SENIOR NOTES

Ruby Duckett has returned to school after spending the holidays at her home in Newlin.

Speaking of holidays, reminds the Seniors of Dec. 15. What sport we had—all dressed like we were six years old—funny sights we were. The lessons found upon us in the morning were "screams." Just before noon Santa came to see us, bringing more pretty fairy story books, horns, dolls and the like.

At noon we spread our lunches in the "lab" and invited the high school teachers to eat with us. The eats were fine and all of us managed to survive. At 3:30 we were asked to entertain the P. T. A. We heard the program was enjoyed; it was fun for us.

The teachers seem to have adopted the slogan, "Pour it on 'em!" and for that reason there is little time for writing reports for newspapers. However, "Watch this column for Real Bargains."

JUNIOR NOTES

After spending two weeks and new year's day with home folks, Pat O'Hair has returned to resume the year's work.

We are glad to have Gertrude Noel back in school after an absence of four weeks.

The Junior class has been suffering an epidemic of "Thanatopsis" this week.

High school assembled in the auditorium Monday and heard some splendid music.

The Juniors have made new year's resolutions to be better pupils and to study more. Who says "we ain't got no style?"

SOPHOMORE

Well, here we are back in school again after the holidays, ready to begin our work in the schoolroom with renewed energy. We've had a joyous Christmas and Old Santa was real good to us, so we will get down to work again. We are enjoying our school days, our studies, the smiles of our teachers, and the association of chummates. Prof. Hixgers is here and ready, to give us an encouraging word and help us along the way.

Of course it will be hard for Leonard to get along without keeping fires for us. Steam heat furnishes such little amusement.

Raymond Sanford, who has been away from school several days is back again.

Jasper Shaw has been absent from school several days this week.

FRESHMEN

The Freshmen are certainly glad to see the steam heat in, as they spent several days before the holidays "freezing" English into their heads.

Little Mae Steele, who has moved to Hedley from Bras, has enrolled in the eighth grade.

Making and breaking new year's resolutions are already in order.

Resolutions to the effect that more work be assigned the 8th grade English class have been submitted to the class for consideration and discussion, and judging by the studiousness of the class members we are expecting the resolutions to pass.

They call us Fresh Fish.

Well, maybe we are.

But this they will have to confess:

Be it study or test,

Or play or rest,

They will find us among the best.

Generosity.—A woman, coming up to Porter Pierce: "Will you give $1 to bury a policeman?"

Porter: "Here's $10; bury ten of them."

Bill Pool was "drowsy" Monday, but Tuesday he was more pleasant, because Ruby was back at school.

Miss Trapp was absent last week on account of the illness of her mother. We are very glad to see her in school again.

ATHLETICS

Hedley has one of the fastest basket ball teams in the Panhandle, as all opponents have found or will find out when they have met the team. This year they are more determined than ever to win the honors at the District meet at Canyon. Three times already the Hedley team has won by a large score.

Four of last year's players are back this year and are showing the same old fighting spirit. The new talent is showing up fine, due mostly to the expert work of Coach Weaver. He has made a slight change in the line up, and is working the boys hard each day to give them wind and speed. Hedley has two outstanding guards, Pete Gilton and Claude Simmons. Both are fast and are hard to do anything with when working together.

As forwards Hedley has two fast ones. Although one of them has just recently been put on the first team, he is showing up fine. Captain Shaw is showing splendid work as forward, and is considered the fastest man on the team. Clyde Hill as center is showing fine work, especially in throwing goals. Coach says he can work Moore and Shaw together while and they will be difficult to guard.

Owing to a few delays, the basket ball girls have not done much playing the past week. They have organized, and in a few days will move forward with real team work. Here's hoping they have a successful season.

SCHOOL TAX NOTICE

We are advising every taxpayer in the Hedley Independent School District to call at First State Bank, Hedley, and find if they owe any delinquent school taxes. Many do, and doubtless some of them are not aware of the fact. We don't want to sue on these delinquents without first giving due warning. Hence this notice. The school needs the money, and must have it by order of the Board.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

YOUR PERSONALITY

IN A general sense, that subtle power or magnetism which you possess, and which exerts so potent an influence upon others for good or bad, is your personality.

And this personality, from whatever vantage you may look at it, is the determining factor of your success or failure.

You may be well educated, your outward appearance may be satisfactory, but if you lack a pleasing personality that you are handicapped in every sphere of endeavor into which you may venture, regardless of your good looks and qualifications.

The bent old apple woman on the corner, with her stooping shoulders wrapped in a faded shawl, notwithstanding her lowly position in life, is making a success.

She is sending her children to school and every week she is putting a few dollars in the savings bank. Everybody within convenient reach of her green and rosy stand calls once or twice a day to buy a dimpled poplin.

He does this because in addition to the luscious fruit he invariably finds piled up in shining rows, he is conscious of a sort of spiritual sunshine which cheers him up and sends him on his way in a lighter mood, better equipped to solve his own perplexities.

Being in a hurry, he does not stop to seek the cause of this pleasurable sensation, the effect of which tingles his nerves and makes of him temporarily a better being.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

KEEP YOUR PROMISE

IN BUSINESS the man whose rating among his associates is the highest is the man who keeps his promises.

Promises to pay, of course, must be kept. If they are not there is no more credit for the gentleman who makes them.

But business is not all promises to pay. There are promises to enter into contracts; promises to have shipments ready at a certain time; promises to make business engagements.

And the man who is more prodigal of promises than he is of remembering to keep them soon is regarded with distrust and suspicion.

A man who has been immensely successful in the manufacturing business is regarded by his associates as "hard boiled" in the matter of promises.

