

THE HEDLEY INFORMER

VOL XXIV

HEDLEY, DONLEY COUNTY TEXAS MARCH 9, 1934

NO. 18

Listerine

Prices Lowest In History

LARGE SIZE . . . 75c
MEDIUM SIZE . . . 50c
SMALL SIZE . . . 25c

Hedley Drug Co.

THE REXALL STORE

This Store is a Pharmacy

This Store Will Be Open

SATURDAY

COME IN AND SEE US

Watch for our Specials on Saturday, March 17

We will have PLENTY OF MERCHANDISE At Low Prices

Mitchell's Store

A. H. Said, Prop.

If you need a Spring Tonic try

W. H. BULL'S

Herbs and Iron

A Stomach Tonic and Appetizer

A Preparation which Stimulates the Appetite and Exerts a Stomach-ache Influence. In addition it acts upon the bowels as a mild laxative. Suitable alike for young and elderly people when an Iron Tonic of this kind is indicated.

Wilson Drug Co.

Where You Are Always Welcome

PHONE 63

MAX McCLURE DIES

Max L. McClure, owner of the Ritz Theatre at Memphis, passed away Friday, Feb. 23, at that city after an illness of about eight days. Funeral services were held Sunday, Feb. 25, at the Presbyterian church.

Mr. McClure had lived in Memphis since 1931. The Informer had many business dealings with him and found him always courteous, prompt in meeting his obligations, and in every way a gentleman.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter and one sister.

VOLUNTEER BAND

The Volunteer Band from Wayland College, Plainview, will be at Lela Lake Saturday night and will give a program. They will be at Hedley Sunday at the First Baptist Church for both morning and night services.

These programs are always very interesting and instructive, as well as inspirational, and will benefit all who attend.

The public is invited to come out and hear these young people.

Ladies new Spring hats, good style and good prices. B. & R. Variety Store.

Mrs. R. B. Adams of Childress was attending to business in Hedley Tuesday.

F. A. Finch and U. B. Leach were business visitors in Clarendon Monday.

NOTICE

If you owe me please settle your account at once and oblige.

I helped you when you needed me. I owed what you owe me. John W. Fitzgerald, Chiropractor, Memphis, Texas.

FOR SALE—Team and tools, Pace for rent. See 17-3t. T. W. Bain.

TO MY FRIENDS & PATRONS

This is to notify you and the public that I had printed and distributed a circular good for 10c in trade at my service station. I now find this is in violation of the code for the Petroleum Industry and I cannot make them good and ask any that have them in their possession will please return them to me.

L. H. Cordray

Chickens - - - Turkeys

Don't wait and have Diseased Fowls from Worms—and Losses from Blood-Sucking Lice, Mites, Fleas and Blue Bugs this Spring. Begin now to give STAR PARASITE REMOVER in their drinking water, for both Fowls and Baby Chicks. It will keep them free of these destructive Parasites, their system toned up, their health and egg production good at a very small cost—or money refunded, Wilson Drug Co. 17-12t

4 1/2 PER CENT MONEY

TO LOAN on Donley County Farms and Ranches. C. L. JOHNSON, Sec. Treas. Hedley National Farm Loan Association.

NOTICE

PHONE NO. 28 For Wrecker Service Rep-ir Work, Welding and Blacksmithing of all kinds.

BOZEMAN GARAGE

PHONE 28

TOMMIE LOU DOUTHIT

Little Tommie Lou Douthit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Douthit, passed away March 4th at the family home northwest of Hedley.

She was two years, ten months and seventeen days old, and was ill only a short time.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon in the home, by Rev. A. V. Hendricks, after which the little body was tenderly laid to rest in Rowe cemetery.

She is survived by her parents and one brother.

The Informer extends sympathy to the bereaved ones.

BRASWELL TO SPEAK

Editor Sam Braswell, of the Clarendon News, will address the student body at the school house Friday morning, Mar. 9th at 9:00 o'clock. Come out and hear him.

NOTICE OF CITY ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that an election has been called in the City of Hedley, Texas, on the first Tuesday in April, 1934, the same being the 3rd day of April, 1934, for the purpose of electing a Mayor and five (5) Aldermen to serve the City of Hedley for the coming year.

By order of the City Council L. E. Thompson, Mayor of the City of Hedley, Texas; J. P. Devine, City Secretary.

Mrs. Zeb Mitchell and John, and Mrs. B. L. Howard, attended the regional basket ball tournament in Canyon last Friday.

Superintendent S. R. Steele attended the Washington program of the Masonic Lodge at Clarendon, Friday night Feb. 23.

Mrs. Joe McCluskey of Trockmorton is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. Z. Sherman.

NOTICE

Final sign up day for Donley County on the hog and corn contracts will be Thursday Mar. 15. County Allotment Committee.

CUSTOM HATCHING

Baby Chicks. We buy Poultry and Cream. Walker Hatchery & Produce.

NOTICE

When in need of radio or electrical work or plumbing Call at Walker's Hatchery or phone 81. All work guaranteed.

EVERY DAY SPECIALS

Flour, 48 lb. Guar. $1.59
Pepper, Black, 1-2 lb. 19c
Lye, Hooker, 3 for 25c
Cocoa, 2 lb. 25c

COFFEE

Bright & Early, 3 lb 59c
Bulk, 2 lb. 25c
Texan, 4 lb. 89c

Oats, Crystal Wedding 19c
Oats, Mother's 25c
Oats, White Swan 13c

WAKEFIELD GROCERY

Sell Us Your Produce

For 18 Years

We have served the people of Hedley.

Today we have greater values than ever before.

There must be a reason.

Try Us

Barnes & Hastings Grocery Co.

PHONE 21

CHUNN & BOSTON

Friday--SPECIALS-- Saturday

FLOUR

Flour, Kansas Cream, 48 lb $1.68
Flour, Carnation, 48 lb. $1.88

Snowdrift, 6 lb. pail 79c
Ovaltine, 50c size 39c
Jello, per pkg. 9c

OATS

Oats, Brimfull, pkg. 14c
Oats, Mother's, with china 23c

Pineapple, 9 oz. can 9c
Apricots, No. 1 can 15c
Honey, Pure Comb, gal. $1.19
Cheese, Longhorn, 2 lb. 38c

COFFEE

Coffee, W. P., 1 lb. 29c
Coffee, White Swan, 2 lb. jar 69c
Coffee, Bright & Early, 1 lb. 29c

Bring us your Cream, Poultry & Hides Phone 48

A Year With Our President

On March 4, 1933 President Roosevelt stepped into the White House, and since things have happened thick and fast.

This institution has co-operated as near as possible to the President's plan of recovery, and we feel that we and our community have profited thereby.

Statement of Condition	Mar. 4, 1933	Mar. 4, 1934
Loans.....	$104,311.75	$69,065.75
Overdrafts.....	364.57	141.15
Banking House, Furn. & Fixt...	7,345.69	7,000.00
Other Real Estate.....	10,001.00	10,001.00
Live Stock Account.....	2,742.16	296.75
Temporary Fed. Dep. Ins. Fund		308.60
Cash and Quick Assets.....	13,245.21	103,979.15
Total Resources.....	138,010.42	190,792.35
Capital.....	$35,000.00	$35,000.00
Capital Debentures Sold.....		25,000.00
Surplus and Profits.....	5,694.57	3,635.25
Borrowed Money.....	41,896.56	None
Deposits.....	55,419.29	127,157.10
Total Liabilities.....	138,010.42	190,792.35

SECURITY STATE BANK
HEDLEY, TEXAS

THE HEDLEY INFORMER

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY
Mrs. Ed C. Boliver, Owner
Edward Boliver, Editor and Publisher

Entered as second class matter
October 20, 1919, at the postoffice at Hedley, Texas, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

NOTICE—Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Informer will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

All obituaries, resolutions of respect, cards of thanks, advertising of church or society doings, when admission is charged, will be treated as advertising and charged for accordingly.

COFFINS, CASKETS

UNDER TAKERS' SUPPLIES

Licensed Embalmer and Auto
Hearse at Your Service
Day phone 24
Night phone 40

MOREMAN HARDWARE

Huffman's Barber Shop

Expert Tonsorial Work, Shave,
Chair, Hot and Cold Baths
You will be pleased with our service. Try it.

