HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING NEARLY COMPLETED

Work on Hedley's new High School building has reached the "finishing stage" and the dedication exercises are due to take place most any time. In fact, delay of arrival of some necessary equipment is the only reason that announcement of this important event has not yet been made. We're all anxious to get into that fine new building.

We expect to have something of interest for next week's issue.

The Church of the Nazarene W. F. M. S. will conduct a Cooked Food Sale Saturday, at the City Meat Market.

HEDLEY RURAL CLUB ENTERTAINS TEACHERS

Another important event in the school year was an entertainment given the teachers by the Rural Demonstration Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Rains on Friday, October 25th, at 7:30.

Altho' the teachers were tired after a week's work, the entertainment was of a nature that was refreshing and the teachers lost no time entering into the party in "full way." Many new and interesting games were played. The "Fortune board" proved to be exceedingly interesting and the future was unfolded to many in a very interesting way. The teachers will long remember the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Rains and the Demonstration Club.

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mrs. Mary Reast, Cordie Holland, Gladys Simpson, Cloeteal Moreman, Fay Maxwell, Allie Mae Caldwell, Mrs. Myrtle Tinsley, Bonnie Lee Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nowlin, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Covey, Ileta Mace, Mrs. Elvia Davenport, W. I. Rains, W. C. Maxwell, Inez Jarmon, Myrtle Mims, Miss Thompson, County Agent, and the members of the Club.

DISTRICT COURT HAS HALL COUNTY CASE

District Court, at Glarendon, took up the case of The State vs. E. J. Chick, on change of venue from Hall county, last Monday. Defendant is charged with an offense against a Hall county girl. A jury was secured from a special venire of 100 men. S. J. Ayer is the only Hedley man on the jury. The taking of testimony began Tuesday, the complainant being on the stand several hours. A strong array of attorneys are engaged in the trial of this case.

The Grand Jury recessed one day last week after bringing in eight felony and three misdemeanor indictments. They will reassemble later on for further probing.

The case against E. H. Royal of Wellington, driver of the car that killed the little Walker boy at Mcknight some months ago, has been reduced to a misdemeanor and will be tried in the county court.

Petit Jurors for the fifth week of District Court are: J. T. Warner, C. C. Carter, D. N. Fitzgerald, J. W. Mann, A. M. Lanham, D. E. Leach, S. J. Bryan, W. H. Moffitt, A. L. Simmons, J. W. Watts, A. N. Bishop, J. E. Blankenship, T. C. Johnson, J. F. Bland, P. F. Weidman, T. M. Cannon, S. C. Bell, L. L. Wood, J. C. Cason, W. L. Blaylock, W. M. Bell, C. O. Cooper, T. N. Messer, W. C. Bridges, W. F. Morris, W. C. Plunk, W. G. Brinson, Roy C. Jewell, B. J. Leathers, W. S. Johnson, R. C. Johnson, J. B. Pickett, G. W. Kennedy, H. E. Leathers, W. R. McCauley, Will Kennedy.

LATER—The Chick case resulted in a mistrial. The jury stood six and six. We are told, with no hope of agreement.

Make our store your stopping place, and feel at home. Adams Dry Goods & Notions.

WILL SEND BOX TO BUCKNER ORPHANS HOME

The ladies of the First Baptist Church are preparing a box to send to Buckner's Orphans Home next Monday, Nov 4th.

They will be glad to accept donations of good used clothing, new clothing, or money.

All donors are requested to leave your offerings at the Tims store or at L. E. Thompson's residence.

Watch our windows for some thing new real soon. Adams Dry Goods & Notions.

Buster McCreary, 21, night watchman for the Farmers Union Gin Co. at Memphis, was shot, probably fatally, at an early hour Monday in the gin office. Robbery was the motive apparently, as a small amount of money is said to have been taken. We are told that two white men, named Basham, and four negroes have been jailed in connection with the case.

FOR SALE—2280 acres deeded land, four room house, well and windmill, running water. All fenced. W. E. Reeves.

San Antonio Man's Appetite Like a Boy's

"At one time in my life I thought I had the worst luck of any man in Texas," says Sam Smith, now one of San Antonio's heaviest taxpayers. "I had to be careful what I ate or I would almost choke from the gas on my stomach. That was many years ago. In fact, until I started taking Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). Ever since then I eat what I want and let NR take care of the rest."

That's because those little Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) soothe, sweeten and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes can't remain in your system to form those acids which sour your stomach, bind your bowels and rob the blood of the red corpuscles it must have plenty of to keep you from suffering pain, biliousness, sick headaches, indigestion and rheumatism. More than 3 million NR Tablets are used a day. Get the 25c box at any drug store.

Wrinkles Can Be Easily Banished

You'll be amazed at the improvement in your complexion if you follow this safe, simple, sure method. Ask any druggist for two ounces of opal; mix with tablespoon of glycerine, and a half pint of water. This makes a thick, rich cream which you spread thinly around the eyes, temples, forehead and cheeks. Then rub it in. The skin absorbs it greedily like a food. Pores tighten, dead outer tissue sloughs off, wrinkles disappear, new youthful skin appears. Your face looks years younger.

Time Spent in School

According to a statement of Dr. W. E. Deffenbaugh of the Bureau of Education, if a child attends school 6 hours for 200 days of the year from the age of six to seventeen, inclusive, he is in school only 14,400 hours. Assuming that 9 hours are spent in sleep, he has 15 hours a day at his disposal during the 12 years in which he is awake 65,700 hours. Consequently he is in school only 21.9 per cent of the time awake from six to eighteen years. As the actual average school attendance is only 152 days a year, American boys and girls are spending only 11.4 of their waking time in school.

His Modest Conclusion

The great trouble with the people who don't like us is that they have such poor taste.—Los Angeles Times.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or a lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm. That is why the laxative in your home should have the approval of a family doctor.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children. It is made from herbs and other pure ingredients, so it is pleasant-tasting, and can form no habit. You can buy this popular laxative from all drugstores.

