PAY SCHOOL TAXES; SAVE OUR SCHOOLS

The Hedley School is facing a condition that threatens to shorten very decidedly and quickly the length of our school term. The School Board has been wrestling with this problem since the close of last term. They have met many times to see that every opportunity for securing money was seized upon. They have out expenses to the bone.

The teachers have begun their tasks with enthusiasm, just as if they were to be well and fully paid. The school has made a splendid beginning and the plans are set for the best school Hedley has ever had. Back up the teachers we have hired. Let us keep faith with them. They depend on their small salary for their existence. They have no gardener.

The enrollment is larger than last year—a fine group of children. They are your children. They want an education. They are asking us to educate them. We owe them a chance to acquire scholastic training.

The State of Texas through the Department of Education is now working overtime to provide means for every child to attend school. The State furnishes Hedley more than three fourths of the money necessary to conduct our school for nine months. At least the State proposes to do this, but may not be able to carry out its program.

Whether or not the school continues as an accredited 9 month school depends upon whether the taxpayers of this school district pay their taxes. The Board has been very lenient in the matter of collecting taxes. They now propose that the taxpayer can pay any part of his school taxes. If he owes $40 and can pay only $5, this $5 will be welcomed, and may be the $5 that would save the school. If he owes three years taxes, and can pay only one year, this amount will be very much appreciated.

The Board set Nov. 15th as the dead line. If delinquent taxes are paid before that time no interest or penalty will be charged. After Nov. 15 there will be a penalty of 10 per cent and interest of six per cent. The Board appeals to every citizen to make a special effort to pay at least some of his school tax right away, so that the school may be assured of your support and may go ahead with its plans for giving your children as full and efficient training as they can get anywhere in Texas.

Pay this tax first. Give it the right of way and let us save our school. You can pay your school tax separate from your state and county taxes.

The delinquent tax roll is at the Security State Bank. Drop in there, see what is beside your name. The Bank will accept any amount you pay, receipt you, and send on to Mr. Mosley.

SOME COTTON PLOW-UP CHECKS ARRIVE

107 cotton plow up checks for Donley county farmers were received from Washington the past week end, amounting to $26,490. This out of a total of 874 due the county, aggregating approximately $240,000.

Of the 107 checks received, 49 were for farmers in the Hedley community. They aggregate about $12,000, and will doubtless liven up business a little.

County Judge S. W. Lowe came down Saturday afternoon with the information and a list of the names.

Seen the Good Things in Life

One of the Great Factors in Man's Search for Happiness.

Happiness consists in the appreciation of the things that occur—the things that are yours. These may be things of spirit or things of sense, but they are things that give life a meaning and a purpose. It is not a matter of how much you have, but of how much you appreciate. It is not a matter of how long you live, but of how much you enjoy your life. It is not a matter of how many people you know, but of how many you love. It is not a matter of how much you achieve, but of how much you enjoy your work. It is not a matter of how much you have, but of how much you appreciate. It is not a matter of how long you live, but of how much you enjoy your life. It is not a matter of how many people you know, but of how many you love. It is not a matter of how much you achieve, but of how much you enjoy your work.

Real Estate Promotion Hits Famed Stoke Poges

Quiet of Gray's Churchyard Is Threatened.

Washington—The cloistered quiet of a country churchyard at Stoke Poges, where Thomas Gray wrote his "Elegy," is threatened by a real estate promoter's scheme for real estate development nearby. The scheme is being promoted in the southern part of Buckinghamshire, the little village is about twenty miles from London, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. "It has, however, remained almost unchanged through the centuries which have passed since where, in 1771, Gray was buried beside his mother.

"Of particular interest to the American tourist in Stoke Poges is the old Elizabethan manor house, which was owned by Thomas Penn, son of the founder of Pennsylvania. In one of the rooms may be seen a part of the trunk of the elm tree under which William Penn signed the treaty with the Indians. His grave lies a few miles distant in the Quaker burial ground by Jordan's meeting house.