W. H. Huffman, Prop.

O. E. Dickinson

DENTIST

HEDLEY, TEXAS

Office at Hedley Drug Co.

I. W. WEBB, M. D.

Physician and Surgeon
Hedley, Texas

Office Phone 8
Residence Phone 20

Dr. F. V. Walker

General Practice.
Female Diseases - Specialty
Residence Phone 5
Office with Wilson Drug Co.
Hedley, Texas

ADAMSON-LANE POST 287 AMERICAN LEGION

meets on the first Fridays in each month

HEDLEY LODGE NO. 991

A. P. and A. M.
meets on the 2nd Thursday night
in each month

All members are urged to attend
Visitors are welcome.
W. C. Bridges, W. M.
C. E. Johnson, Sec.

Good PACKAGE
COFFEE

TEXAS LARGEST STORE

RURAL TOURNAMENT

Under direction of Mr. Dave Waldron, county chairman of basket ball, all the rural schools of the county met in a tournament at Hedley last Friday and Saturday.

Twelve schools, most of them with two teams each, both boys and girls were present with their coaches, and there was a continuous game going on from ten o'clock Friday morning until eleven o'clock Saturday night.
Many of the visitors never left building all day. Meats were served at the building.

The county demonstrated that it had some excellent basket ball teams. The enthusiasm of the spectators was at high pitch a great part of the time.

Ashtoria boys team won in the finals as did the Leila Lake girls team.

Hedley was glad to have the young people here and shall welcome them at any time.

MALONE-ADAMSON

Miss Thelma Adamson and Mr. Dalton Malone of this city, were united in marriage Monday night, March 5th at McKnight, Rev. W. H. DeBord officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Adamson, and has grown to young womanhood in Hedley. She was member of this year's Senior class.

The groom is the son of Mrs.
John Malone, and is engaged in farming north of Hedley.

Both are quite popular, and the Informer joins the many friends of the couple in wishing them happiness in the future.

Now is the time to plant that garden. We have the seed
B. & B. Variety Store.

1919 STUDY CLUB

The 1919 Study Club was delightfully entertained Wednesday Feb. 25th at the home of Mrs. Alva Simmons. The program subject was—Economic Importance of South America.

Products of S. A. Roll Call Resources and our dependence on food stuff and raw material—
Mrs. Nowlin.

Rivalry with European Countries for Commerce—Mrs.
Watt.

European Immigration—Mrs.
Simmons.

Growth in Trade between U. S. and S. A.—Mrs. Howard.

Following the program delicious refreshments were served. Mesdames: Kinslow, West-berry, C. E. Johnson, G. L. Johnson, Watt, Beaty, Howard, Nowlin, Hooker, Webb, P. V. Dishman Spalding, Kutch and guests.
Mrs. M. E. Wells and Mrs. P. L.
Dishman.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

The State of Texas
County of Donley

To those indebted to or holding claims against the estate of
W. E. Mullins and Emma B.
Mullins, deceased husband and wife.

The undersigned having been duly appointed administrator of the estate of W. E. and Emma B. Mullins, deceased husband and wife, late of Donley County, Texas; by S. W. Lowe, Judge of the County Court of said County on the 30th day of January, A. D. 1934 during a regular term thereof, hereby notifies all persons indebted to said estate to come forward and make settlement and those having claims against said estate to present them to him within the time prescribed by law at his residence in Donley County, Texas; that he receives his mail
at Hedley in Donley County, Texas.

This 25th day of February,
A. D. 1934.

J. G. McDaugh

A YEAR WITH ROOSEVELT FOR OUR LEADER

One year ago Roosevelt had just been inaugurated as our President and immediately afterwards a nation wide Bank holiday was declared. Everything was at a standstill and our farmers commodities at a low figure.
Since that date our cotton has increased over 100% in value, feed prices have doubled and livestock prices are improving. Our people are today looking forward while one year ago they had practically lost all hope.

We believe that our people in Donley County are in better condition financially than for a number of years and now have an opportunity of going forward with a hope of receiving some reward for their labors.

Else where in this issue you will notice the advertisement of the Security State Bank, reflecting their condition as of Mar. 4, 1933 and Mar. 4, 1934, which speaks well of the financial progress made in one year's time.

You will notice that our bank has strengthened its capital structure by selling $25,000.00 capital debentures. This will give them a working capital of $60,000.00 which is in line with the Presidents plan to increase the capital of all banks, and thus more enable them to take care of the community's needs. As extra protection they are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation which is also in line with the Presidents plan.

We, for ourselves, our community and our nation feel grateful to have had so able a leader in President Roosevelt.

Contributed

SCHOOL NEWS

Thursday of last week the Hedley Owlets met the Wellinton girls there. After a rough and tumble fight the Owlets came out victorious. Yea Team.

Saturday nite the Owlets entertained the Wellington girls on the home floor.

Both teams worked hard but the best team won, the scores were Owlets 25 Wellington 15.

The Hedley Owlets entered the tournament at Canyon last week end. Their first game was with Lamesa, and they were defeated twelve points. Their next game was with Amarillo and they were again defeated. We are still proud of our boys, and we still believe they are one of the best teams Hedley has ever had.
Out of about 30 games played only 6 were lost.

JOHN W. FITZGARRALD

Chiropractor

13th year in Memphis

PHONE 462

Lady in Office

Drink

because
IT TASTES BETTER

MOBLEY-GRESSENS

The following information was obtained from the Amarillo Sun day News Globe of March 4th.

Miss Maurice Gressens and Mr. William E. Mobley were united in marriage at high noon last Sunday at the home of the bride, 506 Mississippi street.

Rev. R. N. Huckabee, pastor of San Jacinto Methodist church officiated.

The groom is the son of Mrs.
R. R. Mobley, formerly of Hedley.

Mr. Mobley is connected with the Nichols Cleaning and Dyeing Company of Las Vegas, New Mex., where they will make their home.

The many Hedley friends of the groom wish them much happiness.

ATTENDS LIONS' MEET

Sam M. Braswell, Claradon Newspaper publisher, has just returned from a trip to Chicago where he attended a meeting of the board of directors of the International Lions club. He is one of 14 directors on the board and the only one from Texas.

Braswell has just completed a tour of South Texas Lions clubs before going to Chicago.

—Wichita Daily Times

Miss Anne Ruth Mitchell was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Clifton Jarrett, in Canyon last week end.

Miss Gertrude Boliver returned to Dallas Saturday night, after an extended visit with the Informer family.

ATTENTION

Hedley has a Beauty Parlor with licensed operator of sever-years experience; equipped with permanent machine, hair dryer, etc., and the latest equipmenfor coiffures, per $2.00 and up.

Please patronize your hemishoppe. Thank you
Mrs. Leon Montgomery, Prop.

W. M. SOCIETY

The Womens Missionary Society of the M. E. church met at the church Monday, Mar. 5, with 7 members present and one visitor present. Some of the standbys were absent, looking after sick people. We hope this necessity will soon pass so we may have a full attendance.

After attending to the business of the afternoon the study of the book of Second Kings was completed.

Next Monday at 8 p. m. we have a lesson from The World Outlook (Missionary Voice)

These lessons are always of interest and we think worthwhile.

What might we say to induce those who never come to these meetings to attend one? If we knew what appeal to make that would be effective we would certainly do so. It is to your interest to come. Won't you meet with us next Monday at the church?

WORLD FRIENDS CLUB

The World Friend Club met last Friday afternoon at 3:45 at the Methodist church. There were five present and we hope to have more next time. We have started a contest and every one is invited to come and join us. The following program will be given at our next meeting.

Leader: Yvonna Meeks.

Two songs

Hundredth Psalm, Doris Merle

Everett.

Shima, Mary Lane Hendricks.

Near Dance, Norma Gene

Bart.

Murog Proves Himself, Jonnie

Merle Platt.

Lords Prayer

WIFEADOS CLUB

The Wifeados club met with Mrs. R. E. Newman Tuesday,
Feb. 27 in their regular meeting.
Because of inclement weather only eleven members were present. Mrs. Ross Adamson presided. After transacting the business for the afternoon, Mrs.
Whiteside reported for the committee on a candidate meeting.
As soon as their arrangements are completed they will give us an early date, so please watch for time, place and program. Mrs.
Crawford was leader for the afternoon. The following program was rendered.