Doctor Gives Hint to Lucky Salesman

IT'S a wise man that knows when he is slipping. Mr. R.F. Myers of 711 Rosedale Street, Baltimore, had the good fortune to get his tip straight from one of his doctor customers (he was selling for a pharmaceutical house) and since that lucky visit he has increased his business 50 per cent.

For two years he had been driving from town to town, and naturally this threw his elimination out of shape. He felt himself slipping. Cathartics only made him worse. Then one day he was calling on a wise old physician, and asked his advice. "What you need, my boy," said the doctor, "is a simple, easy, normal way to clean the poisons out of your system—we all have them—and with your kind of work they certainly cut down efficiency. Why don't you try Nujol?"

asked the home office, "your business has increased 50 per cent!"
That's the great thing about Nujol. As soon as it begins to clean the poisons out of your system it makes you feel so well that you can almost always do a much better job.
Nujol is not a medicine and contains no drugs. It is perfectly harmless, forms no habit. It is simply bodily lubrication, which everybody needs. You, like everybody else!
Why put off good health any longer? Go into any good drug store and get a bottle of Nujol in a sealed package. Costs so little and means so much! Maybe you can increase your efficiency 50 per cent too.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

MacDonald Visit Ends and Naval Conference Is Called by England.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
FIRST fruit of the momentous conversations between President Hoover and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the Virginia fishing camp and the White House was the invitation issued by Great Britain to the United States, France, Italy and Japan to participate in a naval conference in London next January. The proposal of the British government is in effect to reopen, revise and extend the navy limitation agreements reached at the Washington conference of 1921-22, with a view to gradual disarmament in accord with the spirit of the Kellogg pact in which all countries have renounced war as an instrument of national policy.

In order to give assurance that there will be no differences between Great Britain and the United States over cruiser tonnage to wreck this conference as occurred at the Geneva conference of 1927, the London government informs Japan, France and Italy that the two Anglo-Saxon nations have virtually reached an agreement based on parity of the two navies in all classes of ships.

There is no doubt that the invitations will be accepted, though there will be some opposition to holding the conference in London. America's acceptance was announced Thursday, France, it was believed, would make three reservations, asking that the work of the conference be dissociated with the Kellogg pact; that the proposals for abolishment of the submarine be dropped by England and America before the meeting opens, and that France have the right to call for a new ratio on cruisers, destroyers and submarines. It was understood that Italy would adopt practically the same attitude as France; and Japan was expected to accept the invitation without reservations. Each British dominion also was invited to send representatives to the conference.

When Mr. MacDonald's Washington visit officially came to an end he and Mr. Hoover issued a joint statement to the effect that in their conversations they had reached an understanding that the United States and Great Britain would co-operate to preserve the peace of the world, and that settlement of all disagreements between the two countries in the future should be sought on the assumption that war between them is unthinkable. Sincere acceptance of the Paris peace pact is reaffirmed, and confidence expressed in the success of the naval conference. One significant paragraph of the statement reads:

"The part of each of our governments in the promotion of world peace will be different, as one will never consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active co-operation with its European neighbors; but each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence towards securing and maintaining the peace of the world."

This is designed to quiet the apprehension, felt especially by the French, that the MacDonald visit would result in an actual alliance between America and Great Britain intended to force upon the rest of the world their interpretation of disarmament and peace. At every opportunity Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald disclaimed any such intention, and in his remarkable address before the senate the prime minister specifically said: "We are not out for any exclusive alliance. You would reject it. So would I. It is not for the benefit of either of us."

The President and the prime minister discussed, in a general way other topics besides the naval conference. These included tariffs, the Anglo-American war debt, freedom of the seas and the British naval bases off the American coast. It was agreed socially as well as politically. Mr. MacDonald's visit was a great success. He and his daughter Ishbel were lavishly entertained, there were state dinners at the White House, the British embassy, and at the home of Secretary Stimson, and the prime minister was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the George Washington university. After the formal farewells in the Capital the British party left for Philadelphia and New York, secure in the belief that Mr. MacDonald's unprecedented adventure had accomplished extraordinary things for the two nations and for the world at large.

IRWIN B. LAUGHLIN of Pittsburgh, one of the "career" diplomats, has been appointed by the President as ambassador to Spain to succeed Ogden H. Hammond, resigned. Mr. Laughlin's last assignment was as minister to Greece, where he served from 1924 to 1926. Prior to his appointment Mr. Laughlin had been stationed in various diplomatic capacities at many of the principal capitals of the world. He began his career as private secretary to the minister to Japan.

ONCE again the Democratic senators and those radicals who persist in calling themselves Republicans scored on the administration senators in the tariff battle. This time by a vote of 44 to 41 the senate rejected finance committee amendments broadening the rights of manufacturers and wholesalers to intervene in customs disputes before the treasury and the courts. Later the senate rejected an amendment offered by King of Utah which would have granted independence to the Philippines, and debated another proposal to levy tariffs on imports from the Philippines and return the revenue thus derived to the islands until independence is granted. These proposals really were made for the benefit of the American beet sugar growers and domestic producers of vegetable oils.

The strength of the Democratic-radical combine led to forecasts that there would be a deadlock over the tariff bill in conference and that the measure would fall of enactment in the special session. There were those who said this result would not be entirely displeasing to the President and that the administration would not favor the revival of the bill in the regular session of congress.

ALBERT B. FALL, former secretary of the interior, appeared in Washington for his trial on bribery charges connected with the oil scandals, and refused to ask a continuance on account of his exceedingly poor health. But before the taking of testimony began he collapsed and a recess was ordered. The court designated Dr. Sterling Ruffin to examine him, but Fall refused to receive the specialist, explaining his action was on purely personal grounds and that Doctor Ruffin was the only physician in the country whom he would not permit to examine him.