"Even before the rise of the Quakers in the Seventeenth century, South Buckinghamshire had long been a

"Mercy Seasons Justice"

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Shakespeare's plea that mercy seasons justice has found expression in much of our best literature, notably in the character of Jean Valjean in Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables." Try however hard he would to reinstate himself in society, the fact that Jean Valjean had spent nineteen years in prison, marked him as a man to be both feared and distrusted. When he left the prison, after having paid the penalty for his crime, he was given a yellow passport which described him as "a very dangerous man." Justice would have its pound of flesh regardless of its cruel workings upon a sensitive conscience. The fact that Jean Valjean had not only paid the price demanded by justice, but had the ability to make good and was actually achieving that end, had no influence whatever upon what the courts of France regarded as the imperial rights of the law.

Occasionally we learn of a counterpart of the story of Jean Valjean enacted in real life. Recently public opinion was aroused and did not hesitate to express itself in many editorial columns regarding the pursuit, for six years, by prison officials of the state of Ohio, of a man, who in a time of distress, stole a typewriter. Confessing his guilt he was sent to a reformatory, being only nineteen years of age, from which he escaped. Having pondered deeply upon the more serious aspect of life and the opportunities offered to youth with ability, he decided he was a fool, and would begin life all over again. Specializing in the field of advertising he obtained a thorough education, and rapidly rose to one of the most important positions in the firm with which he was connected. But, "Justice" was in search of its prey, and was finally repaid for its tremendous cost of six years of travel by cunning detectives, which the taxpayers of Ohio had to pay, by recovering its fugitive in a lucrative position and living a life which was in every way an asset to the community. When the prison authorities demanded, in the name of justice, the return of the fugitive to prison who were not surprised to read that the firm for whom he worked remarked, "All of the resources of this company will be available to fight against his return to prison."

Why punish crime? There can be but one intelligent answer, for the protection of society. When that has been accomplished, let justice be seasoned with mercy.

Insects Are Classified

Practically all of the insects known to man are classified by scientists either as injurious or beneficial to man. The numbers of those falling under each classification are about equal.

The Household

By Lydia Le Baron Walker

Crocheted Motifs Are in Gay-Colored Yarns on Linen.

THE fact that crochet is a popular style of needlecraft today is evidenced by the appearance of a distinctive embroidery having separate crocheted motifs on linen bureau scarfs and table covers, chair backs and arm pieces. The motifs, while not joined by any stitchery, are so positioned that they form an interrupted border. The material for the foundation is heavy toweling, preferably not white, but some shade which is more common to craft work, such as twine color, wood tones, the gray of old tree trunks, etc.

None of the tones are pronounced. They are not strong enough to be called colors, just tints or tones. While there is no reason why pronounced colors should not be employed, if the worker prefers, there is a beauty of textile texture in the delicate shades that artists have chosen for the development of this unique embroidery.

Motifs and Stitchery.

The medium in which the motifs are crocheted is wool. Two ply is advised, but Shetland and Iceland wools are appropriate. In each instance the wool is not of threadlike fineness, but rather sturdy. It is the combination of colored wool yarns of these styles with linen which lends distinction to the novel needlework. The crocheted motifs are square, round, oval or oblong. They may be in double crochet stitch, as seen in some of the squares. They may be in triple crochet as found in some of the circles. The work has a softness through stitchery being rather loose, not close, but the looseness must be even and regular. It is not tight, and fine. It is important to realize the style crochet needle twice, put needle through hole in circle, catch yarn, draw through two strands, catch yarn again, draw through two more, catch yarn and draw through last two strands. Repeat each stitch of the triple crochet, (omitting the chain stitches), until a full circle of triple crochet stitches is made. Slip stitch final stitch through last of the chain stitches at beginning of circle. This completes one motif, unless the worker wishes to make a round of slip stitches of single crochet about the edge of the circle.

These circles are made of one color or of several different colors to give a rainbow effect. Each circle is sewed around its edge to the hemmed scarf. A space equal to the diameter of the circle is left between circles which form thus, the interrupted border.

Monster Alligator Has Inhabitants in Terror

Clarksdale, Miss.—Blue Dick, a dreaded alligator, has renewed his terror around Eagle's Nest brake. Strange tales have been woven about this creature. He is said to have migrated from Swan lake into the brake about 50 years ago. Some say he is 14, and some, 15 feet long. He has been known to capture rowboats, and recently he held captive two inhabitants, Lee Green and Burdine Mosley, while they were at the brake giggering frogs.

came down from Cambridge for one summer vacation. The town near by of Slough, however, has become a thriving manufacturing center, spreading blocks of red brick housing units across the 'leas,' under the 'rugged elms' of the town's beloved country side. Fortunately a large field to the east of the town has already been purchased by the Penn-Gray society, and it is hoped that funds may be found to complete a setting circle of green.