Song, America, by club. Roll call responded to by naming a prominent American woman.

The life of Helen Keller, Mrs.
Duncan. Short talks on "The Heroine of the Hilltop" were given by Mesdames Newman, Whiteside and Maness. A duet by Mesdames Adamson and Crawford was enjoyed by all.

The next meeting will be with
Mrs. Beaty Mar. 13 at 2 p. m.

Subject, Vegetables in the diet.
Leader, Mrs. Newman. Roll call
My Favorite Green Vegetable.
Value of Vegetables in the Diet,
Mrs. Steen. Demonstration,
Escalloped cabbage, Mrs. Noel.
Carrots and peas, Mrs. Whiteside.

We must have cash for mds., to sell at the prices offered you
B. & B. Variety Store.

SENIOR B. Y. P. U.

Topic "Preparedness a Major Emphasis of the Kingdom"
Scripture Reading—Group
Captain.

The Setting of the Parable of the Ten Virgins—Opal Heath.
The Parable Itself—Pauline Caldwell.

Character contrasted—Homer Richerson.

Character revealed in the Crisis Hour—Edna Mae Smith.

Character of Non Transferable —Chester Hill.

Lost Opportunities Cannot Be Recalled—Louisa Moore.

BARGAIN RATES

ON

THE AMARILLO NEWS

By Mail

3 months

$1.35

6 months

$2.50

Subscribe At This Office

SHE TALKED IN HER SLEEP

By COSMO HAMILTON

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WNU Service

PALLION caught his breath. The crucial words of the telephone message were—"Hospital, Bar Harbor. . . . Come at once, your wife. . . ."

A quiet even voice. "Yes. Your wife has been brought in. A motor accident. Insensible at present—conclusion of the brain. We telephoned at once. Her name was on her bag and I knew that you were at North-east Harbor because I saw you there. I regret to say that Mr. Cardonald is in a very critical state."

A cloud of white dust followed Pallion down the road. "Hospital—come at once—your wife. . . ." In the incessant repetition of these six ghastly words Cardonald found no place. Cardonald. . . . critical state? Why drag that in? What earthly connection was there between Judy and this man? For the whole of that month he had been, it was true, at the bathing pool every day, but it was noticed that he had behaved himself very well for once. He had made no dead set at any particular girl but had spread his undoubted charm and pleasantry out thin.

To the dinners at his cottage every one had gone, and although he had danced many times with Judy many of the other girls had been his partners too. It was true that Judy had selected him as the butt for her chaff and made use of him as the carrier of her things. Wherever she went there was always such a man who was only too glad to be appointed to the job. With a frank acceptance of a somewhat doubtful joy—it carried obligations and requirements which were often a bore—it amused her on dull days or after exercise to play the classic part. With it went, of course, the usual small rewards—the lingering hand-clasp, the sudden tender look, all merely traditional with the beauty role. Several times during his year of marriage Tom had seen these things. They had been openly performed and jokingly discussed. Honesty was Judy's middle name.

Imagination having preceded the hard-pushed car Tom parked it a little distance from the building, into which he rushed. He was shown into a room about which he moved in zig-zags in order that he might dodge the figure of fear. He was no moral coward, but the girl upstairs was the wife with whom he considered himself to be still on his honeymoon. What was a year in a rapidly passing life?

The doctor held out his hand. "She's still unconscious," he said. "But I've known cases of concussion where unconsciousness has run into several days and sometimes longer than that. There are no limbs broken and I can find no signs of internal injury—a miracle to me!"

"Is there any . . . ?" "Hope? Yes, yes, of course. She's young and in splendid condition. We must take great care, that's all."

The doctor's face was a blur. It was as though Tom saw it through a window wet with rain. "But of course we must keep her, until definite convalescence, absolutely ignorant, somehow, of the tragic end of her . . . friend."

"What friend?" "Cardonald. He's dead."

In the tidal wave of reaction from the terror of Judy's death, Cardonald's made only a dent in Tom's mind. Thank God for that good word hope. "When can I see her?" he asked. "How long will she be here? Will she be marked, do you think? . . . Cardonald dead? I'm sorry. But I don't quite see. . . . I mean, did my wife collide with his car or did he smash up hers?"

The doctor cleared his throat. "Sooner or later you must know the facts," he said, "and as usual it falls to me to disclose unpleasant things."

"Unpleasant?" "I was careful to use no stronger word than that."

"I don't understand," said Tom. "Your wife and Cardonald were in the same car, sir. I can tell you precisely what happened because I have it from the man who brought them in. He saw your wife and Cardonald leave his yacht together, with luggage; land, enter the car and with Cardonald driving turn up into the road."

"Coming off the yacht?" But Judy had said that she was going into Bar Harbor to dine and sleep at her aunt's. "Oh, I see. Mrs. Miller was on the yacht. . . ."

"No. They were alone. As they were turning the corner a wildy driven car passed a touring bus on the wrong side and there was a head-on crash. I must tell you something more. The brother of one of my nurses is the captain of 'The Swallow' and she was on the yacht. She saw your wife having dinner with Cardonald last night."

Tom looked up quickly and met the doctor's eyes. He was angry. He resented intensely this second suggestion. Cardonald meant nothing to her. "Why not?" he demanded bluntly. "There were other people on board."

"The crew, yes. Otherwise, as I told you, they were alone."

A nurse came into the room. "Mrs. Pallion's condition's changed a little," she said. "There's a quicker pulse."

"Oh? Then I must go up." The doctor went to the door. "I'll let you see the patient for a minute or two," he said. "Will you follow me?"

Feeling as though there were something red hot in his heart Tom followed with dragging feet. White walls; a white staircase with no carpet; Spartan simplicity and cleanliness; a lofty room with two windows; Judy, the lively and lovely Judy, still and deathlike on a white narrow bed.

"Oh, my God," said Tom. "She spoke your name just now," said the doctor quietly. "Delirium—quite usual—talking in what is, you know, a sort of enforced sleep. She'll probably do so again. Take this chair, but you are not to touch the patient or raise your voice. I'm satisfied with the condition so far. It follows the normal course." He said something to the nurse beneath his breath. He went out, walking softly, and shut the door.

Tom sat, bending forward, holding on to his wrist. . . . The nurse did not know how to describe his expression except in medical terms. "Acute pain in the heart." She stood at the end of the bed, white, calm, steady, inwardly moved by more than her vocational sympathy for suffering human beings. Whatever the frailty of the patient, her life must be preserved.

There was no movement of her body, no flicker of her long lashes, when Judy spoke again. It was a whisper, a clear even whisper, without any changes of inflection; a sort of chant. "It's very nice here, Cardy. Such a wonderful view!"

In an immediate panic, Tom got to his feet. "I must get out," he said. "Already? Why?" "It's too frightfully unfair to stay and listen in—to take advantage of her illness. . . ."

The nurse put her hand on his arm. "Never mind ethics," she said. "I most strongly advise you to stay. You love this girl, I can see, and whatever she did you will forgive. You will never ask her to tell you the story of last night and she won't ever say anything against a man who's dead. It may be your fault in some way and this may be your chance. . . ."

The whisper came again and there was the faint suggestion of laughter in it which curdled Tom's blood. "This yacht, your cottage, that amazing apartment in New York are rather dazzling, Cardy. I don't mind telling you. Then, so, you're a very good looking person and you do things well. They all make for fascination upon the average silly girl. Say what you like, the world is silly, because these brief passionate interludes mean almost nothing to you. You go from one to another without the slightest hurt. Oh, one knows all these stories. They're all flying about. But having dashed into this adventure without any thought and not being, to be brutally frank, in the least in love, I see now—I'm sorry, Cardy—what a silly fool I am. . . . No, no. Eloquence won't work and you're requested not to touch the exhibits or words to that effect. I hate to turn out a spoilsport, having gone so far, but you're going to treat me as though I were a wise old woman, a rather ugly aunt. Really, Cardy, that's true. We'll dine, and smoke, and talk, and listen to the gramophone, say good-night fairly early, meet again for breakfast—scrambled eggs for me—and then you'll drive me back, I apologize for misleading you and thank you in advance," as they say in business letters, "for your charming consideration which I greatly appreciate. . . . I never knew until this moment, Cardy, how deeply I love Tom."

