The two weeks meeting closed at the Methodist Church Sunday night. We had about twenty conversions, some of these in the homes of the people. Some could not come to the services, so the workers went into the homes after them.

Have received five into the church, with more to follow.

We want to thank all the good people of Hedley for their faithful services and fine attendance during the meeting. I want to thank the good pastors of the other churches for their excellent help. We hope the meeting was a blessing to all the people, whether you are a member of any church or not.

An offering was taken for the pastor and family. I thank you for this offering. It just keeps coming. Yours in His name,
A. V. Hendricks.

Is There Something in Your Eye?

THIS giant eye magnet which Dr. L. R. Mackey and Miss Flora Olsen are demonstrating in a Minneapolis hospital, with Miss Marie Skele, a nurse, playing patient, is the largest of its kind in the world and was made for the removal of steel from the interior of the eye. It was the gift of Dr. C. N. Spratt, eye specialist, and is so powerful that it can drag an ordinary flat iron across the floor or cause a watch to fly out of its owner's pocket. The magnet weighs more than 800 pounds and has a ten horsepower pull. The core, which is made from a wrought iron shaft used in one of the old flour mills in Minneapolis 75 years ago, is wound with one and one-half miles of copper wire and uses 220 volts generated by a ten horsepower motor.

Paris Teatime Frocks Given Angel Sleeves

Angel sleeves have returned to the mode. Teatime frocks are often designed with big swooping sleeves, and the newest negligees have elaborately wide sleeves drooping to the wrist. One of the outstanding negligee models is of ruby georgette, while another is of turquoise blue satin. Both are designed with angel sleeves. One of the smartest Parisiennes wears a long-sleeved frock of white silk pique with a white felt cloche banded with sapphire blue ribbon, while another chooses a short-sleeved sports dress of white silk and a bright red hat, belt and bag.

For Town and Country

Tweeds follow the vogue for blues. This smart little town and country suit in tones of dark blue has a built-up waistline, a charming beige blouse and an immense bow scarf in blue and beige.

WHAT ARE YOU PLANTING?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHAT will you plant in your garden plot? Pansies, or tulips, or weeds, or what? "Weed?" you say. "Why, certainly not!"

"Who plants mullin who might have rose?"

In my garden do you suppose I'd plant thistles, and things like those?"

Yet there's a garden all year long Where we're scattering right or wrong. Seeds to weaken or make us strong.

There's a plot of another kind. There's a garden we call the mind. In that garden what shall we find?

What is the book you choose to read? What do you sow when you sow the seed? Of thoughts to follow, the rose or weed?

What is the picture you choose to see? Crime, or filth, or immorality? What, in your heart will the harvest be?

Some day the tempter will come to you. Then as you think you will likely do. What of your garden, and what of you?

Bedtime Story
By Thornton W. Burgess

THE King is great! The King is strong! The King, good sir, may do no wrong!

The King of the birds is Old King Eagle, as every one knows. He is king because his father was king before him, and his father's father, and so on 'way back to the long ago time when the world was young. To him all the other feathered folk yield and pay homage because by virtue of his great strength and courage he is their lord and master. Now, Old King Eagle is for the most part a wise and just ruler. He does his own hunting. He demands no tribute, save in one thing.

Of course, you know what tribute is. Tribute is a gift from the weak to the strong, a gift not offered willingly by the giver, but demanded by the one to whom it is given. Kings are very apt to demand tribute from those over whom they rule. But Old King Eagle demands no tribute from his subjects save one, and that one is one of his largest and strongest subjects. Can you guess who it is? It is Plunger the Fish Hawk. Yes, sir, Plunger the Fish Hawk has to pay tribute to Old King Eagle. He doesn't do it willingly, but he does it just the same. He does it because King Eagle is big enough and strong enough to force him to. And the reason that King Eagle demands tribute from Plunger is that King Eagle has learned to like the taste of fish, but has not learned how to catch fish for himself. Therefore he must depend on some one else to catch them for him, and that some one is Plunger.