It is almost impossible to get one out of him. But once his promise is given, performance is assured, even though the performance may mean a heavy financial loss to him.

He has discovered that it is just as profitable to him to keep his promises at par as it is to keep the stock of his concern at par.

You may not be in business, or connected with business, save in the capacity of a minor employee.

But you will find that the value of your promises is just as important to you as the value of your employer's promises are to him.

You will learn if you are observant that you are judged not by making

The secret of this experience is that the wrinkled old woman has an agreeable personality, a treasure which money cannot buy, gleaming in the darkest days like a priceless gem in the sunshine, and sending its cheering rays down to the somber recesses of the heart.

Wealth, talent, power and pomp stop, stoop and doff their hats to the man or woman of an amiable individuality, not knowing perhaps why they do so, but keenly sensible all the while of receiving something in return for which their souls are starving.

And so it is with the world at large, calling today for young men and women to fill the high places, which are always open for those fortunate persons whom the gods have blessed with a pleasing personality, which for a better term may be called the essential quality of leadership in all the walks of human enterprise.

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You cry at a sad play? Hasn't the strain of trying to keep back your tears spoiled many a good play for you, because some one with you giggled or remarked about your "softness," "chicken-heartedness," etc.? Never you mind, the fellow that can weep is a bigger soul than the one who cannot. So be glad if you are in the class where sadness touches you. It means that life has really meant something to you, that beautiful things and beautiful ideas have done something for you. What sort of person would not cry when on the stage a child is seen dragged from its parents? If you don't cry then you are a little soul, if you do you are a real human being. If you weep alone your loneliness is the right kind.

SO Your Get-away here is: That you've done exactly what the writer of the play wanted you to do. (Copyright by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

CARING FOR MEAT AT KILLING TIME

Cutting and Preparing Meat at Killing Time.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Taking care of the meat on the farm at killing time is one of the odd jobs a farmer's wife has to get in somehow among the ordinary tasks of the day. The following letter received by the United States Department of Agriculture from the "wife of a dirt farmer," as she calls herself, gives some idea of what this work involves. This woman lives on a Kansas ranch of 7,000 acres, many miles from a railroad, but her home is as modern in every respect and more convenient than many homes which are only a few feet from a railroad. This home was built for a particular family and the plan fits the life of the family. The routine of housekeeping is as simple as it could be on a big ranch, and the furnishings are simple but most effective. The wife is actively interested in farm bureau and especially in the home activities.

"Have finished my meat canning. I corned 51 pounds and canned 75 quarts of meat and stock. We like the meat better when it is browned well in the oven before canning. After it is browned, I slice it and pack into jars, adding salt and stock as usual and process. When I have sliced off all the pieces that cut to advantage, I cut the rest off and put it through the food chopper and season it, pack into jars with some stock and process. It is very good that way and for a change I add pork, onions, etc., and make a meat loaf when I open the chopped meat.

"After all the meat is used, I wash out the pressure canner, put the bones and about three gallons of water in, fasten and process at 15 pounds for about 40 minutes, take the bones which are almost blanched out, and can the stock for soup. It is very rich and goes a long way in making soup.

"I can headcheese, sausage, liver sausage, etc., in the canner and it is such a relief not to have so much fresh meat that must be used up quickly.

"I had about 30 pounds of soap made from tallow, uncooked process, and while it is a little hard, it makes a splendid suds and cleans well and has no scent."

dobe they should be taken out and drained, and the core cavity is filled with jelly. The apples are served with "hard" sauce made of butter and sugar.

When a batch of jelly has for some reason failed to set as firmly as one would like, there are still many uses for it. A glassful of soft fruit jelly in a punch supplies both sweetening and fruit flavor. A few spoonfuls of soft tart jelly beaten into whipped cream gives a delicious flavor. Tarts filled with the jelly and baked are good for dessert. The jelly can be used as a sauce for blanc-mange, hot cakes or ice cream. It may be served with cream cheese or cottage cheese for lunch. With hot bread or in sandwiches the jelly is as useful as if it were firm, and for jelly roll or layer cake it is easier to spread than a stiff jelly. Mixed with coconut the jelly may be used to line a dessert mold, adding both to the flavor and appearance of the dish. The ingenious cook will think of many other ways of using her jellies to introduce variety into the menu.

DIFFERENT USES FOR JELLY IN HOUSEHOLD

Sandwiches Are Popular for the Children's Lunches.

No Remembrance Is More Universally Appreciated Than Glass of Pure Homemade Sweetmeat Perfect in Texture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are innumerable uses for jelly in every household, points out the United States Department of Agriculture. Not only when the jelly is firm and successful, but even when it has not "jelled" properly, may be utilized economically.

Bread and jelly or jelly sandwiches will of course be popular for children's lunches throughout the school year. Possibly this is the first thought in the mother's mind as she gradually fills her preserve shelves during the season. Her next thought will undoubtedly turn to jellies which accompany meat—the firm, transparent ones that dress up a meal so easily when guests come. Probably every housekeeper intends a certain proportion of her supply of tart dinner jellies to be used as holiday gifts for her friends, for no remembrance is more universally accepted than a glass of pure homemade jelly, perfect in texture and attractively packed.

A basket of six jellies, possibly made from different fruits, makes an ideal Christmas or anniversary present. Individual size jars or glasses are best when making a gift of jelly to a person who lives alone, who would enjoy a bit of jelly occasionally at a meal, but would have trouble using up a larger glass.

Firm tart jelly can be used in making jelly omelet, jelly muffins, jelly doughnuts, jelly tarts, or pastry squares covered with jelly. In making jelly muffins, part of the batter is dropped in the tin, a cube of jelly is put in the middle, and the rest of the batter is put on top.