The chant continued for a moment but was too faint to understand. The doctor came into the room. "That's all for today," he said. Tom rose, bent over Judy and kissed her on the lips. He left on her cheeks something so grateful that it glistened like dew.

New Zealand's Deers Are Cause of River Flooding

New Zealand's deer pest has become so great that the animals are blamed for the flooding of the Waimakariri river, which has caused heavy damage in parts of the country where no deer are seen. The River, which controls the Waimakariri river watershed near Christchurch, was decided to stamp out the deer in the forests of the watershed. The animals have eaten vegetation until there is practically none to hold back melting snows or heavy rains, and the water rushes down the river in floods. Other campaigns to eliminate the pests have resulted in the killing of thousands of deer, but foresters still report heavy damage to crops by the animals.

Uruguay East of U. S.

Uruguay, where the Pan-American economic conference convened, is the smallest of the South American republics, being, roughly, about the size of Ohio and Indiana combined. Geographically it is situated farther east than the United States, being due south of Newfoundland. Uruguay was first discovered in 1498 by the Spanish, but despite early efforts at colonization was not settled by Europeans until 1624. It passed through much warfare, both internal and external, but finally emerged as an independent republic in 1828. Its resources are largely agricultural, sheep, cattle and horses being raised extensively, while wheat, corn and flax are also extensively raised. The capital, Montevideo, was colonized in 1726.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

THE FEATHERHEADS

Things Have Changed

FINNEY OF THE FORCE

Hospitality at Steak

Just a Little Smile

FINANCE IN THE GULCH

"I'd kind o' like to start a bank," said Cactus Joe. "A national bank?" asked the traveling salesman. "No. I don't want to have to 'tend to all that bookkeepin'. What I want to start is a faro bank, where the boys can come in and leave their wages and then forget about 'em forever."

Taken at His Word

Her father snorted contemptuously. "You have the nerve to come and ask me for my daughter's hand. You!" he snapped at the shaking suitor. "That's so, sir," said the young man. "But she doesn't want to be tied to an idiot all her life," barked her father. "Well, why not let me take her off your hands," said the suitor coolly enough.—Stray Stories.

Not His Fault

Mother—Did you know that every time you draw your breath, some one dies? I've just been reading about it.

Son—Well, I can't help it. If I stop drawing my breath I'll die.

It Is Indeed

"You ask high wages for a man with no experience in the poultry business."

"Well, sir, it's much harder work when you don't know anything about it."

What, Again?

Tony—Are you going to Helen's birthday party?

Henry—What birthday is it?

Tony—Her twentieth.

Henry—No, I went last year.—Pathfinder.

NOT INFALLIBLE RULE

If you want a man to do you a favor, strike him just after he has had a hearty meal.

"It doesn't always work out. A hearty meal gives some fellows indigestion."

Ferry's Seeds are sold only in fresh dated packages. When you buy Ferry's Seeds you are sure of the finest quality available. Adv.

Some Compliment

Hostess—Dear, you are eating nothing.

Her Boy Friend—My pet, when I look at you it takes my appetite away.—Chelsea Record.

An Owl, of Course

Englishman—What's that bloomin' noise I hear outside this time of night?

American—Why, that's an owl.

Englishman—Of course it is, but 'o's 'owling?

The WEDDING MARCH MURDER

by MONTE BARRETT

Copyright, 1921, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co. WNU Service.

SYNOPSIS

Writing in the minister's study, Jim Franklin, about to be married to Doris Carmody, is stabbed to death. Peter Cardigan, novelist, and amateur detective of some note, with Sergeant Kilday, begin the official investigation. Franklin, while waiting, had visitors, among them his mistress, "Choo Choo Train"; his intended wife's father, Ambrose Carmody; her brother, Rylie; Daniel Bullis, politician, and a woman in a blue frock, who had quarreled openly with Franklin. Rylie Carmody admits trying to stop the wedding, after being informed by Webster Spears that Franklin was still friendly with Choo Choo, despite his approaching marriage. Kilday secures the dead man's keys. Callis Shipley, one of the bridesmaids, is contradictory in her answers to questions, but the investigators learn nothing of importance. An interview with Bullis is also fruitless. Webster Spears admits informing Rylie Carmody of Franklin's relations with Choo Choo, for Doris Carmody's sake, in the hope of preventing the wedding. Fletcher, Franklin's manservant, is reticent. An interview with Milo Dunbar, Franklin's law partner, and search of the dead man's office, reveals nothing of importance. Choo Choo admits her relations with Franklin were to continue after his marriage. She says she was deceived into visiting Franklin at the church by a telephone message from Fletcher, telling her to come.

CHAPTER V—Continued

"He had a key. I suppose it's there."

"Mind if I try it?"

Choo Choo shrugged. "Nice of you to ask," she said. "There was a trace of bitterness in her voice. 'I've already told you he had a key. I'm not hiding anything.'

"I just want to make sure," the detective retorted, over his shoulder, as he disappeared toward the living room.

When he returned, he nodded toward Peter. "It fits. That's six of them."

"You sound disappointed," observed Choo Choo.

"I had hoped that key would help me find some one else," the detective commented. "No matter. We'll play the hand just as it is dealt."

Peter frowned thoughtfully at his lean brown hands. "Miss Train," he put the question deliberately. "how did you feel about this marriage of Franklin's? You were in love with him, weren't you?"

Choo Choo moistened her lips, but did not reply. Her dark eyes returned his stare, but the shadows concealed their expression. Finally she nodded. "Yes, I loved him. What of it?"

"Marrying her!" Choo Choo tossed her head. "He wasn't marrying a girl. He was marrying a social position. Jim was going to be the next governor of New York."

Kilday could cope with the woman's anger, where her sorrow, a short time before, had silenced him. "And I suppose you were going to Albany with him, eh?"

"I wouldn't have been so far away," retorted the actress.

"If he loved you so much, why didn't he marry you?" the sergeant insisted.

"Don't be silly," the actress scoffed. "Where would Jim have been if he'd married an actress? Wouldn't the papers have had a good time on that? 'Candidate for Governor Marries Show Girl.' That would've been murder. It would have finished him."

"As it turned out," replied Kilday dryly. "It was murder anyway."

The girl shivered. "You're wasting time here," she said in a quieter voice. "Why don't you talk to Dan Bullis. Maybe he can tell you what happened yesterday afternoon. He was sore at Jim, and he'd been trying to see him. Bullis called me here, yesterday, wanting to see Jim. When I said he wasn't here, he swore. He said Jim was hiding from him, and that I was helping him. But he said he'd find him. If you really want to find who killed Jim Franklin, talk to Dan Bullis."

"We've talked to Bullis," Peter informed her quietly. "We've come here to find out what you know, Miss Train."

"I'm only telling you where to go if you want information about the murder," said the actress impatiently. "Do you think I'd kill the man I love? Dan Bullis is your man, I tell you."

"Yes, you're said that before," the novelist nodded. "We'll take care of Mr. Bullis. But some people don't think Franklin was killed by a man, Miss Train. They believe a woman killed him, and that the motive was jealousy."

"You're crazy!" Choo Choo stared at him angrily. "That means me, of course, and how do you figure I'd have done a thing like that? In the first place, I couldn't get away with it. Everybody knew how I felt about Jim. Even if I had wanted to, I wouldn't have tried that, because I'd have known this was the first place you would come."

"But you're overlooking a bigger bet than that. I loved him. Why would I murder the man I loved? That doesn't make sense."

"If you thought you were losing him, it would make sense, all right," Kilday interjected.

"But I've told you I wasn't losing him."

"Forget about the wedding for a minute," Cardigan invited. He rose and strode about the room aimlessly, but his eyes never left the woman who sat upon the bed.

"You've been reading these accounts of the murder," Cardigan indicated the newspapers beside the bed. "Did you notice anything there that sounded strange, Miss Train?"