On this particular morning that Plunger had had to be so patient in order to catch a fat fish to take home to Mrs. Plunger, sitting on the eggs in their nest in the Green Forest, it had come into the head of Old King Eagle that he was hungry for fish. The more he thought about it the hungrier he grew. Sitting on the stump of a tree on the edge of a cliff of the Big Mountain he could see the Big River like a silver ribbon in the distance—that is, it would have looked like a silver ribbon to you or to me had we been in his place. But so wonderful and keen are the eyes of King Eagle that he could see the Big River clearly. He could see more. He could see a speck sailing back and forth over the Big River, and he knew that that speck was Plunger the Fish Hawk.

Old King Eagle chuckled. "My fisherman is fishing for me, but he doesn't know it," said he. Then he spread his wonderful great wings and sailed out and up, like the royal master of the air that he is. Up, up he flew until he was but a speck in the sky to anyone watching from below. Straight toward the Big River he flew, and there in majestic, great circles he sailed round and round three times as far above Plunger as Plunger was above the Big River. Plunger, his eyes fixed on the water below, knew nothing of King Eagle above him. So Plunger flew patiently back and forth and round and round over the Big River, watching for fish, and cloud-high above him King Eagle swung in great circles watching Plunger.

He laughed aloud, did Old King Eagle, when at last Plunger shot down into the water with a great splash and presently flapped upward heavily with a big fat fish in his claws and then headed straight toward the Green Forest. In his turn King Eagle shot downward. The rattle of his great wings was heard by Plunger, who looked up with both fear and anger in his eyes.

"Tribute! Give me tribute!" cried Old King Eagle fiercely.

"I won't! It is my fish, for I caught it!" screamed Plunger.

"Tribute! Tribute!" demanded Old King Eagle more fiercely than before.

Still Plunger clung to the fish for which he had waited so long and patiently.

"I won't!" he screamed again, and this time there was an answering scream. It was Mrs. Plunger. She had heard him and now was coming swiftly to aid him. So Plunger clung more tightly than ever to the big fish and beat his way toward the Green Forest, hoping that something would happen to cheat Old King Eagle of that splendid prize.

Not Much Meat Needed

A CUPFUL or two of any kind of well-cooked meat may make a most tasty dish. It is the flavor found in the extractives which gives meat its attractive appeal. A very little will answer as well as a large quantity, if the dish is made up of other nourishing foods.

For a supper dish to serve with Lyonnaise or creamed potatoes, or with potato salad, thinly sliced frankfurters, heated very hot in a frying pan, make a most tasty dish.

Spanish Chicken.

Make a sauce of a tablespoonful of butter, two of flour, and two cupfuls of water to which beef extract or bouillon cubes have been added. Add one cupful of cooked chicken cut fine, one small onion minced, one pinteno cut fine and two tablespoonfuls of cooked peas. Serve very hot on toast.

Beef Fricadelles.

Take two cupfuls of minced beef, season with salt and pepper, thyme, sage, lemon juice and grated onion. Add a half cupful of cooked rice or dry bread crumbs, one well-beaten egg, with a little water or broth to moisten. Form into flat cakes and fry in hot fat.

French Beef Hash.

Prepare one part of meat finely chopped and two parts cooked potatoes, adding the white of an egg beaten light. Place well seasoned in a baking dish and bake until brown. © 1932, Western Newspaper Union.

Aerial Cabaret May Be the Next Innovation

FIRST transcontinental transport plane to be equipped with long-wave radio for the entertainment of its patrons is shown in the air above Los Angeles at the completion of its flight from New York over American Airways. Headphones, which may be worn when the passenger desires, are connected with a receiving set tuned for regulation broadcasts, but at the will of the pilot they may also be tuned in on the short-wave receiver with which he keeps in communication with his headquarters. Passengers tried a fox trot.

A World's Record

MORE than three thousand births without a single loss of either mother or child! That is the official Piatt County record of Dr. W. B. Caldwell, in fifty years' family practise in Illinois.