Delicious confections can be made of cubes of over-stiff jelly. By using toothpicks to handle them they can be dipped into sweet chocolate melted over hot water and set on paraffin paper to harden. Special chocolate for candy-coating may be purchased in most grocery stores. Bright-colored firm jelly may be used as a garnish for cold meats or desserts, if cut in fancy shapes, and has the advantage of being not only decorative, but palatable. A bit of jelly on the top of each portion of "floating island" or other custard dessert adds to its attractiveness and food value.

Batter cakes of tender texture, light and thin, are excellent when spread with good jelly, rolled up and covered with powdered sugar. The cakes should be about the size of an ordinary saucer. A very delicious dessert in which jelly appears is made by paring and coring apples of some variety that will hold their shape well, and cooking them in a sugar sirup till tender. The sirup is made in the proportion of one cupful of sugar to two cupfuls of water, and is boiled a few minutes before the apples are put in. There should be enough sirup to cover the apples and the pan should be covered during cooking. When they are

SCHOOL DAYS

WINTER MORNING

By WILL M. MAUPIN

When the frost is on the fodder, And a tingle in the air; When the pumpkins have been gathered And the corn is shucked with care; When the grease is on the griddle And the batter's in the crock, Life's worth living winter mornings When you rise at 6 o'clock.

When the cakes are on the griddle, And the sirup's in the jug; When the coffee has been settled, And the fire is warm and snug; When you smell the breakfast knock, And you hear the "get up" rooky, There's a lot of joy in living, Though you rise at 6 o'clock.

When the buckwheats reach the table Mountain high and piping hot; When with sirup and with butter They glide to the proper spot; When you've eaten all you're able, Full of "bucks" your wife has sent, You can hike off to the office Full of grub and sweet content.

Talk to me of pate de foie gras! Talk of sauces, puddings, pies! Talk of table d'hote and cuisine— Not from me they'll get a prize. Give to me the smoking buckwheats, Stacked up high and piping hot; Maple sirup, golden butter— Ah, that hits the proper spot! (Copyright by Will M. Maupin.)

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A MOST wholesome and economical dish is prepared from the following: Wash one-half pound of dried peas and boil in three pints of water. Add a ham shank weighing about two pounds, or less; boil three minutes, then simmer one and one-half hours. Remove the shank before the meat falls from the bones and reserve for Westphalia roll. Put through a fine sieve and serve the puree with bread cut into cubes and fried in the fat cut from the ham shank.

Creole Sauce. Mince fine three onions, one green pepper, one red pepper, one-half cupful of stewed tomatoes, two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup and one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Cook gently for ten minutes, rub through a sieve, season and serve.

Westphalia Roll. Remove the rind from the ham shank and try it out. Chop the meat, season with any desired seasoning. Add one and one-third cupfuls of boiling water to one pound of cornmeal, one-half teaspoonful of salt; mix and spread on a cloth 18 inches square, leaving a margin at ends and sides of two inches. Place the ground ham in the center and fold over the cloth so that the meat is completely covered. Fold and place, the folded end down, in a colander. Steam for two hours and serve hot. Corn husks may be substituted for the cloth when they are available. Season highly with cayenne and the dish will be a ham tamale.

Potatoes au Gratin. Chop potatoes cooked in their jackets and peeled. Put a layer into a buttered baking dish, cover with a layer of well-seasoned white sauce; add a tablespoonful of grated cheese and repeat with another layer of each. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake until the crumbs are well browned. Serve hot.

Ware's Baby Powder Relieved His Baby of Intestinal Indigestion in 48 Hours Cured in a Few Days

Geo. W. Thomas, prominent citizen of Shreveport, La., writes us July 23, 1920, of this experience with his baby boy: "Eight years ago my baby boy, then three months old, was in constant pain, crying continuously, suffering from intestinal indigestion. After spending $750.00 with the doctors, I got a box of Ware's Baby Powder, and in 48 hours my baby was cured and in a few days was thriving well."

What a Mother, La., Mather Says About it

Mrs. Alford Picou, 833 East Park, Houston, La., writes us March 1920, as follows: "Please send me five 50¢ boxes of your Ware's Baby Powder by parcel post, c. o. d. I have used your baby powder in my home and many of my friends use your Ware's Baby Powder because they have seen what it did for my home. One of my children, aged 13 months before he began using your Baby Powder, before two months had passed he had gained 15 pounds and today he weighs 25 pounds and is in perfect health."

For over forty years, Ware's Baby Powder—the prescription of Dr. James Ware, famous old Southern physician—has been a healing boon for babies for bowel troubles, teething, summer complaints, etc. Keep your stomach and bowels in a healthy condition and you need have no fear of these distressing troubles so general among babies especially during the teething period. Perfectly harmless, mixed according to directions, in teaspoonful of Ware's Baby Powder, a half teaspoonful of sugar, put enough water to make four teaspoonfuls, go to take it. S. R. TRUESDELL

Last Wednesday evening Mrs. W. Z. Hoggard was called by wire to the bedside of her aged father, S. R. Truesdell, at Saint Jo, Texas, and we now learn from Judge Hoggard that the old gentleman passed quietly away last Saturday evening at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Truesdell was a pioneer of Texas, coming here in the early days, and fought in Hood's Brigade during the Civil War. He has lived on one farm, three miles east of Saint Jo, for the past 44 years. He would have been 91 years old the 4th of next July, and has been a widower the past 54 years. He was born in Dade county, Missouri.