"Plenty," replied the actress. "It looked like half of New York came around there to see Jim, just before the wedding. They make it sound like he was quarrelling with all of them, too."

"Including yourself," said Kilday. "Yes," the actress admitted, "including me."

"It seems to me you have overlooked one of those callers," Peter continued. "I mean the woman in the blue dress."

Choo Choo looked at him through narrowed eyes. "Who was she?"

"That's what I'm asking you," said Peter.

She shrugged silk-clad shoulders. "How should I know? I didn't see anybody there in a blue dress."

"Nobody else knows who she was, either, Miss Train," declared the novelist. "We can't find anyone who ever saw her before. We only know that she was jealous of Jim Franklin—that she—"

"Jealous?" Then the actress leaned back, more calmly. "What is this? Are you trying to trick me, some way?"

Peter shook his head. "There's no trick to it," he replied simply. "Apparently, this was another woman

"Jim Didn't Love Her—He Loved Me! Can't You Understand?"

that loved Franklin. She thought she had some claim on him, evidently. In fact," Peter was remembering the story Daniel Bullis had told of the scene in the study, "she threatened to ruin him, if he went ahead with the wedding. Are you still sure you don't know who that woman was?"

"Say!" Choo Choo was sitting erect, her eyes stormy. "Why don't you question her? If this is straight, she's the one you are looking for." Then she relaxed against the pillows. "But this isn't on the level." Her voice had gone flat. "If it was, you wouldn't be wasting your time here."

"Perhaps it isn't wasted," said Peter. "Perhaps you are the very person who can tell us where we may find this woman in blue."

The actress did not answer, but her eyes watched the novelist, guardedly.

"Suppose you have told us the truth, as far as you have gone," Peter continued. "Suppose you weren't jealous of Doris Carmody, and didn't care whether Franklin married her or not."

Choo Choo winced.

"Even granting that everything was just as you have said, that would not have kept you from being madly jealous of Franklin, if you had discovered there was still a third woman—this woman in blue—that he loved."

"But I tell you I didn't know there was such a woman." Choo Choo raised clenched hands above her head. "I still don't believe it. Jim wouldn't have done that to me. I loved him. And he loved me! Can't you understand? Me?" She beat her breast with her fists.

Peter waited quietly until the actress' storm of emotion had passed. "Perhaps," he suggested, "this other woman heard of you yesterday, for the first time. That being the case, she might have been the one who went to see Franklin, with vengeance in her heart."

There was hatred in the glance Choo Choo turned on him. "You're mighty sure there was another woman, aren't you?" was all she said.

In spite of his certainty that there had been another woman, and that she had played a dramatic, probably fatal, part in the slaying of Jim Franklin, Peter felt that he was making no headway. He had succeeded only in antagonizing a witness from which he had expected much assistance. Like every other trail they had followed, this, too, seemed to lead nowhere. And yet Choo Choo Train had been the last person, as far as they could determine, who had seen Franklin alive. According to the testimony of Nick Royce and Doctor Abernathy, she had been in the study with Jim Franklin after Daniel Bullis and the woman in blue had left. And her motive, too, was apparent, if she had known of the existence of that other woman. Or even if she hadn't, could he believe her statement that Franklin's wedding was to have made no difference in her relationship with him?

He wondered, too, at the woman's apparent lack of grief. To be sure, there were moments when she appeared grief-stricken. But they were only moments. She seemed to turn her emotions on and off, like a faucet, almost at will. Opposed to these arguments, of course, were Webster Spears' activities; Daniel Bullis' reticence concerning his conversation with Franklin; Rylie Carmody's efforts to halt the wedding; the suspicions aroused by Callis Shipley's movements, and, of course, the woman in blue, still unexplained and as mysterious as ever.

"Miss Train," the novelist inquired suddenly, "how well do you know Webster Soevars?"

"Webster Soevars? I've never heard of him."

"Are you sure a man by that name didn't telephone you yesterday?"

"If he had, I'd have heard of him," Choo Choo's manner was contemptuous. "Outside of Jim and Dan Bullis, the only man who phoned me yesterday was Fletcher," she declared. "I've already told you about that."

Peter frowned. "What was Franklin's number?" he demanded curiously.

She told him.

"Do you mind if we use your telephone?"

"Certainly not," Choo Choo handed him the instrument from the table at her bedside.

Fletcher answered the call.

"This is Peter Cardigan, Fletcher. I called there with Sergeant Kilday to ask you some questions last night, remember?"

"Yes, sir, I remember."

"I forgot to ask you about your telephone call to Miss Train, yesterday, Fletcher," Peter explained. "How did you happen to telephone her?"

"There must be some mistake, sir. I never telephoned Miss Train."

The novelist hesitated, his hand over the transmitter. "What time did you see her received that call, Miss Train?"

"It must have been about half past two," replied the actress.

"Think again," said Peter, "to the telephone. 'Didn't you call Miss Train about two-thirty yesterday afternoon?'"

Fletcher's tone was positive. "I'm quite sure, sir. I have never telephoned Miss Train."

"Here, let me talk to him!" Seizing the tenor of the servant's replies from Peter's conversation, she snatched the instrument from the novelist's hand. "What did you say, Fletcher? You never called me! Don't be a fool, man!" She slammed the receiver in place and faced the two men.

"Just the same, he did call," she declared stormily. "He told me Jim wanted me to come to the church. I don't know why he should lie about it."

that loved Franklin. She thought she had some claim on him, evidently. In fact," Peter was remembering the story Daniel Bullis had told of the scene in the study, "she threatened to ruin him, if he went ahead with the wedding. Are you still sure you don't know who that woman was?"

"Say!" Choo Choo was sitting erect, her eyes stormy. "Why don't you question her? If this is straight, she's the one you are looking for." Then she relaxed against the pillows. "But this isn't on the level." Her voice had gone flat. "If it was, you wouldn't be wasting your time here."

"Perhaps it isn't wasted," said Peter. "Perhaps you are the very person who can tell us where we may find this woman in blue."

The actress did not answer, but her eyes watched the novelist, guardedly.

"Suppose you have told us the truth, as far as you have gone," Peter continued. "Suppose you weren't jealous of Doris Carmody, and didn't care whether Franklin married her or not."

Choo Choo winced.

"Even granting that everything was just as you have said, that would not have kept you from being madly jealous of Franklin, if you had discovered there was still a third woman—this woman in blue—that he loved."

"But I tell you I didn't know there was such a woman." Choo Choo raised clenched hands above her head. "I still don't believe it. Jim wouldn't have done that to me. I loved him. And he loved me! Can't you understand? Me?" She beat her breast with her fists.

Peter waited quietly until the actress' storm of emotion had passed. "Perhaps," he suggested, "this other woman heard of you yesterday, for the first time. That being the case, she might have been the one who went to see Franklin, with vengeance in her heart."

There was hatred in the glance Choo Choo turned on him. "You're mighty sure there was another woman, aren't you?" was all she said.

In spite of his certainty that there had been another woman, and that she had played a dramatic, probably fatal, part in the slaying of Jim Franklin, Peter felt that he was making no headway. He had succeeded only in antagonizing a witness from which he had expected much assistance. Like every other trail they had followed, this, too, seemed to lead nowhere. And yet Choo Choo Train had been the last person, as far as they could determine, who had seen Franklin alive. According to the testimony of Nick Royce and Doctor Abernathy, she had been in the study with Jim Franklin after Daniel Bullis and the woman in blue had left. And her motive, too, was apparent, if she had known of the existence of that other woman. Or even if she hadn't, could he believe her statement that Franklin's wedding was to have made no difference in her relationship with him?

He wondered, too, at the woman's apparent lack of grief. To be sure, there were moments when she appeared grief-stricken. But they were only moments. She seemed to turn her emotions on and off, like a faucet, almost at will. Opposed to these arguments, of course, were Webster Spears' activities; Daniel Bullis' reticence concerning his conversation with Franklin; Rylie Carmody's efforts to halt the wedding; the suspicions aroused by Callis Shipley's movements, and, of course, the woman in blue, still unexplained and as mysterious as ever.

"Miss Train," the novelist inquired suddenly, "how well do you know Webster Soevars?"

"Webster Soevars? I've never heard of him."