Gene Wins Again

Gene Sarazen is the 1933 champion of the Professional Golfers' association, winning the title at the tournament at the Blue Mound Country club. The cup he is shown in his possession also received a storm center of religion. The Lollards were persecuted there during the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries, and likewise the Protestant martyrs of the Sixteenth century.

"Two miles beyond Jordan's is Chalfont St. Giles, where Milton stayed during the great London plague. His small stone cottage is carefully preserved, while his love for that part of England lives forever in 'L'Allegro' and 'Il Penseroso.'

"Buckinghamshire, one of England's smallest counties, lies inland just west and north of London. The winding Thames forms its southern boundary, and the equally winding Ouse circles it in the north. Across the county from southwest to northeast stretch the low, wooded slopes of the Chiltern hills.

"Because it is cut off from all sea trade, and because it has no mineral resources of value, the county has always remained primarily agricultural, despite its geographical nearness to London. More than half its entire area is in permanent grass, and cattle-raising forms the chief industry. The Vale of Aylesbury in particular is famous for its dairy farms. Wheat and fruit are also important crops.

Lace and Furniture Making. "Certain local industries, principally lace making and the manufacture of furniture, are still carried on. High Wycombe, largest town in the county, is well known for its fine chairs. It is also famous as the home of that great British statesman, Benjamin Disraeli, who is buried in the churchyard at Hughenden Manor.

"In Buckinghamshire, too, is Eton college, largest of England's public schools, those famous and ancient institutions, corresponding to American private preparatory schools for boys. Eton, which was founded by Henry VI in 1440, lies in the southern part of the county, just across the Thames from Windsor castle.

"In his 'Ode to the Distant Prospect of Eton college,' Gray, a loyal Etonian, describes 'Ye distant Spires, ye antique Towers,' rising beyond the shining curve of the Thames. From Windsor Bridge Eton's High street leads through a straggling village to the mellow brick buildings and shaded walks of the school. Beyond, on a branch of the Thames, is the Eton Playing field, where endless practice takes place before the great annual event at Lords—the Eton-Harrow cricket match."

Converted to Hinduism for Love

A dramatic moment at Chalk Farm, London, as the former Miss Jessie Womack, a British girl, was converted to Hinduism. At the left, seated, is Mr. G. S. Patkar, son of a famous Bombay (India) millionaire, whom the English girl married about a year ago. At the right is Doctor Moonge, president of the Hindu Maha Sabha, who is applying the red mark of caste on the forehead of the girl, to start the long ritual. She has taken all the vows and is now a full-fledged Hindu.

To experience the pleasure good things bring, two things are essential. First, the person must recognize the blessing, and he must rejoice in it. Second, he must be content with what he has. It must be seen as a blessing, and he must be delighted in it. It is scarcely possible to be happy over a blessing, unless he recognizes it. Unfortunately there are thousands of persons who are blind to the things of life, but have keys for each smallest misfortune. They live lives of apprehension, of days and sleepless nights, not because they fail to have good things happen to them, but just because they fail to recognize such things. Those who would experience happiness will find they must look for blessings. This is no mere vague statement. It is a positive fact. Mechanical aid to happiness through recognition of pleasant occurrences, the keeping of a line-a-day book, in which those things only which make for happiness are set down. Let the day go by without jotting down something good which has been recognized as such. Do not be discouraged if some days are lean, especially at first. Gradually the appreciation of blessings grows. This will be found true partly because the mind comes to see the good with clearer vision, and partly because it will be discovered that what seemed a small blessing had far-reaching results for good in later developments. A sharpening of one's blessings brings its sure reward in happiness.

