MANY IMPROVEMENTS UNDER WAY IN HEDLEY

Many improvements are being made and much new building is under way in Hedley these days. The mild winter weather we've enjoyed thus far, has caused many who had intended to build or improve next spring, to "Do it now."

Among the larger numbers on the building program is the First Baptist Church Annex. This was started three or four weeks ago, and much of the work has been done by volunteers—members who contributed all or a part of their services. Rev. Y. F. Walker, the pastor, has been busy as a hen with one chicken since the work began, as have several others, and the result is an ideal church annex nearing completion. When any set of people get filled with the "Let's do something" spirit, the result is no longer in doubt. The annex consists of several classrooms, pastor's study, and a large room to be used, among other things, for social or semi-social gatherings. This annex represents a great achievement on the part of the church.

Another distinct addition to the town is the Methodist parsonage under construction, just across the street from the site of the old parsonage. This, too, is nearing the finishing up process, and when completed will be a handsome, modern residence of six or seven rooms. It is well located and a valuable piece of property. Many members have contributed labor and money to this enterprise, actuated by the same admirable spirit as that already mentioned in the building of the annex.

The former parsonage was sold to J. A. Moreman, who had it moved to his lots in west Hedley and will make it over into an attractive and up to date home. Thus the good work goes on.

Several other nice homes are under construction, or recently completed. We will probably have more to say of these in a later issue.

Among the "up town" improvements we notice the M & M Co front is being treated to coats of white paint which will add much to the appearance of same.

"Watch Hedley grow!"

WE HAVE A PIANO

and a Phonograph at Hedley we will sell at a sacrifice rather than ship back to Plainview.

MAYOR REEVES BUSY WORKING ON STREETS

Mayor Reeves and his able crew have been doing some fine work on our streets the past several weeks, as all our readers in this vicinity have doubtless noticed. A large amount of dirt and gravel has been moved by scrapers and wagons, resulting in the elimination of a large number of rough places and mud holes, some of which had been with us long enough to qualify as landmarks.

We are glad to state that this good work continues right along.

Perhaps the best job—and one that meets with everybody's approval—is that being done on and adjacent to the public school grounds. The leveling and filling in process is about completed, a big concrete culvert is under construction, and the east and west street on the north of the building is being opened. What has long been little short of an "eye sore" and a nuisance now bids fair to become one of the prettiest spots in the town.

Three lusty cheers for Mayor Reeves & Co.

I HAVE OPENED MY STALK FIELD, on place 4 1/2 miles north of town, and can pasture a limited number of stock.

R. W. Scales.

HEDLEY GETS 4000 BALES

Public Weigher Alva Simmons was a caller at this office Tuesday morning. In answer to our inquiry, he informed us that there had been 3947 bales of cotton weighed at the local yards this season, up to Monday evening. An occasional bale is still finding its way into the yard, and the season's total will likely reach the 4,000 mark.

This is an excellent showing we think, and is particularly gratifying because along about August the general prediction was anywhere from 1000 to 1500 bales short of present receipts.

You can't keep a good community down.

STRAYED—Sow, black with a little white, weight about 150 pounds. Finder notify Alva Simmons.

THE PESKY BOLL WEEVIL

A G Davis of Bray community brought to our office one day last week the first real live boll weevil we have ever seen in Donley county. Mr Davis had the specimen in a bottle and was going to leave it on exhibition at one of the banks. He says it is the only one he has seen or heard of in these parts, and we sincerely hope the rest of them get exterminated before they reach us.

SCHOOL TAX NOTICE

We are advising every taxpayer in the Hedley Independent School District to call at First State Bank, Hedley, and find if they owe any delinquent school taxes. Many do, and doubtless some of them are not aware of the fact. We don't want to sue on these delinquents without first giving due warning. Hence this notice. The school needs the money, and must have it by order of the Board.

PUMPKIN AND SQUASH RECIPES

Several Unusual Dishes May Be Made From Squash or Pumpkin.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 Either pumpkin or squash may be used in the following recipes, which suggest a number of out-of-the-ordinary dishes made from the sliced or canned vegetables in addition to pie. The recipes have been tested by the United States Department of Agriculture.

To prepare the pumpkin or squash cut it open, remove the seeds and stringy portion, and pare. Very young, tender squash, of the round white or yellow crooknecked varieties may be cut up and cooked without paring. When baking Hubbard squash or pumpkin it may be cut up into three-inch squares clean of seeds and baked without paring, rind side down. One of the most satisfactory methods of cooking pumpkin or squash is by steaming it till tender in a colander or steamer over boiling water. Cooked in this way it is less watery than when boiled.

Pumpkin or Squash as a Vegetable.
 In addition to plain mashed steamed pumpkin, seasoned with butter, salt and pepper, or baked squares of pumpkin, this excellent vegetable may be served creamed, glazed or en casserole.

Creamed Pumpkin.
 Cut the pumpkin meat into strips about half an inch thick. Steam or boil until partially tender. Place strips in baking dish and coat each piece with a sirup made by boiling together:

1/2 cup sugar 1 tablespoon butter
 1/2 cup water

Corn sirup may be used in place of sugar. Place in the oven and cook until brown.

Diced Pumpkin in Casserole.
 Cut the raw pumpkin into small pieces, place in glass casserole dish, or any baking dish with a cover. Sprinkle with salt and a little pepper. Allow to each cup of diced pumpkin a half cupful of boiling water and a tablespoonful of butter. Cover closely and cook in oven until pumpkin is tender and the water absorbed. Serve hot in the dish in which it was baked.

Pumpkin timbales are very good when served with ham or cold meat of any kind.

Pumpkin Timbales.
 1 pint mashed pumpkin 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 cup milk 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 2 eggs 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon mace

Mix together and put in buttered custard cups. Stand in a pan of boiling water and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. When the mixture is firm turn carefully from the cups and send to the table. This same mixture may be baked in a shallow dish with cheese grated over the top. In this case omit the cinnamon and mace.

The flavor of pumpkin combined with milk in a soup appeals to many palates.

