu's wedding march.

It was still early next day—a hot Sunday—when Ina and Dwight reached home. Mrs. Bett was standing on the porch.

"Where's Lullie?" asked Mrs. Bett. They told.

Mrs. Bett took it in, a bit at a time. Her pale eyes searched their faces, she shook her head, heard it again, grasped it. Her first question was: "Who's going to do your work?"

Ina had thought of that, and this was manifest.

"Oh," she said, "you and I'll have to manage."

Mrs. Bett meditated, frowning.

"I left the bacon for her to cook for your breakfasts," she said. "I can't cook bacon fit to eat. Neither can you."

"We've had our breakfasts, Ina escaped from this dilemma.

"Had it up in the city, on expense?"

"Well, we didn't have much."

In Mrs. Bett's eyes tears gathered, but they were not for Lulu.

"I should think," she said, "I should think Lullie might have had a little more gratitude to her than this."

On their way to church Ina and Dwight encountered Di, who had left the house some time earlier, stepping sedately to church in company with Bobby Larkin. Di was in white, and her face was the face of an angel, so young, so questioning, so utterly devoid of her sophistication.

"That child," said Ina, "must not see so much of that Larkin boy. She's just a little, little girl."

"Of course she mustn't," said Dwight sharply, "and if I was her mother—"

"Oh, stop that!" said Ina, sotto voce, at the church steps.

To every one with whom they spoke in the aisle after church, Ina announced their news: Had they heard? Lulu married Dwight's brother Ninian!

To Every One With Whom They Spoke in the Aisle After Church Ina Announced Their News.

in the city yesterday. Oh, sudden, yes! And romantic . . . spoken with that upward inflection to which Ina was a prey.

V August.

Mrs. Bett had been having a "tantrum," brought on by nothing definable. Abruptly as she and Ina were getting supper, Mrs. Bett had fallen silent, had in fact refused to reply when addressed. When all was ready and Dwight was entering, hair wetly brushed, she had withdrawn from the room and closed her bedroom door until it echoed.

"She's got one again," said Ina, grieving, "Dwight, you go."

He went, showing no sign of annoyance, and stood outside his mother-in-law's door and knocked.

No answer.

"Mother, come and have some supper."

No answer.

"Looks to me like your muffins was just about the best ever."

No answer.

"Come on—I had something funny to tell you and Ina."

He retreated, knowing nothing of the admirable control exercised by this woman for her own passionate satisfaction in sending him away unsatisfied. He showed nothing but anxious concern, touched with regret, at his failure. Ina, too, returned from that door discomfited. Dwight made a gallant effort to retrieve the fallen fortunes of their evening meal, and turned upon Di, who had just entered, and with exceeding facetiousness inquired how Bobby was.

Di looked hunted. She could never tell whether her parents were going to tease her about Bobby, or rebuke her for being seen with him. It depended on mood, and this mood Di had not the experience to gauge. She now groped for some neutral fact, and mentioned that he was going to take her and Jenny for ice cream that night.

Ina's irritation found just expression in her office of motherhood.

"I won't have you downtown in the evening," she said.

"But you let me go last night."

"All the better reason why you should not go tonight."

"I tell you," cried Dwight, "Why not all walk down? Why not all have ice cream . . ." He was all gentleness and propitiation, the reconciling element in his home.

"Me, too?" Monona's ardent hope, her terrible fear were in her eyebrows, her parted lips.

"You, too, certainly." Dwight could not do enough for every one.

Monona clasped her hands. "Goody!

goody! Last time you wouldn't let me go."

"That's why papa's going to take you this time," Ina said.

These ethical balances having been nicely struck, Ina proposed another: "But," she said, "but, you must eat more supper or you cannot go."

"I don't want any more," Monona's was honest and piteous.

"No difference. You must eat or you can't go."

"No."

"Very well, then. No ice cream soda for such a little girl."

Monona began to cry quietly. But she passed her plate. She ate, chewing high, and slowly.

"See? She can eat if she will eat," Ina said to Dwight. "The only trouble is, she will not take the time."