ORDER DECLARING RESULTS OF LOCAL OPTION ELECTION
The State of Texas,
County of Donley.
On this 29th day of August, A.
D 1933 the Commissioners Court of said county being called and convened in special session for the purpose of canvassing the votes and certifying the results of an election heretofore held on the 26th day of August A D 1933 to determine whether or not the sale of beer containing not more than three and two-tenths per centum (3.2%) of alcohol by weight should be prohibited or permitted in Donley county, Texas; and a quorum being present, this court proceeded to canvass the votes and certify the results of said election; and it appearing to the court that said election was in all things held in conformity with law, and in accordance with an order, heretofore and on the 7th day of August A D 1933, made by this court ordering said election; and it further appearing and being satisfactorily shown to the court that copies of said order were posted by the County Clerk of said county in the manner and form and for the length of time required by law, this court does hereby make and enter its order declaring the result of said election and finds upon canvassing the votes thereof, the voters at said election voted and cast their votes as follows, to wit:
372 to permit and "For the sale
of beer containing not more than
three and two tenths per centum
(3.2%) of alcohol by weight."
670 to prohibit and "Against the sale of beer containing not more than three and two tenths per centum (3.2%) of alcohol by weight"
And as a consequence the court

result of the sale of beer containing not more than three and two tenths per centum (3.2%) of alcohol by weight, and upon this order's becoming effective as provided for by law, shall be prohibited in said county.
It is therefore declared, ordered and decreed by this court that said election failed to carry and a majority of the voters, who cast their ballots and voted therein, voted "Against the sale of beer containing not more than
three and two tenths per centum (3.2%) of alcohol by weight," and upon this order's becoming effective as provided by law, the sale
of beer containing not more than
three and two tenths per centum (3.2%) of alcohol by weight shall be prohibited in said county; and it is further ordered that this decree be entered of record as the law requires; and that this order be published for four successive weeks in some newspaper
published in Donley county, Texas.

YOU CAN'T DENY IT, MOTORISTS!
THIS NEW KIND OF TIRE IS 3 TIMES SAFER FROM BLOW-OUTS.

No extra cost to public for new life-saving invention!

PERHAPS you have been using some other good brand of tire. If it has given you good service you naturally feel loyal to it. But loyalty to your family and friends comes first. Investigation shows that the chances are better than even you'll have a blow-out some day. And every year thousands are killed or injured when blow-outs throw cars out of control.

New Invention Prevents Cause of Blow-Outs

Would you knowingly take this terrible risk with precious lives, when it can now be avoided at no extra cost? To prevent just such tragedies Goodrich has built into every new Silvertown Tire the amazing Golden Ply. This life-saving invention resists the terrific heat INSIDE THE TIRE that causes blow-outs. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming their CAUSE.

Yet this new "3 times safer" tire costs not a penny more than any other standard tire! Can you afford to be without them, when your life and others might any day DEPEND on this extra protection? Come in and let us show you this new kind of tire... take advantage of today's still low prices.

Market Only Once a Week... and Save Money with Electric Refrigeration

Each week you probably realize a few small savings by buying groceries at week-end special prices. Why not apply this economy to all the groceries you buy? It can be done!

With modern Electric Refrigeration—which assures safe preservation of perishable foods at all times—you can safely buy in quantities sufficient to last the entire week and secure ALL your foods at a discount amounting to more than 20 per cent!

Just think what this saving will mean to you every month... and you will have to market only once a week!

The safe, constant, dependable refrigeration supplied by the new Frigidaire makes this economical practice possible. For Frigidaire automatically maintains the constant cold of less than fifty degrees necessary for safe refrigeration! No trouble on your part... no danger of forgetting and suffering losses from spoilage... everything convenient, safe and healthful.

Ask a trained representative for amazing facts and figures proving how the new Frigidaire "pays for itself." Present prices are extremely low, and terms most convenient. Don't hesitate... drop in at our Merchandise Show-room today.

Asks Wheat Acreage Reduction—Campaign Among the Consumers—Raymond Moley's Resignation—Washington for Repeal.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WHEAT farmers of the nation, in order to receive federal cash under the domestic allotment must agree to reduce their 1934 wheat acreage by 15 per cent. This was the announcement made by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace...

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE Wallace selected Secretary of the Interior Ickes to be administrator for the oil industry and then selected the other 14 members of the planning and conservation committee to assist Mr. Ickes in this work.

THE PRESIDENT also took steps to relax the gold embargo for the benefit of the mine owners. He issued two orders, one allowing the sale in foreign markets of gold mined in the United States and the other stringently binding the anti-boarding regulations to safeguard the national supply.

Both Professor Moley and Secretary of State Hull denied that the former resignation was caused by the disagreements between the two gentlemen...

Washington.—Secretary Wallace's plan for sending this little pig and that little pig and another little pig to market has caused so many pigs to go to market that the distinguished secretary has had to issue a warning against shipping so many of them at this time.