Cream of Pumpkin Soup.
 1/2 cup butter 4 cups milk
 2 to 4 tablespoons flour 1/2 cup mashed pumpkin
 1 to 2 tablespoons onion juice 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Melt butter in saucepan and stir in flour. Add salt, pepper and mashed pumpkin and blend together. Add the milk and bring to the boiling point. Add onion juice when almost ready to serve. Serve hot.

Pumpkin Used as Dessert.
Pumpkin Custard.

1 to 1 1/2 cups pumpkin or squash 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 to 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 to 1/4 teaspoon allspice
 1/2 cup milk 1/2 to 1/4 teaspoon mace
 1 cup to 1 pint milk 1/2 to 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Instead of pouring this mixture, which is very similar to pumpkin pie filling, into a pastry shell, it can be turned into ramekins or custard cups and baked like any custard, in a moderate oven, set in a pan of water. In case the custard is used for a pie the larger amounts of spice and the smaller amount of milk may be used. If served as plain custard the smaller amount of seasoning is more appropriate.

Pumpkin Bread Pudding.
 1 cup stale bread 1-3 cup sugar
 1/2 cup sweet milk 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup mashed pumpkin 2 egg yolks
 1/2 cup milk 2 tablespoons butter (melted)
 1 egg

Put the milk over the bread and allow to stand until the crumbs soften. Add pumpkin that has been cooked and put through a colander, before measuring. Add the egg yolks and the melted butter. Beat well. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until the center is firm. Remove from the oven, spread the top with a tart jelly, pile meringue lightly on top and return to oven long enough to brown the meringue. Serve cold with cream. If preferred, the jelly can be omitted and the pudding is good even if you do not serve cream with it.

Meringue.
 Two egg whites beaten very stiff four tablespoonfuls sugar, a pinch of salt and one-half teaspoonful vanilla

Pumpkin and Squash Breads.
 Several quick breads may be made using pumpkin or squash.

Pumpkin Corn-Dodger.
 1/2 cups cornmeal 2 tablespoons sugar
 1/2 cups cooked pumpkin 1 cup water
 1 teaspoon salt 2 teaspoons baking powder
 3 tablespoons shortening

The pumpkin should be cooked very tender and mashed free from lumps. Put sugar, salt, baking powder and cornmeal together into a sieve, and sift them into the pumpkin; mix thoroughly. Add the water last, a third of a cupful at a time; if the pumpkin is quite moist it may not be necessary to use the whole cupful of water. Pour into hot well-greased skillet, cook slowly over the fire, turning when well browned beneath; it will take about 35 minutes to cook thoroughly. Serve hot with butter.

Pumpkin Corn Bread.
 1 cup mashed pumpkin 4 teaspoons baking powder
 1 cup milk 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup cornmeal 2 tablespoons melted fat
 1/2 cup flour 1 egg

Mix in order given. Pour in greased baking pan and bake 40 minutes in a hot oven. Cut in squares, and serve hot.

RICE IS GOOD FOR CHILDREN

Cooked in Milk, It Has Rich Flavor and is Particularly Nourishing—Fine for Lunch.

Rice cooked in milk has a richer flavor than when cooked in water, and is particularly nourishing and wholesome for children. As a school lunch dish the United States Department of Agriculture suggests that rice may be served with tomato sauce and grated cheese, as the main dish of the meal, or with maple sirup or crushed fresh fruit as dessert.

One cup of rice will absorb a quart of milk when cooked slowly in a double boiler. First wash the rice thoroughly in several waters so as to remove all loose starch, then drop it slowly into the hot milk, and add one teaspoonful of salt for each cupful of rice. Cook the rice until the grains are soft when pressed between thumb and finger, or for about thirty minutes. Remove the lid of the double boiler during the last part of the cooking, so that the grains will separate.

Broiling Steaks or Chops

"Pan Broiling" is Cheaper Way, Suggests the Department of Agriculture.

In broiling steaks or chops do you use the gas broiler or do you "pan broil" them? The United States Department of Agriculture says the latter is the cheaper way. Heat the frying pan sizzling hot, brush it with just enough fat to keep the meat from sticking, turn the meat quickly from side to side to retain all the juices. Meat cooked in this way is often more juicy than when broiled in the oven.

Old velveten makes excellent polishing cloths.

Bread flour is the best for dumplings and noodles.

Add a little chopped parsley and onion to the mashed potatoes.

To clean a zinc bath, scrub it thoroughly with coarse salt, moistened with paraffin.

The life of baskets can be prolonged by scrubbing them occasionally with hot soapuds.

Always finish off the rinsing process of stockings by soaking for a few minutes in clean, cold water.

When making rhubarb sauce add the sugar last when it is to be served, as it will improve the flavor and save sugar; this can be done to the other sauces, as cranberry and apple.

Accessories Are Important;

Juvenile Knitted Apparel

THE art of good dressing is largely a matter of accessories. A costume is made or marred by the little details, the girdle, the collar, the headdress and the like.

To be right up to the Paris mode one ought to have a bit of bandana printed silk somewhere about one's frock, and it is this very gay bandana motif which enhances the girle of our illustration. Another favorite pastime of Lady Fashion is to fasten everything at the waistline with some sort of a fancy clasp, such as pictured.

Quite the most charming accessory for the evening gown or afternoon kiddies has been brought to such a fine point of production that it includes all that can be wished for in appearance, with practical qualities.

New ideas are constantly being exploited in knitted clothing for the little ones. Such as, for instance, quilted Oliver Twist suits, entirely knitted such as is shown here. Every little boy in the land who sees this picture will point his chubby finger and say "I want a suit just like that."

Knitted outerwear departments and children's specialty shops carry these Oliver Twist suits in all the best colors, tan, gray, brown and navy blue.

Accessories Make or Mar Costume.

plain velvet frock is the fanciful ribbon cascade with streamers. These look what we please to term "French." Anyone deft with the needle and given to designing can make them. They are round, or oblong, or diamond shaped plaques, say six inches across, covered with flat web hand-made roses, and crinklings of metal ribbon interspersed with jewels and fancy nail heads in extreme cases of elaboration. Some are ruffled around with narrow valenciennes lace and always streamers of narrow ribbon fall in great number down to the bottom of the dress.