"Are you sure a man by that name didn't telephone you yesterday?"

"If he had, I'd have heard of him," Choo Choo's manner was contemptuous. "Outside of Jim and Dan Bullis, the only man who phoned me yesterday was Fletcher," she declared. "I've already told you about that."

Peter frowned. "What was Franklin's number?" he demanded curiously.

She told him.

"Do you mind if we use your telephone?"

"Certainly not," Choo Choo handed him the instrument from the table at her bedside.

Fletcher answered the call.

"This is Peter Cardigan, Fletcher. I called there with Sergeant Kilday to ask you some questions last night, remember?"

"Yes, sir, I remember."

"I forgot to ask you about your telephone call to Miss Train, yesterday, Fletcher," Peter explained. "How did you happen to telephone her?"

"There must be some mistake, sir. I never telephoned Miss Train."

The novelist hesitated, his hand over the transmitter. "What time did you see her received that call, Miss Train?"

"It must have been about half past two," replied the actress.

"Think again," said Peter, "to the telephone. 'Didn't you call Miss Train about two-thirty yesterday afternoon?'"

Fletcher's tone was positive. "I'm quite sure, sir. I have never telephoned Miss Train."

"Here, let me talk to him!" Seizing the tenor of the servant's replies from Peter's conversation, she snatched the instrument from the novelist's hand. "What did you say, Fletcher? You never called me! Don't be a fool, man!" She slammed the receiver in place and faced the two men.

"Just the same, he did call," she declared stormily. "He told me Jim wanted me to come to the church. I don't know why he should lie about it."

TUNG OIL SOON TO BE "NATIVE"

Five States Report Progress in Trees' Growth.

Before many years have passed American manufacturers may be independent of the monopoly which China has long held in the tung oil industry. About 30,000 acres of tung trees now are thriving in our southern states. Some experts aver that it would take only slightly more than three times as many acres of producing trees to make America independent of the Oriental product.

"Tung oil, sometimes called Chinese wood oil, is extracted from the seeds of the tung tree of central and western China. It is almost unknown in its natural state to the average layman, but, being a good mixer, it hides in many products with which he frequently comes in contact," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Long before western shipping navigated the Yangtze river, Chinese river men waterproofed their boat timbers regularly by saturating them with tung oil. They also burned the oil in lamps, accumulated tung oil soot to make India ink, and with carbon from burned seed pulp and other materials made a caulking compound.

"Although tung oil-soaked junks frequently sidedwined western craft in Oriental harbors and rivers, it was not until about 1850 the West-erners awoke to the fact that tung oil had some amazing qualities. Chemical laboratories discovered that the oil, added to varnish, makes the varnish shed water like a duck's back; thus the origin of the demonstrator in the hardware store window who awes shoppers when he pours hot water on a table top without marring the polish.

"From the Chinese success in waterproofing silk with tung oil, westerners learned that other fabrics could be rendered waterproof in much the same manner. Now tung oil is widely used by manufacturers of raincoats, bath curtains and oil cloth. Wall board manufacturers have discovered that the oil makes a good binder; while the manufacturers of linoleum, steam pipe gaskets, wire insulation, and automobile enamels, also have become customers of Chinese tung oil products.

"The United States normally imports about 90,000,000 pounds, or more than $10,000,000 worth of tung oil annually. China's internal unrest has been one of the leading factors in the development of American tung tree plantations. When the value of the oil was discovered, the demand of the American manufacturer grew rapidly. Normally he could obtain sufficient tung oil, but brigands often delayed or destroyed shipments, or producers were deserted by their workers who now and then felt the urge to fight, thus diminishing the supply.

"The first tung seeds from China were planted in the United States by the Department of Agriculture in 1905 at Chico, Calif. A year later, the resulting seedlings were sent to experimental stations through the southern and Pacific coast regions. They thrived in portions of Florida, California, Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi, where the frost is not sufficiently severe to nip the trees' sensitive blossoms.

"Tung trees, grow to about 25 feet in height. With their white to pinkish blossoms in the spring they resemble apple trees. The tung fruit is about the size of a small apple. Its five seeds are no larger than robins' eggs. In China the trees grow wild, but in this country growers have operated their plantations with the modern system of an American orchardist. When the tung fruit ripens in the fall, it drops to the ground. In China the hulls are stripped from the seeds by hand; in this country hulling is done by machinery. Gainesville, Fla., has a tung oil pressing plant.

"America's new tung oil plantations are near railroads and modern highways—quite different from the forests where tung trees thrive in China, for there are neither roads nor railroads. To reach the Chinese trees one must penetrate the remote mountain valleys of Hunan and Szechwan provinces.

"The oil is carried on human backs to the nearest river shipping point in light bamboo baskets lined with 10 thicknesses of waterproof paper. Before it reaches the sea, most tung oil shoots the rapids of the Yangtze gorges. It is not uncommon for junks containing the oil to pile on the rocks, thus releasing an $8,000 cargo into the swirling stream."

EARLY DAYS OF AUTO

New York state's farmers, from the first, were active in fighting automobile speeders. In December, 1908, the Oneida Pomona grange adopted a resolution urging enforcement of the 20-mile speed law and asking that motorists be required to slow down to four miles an hour when passing farms. The resolution said speeders were ruining the roads and likewise endangering life and property.

Fish Exhibition

Dickey—Mead is an Elk, a Lion and a Moose.
Mickey—What does it cost to see him?

NEVER FORGET THIS TABLET

It Means the REAL ARTICLE

GENUINE ASPIRIN

Bayer Manufacture

When you go to buy aspirin, just remember this: Every tablet of real aspirin of Bayer manufacture is stamped with this cross. No tablet without this cross is GENUINE Bayer Aspirin.

Remember this for your own protection. Tell your friends about it for their protection. Demand and get GENUINE Bayer Aspirin.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin Does Not Harm the Heart

Floating Islands

Sadawaga lake, Vermont, has two picturesque floating islands. Resembling a huge ship with trees as high as thirty feet for masts, a large island has shifted its position considerably during the last year.

Footish

Financial Magazine—I give my lawyer $10,000 a year to keep me out of prison.
Wife—Oh, Samuel, I wish you would stop spending your money so foolishly.—Putnam Magazine.

Make this lip test

LOOK at them . . . and your cheeks, too, without a make-up. Do they possess the natural glow of health, which comes from a efficiency of rich, red blood? If they do, make-up is simple . . . if they don't read on . . . you may find one of the reasons why your skin is not clear and rosy.

You cannot have red lips, rosy cheeks, energy and cheerfulness if your blood is in a run-down condition. Lack of hemo-globin, the coloring of the blood, may also indicate a weakened condition of the body . . . loss of strength . . . poor appetite.

S.S.S. is not just a so-called tonic but a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very necessary in restoring a low hemo-globin content. If your condition suggests a blood tonic of this kind, try S.S.S. Unless your case is exceptional, you should soon notice a pick-up in your appetite, your color and skin should improve with increased strength.

S.S.S. is sold by all drug stores in two sizes . . . the larger is more economical.

Safeguard Tender Skins by Daily Use of CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

Never too young to start using Cuticura

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c.

Prepared by: Foster Drug & Chemical Corporation, Malden, Mass.

SNAP OUT OF IT!

WRITE FOR FREE SAMPLE GARFIELD TEA CO., New York

DON'T let constipation get a permanent grip on you. GARFIELD TEA gives you the prompt, thorough laxative cleansing that helps get rid of constipating wastes. Snap out of that chronic distress feeling! Begin the GARFIELD TEA treatment tonight. (Pleasant—no odor—New York tea bags—at your drug store)

GARFIELD TEA A Splendid Laxative Drink

INDIGESTION, GAS

Aluminum

Aluminum was first isolated in 1838 by the scientists Davy and Wöhler.

Your local dealer carries Ferry's Pure Bred Vegetable Seeds. Now only 5 cents a package. Adv.

Unfortunate World

The unfortunate are usually accounted fools.

Agent Wanted—Baylor county. Past selling. Inquired line. Excellent commissions. Harkness W. Baker, Box 1006, Dayton, Ohio.