THREE more loans were authorized by the federal farm board. The Florida Citrus exchange is to get a facilities loan of $2,800,000; and the Tennessee Cotton Growers' association and the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative association receive supplemental loans of $250,000 and $300,000 respectively. The advance to the Florida Citrus exchange will be secured by first mortgage on packing plants of local units.

REPORTS from India say that Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan, has been captured by the forces of Nadir Khan and that Habibullah Khan, otherwise Bacha Sakao, had fled by airplane. Evidently the story of the usurper king's assassination two weeks ago was at least genuine. The troops of Nadir Khan are reported to have scattered and to have entered inhabitants taking.

SENATOR MO... Texas has amend th...

It would nullify the whole scheme of prohibition, and others, like Senator Norris, chairman of the judiciary committee, held that it might completely break down prohibition enforcement. Mr. Norris said the plan, if adopted, would prevent 95 per cent of the prosecutions in prohibition cases, for in fully that number the testimony of buyers must be relied on for convictions. Senator Hawes of Missouri, a wet, said: "The matter of purchase purposely was omitted from the Eighteenth amendment, and if it is to be brought up now the proper method would be by the submission of another constitutional amendment."

PREPARATIONS were completed for the investigation of lobbies operating in Washington by the senate. The subcommittee of the judiciary committee, which is to conduct the hearings, was named, as follows: Caraway of Arkansas, chairman; Borah of Idaho, Robinson of Arkansas, Blaine of Wisconsin and Walsh of Montana. Thus the inquiry is dominated by radicals, drys and pacifists and it is expected to go especially hard for the eastern high tariff interests, the big navy and other preparedness organizations and the wet associations. The tariff lobby was scheduled for first attention. Probably the hearings will last through the winter.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR delegates opened their annual convention in Toronto with President William Green in the chair. The most interesting event of the week was the start of an attempt to bring the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen back into the federation. Albert Whitney, chief of the brotherhood, was loudly cheered when he told the convention he saw no reason for the brotherhood to remain separated from the rest of the labor movement and that he intended to ask the lodges of the order immediately to vote on a proposal to affiliate.

For four days New York's supply of fresh fruits and vegetables was seriously curtailed by a strike of the teamsters' and chauffeurs' union, and freight yards and piers were jammed with rotting produce worth millions of dollars. The strike was called off when the Market Truckmen's association agreed to accept one of two propositions made by the union. The men were to get either more wages or shorter hours.

The workers' week has gone into effect in Soviet Russia and is said to be creating distressing confusion in industry.

DEUDONNE COSTE and Maurice Bellonte, French aviators who started eastward from Paris for an endurance flight and were thought to have been lost in the wilds of Siberia, turned up in Manchuria near the Mongolian border, 4,846 miles from their starting point, breaking the world's straight line distance record. It took them about a week of foot travel to reach a place where they could get in communication with the outside world.

Colonel Lindbergh, with Mrs. Lindbergh and two archeologists, spent several days flying over the jungles of Yucatan, Guatemala and British Honduras. Their purpose was to explore unknown regions in the search for ancient Maya cities, and they were successful in discovering several extensive ruins not heretofore known. The Lindberghs then flew from Belize to Miami, Fla.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Unnecessary Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works! And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

ALADDIN LAMP DEALERS GIVE RADIO PROGRAM

A new radio program, which will be heard over WBAP, Fort Worth, next Tuesday evening, and each Tuesday evening thereafter, 6:30 to 7 o'clock, is being sponsored by a group of Aladdin Lamp dealers in the Southwest, of which Thompson Bros. Co. of Hedley, is one.

This program will be known as the Aladdin Mantle Lamp Barn Dance Frolie and will feature those old tunes so popular a few years ago.

In addition to the music, there will be a very important feature for anyone at all interested in the raising or marketing of poultry. On each Tuesday evening's program, Uncle Ned will give a detailed, accurate, concise poultry market report. It will be possible to then determine exactly the price being paid at shippers' doors in the poultry centers, for the fowls. This feature alone will save members of this community many dollars by keeping accurately posted. Be sure your dial is on WBAP Tuesday night at 6:30.

The Church of the Nazarene W. F. M. Society will conduct a Cooked Food Sale at the City Meat Market Saturday.

The P. T. A. met October 17, with a good attendance. The committee on membership has finished its first annual drive and reports 121 members enrolled. These names and the state dues have been sent in to the State Treasurer, and the membership cards are expected to be here for distribution by next regular meeting, on November 7.

Everyone is urged to attend at that time. The social committee will be in charge of entertainment and an enjoyable program is assured.

NEVER EXPECTED A WELL DAY AGAIN

Well Known Retired Amarillo Citizen Says He Is Full of New Life and Energy Since Taking Orgatone.

"A year ago I didn't think I would ever be a well man again, but Orgatone has put new life in me and I feel so good I'd like to run a foot race with some of the boys," was the characteristic statement of W. H. Cherryhomes, a well known and highly respected retired citizen of Amarillo who resides at 508 Madison Street.

"I suffered for twenty years," he continued, "from rheumatic pains and sciatica that would run up and down my limbs like a fire breaking out and burning. I also had kidney trouble that bothered me constantly; gas would form in my stomach that made me uneasy, for I couldn't tell what it was. My nerves were in a pretty bad state and worried me all the time. Sometimes my condition would get so bad that I was really afraid to stir about any."

"I began to take Orgatone a little while ago and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. My nerves are now perfectly steady like when I was a younger man, and I am feeling more like my old self again. I feel lively and more energetic and want to be stirring about and doing things. Orgatone has done me more good than anything I ever saw or took in the past twenty years and I gladly recommend it every chance I get."

ATTENTION BOY SCOUTS

THE HEDLEY RURAL DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Hedley Rural Club met Oct 8 with Mrs Roy Jewell as hostess. The house was decorated with many beautiful flowers which came from her yard. The President called the house to order for the business hour. An order for $20 was given to the P. T. A. treasurer, Mrs. Dallas Milner, to buy magazines for the school. We also voted to beautify part of the school grounds. Sealed bids were received for the rug the club made and exhibited at the Dealey County Fair. Mrs Milner was the high bidder, so she became owner of this beautiful rug. Miss Thompson gave a demonstration, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments to sixteen members and one visitor, Mrs Phelps of Clarendon.