Headress is also a broad subject ing favorites. Not a detail which adds to attractiveness has been omitted in this desirable knitted boy's suit. There is a white knitted collar with cord and tassels to match the cuffs and the wide knee border, with big pearl buttons, back and front, and this is raised to the ears of small boys—there are pockets!

The knitted cap to go with it has a white border which is not only for appearance. It can be pulled down over the ears for protection against Jack Frost.

As for the handsome sweater and cap for little sister, it is of the quality kind. It is an exponent of knitted of consideration. One can either make or buy pretty silver and rhinestone effects as above shown.

Is there anything quite so cunning as little tots clad from head to toe in woolly lambkin outfits of cap, leggings, sweater and mittens? Not only good to look upon, but think of the comfort in such warm protective clothing! It is a wise mother who has taken to dressing her children in knitted wear. Especially is this so now that knitted outerwear for the juvenile outerwear brought to its finest interpretation.

The very wide hip belt at each side is an innovation, and the large crochet buttons impart an effective trimming touch. The large generous tam is in keeping with the knitted coat.

The UNTHANKED COUPLE

By Phoebe K. Warner

No doubt there are many selfish people and many selfish homes in this old world. But it is not always the childless couple and the childless home that is the most selfish. There is a class of people in every community that never receive half the credit for the good they do. They are those parents by nature, who for some reason have been denied the joys of fatherhood and motherhood. As a rule such folks invariably try to be father and mother to the whole community and especially to all their unfortunate relatives.

You have no children to bother you, therefore you have nothing to do but wait on all the rest of us. Looks like you ought to be glad to have something to do. That is the sentiment that usually grows up in the community for the childless people. If anybody gets sick, if anybody needs help, if we want something done for the neighborhood, in church, school or club, appoint Mrs. So and So, "she hasn't any children, let her do it. She ought to do it. The rest of us haven't time." That's the idea! There are women in most of our communities who have no children of their own to rear, or to educate, but if a record were kept for a few years it would show that those women do more for all the children, more for the school, and more for their neighbors than any or several other women in the community.

There is a law in our country that requires the moneyed men and women to keep up our schools for all the children whether they have a child or not. Do you who have a family of children being educated by the taxes paid by others who have no children ever thank anybody for the education your children are receiving by their work and economy? Do you realize that very few people in this world are ever taught to sacrifice for an education for their children? They seem to think that is a duty the man of means owes to the man without means. And all over our Nation, children of indifferent and unappreciative parents, who have never tried to save a dollar in their lives, are being educated by those who have labored long and hard and saved and sacrificed until they have something on which to pay taxes. And we believe in the free public school system, because the children are the ones who get the good of it, and no child is to blame for the financial condition of its parents. It would be unfair to helpless childhood to deprive it of an education because of any fault or failure of its parenthood. But it would not do any harm for such folks to say "thank you" once in a while. This is the general condition of ingratitude on the part of one class of American citizens toward another class. But there is a specific case. We refer to that class of childless homes, where the empty, disappointed hearts go out after something they have missed in life and try to satisfy that longing by taking in everybody in their own immediate families, giving them a home and trying to be kind and good to them, perhaps educate them for a few years, only to find that some other member of the numerous families is not satisfied with what you are doing and decides to tear down all your hopes and plans and leave you with an aching heart and an unfinished task after you have spent several years of your life and thousands of dollars trying to help other people's children.

We knew a man and woman, who, after their own only child was taken away, tried to satisfy their lonely lot by caring for the unfortunate among their relatives. Child after child they took and kept a few months or years until they had learned to love them, until the children began to take on the life and manners of real well bred children, and then their own or some other folks would want them back. At last these good people turned their back on their homeless relatives, applied at an orphan's home and were given a little girl, whom they reared to womanhood, educated her, saw her married, helped her buy a home, and today their old age is made brighter by her little children, who seem like real grandchildren. But as long as they tried to help their less fortunate relatives rear and educate their children they received only criticism and disappointment for their love and care.

We happen to know another childless couple who this very year (1922) have spent more than $2,500 helping their relatives solve the problem of life and living, and the education of their children. But never a touch of a little hand or the smile of a little face comes into their life.

Such homes are making a greater sacrifice than the home that adopts a little child and receives in return for their sacrifice the love and pleasure of a sweet child in their home.

Moral: Don't criticize the childless home unless you know what you are talking about.

NOTICE OF SALE

paid said indebtedness at or before its maturity, then this obligation is to be null and void; but in case said notes are not paid at maturity, or in case all or part of said property is moved from where it is now located, or when it is legally seized, or if the holder of said notes shall from any cause feel unsafe or insecure, then or at any time thereafter, the holder thereof is hereby fully authorized to seize and to take into his possession all of said above described property, or any part thereof, wherever the same may be found, and with or without possession to sell, convey and deliver the said property, or cause the same to be done, at either public or private sale, with or without notice, at such place and on such terms as he may deem best, and the proceeds of such sale shall be applied, after deducting all costs, expenses and attorney's fees, to the payment of said notes." etc.

And, whereas, after the maturity of the first said note the said Crowder did, on or about the 9th day of December 1922 and after his default in the payment of said note as aforesaid, declare to the undersigned that he would pay said notes or deliver to them the aforementioned chattels;

And, whereas, on the same date the said Crowder did depart from the town of Clarendon for parts unknown, and has not been since heard of;

And, whereas, on the first day of January 1923 all of the above mentioned chattels were removed from said office and building where the same were, and placed upon the sidewalk outside of the building, and on the street of Clarendon, and exposed to destruction by the weather and elements and loss and ruin;

And whereas, the undersigned did, as they were empowered to do, take said chattels into their possession; and those whom these shall greet are hereby notified that that they shall, on Thursday the 18th day of January 1923, at the court house door of Clarendon, Donley County, Texas, at public vendue, between the hours of ten o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. M., sell all of the aforementioned chattels to the highest and best bidder for cash in settlement and satisfaction of the aforesaid mortgage, which was duly filed as a chattel mortgage at 11:20 o'clock A. M. on the 14th day of April 1922, and is now on file in the office of the county clerk of Donley county, Texas where the same may be inspected, and where the same will show the rights of the undersigned to make such sale.