OIL! OIL! WEALTH MAY BE UNDER your own farm. Find potential oil and gas for quick and positive profit. Laboratories, 301 Jessup, Fort Worth, Texas.

SOUVENIR FREE! That every woman and girl needs. A party will bring it to you. Geo. C. Williams, Waverlyville, Texas.

Colds—"Flu" Dr. Jones "Flu" Remedy

TAKE NO CHANCES with colds, coughs, bronchitis, "flu" or pneumonia. Over 100,000 die annually with these diseases. Protect yourself and family with positive relief—a guaranteed remedy proven by 18 years of successful use during and since the terrible 1918 "flu" epidemic. Formerly ninety cents per bottle, now only 75c per bottle. Including Doctor's booklet on proper care of patients. Sold drug stores only by SAFE DRUG CO., 342 N. GROVE AVE., DALLAS, TEX.

Do you lack PEP? WINTERSMITH'S TONIC

Are you all in and run down? WINTER'S TONIC WILL BRING YOU OF MALARIA and build you up. Used for 65 years for Chills, Fever, Malaria and A General Tonic 50c and $1.00 at All Druggists

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Remove dandruff. Stops Hair-Falling. Restores Color and Beauty. Gray and Faded Hair turned to Black. Sold by all Druggists. 110 West 17th St., New York, N.Y.

FLORESTON SHAMPOO—Ideal for use in connection with Parker's Hair Balsam. Makes the hair soft and fluffy. Sold by mail or at drug stores. Haeck Chemical Co., York, Pa., Chicago, N.Y.

Looks Like a Habit

"What makes you think Peggy will marry you?"

"She's married other fellows."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are best for liver, bowels and stomach. One little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic.—Adv.

Equally Evil

Indiscreet words will keep a man as poor as a round will.

5 CENTS A PACKET IS ALL YOU PAY FOR FERRY'S PUREBRED VEGETABLE SEEDS

AT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD STORE

Every packet sealed

Penguin Oddity of Living Creatures

Neither Whale, Fish, Seal, or Migrating Bird.

Washington.—Rear Admiral Byrd has been "officially welcomed" to the Antarctic region by the only denizen of this southernmost part of the globe that is not whale, fish, seal, or migrating bird—the penguin.

"It is a fact that the penguin was once a true bird, that it can swim like a fish, has the agility of a seal under water, and that it puts on all the pompous airs of a whale. But still it is unique among living creatures, and explorers have long considered it the "official greeter" of the Antarctic," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

Wings Are Water-Wings Only.
"The welcome Admiral Byrd received from the 'penguin committee,' while characteristic, was not effusive. When the penguins heard the barking of the sled dogs they unceremoniously dropped to their bellies and scuttled away over the ice, their flippers working like connecting rods.

"There are several varieties of penguins in the Antarctic regions, upon the islands along the fringe of the Antarctic seas, and as far north as the southern extremities of the South American and African mainlands. But the most entertaining of all is the Adelle, a species which has never been successfully transplanted from the snowy wastes of Antarctica.

"The Adelle resembles nothing quite so much as a solemn, rotund, little old gentleman with a prominent nose, starched shirt, and swallow-tail coat. His wings are water-wings only, although he goes through all the preparations for a take-off, with flippers outstretched, neck extended, and tail balanced to make a two- or three-foot hop from one rock to another.

"This strangely manlike bird is truly an F. F. A. (First Family of Antarctica), tracing his lineage back to those far-away days of the earth's youth before the coming of the great glaciers. Then, in a temperate or perhaps even tropical climate, it is probable that his ancestors flew like other birds. But as centuries passed into ages and cold crept over the land, killing all vegetation, the penguins were forced to seek sustenance in the sea.

"The Adelle is a gregarious creature. In October and November (the Antarctic spring), he congregates, along with countless thousands of his kind, in great rookeries. There the age-old business of choosing a mate is his first consideration; but as with true love elsewhere, the course of his romance is not always smooth.

Great Lovers and Scrupers.
"Gentlemen penguins are not only good lovers, they are extremely pugnacious as well, and when more than one Romeo is attracted to the same Juliet, a merry fight is likely to ensue. With beaks and flippers they go for each other, delivering cuts and stabs and raining savage blows about them with such speed that the eye can hardly follow.

"If the fair object of all this excitement has a preference for one of the combatants, she may enter the fray on his side but more often she will sit serenely by while her admirers do battle.

"An Adelle's nest consists of a loose pile of small stones, quite unadorned or softened with lining. The two eggs are kept warm by being enclosed in a deep crease in the thick feathers of the bird's body. Incubation lasts about a month, with both birds participating, for they have a strong parental instinct.

"When hatched, the chicks are little balls of sooty down, and they wear their baby clothes for some weeks before exchanging them for suits of feathers.

"Adelles live largely on a small, red shrimplike crustacean which occurs in amazing numbers in the Antarctic seas. There is little or nothing for them to eat on the land, and therefore until the chicks are fully developed, and able to take care of themselves in the water, they must be fed.

"The boy man for baby penguins takes the form of a skua gull. This unpleasant bird conceives its mission in life to be the prevention of overpopulation among the Adelles, and woe to the tiny chick that wanders away from its comrades! A marauding skua will drop down beside it and, with a few savage blows of its strong beak, end the chick's earthly career and feast upon the remains."

UNDER INDICTMENT

Lieut. Gov. Nels G. Kraschel of Iowa who was indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of having conspired to demand the United States government in his capacity as executive of the Iowa public works board last summer.

Ruins of Five Cities Found on One Site

Leveled by Invaders and Restored Each Time.

Philadelphia.—Buried beneath the placid wheat fields of Palestine lies the remains of a great city which was leveled by invaders at least four or five times and restored to its former grandeur after each invasion.

It was the city of Beth Shemesh in Ain Sheims, situated on important trade routes between Egypt, Palestine and Syria, the city flourished between 1800 and 600 B. C. Five archeological expeditions from Haverford college have delved into the ruins 20 feet below the waving wheat. A sixth expedition is being arranged for next year.

Findings of the fifth expedition now are being collected under the direction of Prof. Elliot Grant, director of the

Census Shows Apple to Be Most Popular in Pie

New York.—A nationwide census of pie-eaters, involving an analysis of 12,000,000 meals, shows that apple is the most popular.

Among pies, apple is the men's choice in all parts of the country. Women also prefer apple pie in the east, but in the west they show a slight preference for lemon meringue.

The pie census, reported by the Woman's Home Companion, indicates that cherry pie is growing rapidly in favor everywhere in America. In fact, cherry is going ahead so fast that, if it continues its present rate of gain, it may be expected to outstrip apple pie in about 6 years.

The most popular luncheon menu in America today consists of a sandwich, a cup of coffee and a piece of pie.

The pie industry, however, has suffered quite seriously from the depression of the last four years. Americans eat one-third fewer pies now than they did at prosperity's peak. They ate $75,000,000 worth of pie in 1929, but only $55,000,000 worth last year.

The 20 most popular pies, after apple, cherry and lemon meringue, are: Pineapple, mince, pumpkin, prune, custard, raisin, rhubarb, strawberry, cranberry, chocolate, apricot, coconut, blackberry, raspberry, cream, date, huckleberry, cheese, squash and peach.

Wise Hen Eats Bugs on Auto Radiator

Holland, Texas.—A hen that wearied of barnyard fare has added a distinctly new service to the garage-filling station operated here by Virgin Huddleston.

Tourists driving in for gas and oil usually carry a delicious supply of bugs and grasshoppers on the radiators of their automobiles. The hen hops on to the bumper and pecks out the insects, dropping them to the ground. She then inspects the machine from stem to stern for other dainty bits.

When the car drives away, the hen enjoys a real meal. She roosts atop the town hearse, and nests beneath a blacksmith's anvil.

Court Admits Man's Will Signed by Fingerprints

Philadelphia, Pa.—A will signed with fingerprints recently was admitted to probate here.

It was the will of Abraham Buckman, signed with three fingers of Buckman's right hand. A similar signature on file at a bank was used to verify the will.

"It was a most interesting case," said an official of the fingerprint bureau at city hall. "The will was accepted for probate, and that very fact opens new fields for the elaborate system of fingerprinting we have in this country."