Judge Hoggard says that he was much more than an average man, being a Mason of high degree and loved by all who knew him. Mr. Hoggard says that in losing him he has lost a very dear friend, one that has been dearer since the death of his own father about 15 years ago. He had never attached himself to any church, or other organization except the Masonic order.

In life he feared nothing, and was not alarmed at the approach of death. Mr. Truesdell is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. Z. Hoggard of this city and Mrs. G. W. Morgan of Oklahoma. Both were at his bedside when he passed away. To them, and to the other bereaved ones, we offer our sincere sympathy.

"YOU POOR THING!"

SYNOPSIS.—General factum in the house of her sister Ina, wife of Herbert Deacon, in the small town of Warblston, Lulu Bett leads a dull, cramped existence, with which she is constantly at enmity, though apparently satisfied with her lot. Bobby Larkin, recently graduated high-school youth, is secretly enamored of Deacon's elder daughter, Diana. The family is excited over the news of an approaching visit from Deacon's brother, Ninian, whom he had not seen for many years. Unexpectedly, Ninian arrives. Thus he becomes acquainted with Lulu first and understands her position in the house. To Lulu, Ninian is a much-traveled man of the world, and even the slight interest which he takes in her is appreciated, because it is something new in her life. At an outing which the family takes, Ninian and Lulu become confidants. He expresses his disapproval of her treatment as a sort of dependent in the Deacon home. Diana and Bobby, in the course of "soft nothings," discuss the possibility of eloping and "surprising the whole school." Lulu has awakened to pleasant possibilities concerning Ninian's intentions toward herself. Ninian takes the family for a "good time" in the adjacent city. At supper, after the theater, as part of a joke Lulu repeats the words of the civil marriage ceremony, with Ninian. Herbert remembers that a civil wedding is binding in the state, and inasmuch as he is a magistrate, Ninian and Lulu are legally married. They go honeymooning.

V—Continued.

Mrs. Bett sat on the porch restored and pleasant when the family returned. Di and Bobby had walked home with Jenny.

"Look here," said Dwight Herbert, "who is it sits home and has ice cream put in her lap like a queen?"

"Vanilly or chocolate?" Mrs. Bett demanded.

"Chocolate, mamma!" Ina cried, with the breeze in her voice.

"Vanilly sets better," Mrs. Bett said.

They sat with her on the porch while she ate. Ina rocked on a creaking board. Dwight swung a leg over the railing. Monona sat pulling her skirt over her feet, and humming all on one note. There was no moon, but the warm dusk had a quality of transparency as if it were lit in all its particles.

The gate opened, and some one came up the walk. They looked, and it was Lulu.

"Well, if it ain't Miss Lulu Bett!" Dwight cried involuntarily, and Ina cried out something.

"How did you know?" Lulu asked. "Know! Know what?"

"That it ain't Lulu Deacon. Hello, mamma."

She passed the others and kissed her mother.

"Say," said Mrs. Bett placidly. "And I just ate up the last spoonful o' cream."

"Ain't Lulu Deacon?" Ina's voice rose and swelled richly. "What you talking?"

"Didn't he write to you?" Lulu asked.

"Not a word," Dwight answered this. "All we've had we had from you—the last from Savannah, Georgia."

"Savannah, Georgia," said Lulu, and laughed.

They could see that she was dressed well, in dark red cloth, with a little tilting hat and a drooping veil. She did not seem in any wise upset, nor, save for that nervous laughter, did she show her excitement.

"Well, but he's here with you, isn't he?" Dwight demanded. "Isn't he here? Where is he?"

"Must be 'most to Oregon by this time," Lulu said.

"Oregon?"

"You see," said Lulu, "he had another wife."

"Why, he had not!" exclaimed Dwight absurdly.

"Yes. He hasn't seen her for fifteen years and he thinks she's dead. But he isn't sure."

"Nonsense," said Dwight. "Why, of course she's dead if he thinks so."

"I had to be sure," said Lulu.

"At first dumb before this. Ina now cried out: 'Monona! Go upstairs to bed at once.'"

"It's only quarter to," said Monona, with assurance.

"Do as mamma tells you."

"But—"

"Monona!"

She went, kissing them all good-night and taking her time about it. Everything was suspended while she kissed them and departed, walking slowly backward.

"Married?" said Mrs. Bett with hard apprehension. "Lulu, was your husband married?"

"Yes," Lulu said, "my husband was married, mother."

"Mercy," said Ina. "Think of anything like that in our family."

"Well, go on—go on!" Dwight cried. "Tell me about it."

"I do not see the necessity," Dwight's voice was on edge. Then too he said "do not," always with Dwight betokening the finalities. "Why, what would they think?" Lulu asked, troubled.

"What difference does it make what they think?"

"Why," said Lulu slowly, "I shouldn't like—you see they might—why, Dwight, I think we'll have to tell them."

"You do! You think the disgrace of bigamy in this family is something the whole town will have to know about?"

Lulu looked at him with parted lips. "Say," she said, "I never thought about it being that."

Dwight laughed. "What do you think it was? And whose disgrace is it, pray?"

Ninian's," said Lulu.

"Ninian's! Well, he's gone. But you're here. And I'm here. Folks'll feel sorry for you. But the disgrace—that'd reflect on me. See?"

"But if we don't tell, what'll they think then?"

Said Dwight: "They'll think what they always think when a wife leaves her husband. They'll think you couldn't get along. That's all."

"I should hate that," said Lulu.

"Well, I should hate the other, let me tell you."

"Dwight, Dwight," said Ina. "Let's go in the house. I'm afraid they'll hear."

As they rose, Mrs. Bett plucked at her returned daughter's sleeve.

"Lulu," she said, "was his other wife—was she there?"

"No, no, mother. She wasn't there."