Now, therefore, let any person to whom these may come govern himself accordingly. A copy of this notice will be posted at the Court House door in Clarendon in Donley county, Texas, and in the Postoffice in both Lelia Lake and Hedley in Donley County, Texas, the said three being the most public places in Donley County, Texas; also one copy thereof will be published in the Hedley Informer, a newspaper published at Hedley in Donley County, Texas, the same being the newspaper most commonly used for the publication of court process and sales notices.

Witness our hands at Clarendon, Texas, this 2nd day of January, A. D. 1923.

IF SICK TODAY!
TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it cannot salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

Disordered Stomach

Take a good dose of Carter's Little Liver Pills—then take 2 or 3 for a few nights after. You will relish your meals without fear of trouble to follow. Millions of all ages take them for Biliousness, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Upset Stomach and for Sallow, Pimply, Blotchy Skin. They end the misery of Constipation, Gas, and Sour Stomach.

MISS LULU BETT

By ZONA GALE

Copyright by D. Appleton & Company

THE SLY ONE

SYNOPSIS.—General factum in the house of her sister Ina, wife of Herbert Deacon, in the small town of Warbleton, Lulu Bett leads a dull, cramped existence, with which she is constantly at enmity, though apparently satisfied with her lot. Bobby Larkin, recently graduated high-school youth, is secretly enamored of Deacon's elder daughter, Diana. The family is excited over the news of an approaching visit from Deacon's brother, Ninian, whom he had not seen for many years. Unexpectedly, Ninian arrives. Thus he becomes acquainted with Lulu first and understands her position in the house. To Lulu, Ninian is a much-traveled man of the world, and even the slight interest which he takes in her is appreciated, because it is something new in her life. At an outing which the family takes, Ninian and Lulu become confidential. He expresses his disapproval of her treatment as a sort of dependent in the Deacon home. Diana and Bobby, in the course of "soft" nothings, discuss the possibility of eloping and "surprising the whole school." Lulu has awakened to pleasant possibilities concerning Ninian's intentions toward herself. Ninian takes the family for a "good time" in the adjacent city. At supper, after the theater, as part of a joke Lulu repeats the words of the civil marriage ceremony, with Ninian. Herbert remembers that a civil wedding is binding in the state, and inasmuch as he is a magistrate, Ninian and Lulu are legally married. They go honeymooning. Lulu returns. She says Ninian married eighteen years ago and wasn't sure that the woman was dead; so she came back.

V.—Continued.

Lulu went on: "He was very good to me. This dress—and my shoes—and my hat. And another dress, too." She found the pins and took off her hat. "He liked the red wing," she said. "I wanted black—oh, Dwight! He did tell me the truth!" It was as if the red wing had abruptly borne mute witness.

Dwight's tone now mounted. His manner, it mounted too.

"Even if it is true," said he, "I desire that you should keep silent and protect my family from this scandal. I merely mention my doubts to you for your own profit."

"My own profit!"

She said no more, but rose and moved to the door.

"Lulu—you see! With Di and all!" Ina begged. "We just couldn't have this known—even if it was so."

"You have it in your hands," said Dwight, "to repay me, Lulu, for anything that you feel I may have done for you in the past. You also have it in your hands to decide whether your home here continues. That is not a pleasant position for me to find myself in. It is distinctly unpleasant, I may say. But you see for yourself."

Lulu went on, into the passage.

"Wasn't she married when she thought she was?" Mrs. Bett cried shrilly.

"Mamma," said Ina. "Do, please, remember Monona. Yes—Dwight thinks she's married all right now—and that it's all right, all the time."

"Well, I hope so, for pity sakes," said Mrs. Bett, and left the room with her daughter.

Hearing the stir, Monona upstairs lifted her voice:

"Mamma! Come on and hear my prayers, why don't you?"

When they came downstairs next morning, Lulu had breakfast ready.

"Well!" cried Ina in her curving tones, "if this isn't like old times."

Lulu said yes, it was like old times, and brought the bacon to the table.

"Lulu's the only one in this house can cook the bacon so's it'll chew."

Under These Prohibitions, Which Loosed a Thousand Speculations, Di Was Very Nearly Paralyzed.

Mrs. Bett volunteered. She was wholly affable, and held contentedly to Ina's last word that Dwight thought new it was all right.

"He!" said Dwight. "The happy family, once more about the festive toaster." He gauged the moment to call for good cheer. Ina, too, became breezy, blithe. Monona caught their spirit and laughed, head thrown well back and sunny shaven.

Di came in. She had been told that Auntie Lulu was at home, and that she, Di, wasn't to say anything to her about anything, nor anything to anybody else about Auntie Lulu being back. Under these prohibitions, which loosed a thousand speculations, Di was very nearly paralyzed. She stared at her Aunt Lulu incessantly.

Not one of them had even a talent for the casual, save Lulu herself. Lulu was amazingly herself. She took her old place, assumed her old offices. When Monona declared against bacon, it was Lulu who suggested milk toast and went to make it.

"Mamma," Di whispered then, like escaping steam, "isn't Uncle Ninian coming too?"

"Hush. No. Now don't ask any more questions."

"Well, can't I tell Bobby and Jenny she's here?"

"No. Don't say anything at all about her."

"But, mamma. What has she done?"

"Di! Do as mamma tells you. Don't you think mamma knows best?"

Di of course did not think so, had not thought so for a long time. But now Dwight said:

"Daughter! Are you a little girl or are you our grown-up young lady?"

"I don't know," said Di reasonably, "but I think you're treating me like a little girl now."

"Shame, Di," said Ina, unabashed by the accident of reason being on the side of Di.

"I'm eighteen," Di reminded them forlornly, "and through high school."

"Then act so," boomed her father.

Ruffled, thwarted, bewildered, Di went over to Jenny Plow's and there imparted understanding by the simple process of letting Jenny guess, to questions skillfully shaped.

When Dwight said, "Look at my beautiful handkerchief," displayed a hole, sent his Ina for a better. Lulu, with a manner of haste, addressed him:

"Dwight, it's a funny thing, but I haven't Ninian's Oregon address."

"Well?"

"Well, I wish you'd give it to me."