Oct 22nd found sixteen members gathered again in a regular meeting in the home of Mrs Bill Wiggins. We had no demonstration, this being the time for the election of officers. The following were elected:

Mrs Masterson, President
Mrs Everett, Vice President
Mrs Bridges, Secretary
Mrs Acord, Treasurer
Mrs Mann Press Reporter
Mrs Milner, Parliamentarian.
One new member, Mrs J B Pyatt, was received into the club. The club was divided into two circles, with Mrs Rains and Mrs Milner as captains. Mrs Milner's circle lost, so they decided to entertain the winners in the home of Mrs Everett Oct 29th. The hostess served delicious refreshments and the club adjourned to meet Nov 12 with Mrs Josie Adamson.

The social given at the home of Mrs Everett, Oct 29, was enjoyed by sixteen members and two guests, Mrs Bridges and Mrs Mendenhall. The afternoon was spent in different games and contests, prizes being awarded Mrs Mann, Jewell Everett, Clara Grimsley and Mrs Masterson. Delicious refreshments were served, consisting of buttered sandwiches, chicken salad, strawberry whip, cake, coffee and cocoa. All had such a jolly good time we went away hoping we would soon be entertained again in Mrs Everett's home.

The Man Whose Gold Ruined Him

Gen. John A. Sutter

James W. Marshall

Old Chinese Bank at Coloma, Calif.

"Bang Bang" Who Worked for Sutter and Marshall

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON
FROM Washington comes the news that the heirs of Gen. J. A. Sutter, the famous California pioneer, are preparing to press a claim against the government for $50,000,000 which they assert is due his estate under an agreement made with congress in 1850. Early this year these same heirs filed suit in the Polo county courts against the city of Sacramento, seeking the return of certain lands which General Sutter had presented to the city for parks and streets in 1849 and which, they allege, was sold by the city for commercial purposes in violation of the terms of the gift.

These two actions recall once more the story of one of the most dramatic and tragic careers in American history—that of Johann August Sutter, the Swiss adventurer whose swift rise to fortune was matched only by an equally swift descent. For it was on the vast estates in California, where he ruled as a veritable king, that gold was discovered on January 24, 1848, and resulted in the epic gold rush which brought down upon this modern Midas the horde of hungry fortune-seekers who ruined him.

Sutter was born in Kanders in the Grand Duchy of Baden, Germany, February 15, 1803. He was of Swiss parentage, the family being originally Suter. Young Johann August, who did not care to follow his father's occupation of paper manufacturer, was sent to the military college at Berne where he was graduated in 1823 and entered the French service as an officer of the Swiss guard in which he served in the Spanish campaign of 1823-24. In 1834 Sutter emigrated to America.

Settling near St. Louis, Sutter became a farmer for a time, then removed to Westport, the eastern terminus of the Santa Fe trail, where he ran a store which did a large business with the wagon trains which were fitted out there for the Santa Fe trade. Then he heard the call of the West and decided to go to California. Accompanied by a single companion, he set out in 1838 and went first to Oregon. Later he descended the Columbia to Fort Vancouver and from there sailed to the Sandwich Islands where he purchased a vessel and went to Sitka, Alaska. After disposing of his cargo to good advantage he coasted south and in July, 1839, was stranded in the Bay of Yerba Buena (now San Francisco). After making a journey into the interior, where he was much impressed with the possibilities of the country, he conceived the scheme of founding a colony in the Sacramento valley. California was then owned by Mexico and Monterey was the capital.

Hastening there Sutter laid his plan before Gov. Juan Alvarado. He would establish a cordon of outposts and check the incursions of hostile Indians from the north, he would gather the peaceful Indians of California together and give them employment and he would bring Kanakas from the Sandwich Islands also to work for him. So impressed was Alvarado with Sutter's scheme that he gave him a grant of eleven square leagues. So in 1841 Sutter established his colony, which he named New Helvetia or New Switzerland. There he built a fort, 500 feet long and 200 feet wide, and within its walls, five feet thick and twelve feet high, were a store, a tannery, a grist mill, a smithy and a distillery.

Within a few years Sutter had wrought a marvelous transformation in the raw country. Bridges were built over the streams, roads marked out, marshes drained, wells and ditches dug, and many other improvements made. The Mexican government had appointed him governor of northern California and he reigned in New Helvetia in feudal splendor over nearly 100,000 acres (for Sutter had been very generous with himself in surveying his "eleven square leagues") of land, tended by several hundred white, Kanaka and Indian retainers. In his pastures grazed 12,000 head of cattle, 15,000 sheep and 2,000 horses and mules. Establishing stores he traded from Canada to Mexico and as far east as St. Louis. Governor Alvarado's successor, present with an additional eleven square leagues, the peak of his prosperity Sutter owned 200,000 acres upon which he

Although the Mexican government had made him governor of northern California, it began to regard him with some suspicion when, after the settlement of the Oregon dispute with England, the United States began to cast covetous eyes southward along the coast and it became known that Sutter favored the annexation of California to the United States. When Capt. Charles Wilkes on an exploring expedition reached San Francisco, Sutter gave him aid and information and he extended a similar welcome to Gen. John C. Fremont on his arrival in California on his first exploring trip.

When California was ceded to the United States at the close of the Mexican war Sutter was elected first alcalde of his district and appointed Indian agent. With these new honors thrust upon him, he looked forward to a future of assured and increasing wealth and prominence in the new state which would inevitably be formed. Then came the event which was to have such a tragic significance for Sutter. One of his employees, a sort of a foreman, was James Wilson Marshall, born in New Jersey, a wagonmaker by trade but a wanderer over a large part of the Great West.