Mrs. Bett's lips moved, repeating the words. "Then that ain't so bad," she said. "I was afraid maybe she turned you out."

"No," Lulu said, "it wasn't that bad, mother."

Mrs. Bett brightened. In little matters, she quarreled and resented, but the large issues left her blank.

Through some indeterminate sense of the importance due this crisis, the Deacons entered their parlor. Dwight lighted that high, central burner and faced about, saying:

"In fact, I simply will not have it, Lulu! You expect, I take it, to make your home with us in the future, on the old terms."

"Well—"

"I mean, did Ninian give you any money?"

"No. He didn't give me any money—only enough to get home or. And I kept my suit—why?" she flung her head back, "I wouldn't have taken any money!"

"That means," said Dwight, "that you will have to continue to live here—on the old terms, and of course I'm quite willing that you should. Let me tell you, however, that this is on condition—on condition that this disgraceful business is kept to ourselves."

She made no attempt to combat him now. She looked back at him, quivering, and in a great surprise, but she said nothing.

"Truly, Lulu," said Ina, "wouldn't that be best? They'll talk anyway. But this way they'll only talk about you, and the other way it'd be about all of us."

Lulu said only: "But the other way would be the truth."

Dwight's eyes narrowed: "My dear Lulu," he said, "are you sure of that?"

"Sure?"

"Yes. Did he give you any proofs?"

"Proofs?"

"Letters—documents of any sort? Any sort of assurance that he was speaking the truth?"

"Why, no," said Lulu. "Proofs—no. He told me."

"He told you?"

"Why that was hard enough to have to do. It was terrible for him to have to do. What proofs—" She stopped, puzzled.

"Didn't it occur to you," said Dwight, "that he might have told you that because he didn't want to have to go on with it?"

As she met his look some power seemed to go from Lulu. She sat down, looked weakly at them, and with her closed lips her jaw was slightly fallen. She said nothing. And seeing on her skirt a spot of dust she began to rub at that.

"Why, Dwight!" Ina cried, and moved to her sister's side.

"I may as well tell you," he said, "that I myself have no idea that Ninian told you the truth. He was always imagining things—you saw that. I know him pretty well—have been more or less in touch with him the whole time. In short, I haven't the least idea he was ever married before."

Lulu continued to rub at her skirt. "I never thought of that," she said, "Look here," Dwight went on persistently, "hadn't you and he had some little tiff when he told you?"

"No—no! Why, not once. Why, we weren't a bit like you and Ina."

She spoke simply and from her heart and without guile.

"Evidently not," Dwight said dryly.

"If everything is over between you, why should you?"

The Urge of Success.

Once the task of success gets you, there is born an eternal urge unsatisfied with inferior things. It compels success. The problems that discourage weankings put fire into the blood and make men irresistible. The neighbors wonder how it all happens. It doesn't happen. It's just nature asserting herself and worthy youth coming into his own.—Exchange.

HANDCRAFT IN MILLINERY; KNITTED SCARF WRAPS

WHEN one stops to think of the wealth of handwork lavished on headwear this season it is a wonder that millinery is as reasonable as it is. Hats, especially small hats, are liberally covered with embroidery, braiding, applique and extraordinary needlework, and it takes hours and hours to accomplish this. Only the genius of "the milliner born not made" has the cunning to assemble bits of velvet, silk, chenille, metal, fur, lace, leather, yarn and paint into the charming hats we see nowadays.

We mention paint in the list because the milliner who creates, simply

Twentieth century woman to search for "something new," make competitive appeal through distinctive style touches embodied in the apparel they create.

When it comes to "latest improvements," knitted outerwear carries the honors. It records almost a sensational transition from the mediocre to a position of top-notch style importance. There are the handsome knitted scarf sets, for instance. Everybody's wearing them.

In reviewing "the latest" in knitted hats and scarfs, one finds with the coming of winter that fuzzy effects are dots on bronze paint this season for decorative schemes. This is exemplified in the handsome picture dinner hat illustrated at the top of the group.

It is worth while studying the construction of the fanciful tam to the left center, for it reveals "ideas." Notice how the velvet is crinkled into flowerlike form, with a darning stitch, done in yarn, swirling in rows about the central theme.

Gold lace forms partnership with gold metal cloth in the off-the-face hat to the center right.

Gray is considered one of the smartest millinery colors of the season. The thing, such as brushed angora, brushed llama wool and similar shaggy finishes. The demand is for vivid colors, or at least dashes of gayest hues in connection with clear body shades of buff, brown, amber, rose-henna, jade, Chinese blue, checkered borders, Corsican striped, Scotch plaids, and the snow-white angora shawl-like scarf and hat with Roman stripe border attains the ideal in things knitted.

Pockets such as the picture here-with reveals, brush angora revers on lapels (if entire garment is not of shaggy wool) buttons and loops to hold little soft velvet cuff hat below to the left is a symphony in gray.

Chenille embroidery is exploited in the satin model to the right below.

Whether it be in renting an apartment or buying an automobile or a farm, the modernist demands "latest improvements." When it comes to clothes, we are in the same mind, we seek the latest word in fashion.

Manufacturers and designers keen to this disposition on the part of the

SAYS CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of This Treachorous Drug May Start Trouble.

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Advertisement.

Mother Tells How to Make A Baby Bright

"If your baby is bad and cross it's a sure sign he needs Teethina," says Mrs. Clair McConnell, of Norman Park, Ga. "That's the way it always was with my little boy. When he was fretting and cross I would give him Teethina and then he was bright and laughing again."

"Teethina is wonderful for them when they get older, too. I give it to my seven-year-old boy and you never saw anything do so much good."