Dwight tightened and lifted his lips. "It would seem," he said, "that you have no real use for that particular address, Lulu."

"Yes, I have. I want it. You have it, haven't you, Dwight?"

"Certainly I have it."

"Won't you please write it down for me?" She had ready a bit of paper and a pencil stump.

"My dear Lulu, now why revive anything? Why not be sensible and leave this alone? No good can come by—"

"But why shouldn't I have his address?"

"If everything is over between you, why should you?"

"But you say he's still my husband."

Dwight flushed. "If my brother has shown his inclination as plainly as I judge that he has, it is certainly not my place to put you in touch with him again."

"You won't give it to me?"

"My dear Lulu, in all kindness—no."

His Ina came running back, bearing handkerchiefs with different colored borders for him to choose from. He chose the initial that she had embroidered, and had not the good taste not to kiss her.

They were all on the porch that evening, when Lulu came downstairs.

"Where are you going?" Ina demanded, slyly. And on hearing that Lulu had an errand, added still more slyly: "Well, but mercy, what you so dressed up for?"

Lulu was in a thin black and white gown which they had never seen, and wore the tilting hat with the red wing.

"Ninian bought me this," Lulu only said.

"But, Lulu, don't you think it might be better to keep, well—out of sight for a few days?" Ina's lifted look besought her.

"Why?" Lulu asked.

"Why set people wondering till we have to?"

"They don't have to wonder, far as I'm concerned," said Lulu, and went down the walk.

Ina looked at Dwight. "She never spoke to me like that in her life before," she said.

She watched her sister's black and white figure going directly down the street.

"That gives me the funniest feeling," said Ina, "as if Lulu had on clothes bought for her by some one that wasn't—that was—"

"By her husband who has left her," said Dwight sadly.

"Is that what it is, papa?" Di asked alertly. For a wonder, she was there; had been there the greater part of the day—most of the time staring, fascinated, at her Aunt Lulu.

"That's what it is, my little girl," said Dwight, and shook his head.

"Well, I think it's a shame," said Di stoutly. "And I think Uncle Ninian is a slunge."

"Di!"

"I do. And I'd be ashamed to think anything else. I'd like to tell everybody."

"There is," said Dwight, "no need for secrecy—now."

"Dwight!" said Ina—Ina's eyes always remained expressionless, but it must have been her lashes that looked so startled.

"No need whatever for secrecy," he repeated with firmness. "The truth is Lulu's husband has tired of her and sent her home. We must face it."

"But, Dwight—how awful for Lulu!"

"Lulu," said Dwight, "has us to stand by her."

Lulu, walking down the main street, thought:

"Now Miss Chambers is seeing me. Now Miss Curtis. There's somebody behind the vines at Miss Martin's. Here comes Miss Grove and I've got to speak to her . . ."

One and another and another met her, and every one cried out at her some version of:

"Lulu Bett!" Or, "W-well, it isn't Lulu Bett any more, is it? Well, what are you doing here? I thought . . ."

"I'm back to stay," she said.

"The idea! Well, where you hiding that handsome husband of yours? Say, but we were surprised! You're the sly one—"

"My—Mr. Deacon tan", here."

"Oh."

"No. He's West."

"Oh, I see."

Having no arts, she must needs let the conversation die like this, could invent nothing concealing or gracious on which to move away.

She went to the post office. It was early, there were few at the post of-

"Well," She Thought, Almost in Ina's Own Manner.

—with only one or two there had she to go through her examination. Then she went to the general delivery window, tense for a new ordeal.

To her relief, the face which was shown there was one strange to her, a slim youth, reading a letter of his own, and smiling.

"Excuse me," said Lulu faintly.

The youth looked up, with eyes warmed by the words on the pink paper which he held.

"Could you give me the address of Mr. Ninian Deacon?"

"Let's see—you mean Dwight Deacon, I guess?"

"No. It's his brother. He's been here. From Oregon. I thought he might have given you his address—" she dwindled away.

"Wait a minute," said the youth. "Nope. No address here. Say, why don't you send it to his brother? He'd know. Dwight Deacon, the dentist."

"I'll do that," Lulu said absurdly, and turned away.

She went back up the street, walking fast now to get away from them all. Once or twice she pretended not to see a familiar face. But when she passed the mirror in an insurance office window, she saw her reflection and at its appearance she felt surprise and pleasure.

"Well!" she thought, almost in Ina's own manner.

Abruptly her confidence rose.

Something of this confidence was still upon her when she returned. They were in the dining room now, all save Di, who was on the porch with Bobby, and Monona, who was in bed and might be heard extravagantly singing.

Lulu sat down with her hat on. When Dwight inquired playfully, "Don't we look like company?" she did not reply. He looked at her speculatively. Where had she gone, with whom had she talked, what had she told? Ina looked at her rather fearfully. But Mrs. Bett rocked contentedly and ate cardamom seeds.

"Whom did you see?" Ina asked. Lulu named them.

"See them to talk to?" from Dwight. Oh, yes. They had all stopped.

"What did they say?" Ina burst out. They had inquired for Ninian, Lulu said; and said no more.

"You write that letter to Ninian!" she said.

SMALL HOME HAS LASTING BEAUTY

Use of Permanent Material Assures Its Durability.

CAN BE BUILT ECONOMICALLY

This Little Bungalow Has Distinctiveness That Will Make It Stand Out in Any City—Convenient Arrangement.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 137 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only include two-cent stamp for reply.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

There is a decided tendency in America today to build smaller homes. Many homeseekers no longer seem to care for a large house, but are preferring small, compact and cozy bungalows. They realize it doesn't take such a great deal of space to live happily and comfortably. A bungalow is much easier to take care of and may be furnished with much more economically and still attractively.

The modern apartment buildings introduced and are responsible for the popularity of the small living quarters. After enjoying the advantages, conveniences and labor-saving efficiency or apartments many people were no longer satisfied with a large house after they had moved into a private home. Then they found that the small little homes like the one shown in the accompanying photograph offered all the advantages of an apartment house without any of the disadvantages they frequently have.