"She don't put her mind on her meals," Dwight Herbert diagnosed it. "Oh, bigger bites than that!" he encouraged his little daughter.

Di's mind had been proceeding along its own paths.

"Are you going to take Jenny and Bobby too?" she inquired.

"Certainly. The whole party."

"Bobby'll want to pay for Jenny and I."

"Me, darling," said Ina patiently, punctiliously—and less punctiliously added: "Nonsense. This is going to be papa's little party."

"But we had the engagement with Bobby. It was an engagement."

"Well," said Ina, "I think we'll just set that aside—that important engagement. I think we just will."

"Papa! Bobby'll want to be the one to pay for Jenny and I—"

"Di!" Ina's voice dominated all. "Will you be more careful of your grammar or shall I speak to you again?"

"Well, I'd rather use bad grammar than—than—than—" she looked resentfully at her mother, her father. Their moral defection was evident to her, but it was indefinable. They told her that she ought to be ashamed when papa wanted to give them all a treat. She sat silent, frowning, put-upon.

"Look, mamma!" cried Monona, swallowing a third of an egg at one impulse. Ina saw only the empty plate.

"Mamma's nice little girl!" cried she, shining upon her child.

The rules of the ordinary sports of the playground, scrupulously applied, would have clarified the ethical atmosphere of this little family. But there was no one to apply them.

When Di and Monona had been excused, Dwight asked:

"Nothing new from the bride and groom?"

"No. And, Dwight, it's been a week since the last."

"See—where are they then?"

He knew perfectly well that they were in Savannah, Georgia, but Ina played his game, told him, and retold bits that the letter had said.

"I don't understand," she added, "why they should go straight to Oregon without coming here first."

Dwight hazarded that Nin probably had to get back, and shone pleasantly in the reflected importance of a brother filled with affairs.

"I don't know what to make of Lulu's letters," Ina proceeded. "They're so—so—"

"You haven't had but two, have you?"

"That's all—well, of course it's only been a month. But both letters have been so—"

Ina was never really articulate. Whatever corner of her brain had the blood in it at the moment seemed to be operative, and she let the matter go at that.

"I don't think it's fair to mamma—going off that way. Leaving her own mother. Why, she may never see mamma again—"

Ina's breath caught. Into her face came something of the lovely tenderness with which she sometimes looked at Monona and Di. She sprang up. She had forgotten to put some supper to warm for mamma. The lovely light was still in her face as she bustled about against the time of mamma's recovery from her tantrum. Dwight's face was like this when he spoke of his foster-mother. In both these beings there was something which functioned as pure love.

Mamma had recovered and was eating cold scrambled eggs on the corner of the kitchen table when the ice cream soda party was ready to set out. Dwight threw her a casual "Better come, too, Mother Bett," but she shook her head. She wished to go, wished it with violence, but she contrived to give to her arbitrary refusal a quality of contempt. When Jenny arrived with Bobby, she had brought a sheaf of gladioli for Mrs. Bett, and took them to her in the kitchen, and as she laid the flowers beside her, the young girl stopped and kissed her. "You little darling!" cried Mrs. Bett, and clung to her, her lifted eyes lit by something intense and living. But when the ice cream party had set off at last, Mrs. Bett left her supper, gathered up the flowers, and crossed the lawn to the old cripple, Grandma Gates.

"Inie shan't have 'em," the old woman thought.

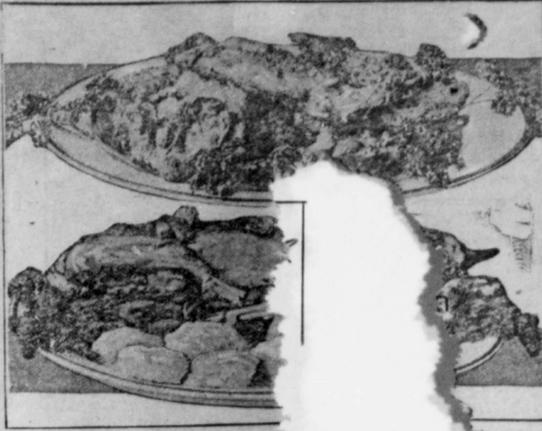

And then it was quite beautiful to watch her with Grandma Gates, whom she tended and, petted, to whose complaints she listened, and to whom she tried to tell the small events of her day. When her neighbor had gone, Grandma Gates said that it was as good as a dose of medicine to have her come in.