No wonder mothers have such entire confidence in giving little ones Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin!

If you have a baby, you have constant need of this wonderful preparation of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh herbs. A child who gets this gentle stimulant for the stomach, liver and bowels is always healthier. It keeps children's delicate systems from clogging. It will overcome the most stubborn condition of constipation. It builds them up, and is nothing like the strong cathartics that sap their strength and energy.

A coated tongue or bad breath is the signal for a spoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Children take it readily, for it is really delicious in flavor. Taste it! Take Syrup Pepsin yourself, when sluggish or bilious, or you are troubled with sick headaches and no appetite. Take some for several days when run-down, and see how it picks you up.

It is a prescription preparation which every drug store has ready; in big bottles, just ask anywhere for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

NATIVE EXPLAINS BUSH TELEGRAPHY

For many years white men have been puzzled by the uncanny way in which the Australian aborigines can communicate with one another over long distances without any apparent means. This has been known as bush telegraphy.

An explanation has just been given by David Unaipon, an educated Australian aborigine. Bush telegraphy, he explained, was developed by an intense form of discipline started in youth, by which the young aborigine learns to detach himself from his surroundings. First he is taught to eat only when his body needs nourishment, and then to fast.

The supreme test of fasting for a boy is that he should walk for three days without food, and then on the fourth day eat one day's rations.

When it is desired to communicate with another aborigine at a distance a smoke signal is made by a man who concentrates on the message he wishes to send. The recipient of the message also frees his mind from all outside influences to receive the telepathic message.

"One morning," explained Unaipon, "I was sitting in Sydney and trying to write, when a message came to me that my wife in South Australia was dead. Next day a telegram came to tell me what I already knew. I learned afterwards that my wife's mother had sent the original message to me by the bush telegraphic method."

Veracity

"Does that man always tell the truth?" "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "If it's about somebody else."

Every man keeps a large stock of advice on hand to give away.

Speaker Garner in Dramatic Speech Quells House Sales Tax Rebels—Substitute for Defeated Sales Tax Is Quickly Passed.

SPEAKER JOHN N. GARNER quelled the house of representative tax rebels and assured the nation of tax legislation that would balance the national budget. The members of both parties who had successfully opposed the sales tax provisions of the bill drafted by the ways and means committee promised to be good and support the new bill introduced by the committee and as a substitute for the sales tax that had been defeated.

It all came about when the speaker took the floor and delivered a speech that was a combination of tempered argument, impassioned plea, and camp-meeting exhortation. As he whirled into his peroration, an excited house membership answered his appeal for those resolved to lead a new life to arise. En masse the congressmen surged to their feet and took the pledge to pass a tax measure that will balance the budget.

Then the house settled down to business. The ways and means committee introduced its list of new taxes to take the place of the defeated sales tax, and the various items were approved so rapidly that Acting Chairman Crisp had to stop the offering of items in order to give the engrossing clerks time to draw the various amendments.

The new levies as provided for in the house bill covers taxes on the following articles with the estimated revenue:

The house bill provides for the payment of the levied excise and sales taxes by the manufacturer direct to the government, with the method of collecting the taxes about the same as under the general manufacturers' sales tax which was rejected. That does not mean, however, that the tax will not be passed along in the form of an increased price for the merchandise, and there is nothing in the bill that would prevent the manufacturer from directly including the tax item in his invoice to the jobber or retailer and so on down the line until it reaches the consumer.

The fact that the house has passed a revenue bill does not mean that this bill is to be the law of the land. It is almost certain that the senate will not agree. The senate committee is very likely to substitute for the new provisions of the house bill the manufacturers' sales tax that was rejected by the house, and pass the revenue bill in that form. Should it do so it will mean another fight in the house, then a long conference consideration, and there is no prospect for an early adjournment of congress. Experienced members of both houses are now predicting that there will not be an agreement over a revenue bill earlier than September.