Without passing on the merits of the scheme which Mr. Wallace and his advisers worked out, it is being cited vigorously in a good many quarters, it must be remembered there has been a violent change in America's position with respect to its surplus hog products.

Meanwhile, hog and corn production has gone on here at the old rate and we just have no place to send the surplus.

As every one knows, much of the corn raisers' success depends upon the extent to which corn is fed to hogs. This condition is accentuated these days because not so many years ago about 11,000,000 horses and mules more than now exist were eating corn.

Washington is trying, as we said above, to reduce the potential marketing of hogs during the forthcoming marketing season and it believes that in so doing several important benefits will accrue to the growers of hogs, and they will accrue immediately.

So it is seen that the Department of Agriculture expects to accomplish an increase in hog prices by $1 or $1.50 over the present base price of about $4.50 per hundred.

per pound of the live sufficient funds, however, that a per pound on much more for ham and chops that grace Mr. Wallace's... that this emergency be repeated. He plan eration at once to a of a permanent char effect a more substan the number of sows th the future, a sort of idea. At the same time linked with the hog program, poses to work out some arra that will reduce the acrea It is quite obvious to an there was an artificial inc prices there would be an ex hog production in another Mr. Wallace is going to try that through birth control by causing an increase in the corn.

Decrease in Exports he is being co, ther than he is being ce, elized vigorously in a good many q, ters, it must be remembered there has been a violent change in America's position with respect to its surplus hog products.

It is an extremely delicate balance that Mr. Wallace is seeking. It never has been found in all history and a rail fence opinion is that Mr. Wallace won't find it. On the other hand, there never has been in history a situation so complex as that through which we have been passing and supporters of the idea now being put into operation by the government contend it is the only way out.

But there is an "institution" associated with noon in Washington that probably has no counterpart elsewhere. Where other cities have their factory whistles and bells, Washington has its time ball.

Something more than half a century ago, some one conceived the idea of an official time signal under government auspices. Various methods of establishing such a signal were considered. At length, it was worked out and a staff was erected atop the east front of the great State department building and an arrangement perfected whereby a large gilded ball, visible for several miles, would be dropped from the top of this staff on the split-second of noon.

The ball is lifted into position by hand but the trigger that holds it is released by an electrical impulse sent at the instant the naval observatory, through its star-gazing scientists, decrees that noon has arrived. For many years, an electric wire ran direct from the observatory to the state building, but somehow the government forgot about its time ball and allowed a telegraph company to take over administration of it.

RAYMOND MOLEY, regarded as the "ace" of the Roosevelt brain trust, is no longer assistant secretary of state or in any other way connected with the administration.

President Von Hindenburg and Hitler attended a huge meeting of Germans at Tannenberg to celebrate the German victory there over the Russians, and the former, accepting as a gift from East Prussia a forest estate, said: "I am thinking with reverence, fidelity and gratitude of my kaiser, the king and lord, in this hour, when I am thinking also of my deceased comrades in arms, and when I proceed to thank you for the gift."

The chancellor, flying the same day to Niederwald, near the Saar frontier, told a crowd of 200,000 that Germany would never give up the Saar. At the time of the latter demonstration there was a secret meeting of Nazi chieftains to whom Saar State Counciller Simon said:

"Wherever the German language is spoken, wherever German blood runs in the veins, greater Germany extends. We will not be content just with the Saar. The German language is spoken as far west as Metz and Mulhouse. The Saar, Alsace, Lorraine and parts of Belgium and Holland formerly were German and the German character still lives there today in the people.

"Germany will no longer be a people of 60,000,000 inhabitants, but of 80,000,000. The conquest of the Saar will be the point of departure for other political successes on the western frontiers of Germany. The Nazi will not rest until this aim—a Germany of 80,000,000 inhabitants—has been achieved."

The Saar matter, which supposedly will be settled in 1935 by a plebiscite, especially interests France, which now holds the valuable basin. Significantly, Premier Daladier took occasion to inspect the vast new French frontier fortifications, the main works of which are about completed. This great chain of forts and tunnels is designed to protect France from a surprise invasion by Germany.

FRANCES Socialist party has a new wing, called "Neosocialist," and it won a startling victory in the convention of the second Internationale in Paris. The program of the Neosocialists is in many respects almost identical with President Roosevelt's "new deal," but it favors the gold standard and decries inflation. It is thus summarized by a Paris correspondent.