"You see," said Lulu, "he had another wife."

RABBITS QUITE AS DELICIOUS AS CHICKENS WHEN PROPERLY COOKED

The Flavor of Young Rabbits Rest.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Properly cooked rabbits are as delicious as chicken, the United States Department of Agriculture points out, and are more economical, even when they must be purchased from a butcher. The flavor of young hutch rabbits somewhat resembles the white meat of chicken, and the less tender, but more gamey, wild rabbits, well prepared are similar in taste to the darker portions of poultry that has been fricasseed or cooked in a casserole.

Appetizing Ways of Cooking.

Before cooking the rabbit should be washed carefully in cold water and patted dry with a clean towel. It may then be stuffed and trussed if it is to be cooked whole, or cut into eight or ten pieces. Young tender rabbits may be simply dredged with flour, salt and pepper and fried in four tablespoonfuls of fat, like fried chicken. Sausage fat gives a particularly good flavor to fried rabbit. The flavor of bacon also combines well with rabbit. A cream or brown gravy should be made, using the fat in which the rabbit was fried.

Another excellent way to cook a tender rabbit is to bake it in cream or white sauce. Split the rabbit into two halves along the backbone, dredge with flour, lay six slices of bacon across it, and pour three cupfuls of white sauce or three cupfuls of cream over it. Bake for 1 1/2 hours, basting frequently. The rabbit liver, boiled till tender and chopped, may be added to the gravy. Smothered rabbit is stuffed and braised slowly with very little water in a covered pan.

Many dishes may be prepared after stewing rabbit till tender. The meat may be cut from the bones in large pieces and served as rabbit pie, or a gravy made from the broth, with either a pastry or biscuit crust. Any broth not used makes excellent soup. Rabbit salad may be mixed with celery in the same proportions as chicken salad—two parts of diced cooked meat to one part of chopped celery and one-half part of salad dressing. The boiled rabbit may be served as a stew by adding potatoes, carrots and onions when the meat is partly cooked. The liquid in which the stew is cooked should be thickened. A spiced rabbit stew appeals to many persons. The seasonings consist of six slices of bacon, chopped, a minced onion of medium size, two tablespoonfuls of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper and one tablespoonful of whole cloves in a bag, all covered with boiling water.

FARM WOMEN IMPROVE HOME SEWING PLANS

Co-Operating Extensively With Extension Workers.

Among Things That Are Receiving Particular Attention Are Making and Use of Dress Forms.—Better Able to Remodel.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Farm women in many sections are co-operating actively in clothing work as carried on with the assistance of state and county extension workers. In this work local representatives or leaders, selected by the various communities in a county, come together at some convenient point for training. Provided with the necessary teaching helps, these women repeat to organized groups in their own neighborhood the instruction they have received and gather up reports on work done. The success of local leadership is due not only to the ability and devotion of local women but to the simple, practical basis to which extension workers have reduced their teaching.

According to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture the things that are receiving particular attention are the making and use of dress forms; alteration of patterns and making of fitted-to-measure foundation patterns; clothing construction processes, remodeling; renovation; garment finishes; use of machine attachments; clothing hygiene, including the selection of shoes and corsets; millinery, and selection of textile materials and ready-made clothing for quality and design. As a result of the work, farm women have been enabled to improve their ability to select materials and to remodel and make garments and other articles of clothing at home.

and rabbit dishes is improved by first browning the pieces of rabbit in a little bacon or other fat and then cooking them slowly either in water or in a gravy made from the same fat. Fricasseed rabbit is first browned and then boiled. It is often served with steamed dumplings, made like biscuit dough with the addition of an egg and steamed in the gravy of the fricassee. Casserole rabbit is cut up and browned in bacon fat, then arranged in a casserole with strips of fried bacon, sliced onions and potatoes, dredged lightly with flour and covered with water. The casserole should be covered tightly and slowly baked for two hours.