THE Hoover budget will be slashed a quarter of a billion dollars if the house accepts the recommendations already made and to be made by its appropriations and economy committees, Chairman Joseph W. Byrns (Dem., Tenn.) of the house appropriations committee asserted.

Just prior to announcing his resignation, on a plea of overwork, from the chairmanship of the special economy committee, Mr. Byrns said that body will submit recommendations calling for consolidations and economies totalling at least $75,000,000 and possibly a sum two or three times that figure.

Chairman Byrns said that hearings thus far conducted by the various committees handling governmental supply bills disclosed that at least $150,000,000 could be shaved off the budget figures submitted by President Hoover without in any way impairing the efficiency of the government. The committees plan to slash an additional $30,000,000 from national defense appropriations, Mr. Byrns said.

NORMAN DAVIS, one of the American delegates to the Geneva arms conference, arrived in Washington and went into a series of conferences with State department executives. Although officials declined to make public the nature of the discussions it was learned that Mr. Davis outlined the obstacles which have been encountered in the move to work out a general arms limitation treaty and reported to the department on the plan of action for the future outlined by himself and his associates.

As matters now stand, many pressing European problems must be settled before there is the remotest chance for the negotiation of a treaty which carries reductions in land forces.

PRESIDENT HOOVER announced formally at the regular press conference that he is "absolutely opposed to the enactment by congress of additional soldiers' bonus legislation, and indicated that he would veto such a bill if passed. The President's statement follows:

"Informal polls of the house of representatives have created apprehension in the country that a further bonus bill of $2,000,000,000 or thereabouts for World war veterans will be passed.

"I wish to state again that I am absolutely opposed to any such legislation.

"I made this position clear at the meeting of the American Legion in Detroit last September 21, and the Legion has consistently supported that position. I do not believe any such legislation can become law.

"Such action would undo every effort that is being made to reduce government expenditures and balance the budget.

"The first duty of every citizen of the United States is to build up and sustain the credit of the United States government.

"Such an action would irretrievably undermine it."

Gen. Greely

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE Arthur M. Hyde called his department the "prize boob in the history of finance," because of its policy of making virtually unsecured loans to farmers in the face of rapidly mounting crop surpluses.

"Under present conditions," Secretary Hyde said "my department is now lending more money on thinner security and sustaining more losses than any organization ever has done before in the history of the world. Loans now being made by my department to small farmers who otherwise could not finance themselves could not by the furthest stretch of the imagination be called good business."

The Hyde statement was directed at the farm loan policy under which the Agriculture department makes loans to small farmers for economic reasons. He asserted that the government should not go into the business of making loans to farmers except in cases of drought, or floods or calamities growing out of natural causes. The current type of loans are unjustifiable, he said.

WASHINGTON crime is again brought into the limelight as police attempt to locate extortionists who have threatened harm to the children of three prominent Washington families.

Mrs. Betty Hanna Davidson, granddaughter of Mark Hanna, demanded police protection following receipt of a telephone call threatening injury to her daughter Daisy, six years old, unless $2,000 was paid.

Alice Longworth threatened shortly upon the disclosure that threatening letters had been received by Mrs. Alice Longworth, widow of the former speaker, and Sir Wilmott Lewis, Washington correspondent for a London newspaper. The letters threatened harm to Paulina Longworth, seven years old and probably the best known child, next to the Lindbergh baby, in the United States, and to Wilmott Lewis, Jr., five years old.

WITH a vigorous denunciation of the "disease of overtaxation," business leaders of the Middle West, at a meeting in Chicago, joined in a protest against excessive appropriations by congress. Federal waste and extravagance were bitterly attacked.

Some fifty representatives of cities in 17 states attended the meeting which was called by the Chicago Association of Commerce. A resolution was adopted which called upon congress to recognize the emergency in national affairs and to avoid taking any steps which might jeopardize the credit of the government. A number of speakers declared that the business and commerce of the nation could not recover unless a balanced federal budget is adopted.