This little bungalow is especially designed for those homeseekers who prefer a stucco home, yet one that is small and comfortable. It has a distinctiveness that will make it stand concrete blocks or tile, or on metal lath placed on wood studs without the inclusion of sheathing, and then plastered both outside and in. The metal lath makes a rigid reinforced concrete exterior which fully protects the wood frame, and is of itself practically indestructible.

The house is 24 feet 6 inches by 4 feet 6 inches and sits well on a good sized lot, leaving plenty of space for a beautiful lawn.

Fig Juice Used to Dye Cloth.

As far back as history goes the fig tree has been a house-yard tree. "Beneath the vine and fig tree" is used more than once in the Old Testament to designate "home." For centuries the fruit, fresh or dried, has made up a large part of the food of the natives of western Asia and southern Europe. Its juice is used to make a drink, and also to dye cloth. Its leaves polish ivory, and the bark makes cord. The sap of one species is poisonous.

The fig tree, in climates congenial to its growth, produces two and sometimes three crops of fruit the same year, on distinct shoots. The trees grow readily from cuttings, and are propagated by budding, grafting, and seeds. The large, beautiful leaves are deciduous, palmately veined, three-to-five lobed, wavy-margined, and somewhat rough and leathery.

Washington's First Inauguration.

March 4 marks the beginning and end of congresses of the United States. March 4, though not the anniversary of the first inauguration of George Washington as President, is the anniversary of the day when the new-born United States began proceedings under the Constitution.

The first Wednesday in March of 1789 fell on March 4, which, therefore, became the inaugural day of the government of the United States of America.

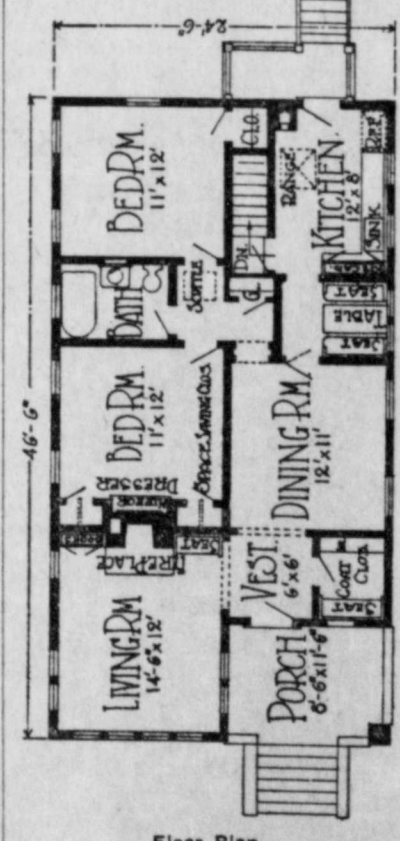

It was April 30, 1789, before George Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States. Since then, however, Presidents have been inaugurated on March 4, with a few variations, due to caution when that date happened to fall on Sunday.

Colorful Tiled Floors.

Tiled floors are being used more than ever. They are sanitary, easily kept clean and very attractive. They are used in many rooms, though predominating in bathroom, sun parlor and kitchen. Some of the colors obtained are various shades of green and dull blue, rich dark reds and lovely creams and yellows.

Excessive Criticism.

In Chicago the other day a monument was unveiled in honor of Eugene Field. Most of us remember Field mainly for his verses; the only prose remark of his that we personally can recall offhand is one about an actor who in "Lear" played the King as though he was afraid some one would play the Ace."—Boston Transcript.

Floor Plan.

They have remembered in designing this bungalow that first of all a home should have a comfortable atmosphere. They have made provision for all the features that make your home what it should be—the place you enjoy going to most.

From the front porch you enter the vestibule, which is 6 by 6 feet. Directly to the right is a coat closet and built-in seat, providing a very handy place. The living room, directly to the left of the vestibule, can be furnished very attractively and comfortably as it is an excellent size, 14 feet 6 inches by 12 feet. It has four windows facing the street and three on the side. On one side of the room is a genuine fireplace, a built-in seat and built-in bookcases.

Directly ahead of the vestibule is the dining room, a particularly convenient size, being 11 by 12 feet. One of the most attractive features in this charming bungalow is the neat little breakfast room just between the dining room and kitchen with table and seats to accommodate four.

The kitchen, not too large or too small, is a practical size that every housewife will appreciate. It is small enough to save steps, yet there is plenty of space for all the equipment she needs. It opens onto the back platform.

The two bedrooms and bath open onto a short hall that is entered from the dining room. The bathroom is located just between the two bedrooms. The bedrooms are very comfortable, both being 11 by 12 feet. There are two windows in one room and three in the other arranged so there always will be plenty of fresh air. One room is equipped with a space-saving closet similar to those installed in most high-class apartment hotels.

An attractive small home such as this can be built of cement stucco on

Thomas, prominent citizen of Shreveport, La., wrote us July 23, 1919, of this experience with his baby boy: "Eight years ago my baby boy, then three months old, was in constant pain, crying continuously, suffering from intestinal indigestion, and after spending $750.00 with the doctors, I got a box of Ware's Baby Powder, and in 48 hours my baby was relieved and in a few days was entirely well."

What a Houna, La., Mother Says About It

Mrs. Aladore Fico, 903 East Park Ave., Houna, La., writes us March 20, 1922, as follows: "Please send me twenty (20) boxes of your Ware's Baby Powder by parcel post, c. o. d. I have used your baby powder in my own home and many of my friends want your Ware's Baby Powder because they have seen what it did in my home. One of my children weighed 13 1/2 pounds before he began using your Baby Powder; before two months had passed he had gained nine pounds; and today he weighs 23 1/2 pounds and is in perfect health."

For over forty years, Ware's Baby Powder—the prescription of Dr. James Ware, famous old Southern physician—has been a healing boon to babies for bowel troubles, teething and summer complaints, etc. Keep the stomach and bowels in a healthy condition and you need have no fear of these distressing troubles so general among babies especially during the teething period. Perfectly harmless, mixed according to directions, (a teaspoonful of Ware's Baby Powder, a half teaspoonful of sugar, add enough water to make four doses), children love to take it. At your drug store, in 50c and $1.00 packages. Prepared in the laboratories of The Ware Chemical Co., Dallas, Texas. Adv. No. 4

GLAD GIRLS CLASS MEETING

On December 28th the Glad Girls class of the Baptist Sunday School met in regular session with the teacher, Mrs. Alva Simmons. An interesting business meeting, full of hopeful plans for the future, was followed by an enjoyable social hour. One decision of the class was that we should study the New Testament by means of questions and readings.