First Fried, Then Stewed.

The flavor of many slowly cooked rabbit dishes is improved by first browning the pieces of rabbit in a little bacon or other fat and then cooking them slowly either in water or in a gravy made from the same fat. Fricasseed rabbit is first browned and then boiled. It is often served with steamed dumplings, made like biscuit dough with the addition of an egg and steamed in the gravy of the fricassee. Casserole rabbit is cut up and browned in bacon fat, then arranged in a casserole with strips of fried bacon, sliced onions and potatoes, dredged lightly with flour and covered with water. The casserole should be covered tightly and slowly baked for two hours.

A tomato sauce may be used instead of water in the casserole, the potato being omitted, or the browned rabbit may be simmered in a tomato and onion sauce over a low flame till the rabbit is tender. The tomato sauce cooks down and gives a very good flavor to the rabbit. A savory stew may be made after frying the rabbit by boiling one medium-sized onion and two bay leaves with the meat until it is nearly tender. To the fat that was used to brown the rabbit add two tablespoonfuls of flour, mix thoroughly and add one cupful of vinegar. Pour this sauce over the meat and simmer until it is very tender. Serve with fresh or canned string beans and a dessert of baked apples.

Other Uses for Rabbit.

Any cold cooked rabbit may be ground up and used as a basis for hash, croquettes, shepherd's pie, or similar dishes. Meat loaf or meat balls may be made of raw chopped rabbit meat in the same way as beef or veal. Sausage cakes may be made from twice-ground meat with any preferred seasoning. If pork flavor is desired one part fat pork may be mixed with two parts ground rabbit meat. Very good sausage flavor will result from mixing the following proportions: two pounds twice-ground rabbit meat, one minced onion (which may be omitted) one tablespoonful salt, one teaspoonful pepper, one and one-half teaspoonfuls powdered sage, one bay leaf, pinch each of thyme and allspice, four to six tablespoonfuls finely crumbed dry bread or cracked crumbs, one beaten egg and one-half cup of rich sweet milk.

VARIETY PLEASES CHILDREN

Youngsters Will Eat More Bread if Different Kinds Are Served, Especially for Lunch.

Children will often eat more bread if different kinds are served, especially for the basket lunch at school or the hot school lunch, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Sometimes so simple a change as baking the bread in a new form—a twist, for example, instead of a loaf—or cutting bread and butter in a fancy shape with a cookie cutter will increase a child's relish for it. So, too, will a change of flavor, obtained by adding a few raisins, dried currants or nut meats.

All Around the House

Never serve more than one fried food at a meal.

Paint your summer screens with kerosene oil before storing and they will be like new when you take them out again next summer.

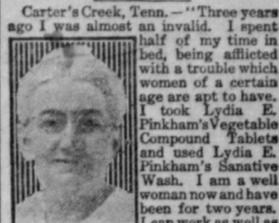

When grape juice is spiked on a tablecloth, spread the spot at once with salt. The stain will be more easily removed and laundered.

When a knife has been used to cut onions, wipe it with a damp cloth and rub it briskly with coarse salt. The objectionable smell will then entirely disappear.

It is a good plan to boil the clothes-line occasionally, so that it shall not soil the clothes. This must be done with perfectly clean water. The rope should be kept indoors when not in use.