A RECOMMENDATION against development of the navigation and irrigation phases of the $772,000,000 Columbia river development project at this time was included in a report submitted to the secretary of war for transmission to congress by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers.

While recommending that the sum of $16,000,000 should be expended by the government for the construction of locks and other aids to navigation in the Columbia river when private or state interests are ready to develop water power, Major General Brown took the position that the time was not ripe for the spending of any considerable amount of federal money on this huge project.

THE Missouri Democratic state convention at St. Louis instructed its 54 delegates to the national convention to vote for former United States Senator James A. Reed as long as he has a chance to secure the nomination for President. Missouri's delegation will have 36 votes. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the second choice of the instructed delegation.

Governor Roosevelt is the choice of the Iowa Democratic convention. The 26 delegates were instructed to "use all honorable means" to bring about his nomination.

STILL hale and hearty, Maj. Gen. S. Adolphus W. Greely celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday anniversary in Washington. His friend, Brig. Gen. Davis L. Brainard, recalling memories of the Arctic tragedy that shocked the world 48 years ago. Together they had laid on the ice of Cape Sabine in 1884 within whispering distance of the icy death that claimed 18 of the party of 25. Brainard was his top sergeant. They are the only survivors of the seven who were taken from the cape June 23, 1884, after ten months of privation and suffering, during which Greely, then a lieutenant, observed his fortieth anniversary.

A TREATY between the United States and Canada for the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway may be ready for signature soon. William D. Herridge, Canadian minister, is now ready to negotiate. It only remains to secure the consent of the respective governments. Then the treaty will be written.

NEWSY NOTES FROM THE HEDLEY SCHOOLS

Success Formula
By Hazel Stewart

Success is a simple thing to acquire if you know its formula. The first ingredient is a grain of "courage;" the second a dash of "ambition;" the third an ounce of "mental effort." Mix these well with our God given faculties and no person or power on earth can keep us from our desire, be that what it may.

And our desire, today, is to see old Hedley High raise her green and white banner to the sky. Who will help do this? We, the students and boosters, should put forth our ounce of effort as a proof of socialism, several dashes of ambition, and more courage.

How shall we raise our banner? By encouraging our rural school friends to enroll in our institution. When this is done we have exerted courage, and our formula is fulfilled—with the exception of greeting our new students.

Who said a person had to be a registered pharmacist before he could fill a prescription?

Theatre Party

The Senior Class proved their friendship and appreciation to the Juniors Wednesday evening with a Theatre Party in Memphis "The Wiser Sex" at the Ritz was the center of attraction. On returning to Hedley, the guests were ushered into the reception hall of the Senior High building. with pleasure seekers started to Troublesome Canyon, but to their displeasure the gatekeeper refused to let them enter. After several hours of supreme search the crowd parked at River Bed.

A large lunch was spread at 12 o'clock which everyone enjoyed to the extreme extent. Yes, there was some excitement—Mr. Maxwell fell accidentally into the water (you know how long it takes corduroy trousers to dry).

Declaring it a perfect day, the Classes returned home, tired but happy.

Keyless Hay Ride

In honor of all new students, the Sophomore Class gave a hay ride (only there wasn't any hay) Thursday night. Two wagons and five cars carried the large number to the Spalding ranch. A picnic lunch was carried and enjoyed by all. One wagon was put out of commission and its occupants left stranded until another wagon was secured.

Hedley on the Air

Hear Hedley on the air from 2:15 to 2:45 Friday afternoon from KGRS, Amarillo. Under supervision of Miss Mary Hope Wells, some 15 girls will advertise our schools in a remarkable way. Several types of songs are to be sung. Listen to the Hedley lassies; they are advertising you, your school, your town and your county. So, listen!

To the delight of the students, Ma A. B. Diamore spoke during extra assembly concerning prison life. He has visited all but three prisons in the U. S. and told interesting and instructive facts about them.

Elder Hukel spoke to students Tuesday morning, bringing us a helpful message on important phases of student life, and preparation for old age. Come again, Bro. Hukel.