The most frequent cause of fretting, cross babies is painful disorders in their little tender bowels. Give them Teethina. Your mother used it. It's perfectly harmless.

The State of Texas.
In the District Court of Donley County, Texas.

To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Donley County.—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Richard B. Stephens, Mrs. Julia Searcy and husband, Willis J. Searcy, C. B. Howerton, Geo. E. Lee Searcy, J. A. Johnson, J. A. Johnston and wife, Iola Johnston, Harry D. Gault, W. C. Diggs, F. H. Patrick, E. A. Chase, J. F. Carder, James Richardson, J. O. Richardson, M. A. Carder, wife of J. F. Carder, Fred Czapanak, J. S. Beatty, Mrs. E. L. Stockett and husband, H. J. Stockett, Anna M. Eddy, Harry A. Webster, the unknown heirs of W. J. Grant, deceased and the unknown owners or claimants of Block No. 29, Grant's addition, or Block No. 1 of Taft's subdivision of Grant's addition; and Block No. 80, Grant's addition, or Block No. 2 of Taft's subdivision of Grant's addition, all additions to Clarendon, Donley county, Texas, as shown by recorded map or plat, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Donley county, Texas, to be held at the court house thereof in the town of Clarendon on the second Monday in January, A. D. 1923, being the 8th day of January, 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in the said court on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1922, in a suit numbered 1268 on the docket thereof, wherein Dick Schaffer and R. R. Price are plaintiffs, and Richard B. Stephens, Mrs. Julia Searcy and husband, Willis J. Searcy, C. B. Howerton, W. H. Cooke, Geo. E. Lee Searcy, J. A. Johnson, J. A. Johnston and wife, Iola Johnston, Harry D. Gault, W. C. Diggs, F. H. Patrick, E. A. Chase, J. F. Carder, James Richardson, M. A. Grant, and the unknown owners and claimants of the property above described, are defendants; the cause of action being alleged as follows:

Plaintiffs say that they were on the 15th day of October, 1922, lawfully seized and possessed of all of Block No. 29 of Grant's addition to Clarendon, Texas, or Block No. 1 of Taft's subdivision of Grant's addition; and all of Block No. 80 of Grant's addition to Clarendon, Texas, or Block No. 2 of Taft's subdivision of Grant's addition, as shown by the recorded map or plat of said additions recorded in the county clerk's office of Donley county, Texas; and plaintiffs say that James Myers, who is deceased, and through whom title is designed to them, claimed and held the said premises herein described under peaceable and adverse possession, cultivating, using and enjoying the same for a period of more than ten years prior to the said date of October 15th, 1922, and paying the taxes on the said land described, and claiming against all the world.

Plaintiff R. R. Price claims and owns a tract 300 by 800 feet from the North end of Block No. 80 Grant's addition, or Block No. 2 Taft's subdivision thereof, in Clarendon, Texas, and the said Dick Schaffer owns and claims the remainder of said Block No. 80, as described, and all of Block No. 29, Grant's addition to Clarendon, Texas, or Block No. 1 of Taft's subdivision of same; that defendants named have unlawfully entered said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom, and withhold from them the possession and title thereof to plaintiffs damage in the sum of Five Hundred Dollars; that the reasonable rental value of said premises is $300.00 per annum. Plaintiffs ask that title be decreed to them.

You are further commanded to so summon such defendants, and each of them and to serve this citation by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published in this the 47th Judicial District of Texas.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness W. E. Bray, clerk of the District Court of Donley county, Texas.

Given under my hand and seal of said court in the town of Clarendon, Donley county, Texas, on this the 11th day of December, A. D. 1922.

PRETTY BUNGALOW FOR SMALL FAMILY

This Type of House Is Becoming More and More Popular.

ATTRACTIVE, NEAT AND COZY

General Tendency Today Among Home Builders Is to Build Smaller Homes, and This Design Meets All Demands of Small Family.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Home is the place where those who dwell therein find contentment and enjoyment, rest and inspiration to do the greater things of life.

Home is the place, above all others, where love, sincerity, honesty and good cheer should reign supreme. Home is the place where one's friends may share those joys, and sorrows, too, if they come, and with the intimate members of the family, possess the happiness that is sure to abide there.

These truths need emphasis nowadays, for many influences are at work to destroy homes or alienate our affections from them. Whatever the may be entered from the living room, kitchen or hall.

The kitchen is located at the rear of the house and opens onto the back platform. It is 9 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 6 inches, and has been designed so that it provides ample space for the range, sink, cabinet, refrigerator and other equipment.

The other side of the house is occupied by the two bedrooms and bath. The bedroom located at the front of the house is 12 by 13 feet, and the one at the rear 11 feet 6 inches by 13 feet. The bathroom is located between them.

The two sleeping rooms and bath are entered from a short hall which opens into the dining room. This arrangement is clearly shown by the floor plan. The steps to the cellar are reached from the kitchen.

There are two large clothes closets with drawers. One is in the front bedroom, while the other is just off the hall across from the rear bedroom.

The house is 34 feet 6 inches from front to rear and 31 feet 6 inches wide and designed for the average size lot. It can be built very economically, as the materials and equipment are of standard and regular grade.

MORGAN HAD NOTHING TO SAY

In This Particular Instance Even That Power in Finance Was Not in the Reckoning.

Ever since the elder Morgan dazzled the banking world by putting over the huge merger in steel, the house of Morgan has had the ordinary American banker "buffaloed" into a state of coma. "What does Morgan say?" has been his first eager question as he scans the morning paper and about his last thought at night. Back in 1901, when the multiplicity of big trust flotations caused a period of

DAIRY FACTS

MUST KEEP HEIFER GROWING

Larger She Is Greater Will Be Her Capacity to Consume and Turn It into Milk.