D. 1923, the same being the 8th day of January, A. D. 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 28th day of November, A. D. 1922, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 1256, wherein Geo. S. Slover, J. W. Gordon and O. A. Barrett are plaintiffs and C. M. Blanton is defendant, said petition alleging, That on or about the 1st day of September, A. D. 1920, defendant G. M. Blanton, for a valuable consideration, made, executed and delivered to Geo. S. Slover, J. W. Gordon and O. A. Barrett his one certain Vendor's Lien note for $1250.00 payable on or before two years after date, at Clarendon, Texas, at 8 per cent interest per annum; said note carrying the usual ten per cent attorney's fees, the acceleration clause; and retaining a vendors lien upon the following described property, to wit: All of blocks seventeen (17) and eighteen (18) in the Wasson Subdivision of McLean Addition to the town of Clarendon, Texas, as shown by the recorded map of said Addition and Subdivision; that said note was given as part payment for the above described lots or parcel of land; that said note is past due and the annual maturing interest is unpaid; that demand for payment has been made of the defendant, but that he has heretofore failed and refused to pay same, and still fails and refuses to pay same; that the said note has been placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, and that the full contract price as stated in said note has been contracted to be paid such attorney for such collection, and same is reasonable.

Therefore plaintiff defendant be cited to answer herein and on final hearing they have judgment against defendant C. M. Blanton for costs herein, attorney's fees, and the foreclosure of the lien, for the sale under such foreclosure order of sale, and all such relief, legal and general, as may be justly entitled to.

Herein fall not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

The State of Texas.

In the District Court, January Term, A. D. 1923

To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Donley County - Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the county of Donley, if there be a newspaper published in said county, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon O. B. Hedrick, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the District Court, to be holden in and for the county of Donley, at the court house thereof in Clarendon, on the 2nd Monday in January, 1923, the same being the 8th day of January, 1923, File Number being 1248, then and there to answer the petition of Oscar J. Burkhardt filed in said court on the 23rd day of November, A. D. 1922, against the said O. B. Hedrick and The Southwestern National Bank of Dallas, G. H. Arnold and R. L. Arnold, and alleging in substance as follows, to wit:

Suit upon the last seven of ten promissory vendor's lien notes dated the 19th of November, 1917, signed by O. B. Hedrick, payable to O. J. Burkhardt, the first nine being for $500.00 each and the last being for $300.00, the last seven notes being due and payable, each retaining a vendors lien against the West 1/4 of School Section No. 26 in Block 2 Donley county, Texas, bearing 6 per cent interest and providing for 10 per cent attorney's fees, all of said notes being due and payable by virtue of the failure to pay notes 4 and 5 of said series and the annual interest thereon. Plaintiff alleges that defendant O. B. Hedrick purchased the land above described and gave said notes in payment thereof. Plaintiff further alleges that defendant Hedrick later sold the land to one E. H. Grimes who assumed the payment of said notes, and Grimes sold to O. H. Arnold and R. L. Arnold, who assumed the payment of the same, and alleges that said Grimes reserved certain second vendor's lien notes which are the property of the Southwestern National Bank of Dallas. Plaintiff further alleges that in order to protect the title of said land he has been forced to pay taxes and interest due the state thereon in the sum of about $280.00. Plaintiff sues for the amount due on said notes and for the amount of taxes and interest paid by him, and for a foreclosure of his vendors lien against the above described land.

Herein fall not, but have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness: W. E. Bray, Clerk District Court, Donley County.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, in Clarendon, this 5th day of December, A. D. 1922.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by parcel post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement

STANDS OFF A LOT OF DOCTOR BILLS

Recommends Pe-ru-na for Catarrh of the Stomach, Colds and Grip

"I have used Pe-ru-na for several years and can heartily recommend for catarrh of the stomach or entire system. I always get benefit from it for colds and grip. It stands off lots of doctor bills and makes one feel like a new person."

R. F. SUTTLES,
R. F. D. No. 2, Box 61, Waynesburg, Kentucky.

It is wise to keep a bottle of Pe-ru-na in the house for emergencies. Coughs and colds may usually be relieved by a few doses of Pe-ru-na taken in time. Nasal catarrh, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, rheumatism or other troubles due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes all call for Pe-ru-na as the successful treatment. The health building, strength restoring qualities of this well known remedy are especially marked after a protracted sickness, the grip or Spanish Flu. PE-RU-NA is justly proud of its record of fifty years as health protector for the whole family.