A cordial invitation to join our class is extended to all girls between the ages of 17 and 21 who have not already enrolled in Sunday School.

Uncommon Sense . . .

YOUR TEMPER

MEN harness rivers and make them work. Some day they will continue the experiments begun by Benjamin Franklin and harness lightning itself. They have already harnessed electricity in another form, to most of the wagons of industry.

Energy, controlled, is tremendously useful. Uncontrolled it is tremendously destructive.

Temper is highly concentrated energy. Allowed to take its own course, it is capable of doing infinite damage.

Controlled, kept in check, and directed into useful channels, it is an asset that can be turned into ready money.

If you have a high temper it is proof that you have energy. Lazy, languid men never get angry or excited.

But your fits of anger, your explosions of temper, are sheer waste of the energy that is stored up in you.

Nothing important is ever done without energy. And if your energy is allowed to run away, as does the uncontrolled stream, you will have none left with which to do the great things which you have planned to do.

Temper, kept within bounds, properly directed, will carry a man far on his way to success and happiness.

Permitted to "blow up" it will keep him in continual trouble, and land him in the poor house if he is fortunate enough to escape jail.

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because —

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You Are Tactless? This always hurts, for the person that is tactless is generally very kind and sensitive and tactlessness is often due to a lack of knowing and also a swiftness of action that gives you no time to think. Don't suppose that you can never learn to be tactful. Although it is often a thing you are born with, you can learn. For example, when you are laughed at you can realize that the laughter is right, and that will be the first step to a cure-all.

So Your Getaway here is: Dance the "hesitation" a little oftener, before going into action.

THE SECRET

By WILL M. MAUPIN

T WAS th' funnest thing, and the way we laughed. As we sat there all alone, Would have made one think we both were daft.

If the truth were not made known, But the baby laughed 'cause she saw it first.

And she shook her sides with glee; And then the fun of it quickly burst Upon her old Dad—that's me.

The way it happened was just this way:

Baby and I were there, She in the crib on the pillows lay, I in my easy chair.

The warm sun shone in the cozy room And lighted the baby's face 'Till it looked as pure as the lily's bloom, And fair as the lily's grace.

The baby looked at her Dad a while, Her blue eyes full of fun, And over her face a little smile Rippled and broke and ran. Dad smiled right back—she smiler some more—

Then both just shook with glee; And mamma peeped in at the open door To see what the fun might be.

But the baby holds the secret well— Never a word says she, The joke was bully, and she won't tell;

And neither will Dad—that's me. But, oh, 'twas a wonderful joke we had,

Just shared between us two, Baby Blue Eyes and her dotting Dad— And don't you wish you knew? (Copyright by Will M. Maupin.)

SCHOOL DAYS

it in abundance will enjoy a few of the dishes made famous by the wife of Maurice Maeterlinck who has written very entertainingly of the bee and its habits.

Honey and Sour Milk Ginger Bread. Blend one cupful of honey, one-half cupful of sour milk and one-half cupful of butter; two well-beaten eggs, two cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, the same of salt, one and three-quarters teaspoonfuls of soda, one-half teaspoonful of ginger. Heat the honey and butter and when just at the boiling point remove from the fire and add the sour milk and the eggs and dry ingredients. Bake in a sheet and coat with a thin icing.

Oatmeal Honey Bread. To a cupful of rolled oats add three cupfuls of hot water, half a cupful of honey, a teaspoonful of butter, a teaspoonful of salt. When cooled to blood heat add a dissolved yeast cake. Stir in flour till a suitable dough for kneading has been made. Raise again and make into two loaves. Raise again and brush with one teaspoonful of honey and two tablespoonfuls of milk just before going into the oven.

Honey is a natural sweet and should be given to children to satisfy the craving for sweets which is natural to childhood.

Fresh preserves are quite different when prepared with honey instead of sugar. Quinces are especially delicious when preserved with honey. Served with whipped cream they make the most delectable dessert.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

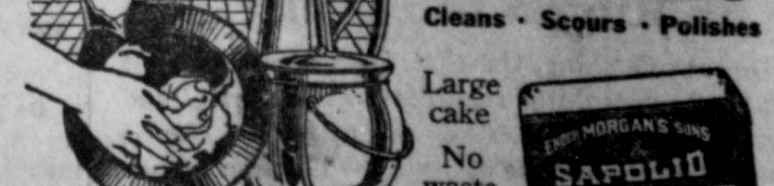

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

A SECRET SANCTUARY

IN EVERYBODY'S heart, screened from the gaze of intimate friends, there is a secret sanctuary in which he or she retreats when the outside world becomes irritating and overbearing.

You may call your sanctuary the place of dreams, or the refuge of rest and reflection, but whatever name you may give it, there are times when you like to retire to it and be alone with your thoughts far from the turmoils and haunts of men.

It is in this retreat that the soul finds its comforter, its better self and its nobler faith.

It is here the beautiful flowers of thought are watered and kept in the sunlight, jealousy screened from inquisitive eyes, meddling tongues and fingers.

You may retire to it in the midnight hour when the world is still or when the storms are rattling against the panes, but whenever you visit it you find the tranquillity you crave and the new strength to help you carry your heavy burdens.

Courage, hope, ambition and resolution are nursed back to life in this asylum and given a new meaning.

Fear of poverty, loneliness and even disappointment in the failure of some long-cherished plan, lose in this sacred spot their uncouth forms and poisonous stings.

Hearts that were breaking under hard strains become normal again and function with their customary vigor, though perhaps with less dependence on themselves.

To review ourselves in this sanctuary is to make ourselves better, more patient, charitable and considerate of our fellow-beings.

If we search our souls, scan our follies, frailties and shortcomings in candor, we emerge from the solitude with less selfishness and envy.

It is through these clear intimacies with our ragged conscience that we find the truth, get our bearings and thus discover whether the path we are plodding is taking us to the right or wrong destination.