To get the best out of our dairy cattle we must grow the heifers out and develop them well, because the heifer of today is the cow of tomorrow, says J. P. LaMaster, chief of the dairy division, who states that the majority of the dairy heifers in South Carolina are undersized. The dairy heifer is a future milk producing machine, and the larger she is the greater will be her capacity to consume feed and therefore to produce milk, other things being equal.

The question often comes up in feeding heifers as to whether they are making a good growth, for their age. How big should a six-month-old heifer be? What should she weigh? Normal growth for Jerseys, Holsteins, Ayrshires and dairy Shorthorns have been worked out by the Missouri experiment station.

For Best Results Young Animals Should Be Fed in Stanchions.

For instance, if a twelve-month-old Jersey heifer weighs approximately 460 pounds, she is making normal growth; eighteen months old, 575 pounds. A Holstein heifer, on the other hand, should weigh about 500 pounds, and at eighteen months, 600 pounds.

The weight of an animal is not the whole story, however. The height at the withers is also an excellent indication. The normal Jersey heifer at six months should be about 37 inches, at the withers; at twelve months, 42½ inches, at eighteen months, 45½ inches, and at two years 47½ inches. Holsteins at the same age are higher—at six months, 39.7 inches; at twelve months, 44.8 inches; eighteen months, 47.9 inches; and at two years, 49.8 inches.

VALUE OF MILKING MACHINE

No Doubt of Important Part It Plays in Development of More Profitable Dairying.

There can be little doubt now of the value of the milking machine and the important part that it is playing in the development of more profitable dairying. The contention that milking machines are harmful to cows, that they tend to tear down the udder and render the cows useless, has proven to be generally untrue.

The recent improvements that have been made on the leading makes of milking machines have made it possible for the practical farmer to invest in one with a comparative certainty of securing beneficial results provided he gives the machine care.

The right use of the milking machine is just one more step toward more profitable dairying, more contented dairymen and more wholesome milk.—H. R. Lascelles, in Indiana Farm Guide.

Care at Calving Time

Separate the cow from the herd several days before calving date. In summer open pasture and in winter clean dry stall are ideal, calving conditions.

Feed a bran mash for first four to six feeds after calving. Feed a light grain mixture, such as equal parts oats and bran, until swelling is out of udder.

After udder is normal, start milk ration at four to five pounds daily, and increase gradually one pound every other day until natural milk flow is reached. Continue feeding according to production.

Milk With Clean Hands

The milker should always milk with dry clean hands. It is a filthy habit, to say the least, to milk with wet hands, and it is a mistaken idea that milking with wet hands makes milking easier.

Whole Milk for Calves

Whole milk should be fed the calf until it is three weeks old. At this time skim milk may be substituted for part of the whole milk. Make the change gradually.

Contractor Has Gained 30 Lbs. on Tanlac

"Tanlac fixed me up so I gained thirty pounds. I have never seen or heard of such a wonderful medicine in all the sixty-six years of my life," declared William Magee, well-known retired contractor, 3840 Lafayette Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

"About two years ago I had a severe bladder trouble that left me in an awfully run-down condition. My appetite went back on me and my stomach got so weak I could not eat and digest enough to give me any strength. I also had the worst sort of pains across the small of my back, and could not sleep.

"I began picking up soon after I started taking Tanlac, and now I have a fine appetite, sleep like a log and that tired, worn-out feeling has all left me. I could not do otherwise than recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Oh, Nothing Like That!

Patricia and Billy are two lovable children, but seem to enjoy a triumphant satisfaction when one is punished and the other is not. Not long ago Patricia while being dressed became so hilarious that it was necessary for mother to give her a gentle smack.

Billy in the next room called out, "Sister, is mother punishing you?" Whereupon sister immediately replied, "No, she was killing a moth."

A SIN TO LET HAIR FALL OUT

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff! Delightful Tonic

35 cents buys a bottle of "Danderine" at any drug store. After one application of this delightful tonic you cannot find a particle of dandruff or a falling hair. Besides, every hair shows new life, vigor, brightness, more color and abundance.—Advertisement.

Subsidy for the Country Doctor.

The suggestion has been made that the government should subsidize the country doctor, and furthermore that the government should see that every community should have its doctor, who should also be provided with a home and a hospital. The rewards of the country doctor are not great and his work is hard, and the result is that wherever they find it possible they drift to the cities.—Exchange.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Qualities That Hold Friends.

Holding friends is harder than winning them. This requires the rare art of "wearing." Wearing implies steadfastness, freedom from vacillation. It comes through the avenue of integrity. The man who wears is the man who can pass through life's severe storms and come out unharmed. The house of his life is built upon the rock.

A man who has made good doesn't have to blow his own horn.

A SICK, CROSS CHILD NEEDS "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

MOTHER! Move Child's Bowels with this Harmless Laxative—Children Love Its Taste

If your child is constipated, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or over-acts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mothers, you must say "California" or you may get an imitation syrup.

Stiffness, pain, headache, feverishness, inflamed or congested nose and head relieved with first dose. These safe, pleasant tablets cost only a few cents and millions now take them instead of sickening quinine.

counter attractions may be, they in time lose their appeal, and those who have followed them come to see there is no contentment in them.

One vital reason for having a home is to be able to share it with one's friends, to be able to extend a generous hospitality and good cheer to those with whom we come in contact who are not our immediate family.

The charming bungalow described in this article is designed to fulfill all the requirements we have mentioned. It is a place that anyone would be proud to call home. It is compact, attractive, neat and cozy.