Marshall had persuaded Sutter that it was high time for them to quit getting out the lumber which they needed by hewing and whipsawing and suggested that they build a sawmill. Accordingly Sutter sent Marshall to build a mill on the American river about 40 miles above the fort. By January, 1848, Marshall, working with a crew of ten or eleven men, had put a brush dam across the river, set up the frame and dug the mill race. The latter, however, was not deep enough and at night Marshall let the water run through it to deepen the channel.

On the historic morning of January 24 he went to inspect the mill race and noticed some glittering particles in the sand. It might be gold, or it might be only mica. Marshall, who knew something about the common tests for gold, subjected the particles to these tests and as the result began to believe that he had actually discovered some of the precious metal. He does not seem to have been very much excited over it, however, for it was not until two or three days later that he made a trip back to the fort to tell Sutter. What took place then is related in Sutter's diary as follows:

A clerk was in Sutter's office when Marshall entered and after he had left the foreman said to his employer, "Are you alone?"

"Yes," replied Sutter.
"Did you lock the door?"
Sutter must have thought Marshall out of his mind but he replied calmly, "No, but I will do so if you wish it."

So he locked the door and Marshall then revealed the cause for his strange actions. The two men immediately set to work testing the metal, first with nitric acid, then by balancing it on scales with an equal weight of silver and placing the scales under water. In water the gold dust, having more specific gravity than the silver, pulled down the scales. There was no longer doubt in their minds as to what these particles were.

That night Sutter, as he later so aptly expressed the thing upon him. He agreed to keep the matter secret until they could finish the mill and until they had claim to the surrounding lands together the Indians who these lands and from them leased twelve square miles of the surrounding country. Then he sent an employee named Charles Bennett to Monterey to have the lease confirmed by Colonel Mason, the American military governor of California.

On the way Bennett, stopping at Benicia, revealed the purpose of his journey. Curiously enough, few who heard his story believed it and only a few went to the American river to investigate. It remained for Sam Brannan, a Mormon elder who was a storekeeper at Sutter's fort, to give to the world the exciting news. In May Brannan collected a small bottle full of dust and set out for San Francisco. One morning the 700-odd inhabitants of that little town were amazed to see Sam Brannan striding along Montgomery street, waving his hat in one hand and brandishing aloft a little bottle, filled with shining dust in the other, as he shouted "Gold! Gold! Gold! from the American river!"

The result is history. In the rush that followed San Francisco was almost depopulated. By June 2,000 miners were at work near the sawmill, now called Coloma. By July 4,000 were there. Soldiers and sailors deserted from the government forces and joined with clerks, lawyers, doctors, merchants, Indians, Mexicans, Chinese—all races and classes of men—in the stampede to the gold fields. A few months later the amazing news had reached the East and Sutter soon saw a roaring tide of humanity sweeping down upon his little empire.

The earliest arrivals were of the better class and Sutter had no trouble with them. They patronized his stores and purchased all of their supplies from him. But when the gold lure drew to California an influx of men from all corners of the earth, there came more bad men than good, who corrupted his Indians by their deadly freewater and influenced his hitherto faithful employees to desert him. Squatters settled on his lands and jeered at his efforts to dislodge them. His vineyards were trampled to the ground; his live stock stolen, his stores looted and the improvements which he had made appropriated for the use of the maddened gold seekers.

The titles to his lands received under the grants from the Mexican government were not respected and Sutter appealed in vain to the American authorities. He brought suit against more than 17,000 persons and spent more than $200,000 in prosecuting his claims. From being the greatest man in that country he found himself becoming the most hated because of the litigation in which he was involved, and eventually that hatred resulted in the destruction of his home, the Hermitage, to which he had retired before the onrush of the armymen. After several years of litigation in which he was repeatedly defeated Sutter, the former "king," found himself a ruined man. The state of California granted him a pension of $250 a month but after receiving it for 14 years he voluntarily relinquished that bounty.

In 1872 he sent his two daughters to Bethlehem, Pa., to enter a Moravian school and later transferred them to another school in Lititz. There he made his home and spent his declining years in numerous visits to Washington and futile attempts to secure justice from the federal government, which he claimed had allowed him to be robbed during the gold rush.

There is an old Spanish proverb which says that "He who finds gold will die in the almshouse." For one proof of that, visit the little Moravian cemetery in Lititz, Pa. In it is buried Gen. Johann August Sutter. He died in Washington on June 17, 1880, and he died in poverty. Of go out to California and in the hills of El Dorado county you will find a country store and a post office in the midst of a cluster of deserted shops and houses. This is Coloma, now a community of less than 150 persons, the Coloma which once grew almost overnight into a city of 10,000. In the graveyard on a hillside is an enclosure in which stands a bronze statue of a man, one finger pointing to the place where California's gold was first found and it was erected by the state of California at a cost of $10,000.

It is the statue of James Wilson Marshall, the man who found that gold and who once declared that if he had realized what would result from that discovery, he would have sold the gold dust into the mill which would have no other seekers that gave him a

WHY WE BEHAVE LIKE HUMAN BEINGS

By GEORGE DORSEY, Ph. D., LL. D.

Why Walking Is More Restful Than Standing

IN WALKING, each leg rests half the time. We tire standing because neither leg gets rested. The shoulder muscles which hold the head erect also ache from the strain in standing. As we nap in a chair the head nods.

Flat feet are not due to a giving way of ligaments; ligaments limit joint movement. Feet become "flat" when the muscles of the arch fail to support it; the arch breaks down. The result is a mid-tarsal joint. This is most likely to happen in long, narrow feet.

Short feet and high insteps go with large calves. To raise our body on our toes, we lift our heel. The toes are the fulcrum, the power is the calf muscles; the weight falls on the foot at the ankle joint but nearest the power at the heel. Hence the greater need for large calf muscles. But small calves go with long heel bones. As the foot is a lever of the second order, the long heel brings the weight nearer the fulcrum—that is, the toes. Hence "flat-foots" do not step off their toes; the fallen arch destroys the lever of the foot.