1. Balancing of the budget. 2. A "vast and inspiring" program of public works. 3. A 40-hour week without reducing salaries or unduly raising prices. 4. Extension of monopolies. 5. Reform of present parliamentary methods.

In Great Britain the Labor party is planning a return to power on a platform that also contains many of the Roosevelt policies. SENATOR RUEY LONG of Louisiana attained the front page again twice. First, at a charity party at the Sands Point Bath club on Long Island, he gave deep affront to an unnamed gentleman and in turn received a black eye. His explanation, quite incredible, was that he was "guzzled" by enemies. Thence he hurried to Milwaukee to address the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and he opened his speech with a virulent attack on the press reporters present because they had sought the truth about the former incident. For this the officers of the organization publicly apologized. It remains for them to explain why they ever invited the "Kingfish" to address them.

THIRTEEN deaths are to be laid to a storm in New Mexico. The Golden State Limited, a transcontinental passenger train, plunged through a weakened bridge into arroyo near Tucuman, eight persons being killed and many injured. During the same storm a night mail airplane transport plane crashed against Mesa mountain not far from Quay, and the two pilots and the passengers perished.

Two pursuit training planes collided in mid air over Randolph field, San Antonio, Texas, two cadets and an instructor losing their lives. Another instructor landed with his parachute intact.

"BUY under the blue eagle" was the slogan with which Administrator Hugh Johnson opened the drive to persuade the entire nation to give its full support to the war. The cry was taken up by an army of a million and a half volunteers who started out to canvass the farms of the country, to tell the farmers in the last three years and a certificate of the elevator or railroad official who bought the wheat.

General Johnson warned the people "even a shadow" of boycott, intimidation and violence would wreck the whole endeavor; but he insisted confining one's patronage to dealers by the blue eagle would not only justify but necessary to the campaign's success.

FRANCIS EASTMAN, who as federal administrator of transportation the hardest job in the advertising is promoting a freight program. This would be a contribution toward the increasing of employment—as it undoubtedly would. He has asked the executives of class 1 railroads to make a thorough canvass of existing freight car equipment and to submit at the earliest practicable date their views as to the repair or retirement of worn-out and obsolete cars.

The railroads are asked to submit their recommendations for repairs and retirements of each year up to and including 1938 with the average cost for each car. Mr. Eastman wants the railroads to retire and destroy or rehabilitate thousands of cars whose period of service has expired. He also asks to reconsider the voluntary restriction on their own lines of traction and cars of heavy passenger also restricted.

TEA and conversation were all that Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, observed when he visited President Roosevelt at Hyde Park. He was accompanied by George L. Harrison, governor of the New York federal reserve bank, and he hoped to talk about stabilization of the currency. But there were various other guests present, and still more dropped in during the afternoon—and Mr. Roosevelt had no desire to talk about stabilization or any allied matters. So it was just pleasant social affair, and Mr. Norman left early.

The eminent Londoner, however, had a number of conferences with financial men, including Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, and monetary problems were discussed, but the suits, if any, were not made public.

ot only roosters but also other ses of poor quality eggs should be guarded against, because the golden-yolked, middle-west eggs will bring a premium price on the markets if producers will give them proper care
and handling prior to selling.

His suggestions are:
"Feed a balanced ration and limit
the feeding to that ration.

"Gather eggs twice daily.
"Keep eggs in a cool, moderately dry place cooler than 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Cool eggs before placing them in the case.

"Eliminate dirty eggs by providing a nest for every six hens, by keeping the flock confined to the house until by keeping all broody hens off the nests and by keeping the house clean.

"Protect eggs from heat and sun

"Market eggs twice a week.

"Sort eggs according to size and color of shell.

"Sell to dealers properly equipped to handle eggs."

State College Poultry Department Sells Meat

The poultry department at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., sold solid chicken meat to its egg customers in disposing of several hundred eight-week-old broilers at the end of a feeding experiment. The method is recommended by L. M. Hurd to poultrymen in localities where the meat can be retailed.

The broilers were killed and skinned,
and only the breasts, thighs, livers, gizzards and hearts were sold. One man usually killed and stripped from eight to ten birds an hour. At twenty-five cents an hour the cost was about three cents a pound, and moved readily, he says. A two-pound broiler brought about thirty cents, or about the cost of growing a broiler. The shrinkage from the live weight was about 54 per cent.