The general tendency among home builders today is to build smaller homes. They are easier to live in and easier to take care of. The modern apartment houses have demonstrated the advantages of living in compact quarters. People are building their homes along the same lines.

The architect designed this bungalow with that idea in view. It is ideally adapted for the small couple who desire a home of their own that is cozy and compact and easy to take care of.

The floor plan is laid out so that many space-saving features may be installed, adding to the efficiency and convenience of the arrangement.

The exterior is set-off attractively by the clapboard walls, the extended and sloping roof and the platform and terrace. The windows are laid in well, providing plenty of light and ventilation for all the rooms.

The floor plan follows the usual interior arrangement of American bungalows. There are five rooms and bath, all of convenient and comfortable size.

From the front entrance one enters the living room. It is well lighted and ventilated, having three windows on the front and two on the side. It is 12 feet by 17 feet, and is the largest room in the house. Directly ahead is the dining room located between the living room and kitchen, as the floor plan indicates. It has three windows and is 11 feet by 13 feet 6 inches. It tight money in an era of plenty, the wife of a Kokomo banker was gently pushing her pet plan of remodeling their home and was telling her husband all about it at the dinner table, while his mind was concentrated upon an application for a right sizable loan for an interurban project.

"One of the things we must have," she said, "is a downstairs lavatory."

"Eh?" replied her absent-minded spouse. "What does Morgan say about that?"

Inasmuch as she didn't know Morgan from Adam's off ox, explanations were in order.—Indianapolis News.

Busy at the Capital.

A young man from Virginia came to Washington the other day. It was his first visit to any place larger than his county seat, and the rush of pedestrians, motors and street cars made him register as many thrills. After recovering from a daze that must have been something like a motion-picture nightmare, he gasped out a breath-catching surmise to a friend on the side:

"It's mighty crowded here. Must be court day."

If the desire to see ourselves as others see us applies to things as well as people, that was one time, anyhow, that this old town had a chance to grin.—Washington Star.

Yes, Why is It?

Mrs. Silly, deeply absorbed in a romance of the Seventeenth century, suddenly looked up at her husband.

"Jack," she said, "listen to this: 'By my halldom,' exclaimed Sir Rupert, 'it is past the hour of 12!' What is a halldom?"

"What do you suppose it is?" responded Jack. "Can't you tell from the context? Sir What's-his-name said it was past the hour of 12 by his halldom, didn't he? I should think anybody could tell from that sentence that halldom is the old English name for watch. Why is it that some women are unable to exercise their reasoning faculties?"

MR. PARROTT DIES

Mr I B Parrott, who has been in poor health for some time, passed away on Saturday, Dec 30th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs J R Ayers, west of town.

Mr Parrott was born in Murray county, Georgia, Nov. 18th, 1853. He joined the Baptist church when seventeen years of age, and was a devoted, faithful member up to his death.

In 1870 he was married to Miss Nancy Dover. To this union were born eleven children, four of whom preceded their father to the other shore. All of the seven living children attended the funeral except one daughter, Mrs. J. P. White, of Dallas, who was ill.

The children present were Mrs J R Ayers, Mrs G F Frost, Mrs W E Robus, Mrs M G Roney, all of Hedley; Mrs J M Welsh of Memphis, and B. H. Parrott of Charlie. There were present also a large number of grandchildren.

Funeral services at the First Baptist church Sunday were in charge of Rev Y. F. Walker, after which the remains of this good man were laid to rest in Rowe cemetery.

Miss Ruby Hoggard came in from Plainview last Thursday and visited a couple of days with friends. She has returned to Plainview, where she is employed at the Moses & Co. Variety Store, and is making her home with Frank M. Clark and family, late of Hedley.

ENTERTAINED

Honoring her niece, Miss Treasant Sisk, of Wellington, and Mr Bill Harris, of White Deer, Mrs R S Smith, assisted by Miss Mary Harris, entertained with a Progressive Forty two and Banquet on Wednesday night. Mrs. Clifford Johnson won high and Jet Brumley low score. The games were enthusiastically indulged in. Everybody reported a delight.

DONLEY ECONOMIC CLUBS MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

There will be a joint meeting of the Donley County Home Economic Clubs next Tuesday, January 9th, in the basement of the Methodist church in Hedley.

Mrs. Dora Barnes, clothing specialist of A. & M. College, will be with us, and give demonstrations throughout the day, beginning at ten o'clock in the morning.

A large attendance is urgently requested.

The following subjects will be demonstrated and discussed:

Tailored Finishes: The women will need to bring their needles, thimble, thread, scissors, tape measure, lead pencil and scraps of materials. They will need about 1/2 yard of material, but it need not all be in one piece.

Flower Making: Bring scraps of organdy and silk, pressed out. Appropriateness in Dress. Textiles.

Use and Alteration of Commercial Patterns. Luncheon will be served in the basement, and each woman is asked to bring one dish.

FORTY-TWO PARTY

One of the most pleasant affairs of the Christmas holidays was the Forty two Party given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Coffey Tuesday evening, December 26th.

The guests were welcomed at the door by the daughter of the home, Miss Ruth. Though it was cold without, all within was warmth and cheer, and the Christmas spirit was prevalent.

Seven tables were arranged for Progressive Forty two, and great enthusiasm was manifested throughout the games.

During the evening a most delicious salad course was served with Misses Melba Johnson and Lois Masterson as waitresses.

Those present were Mesdames U. J. Boston, Alva Simmons, E. S. Smith, J. B. Masterson, J. E. Adams, E. B. Adams, P. T. Boston, Roy Swafford, Clifford Johnson, J. M. Clarke, Sam L. Brooks, E. G. Herd, Miss Eliza