We nod our head between skull and first vertebrae, or atlas; rotate, between atlas and second vertebrae, or axis. Both movements are limited by ligaments; otherwise the signal cord would be crushed.

The main business of the face is to hold the teeth-bearing jaws; eyes and nose moved in by accident. The infant's face and neck seem small because the brain is so large. Their real growth begins with the eruption of the teeth.

The skull is a fulcrum for the jaw muscles in chewing. Muscles to hold the fulcrum steady develop with the teeth. The neck grows larger. With the teeth all in place the neck reaches normal size, the rounded "baby-face" disappears; strong jaws, powerful muscles, and prominences and ridges on bones of face and head support the muscles of mastication. The tiny mastoid processes below the infant's ears become adult structures as big as thumbs, required for muscle support.

The first, or milk, teeth should be in place by the end of the second year. Meanwhile the transverse ridges in the roof of the infant's mouth disappear. The permanent dentition begins with the first molars in the seventh year; incisors in the eighth and ninth; premolars in the tenth and eleventh; canine and second molars in the thirteenth to fourteenth; third molars, or wisdom teeth, in the seventeenth to twentieth year.

Startling changes of far-reaching consequence mark the years of adolescence for both sexes. As these changes are both physical and mental, and as they proceed under impulses from the gonads acting as glands of internal secretion, they will be described in the chapter devoted to the endocrine organs.

After maturity the body's chief task is to maintain its equilibrium; produce enough energy and heat to keep up repairs and carry on. But, from ovum to death, the body never ceases to change.

Old age or senile changes precede natural death. These appear toward the end of a span of life which varies in different species. This span of life for some invertebrates is less than 100 hours; for some insects, 17 years; for some fishes and reptiles, over 200 years; for some birds and mammals, 120 years.

Longevity is not, as Weismann claimed, related to size of body. Some mammals live less than two years, some locusts seventeen. A dog is old at 20. I have seen a parrot 117 years old; it matured in its first year. A tortoise can live 350 years. No elephant known has exceeded 130 years. Nor does death "naturally" follow the reproductive stage; innumerable animals long survive their sex life. But every animal must reach sex maturity or its kind dies with it.

Old age is decrepitude; the body is worn out. The mechanism of the infant acquired to walk with breaks down. The spine is not so supple, the cartilage disks between vertebrae shrink. This degenerates stature—as much as three inches after fifty. The spine both collapses and "stoops with age." The knees are bent, the hip joints stiff. The muscles shrink. The body loses its natural fat. Folds of skin appear on neck and face. The toothless jaws atrophy and the mouth loses its shape. Cheeks and temples cave in.

The brain loses weight—in the last 40 years of life as much as three ounces. The heart is enlarged from over-action to keep the blood coursing through thick, hard arteries. The pulse mounts again. It was 134 at birth, 110 at the end of the first year, 72 at twenty-one. After eighty, it is 80. The lungs lose their elasticity, the walls become thicker.

Many women after fifty show a thicker neck, hair on the face, deepened voice, more prominent cheekbones, ridges over the eyes. Their "feminine" traits are less feminine. It is as though the inactivity of the years permitted a return to a neurotic condition, halfway between male and female.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia!

When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescription product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

The Swedes are growing taller and healthier, it has just been brought out by the army medical department which annually examines Sweden's conscripted soldiers. From 1887 to 1927 the average height of these young Swedes has increased from 169.2 centimeters to 172.7 centimeters (about 1.40 inches) in forty years. At the same time nearly all sorts of diseases have declined, particularly eye, ear and bone ailments.

Fairy Tale for the Children

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"It is getting colder," said Mother Polar. "But when my children were young last year it was really nice and icy."

"They didn't mind the cold. I kept them comfortable at first and then they went into the icy water, and loved it, the precious Polar bears."

"Of course when it's winter where the people live they bundle up and shiver."

"They have great enormous fires burning and they live in houses and buildings and apartments that are heated so that we would probably shiver right up and die should we ever get in one."

"We never will though, will we?" asked a young Polar bear.

"No, we'll never be invited in or taken in I'm thankful to say, but I hear all this news from those who are called explorers who come to this land."

"I've escaped them too I'm thankful to say."

"They called it cold here this summer. Ha, ha, that's a good joke."

"But now, I am thankful to say it is getting colder."

"They say that when our cousins in the zoos go into the icy ponds given to them in their dens that the people shiver and draw their furs more closely around themselves."

"They cannot understand our cousins at all. They could never understand us."

"Well," said the young polars, "they do not know enough to enjoy lovely cold weather."

"Just the trouble with them," said Mother Polar. "They only go in swimming when it is hot in the summer and then they wear funny bathing suits I've heard."

"Now we go right in just as we are

"It Wouldn't Be Our Sort of Weather," at all times of the year. We don't fuss about our swimming."

"We take it so naturally."

"When it is hot I've heard that the zoo keepers give our cousins pieces of ice but oh, they melt so quickly in their hot weather."

"It wouldn't be our sort of weather," said the young polars.

"It will never be hot here as it is there," said Mother Polar. "We will always have cold weather."

"It is so gorgeous in our part of the world where it is always lovely and cold, and where there is always plenty of ice, glorious cooling ice, beautiful cold ice, delightful solid ice."

So the Polar Bears talked, and they were happy for the weather was growing still colder and they knew it would soon be really winter."

How they waved their heads and lifted them to every cold breeze, every bit of icy weather."

Beautiful cold weather! How they loved it. Lovely cold weather! How they adored it.