It is unnecessary, Professor Hurd points out, to wait until the broilers weigh two pounds, for they can be killed any time after they weigh a half-pound. It is more profitable, he says, to sell broilers as solid chicken meat than to kill and bury the cockers as soon as the sex can be determined, as many poultrymen did this year.

Disinfect Laying House

Twice a year has been recommended as the proper number of times to thoroughly disinfect the laying house; once a month would be better. It is next to impossible to properly disinfect an earth floor. With a concrete floor and cheap spray outfit, an extra half hour after cleaning out the litter will be ample time to make a thorough job of disinfecting.

Poultry Notes

An attempt to obtain production of larger eggs by culling hens at a hatchery in Fort Atkinson, Wis., brought results when a Rhode Island Red laid an egg which weighed a quarter of a pound.

Shade is important. Sometimes one can provide natural shade, but in other cases artificial shade may be necessary. Besides plenty of shade, be sure that the poultry house has proper ventilation.

One reason why some farm flocks do not lay more eggs is because they are not given sufficient water to drink.

A truckload of capons, turkeys and chickens, was sent to the Philadelphia market recently by 42 Yadkin county (N. C.) farmers at a net profit of $397.04 to the growers.

No permanent laying house should be built without consideration as to best type of soil, drainage, and sufficient land back and front so that rotation of yards may be practiced.

Victory was certain. Eric had his back turned, and could not whirl in time. The tribesmen had let their guard fall...

There were a cut half-second too late. Nan's view was full of Eric's shoulders—she could not see, and she could not save...

Three of them buzzed and stung. One struck the killer in the left side, one in the right, and a third, entering the back at close range...

Yet it happened that neither Eric nor Nan glanced twice in that direction. Eric gathered the dying girl's head in his arms...

Eric nodded, but he could not speak. "Now you no stay here, when Fireheart gone. She no want come back in winter midnight..."

SYNOPSIS

A pretty young woman finds herself in a taxicab in New York with a strange man who addresses her as 'Rocky'...

And why? Why, in heaven's name why? She asked herself excitedly. A man she had never seen...

There were several reasons. First, if she were married to Rocky she couldn't be married to the man in the cab...

So she whipped her tired brain, accused herself guiltily hour after hour. How many days passed in this way...

"You must not excite yourself, Doris," she exclaimed. "You are feeling almost well, are you not, dear Doris?"

"No, no. Not yet. Do not get excited, Doris," she repented. Mrs. Du Val sat herself down in a chair...

"I have for you a surprise," said Mrs. Du Val. "That ought to make me feel quite well," said Doris, trying to be amiable...

not alarmed. "No," Doris, breathless for a minute, sat down at the foot of the bed...

"I didn't understand. When did he—?" she fastened gradually awakening eyes on the maid. "—will you bring me—no, never mind, thank you. That will be all..."

The day passed slowly. She was living in an inner stillness that was beyond fear. If Rocky turned out not to be her husband—but that just couldn't be...

Fate had taken her to the Biltmore. Surely it could not prove unkind now that Rocky was actually on his way here.

Mrs. Du Val came in for the last time. "Ah, Doris, I have news that should make you feel strong and happy. Rocky's boat got in this morning..."

"Yes, dear, that will be best. You must rest quietly. Besides, I know young people like best to be alone when they meet after a long separation."

As Doris was still silent she came up her and whispered: "Do not fear. I know that you and Rocky have not been—ah—shall we say—no, we will say nothing. It is only a lover's quarrel between you, dear. You must not take it so hard..."

She heard the sound of a car in the driveway at last. From the window she saw a tall young man leaping out. Oscar Du Val was there. She heard

TANTON GETS DEATH SENTENCE AT TULIA

Ed (Perchmont) Stanton, who with Glenn Hunsucker had been indicted for the murder of Sheriff John Mosley of Swisher county, last January, was convicted and given the death penalty by a jury in the district court at Tulia last Friday.

Hunsucker was killed in a battle with officers in New Mexico several weeks ago.

Mrs Art Gamble, formerly Miss Nella Mai Farris, Mrs Clio Hilton and little son Ray, and little Miss Mabel Jean Porter, of Borger, spent the past week in the R L Farris home.

Claud Nash Jr and his brother-in-law made a business trip to Amarillo this week.