The impulse which prompts us to visit our hidden sanctuary is that which will in time make of us better men and women, better qualified in every way to help ourselves and to encourage and assist others.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB
WILL MEET JANUARY 17

The Hedley Home Economics Club will meet Wednesday, Jan. 17 at 2 p. m., at Mrs. J. B. Masterson's. This is our first lesson for the new year, and a full attendance is desired.

Members are requested to be there promptly at 2 o'clock, as the demonstrations start at that time.

Mrs. Dallas Milner has recently recovered from an attack of tonsillitis.

C. B. Battle of Chillicothe is looking after his business interests in Hedley.

W. M. U.

Met Monday afternoon with a large and enthusiastic crowd present. On account of the holidays, we missed a meeting or two, so we begin a new year now with stronger determination for a great work.

It was the Missionary meeting and a most wonderful program was rendered, every one doing honor to their respective parts. It was indeed a joy to all present. After the program followed a short business session. A committee was appointed to see about a quilt donation to Buckner Orphans Home as an aid to the fire sufferers.

As one of our dear sisters and members, Mrs. Lora Acord, is going to move away, we tried to show our love to her in a miscellaneous shower. We will miss her, and regret to see her go, yet we realize that our loss is some one else's gain.

Hedley School Notes

SENIOR

Florance Curd went to Memphis Tuesday to have some dental work done.

Melba Johnson was absent from school Tuesday, on account of sickness.

Miss Trapp was explaining to the Senior class the meaning of environment "Environment is your surrounding," she explained. The next day, when she called on the class to define environment, little Willie Johnson seemed very anxious to give the definition.

"All right, Willie, you may tell me," said Miss Trapp.

"It's my coat," answered he. The Civics class has been having a debate concerning governmental ownership and operation of railroads. There was an immense amount of arguing done, compared with the pupils' knowledge of such affairs.

The Seniors have been studying the life of Shakespeare, and Miss Trapp said something about their taking up the study of "Midsummer Night's Dream." But some of the pupils insisted that this was the wrong time of year for such a subject. Therefore(?) we are taking Hamlet.

JUNIOR

Pauline Spurlin was absent from school Monday.

We are glad to have Gladys Peninger in school again.

Gertrude Noel has worn out a good pair of shoes, trying to keep the hall door closed, for Mr. Biggers is "always" in the hall.

The Junior class has found "C" on some of their English papers. They all went to "c" Miss Trapp, for they thought she had left "Trapp" off of the "C."

SOPHOMORE

High School met in the auditorium Tuesday morning and enjoyed a talk by Mr. Biggers on the upbuilding of the school.

Ralph Moreman has been out of school for some time.

Granville Koger did not answer the roll call Wednesday.

For Sale: Good gigglers, guaranteed to give satisfaction to owner. "Necessity" forces sale; bargain for cash. —Sophomore Girls of Northwest Corner.

FRESHMAN

Gwyneth Everett is again in school after an absence of two days on account of sickness.

Last Thursday morning the High School assembled in the auditorium and listened to the music furnished by the Hedley Jazz Orchestra. The concluding piece proved that their names do not deceive them, as it was real "jazzy."

Christine Spurlin is back in school after a two days absence.

ATHLETICS

Hedley High basket ball team was defeated in a game with Clarendon College Saturday afternoon by a score of 30 to 50. The home team, however, are like Paul Jones Middles—"rub 'em, scrub 'em, they come up smilin'." This is the first defeat of the season, but does not count as a championship game. The work done by the team was good. It is hoped to have aided in preparation for the games with Goodnight and Wellington.

Do you know the full significance of those letters? Would you like to know? Would you like to be a member of a live, wide awake organization that is working for the best interests of your school and community? What progressive person would not be glad to endorse the forwarding of that which is for the good of school children—our future citizens?

An opportunity to do and be the above mentioned awaits your taking in your community exists a Parent Teachers Association. Are you a member? If not, why not? There are no great monetary obligations attached to this association. There is, however, a simple requirement—that you have the interest of the school at heart and a willingness to contribute your bit of zeal and enthusiasm to the efforts of the organization.

On December 15 the Association met at the school building for business and social session.

The Seniors, in the High School, who had been celebrating "Kid Day," rendered a delightful program. The Class sang a Christmas song; little Myrtella Mann read "Billie and His Pig;" nine of the class presented a Christmas oratorio. Then passing from the "ridiculous to the sublime," Mary Noel played a very pretty piano selection, and accompanied Mal Johnson who delighted the association with two vocal numbers.

The social committee then served delicious refreshments.

Again on January 5 the P. T. A. met in business session. Favorable reports were read by committees. The association has on foot several plans which in a short while will be presented to the public.

At the close of the business discussion, the following pleasing program was rendered:

Reading, "The Mustard Plaster"—Miss Coffey.

Bass Solo, "Out Where the Billows Roll High"—Mr. Biggers. Accompanied by Mrs. Biggers.

Reading, "Home," Guest—Miss Snoddy. Piano accompaniment by Miss Allison.

The spirit produced by the occasion, and as carried out in this splendid program, made the afternoon indeed pleasant.

LOST—Log chain, somewhere between the public well and the L. W. Willishome. Finder please notify L. Z. Land.

MRS. BARNES MEETS WITH HOME ECONOMICS CLUBS

The Home Economics Clubs of Donley County held a joint meeting last Tuesday in the basement of the Methodist church in Hedley. Representatives were present from Giles, Sunny View, Naylor, Lelia Lake and Hedley.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a. m. by Mrs. C. E. Johnson, president of the Hedley Club. Miss Richmond, our County Agent, then made a few appropriate remarks and introduced Mrs. Dora Barnes, clothing specialist from A. & M. College, who had in charge the proceedings of the day.

Mrs. Barnes gave us a very instructive lesson on "Knowing How to Shop."

At the noon hour a most appetizing lunch was served in the basement.

In the afternoon the lessons were demonstrations on "The Appropriateness of Dress" and on "Flower Making." Many helpful ideas were gained by all present.

The Club members found Mrs. Barnes a woman of pleasing personality, and hope to have her with us again sometime.

Our thanks are extended to the Methodist people for the use of the basement.