Calf's Tongue Cooked in Casserole

Calf's tongue is one of the "small meats" especially palatable if cooked in a casserole with sliced vegetables, as suggested in this recipe from the bureau of home economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Casserole of Calf's Tongue.
1 calf's tongue 1/2 cup sliced green peppers
1/4 cup butter 1 1/2 tsp. salt
2 1/2 cups sliced carrots 3 cups hot water
2 cups sliced onions 1/4 tsp. pepper
1 cup sliced celery 1/2 cup stuffed olives sliced thin

Cover the tongue with water, bring to the boiling point, and simmer for about ten minutes. Drain and remove the skin and gristle and place the skinned tongue in a large casserole. Melt the fat in a large skillet and add all the vegetables except the olives, and cook until lightly browned and somewhat dry, stirring constantly. Season with the salt and pepper, put the vegetables over and around the tongue in the casserole, and add the hot water. Cover the casserole and bake in a fairly hot oven for about one hour, or until the tongue is tender. Remove the cover and put the olives over the top of the tongue and vegetables and serve.

Do Not Use Enough Milk

To increase the demand for dairy products seems to be one of the most feasible methods of advancing the dairy business. It is believed by specialists that, on the average, the American people do not consume more than about half the fluid whole milk necessary to the maintenance of the highest degree of health. If organized dairymen could educate the public to the values of the greater quantity of milk in the diet it would open up a large field for dairy expansion.

One-Piece Street Dress Popular

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

Come what may in the wake of the present sensational outburst of elaborate fashions into the style-plate

A novelty woolen which glistens with rayon interweavings is especially recommended for the making of the modish frock for general daytime wear. It is one of these attractive rayon-wool cloths which serves as the medium for the genteel mode in the picture, the rayon and wool being interworked in an etamine weave. Note how eminently up to the demand of fashion is this costume, even to its slightest detail. It suggests the new molded-to-form slenderizing lines which are being stressed for the future. Because of the carefully positioned side plaits the hemline flares very properly, as it should. The sleeves display novel and effective treatment at the wrists, while the vestee at the front opening exploits a popular style-formula for this season. The scarf, which hints at a cape because of its circular-cut, also answers to the call of the mode.

In the current catalogue of fabrics the name rayon appears as frequently and as importantly as silk, wool, cotton or linen. One of the most interesting and deserving-of-mention new rayon manifestations is a series of weaves which have every appearance of handsome wool. The thought which intrigues the practical woman in connection with these marvelous rayon suitings and dress materials, which look so wool-like only an expert can detect the difference, is the fact that they actually launder as perfectly as cotton or linen. Fabric-wise couturiers and dressmakers at home and abroad are using these washable to-stance-wool rayons with utter confidence for the making of many of the one-piece street dresses.

Uses for a Casserole

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Meat and poultry that requires long slow cooking is especially tasty when baked and served in a casserole. The oven heat throughout the cooking period may be fairly low. From 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit is a good oven temperature for casserole cooking. All the extractives and juices of the meat are retained in the gravy in the dish, and the steam from this liquid enclosed under the tight lid helps to make the muscles of the meat tender. The best results are usually obtained by adding relatively little water. At the time of adding raw vegetables do not add water, as sufficient moisture will cook out of them. The flavor of any seasoning used—tomatoes, onions, celery, and other vegetables, as well as condiments—will penetrate the entire dish.

Still another advantage of cooking in a casserole is that extra dishwashing is eliminated. There is no baking pan to dispose of after the meal. The casserole goes directly to the table. If vegetables are cooked with the meat, serving dishes are eliminated. As most casserole foods are cut into individual portions for quicker cooking, no carving is done nor are carving implements needed.

The busy housekeeper appreciates the casserole because after the food is once put in it, very little further attention is necessary. For an hour and a half or two hours she is free to attend to other things. She may precook the meat in the casserole early in the day, and as she can easily reheat it at dinner time in the same dish, she can go out for the entire day if she wishes. Foods served from a casserole remain hot at the table longer than those spread out on a platter.

Brown stew of beef, Hungarian goulash, pot roast and many other slowly-cooked meats may be prepared in a casserole. Advantage may thus be taken of the fact that the oven is in use for something else, to plan a casserole dinner. Chicken is perhaps most often served in this way. This method of cooking by slow moist heat, blending with other flavors, makes it possible to serve many an old tough bird palatably, the bureau of home economics points out. Rabbits are cooked in most of the ways chicken is cooked, and a casserole rabbit is always excellent. A slice of ham can be laid in a casserole, covered with tomatoes and cooked until it is deliciously tender.

Some Favorite Beverages

By NELLIE MAXWELL

For those who like the flavor of ginger, this will be a most enjoyable drink:

Ginger Sorbet.—Chop one-half pound of ginger fine, add it to two quarts of water and two cups of sugar and boil fifteen minutes. Cool and add more liquid to make ten cups of liquid. Add the juice of four oranges, one cupful of lemon juice and serve with crushed ice. Fill the glasses half full and add the sorbet.

Special Punch.—Put into a chilled punch bowl one cupful of granulated sugar and the juice of six lemons. Stir to dissolve the sugar, and add a little ice to stand until serving time. Then add three peeled lemons sliced very thin, one quart of cracked ice, and pour in one or two bottles of mineral water and the same amount of ginger ale. Stir and serve in glasses.

Japanese Skillet Cake.—Melt one-half cupful of butter in a hot iron skillet. Add one cupful of brown sugar, stir until melted. On this place one cupful each of pineapple and pecan meats.

Take one cupful of cake flour, previously sifted, add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one tablespoonful of melted butter or other shortening, one teaspoonful of vanilla, the yolks of four eggs beaten well, one cupful of sugar and the egg whites beaten stiffly. Combine as usual, adding the egg whites at the last. Pour over the mixture in the skillet and bake in a moderate oven an hour. Loosen the cake from the sides of the skillet and serve upside down. Garnish with whipped cream.

Tea Punch.—Pour two quarts of boiling water over a teaspoonful of tea. In the meantime have the juice and peelings of three lemons and one orange in a pitcher. When the tea has steeped five minutes, strain through a fine strainer into the pitcher. Add one cupful of sugar and cool. At serving time put into glasses with plenty of ice.

Vienna Chocolate.—Mix three heaping tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate with cold water. Pour into a double boiler with four cupfuls of boiling milk. Add sugar to taste and let cook five minutes. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth and put into the chocolate pot, pour the hot chocolate over the eggs and add a teaspoonful of vanilla, stir constantly until well mixed. This may be served chilled as a cold drink.

No matter how well ordered a household may be, there are always contingencies unprovided for in the most efficient housekeeping schedules. The motto seen on many business men's desks is a good one for all housekeepers to have over their desks, too—"Do it now."

The seam of a cushion rips, a streak appears on the polished table or mirror, it takes but a few seconds to attend to some of these trifling things, but allow them to accumulate and weary hours must be taken to restore order.

If a grease spot appears on a gown when one is away from the cleaning fluid bottle, just dash on a liberal supply of talcum powder and lay away for a day and the spot will have disappeared.

A stitch in time is surely a great saver of time and energy. These allowed-to-accumulate soiled things become more soiled, require twice the effort to put them to rights again.

Here is a conserve that may be made at any time of the year and is especially good. Those who spend winters in the South where jellies and jams from home are longed for will enjoy adding this to their note books, and make a few jars this winter to serve when hungry for a sweet of this kind.

Pineapple and Apricot Conserve.—Take one pound of apricots, dry ones, soak overnight, and in the morning put through the meat grinder. Use just enough water to cover and well soak them, then use it to add to the conserve. Add one can of shredded pineapple and four cupfuls of sugar. Cook until thick. Pour into glasses and seal with paraffin.

"Lucile is the Happiest Girl"

So many mothers nowadays talk about giving their children fruit juices, as if this were a new discovery. As a matter of fact, for over fifty years, mothers have been accomplishing results far surpassing anything you can secure from home prepared fruit juices, by using pure, wholesome California Fig Syrup, which is prepared under the most exacting laboratory supervision from ripe California Figs, richest of all fruits in laxative and nourishing properties.

It's marvelous to see how bilious, weak, feverish, sallow, constipated, under-nourished children respond to its gentle influence; how their breath clears up, color flames in their cheeks, and they become sturdy, playful, energetic again. A Western mother, Mrs. H. J. Stoll, Valley P. O., Nebraska, says: "My little daughter, Roma Lucile, was constipated from babyhood. I became worried about her and decided to give her some California Fig Syrup. It stopped her constipation quick; and the way it improved her color and made her pick up made me realize how run-down she had been. She is so sturdy and well now, and always in such good humor that neighbors say she's the happiest girl in the West."

Like all good things, California Fig Syrup is imitated, but you can always get the genuine by looking for the name "California" on the carton.

The Flapper

James H. Carrier, head of the international beauty contest, said on descending from the President Harding with his international beauties:

"This is the age of the flapper. We worship girls today as the Athenians used to worship boys."
"The flapper in consequence is suffering from swelled head. A flapper the other day was heard to say in a night club to a millionaire: "A man is like a telescope to me. I draw him out, see through him and then shut him up."

Oldest Known Will

The oldest will in existence is the one executed by an Egyptian named Uah in 2548 B. C. The will was written on papyrus in hieroglyphics and sealed with a scarab. It reposes in the museum attached to London university. The will is remarkable for the clear and definite way in which it disposes of the maker's property, and interesting in that his estate is left to his wife, giving her discretion about the manner in which it was to be divided among their children.

NICE WAY TO COOK CHICKEN

A heavy broiler is sometimes more satisfactory if "smothered" rather than simply broiled under the flame in a gas oven. Those who like gravy with their chicken will also prefer this method of cooking because of the fine flavored sauce. Directions for preparing it are from the bureau of home economics:

1 broiler chicken 2 tbs. flour weighing about 1 1/2 lbs. 1/2 tsp. salt
4 tbs. butter 1 pint milk

Put the chicken in a greased shallow pan with the skin side down and sprinkle lightly with salt. Prepare a sauce of the butter, flour, salt and milk. Pour this sauce over the chicken. Put the pan into a moderate oven and cook for one hour. Turn the chicken and continue the cooking for one-half hour longer or until the chicken is tender and lightly browned. Remove from the dish in which cooked, and serve with chopped parsley. If the sauce is slightly curdled, add a little

THE CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY'S "CONOCO NO. 2"

Another evidence of the value of aviation to big business is found in the transcontinental tour of the Continental Oil Company's six place Travelair cabin monoplane, "Conoco No. 2," leaving Denver on Oct. 25 on a trip that carries it thru the Rocky Mountain states, across the middle west, to the Atlantic seaboard and back to Denver—a distance of over 8000 miles.

The tour is planned for the purpose of acquainting the Continental Company's sales forces with the details of a new oil, prior to public announcement of the product, which will be known as "Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil."

Technologists of the Continental Company authorize the statement that the new Conoco "Germ Processed" Motor Oil will be a revolutionizing factor in automotive and general mechanical lubrication. They state that it is a highly refined oil, made from carefully selected crude by an exclusive patented process. Details of the claims for the new oil are to be explained to sales groups at the various points of call of the "Conoco No. 2." A stop of approximately one day is being made at each city.

The ship is being piloted by Ray C. Shrader, chief of the company's aviation sales division. Passengers are J. E. Moorhead, sales promotion manager; Frank Moore, special representative, and G. K. Ludwig, marketing engineer.

Stops for the plane are scheduled at Salt Lake City, Butte, Great Falls, Chicago, New York, Richmond, Kansas City, Lincoln, Ponca City, Wichita Falls, Albuquerque, and back to Denver.

Mr. Moorhead, in charge of the tour, and his associates, will utilize charts, printed matter, maps and demonstration apparatus in their appearances before the various local groups, explaining in detail the refining method used in producing the new "Germ Processed" oil, and outlining its superior qualities.

G. C. Warner, advertising manager of the Continental Oil Company, announces that a nationwide newspaper, poster and farm paper advertising campaign to acquaint the public with the new oil, will follow the air tour.

Friends in Hedley will be glad to know that Mrs. R. C. Stout, who has been seriously ill at her home in Amarillo, is now improving nicely.