A Bed Warmer

Hollister, Calif.—A Japanese monkey in a private zoo here has formed a strange attachment for a small tabby cat. The monkey's friendship exists only at night and during the day it ignores the cat completely. Investigation showed the monkey uses the cat as a "bed warmer" on cold nights.

Hats That Go Definitely Off-Face

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

HATS off-the-face is latest millinery news. It would seem that the five fetching spring chapeaux in the illustration could not pose farther back on the head if they tried and stay on properly. However, that is the way of the newest brims—to describe the sort of halo about the head which gives us something refreshingly different from the types which have been in fashion for many seasons past.

We are inclined to believe that a conspiracy must have been going on between milliner and hairdresser to have brought about such perfect harmony between hat and hair. We will admit that this new silhouette, at first glance, seems designed for youth and youth only, but by way of encouragement to those who hesitate we're telling you that the off-the-face hairdress and the brim which reveals an expansive forehead are more flattering to those beyond debutante years than one might suppose. Then, too, as the new models continue to join in the style parade it is noted that milliners are introducing little softening touches in the way of front bandeaux and other devices which are guaranteed to flatter.

Nor is it fair to conclude that a soft arrangement of hair about the face is utterly taboo. On the contrary fashion is that flickie back your hair so as to show a bluish brow and the next instant it's rumors of "bangs" which reaches our astonished ears. The first picture in this group unmistakably carries the message of bangs. The little off-the-face hat is a Talbot triumph done in taffeta with a big bow of spotted ribbon.

The talk of town for spring is the Breton sailor. Well, here you see it to the right at the top in the picture. It is made of black tony. The thing that is outstanding about the stripes for facing and scarf is that they are in the now-the-rage Mexican colors, for fashion has gone gaily Mexican this season. Your new staid blouse should be of Mexican striped silk or at least you should wear with your spring navy or black crepe frock a set of bizarre Mexican-striped costume jewelry. Just a word more about the popular Breton sailor, it need not be as severe in lines as you may conjecture, for milliners are giving all sorts of softening effects.

Perhaps no type of hat is more important this season than the tiara turban. You will recognize at once that the model centered in the picture is one such. It is fashioned of mated straw with a row of buttons accentuating the tiara motif.

No matter how staunch you have been in favor of snug close-fitting hats, you are going to find yourself talking, thinking and wearing brims this spring and summer. Which really will not be such a sacrifice after all, for the new brimmed models are that good looking and smartly tuned to occasion, it is said they will even be worn with suits as well as lighter frocks. The model below to the right in the group lends itself admirably to this thought for it carries a tailored feeling. In this Rebox "Desperado" we see a dashing example of the new side roll which is being strongly advocated.

Last but not least we show you a Rebox halo hat. It is of leghorn, has a bound edge and illustrates the fondness for bows as an underbrim treatment.

In conclusion bear this exciting news about flowers. Entire brims are being faced with them. The newest news of all is that flower trimmings are making their appearance on felt shapes.

© by Western Newspaper Union.

SHOES MATCH GARB IN CUT AND COLOR

New shoes for 1934 match clothes in cut and color.

High-throated shoes appear as a smart accompaniment for the high-necked frocks, while oxfords which lace over the top of the foot with six or seven eyelets are shown as advance spring footwear to be worn with dresses which lace up the front.

Shoes which have flecked designs in several tones across the instep, suggesting the effect of flecked wools, are shown as a smart accessory to knitted or flecked wool sports frocks, and shoes covered with little diamond-shaped perforations are ready to be worn with high-necked frocks which have a diamond brooch flashing from the high neckline.

Softness in New Dresses

Feature of Season's Mode

When one recalls the long and happy career of the Vionnet soft crepe afternoon dresses and the cry for more in similar genre it is not surprising that the stylists again recognize the possibilities latent in the soft crepe frock. The Vionnets were soft through cowls, scarf details and circular fullness, while these latest types have unpressed pleats and careless drapes. But it is a type of frock which stands out as entirely distinct from the tailored daytime frock.

Sports Attire

Knitted or crocheted frocks, coats, suits and hats are being chosen by fashionable women for sports wear, and suede suits with revers faced in hand-knitted wool to match the accompanying blouse are one of the smart sports novelties of the season.

WITH PEPLUM

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

This very youthful-looking peplum frock is fashioned of olive green wool crepe, with brown velvet the trimming note. The peplum idea is being exploited for all it is worth this season.

Fifty Famous Frontiersmen

By

ELMO SCOTT WATSON

A Modern Knight Errant

WHEN the city of Prescott, Ariz., decided to erect a memorial to the Rough Rider who went from Arizona to Cuba in the Spanish-American war, there was more than one reason why that monument should be an equestrian statue of Bucky O'Neill. For in the words of one historian "O'Neill was the most many-sided man Arizona has ever produced. A knight-errant of the Nineteenth century, he was always ready to couch a lance for the weak and the distressed. A child's appeal, a woman's tears, disarmed him at once. Yet when the occasion came he could be hard and cold as chilled steel."

O'Neill's was a fighting heritage, for his father was a captain in the celebrated "Irish Brigade" from Pennsylvania during the Civil war. After graduation from college in 1879 Bucky went to Phoenix, Ariz., and started his newspaper work. Then he practiced law, got into politics and eventually became sheriff of Yavapai county and in that office repeatedly proved the "cold, chilled steel" quality of his courage in dealing with the various types of bad men who infested the territory.

That territory wanted to become a state. So when the Spanish-American war broke out Bucky was one of those who thought that Arizona might win statehood if her men proved themselves worthy in battle. "Who wouldn't gamble for a star?" he said, as he signed up to fight, and he meant another star in the flag that of Arizona. He was one of the first, if not the first, volunteer mustered into service. Later he became a captain in the Arizona troop of Roosevelt's Rough Riders.

At Las Guasimas O'Neill stood looking down at the body of a dead Rough Rider that had been found by the vultures before his comrades could get to him. "Colonel, isn't it Whitman who says of the vultures that 'they pluck the eyes of princes and tear the flesh of kings?'" he asked Roosevelt, who writes of the incident: "I answered that I could not place the quotation. Just a week afterward we were shielding his own body from these birds."

That came on the banks of the San Juan river during the advance against Santiago. Bucky was sprawling up and down in front of his men, coolly smoking a cigarette and apparently oblivious of the Spanish bullets singing around him. A sergeant begged him to lie down lest he be hit. With a laugh, O'Neill replied "Sergeant, the Spanish bullet isn't made that will kill me!" The next moment a bullet did strike him and, in the words of Roosevelt, "even before he fell his blood and gallant soul had gone out into the darkness."

The Five Fighting Zanes

WHEN it came time for old William Zane to die, he could, take pride in the fact that he had given to frontier history five stalwart sons who would make the name of Zane forever famous there. They were:

Col. Ebenezer Zane, founder in 1770 of the settlement which was to become the present Wheeling, W. Va.; a soldier in Lord Dunmore's war of 1774; builder and commander of Fort Henry, the scene of two famous Indian sieges—in 1777 and 1782; an early settler in Ohio on the present site of Zanesville; blazer in 1796 of "Zane's Trace," which followed the route of an old Indian trail from Wheeling to Limestone (opposite Maysville, Ky.) and over which poured a flood of settlers into Ohio and Kentucky; a colonel of militia and a leader of men down to the day of his death in 1811.

Isaac Zane, captured by the Wyandots at the age of nine; a "white Indian" for ten years as the adopted son of Chief Tarhe; then, returning to his own people, a member of the Virginia House of Burgesses; back again to the Wyandots to become the husband of Myerab, the "White Crane," daughter of Chief Tarhe, and to take her with him into the Ohio country to establish the settlement which now is Zanesville and there to live with her until his death in 1816.

Silas Zane, one of the first settlers near Wheeling; a captain of Virginia troops in the Continental army while the Indians were besieging his brother's fort in 1777 but present there during the siege of 1782; a trader in the Indian country after the Revolution and, about 1785, a victim to Indian treachery on the Scioto river.

Jonathan Zane, captured at the age of two by the same Indians who carried off his brother, Isaac, he lived with them only a short time before being returned to his own people; a stalwart fighter during the stirring events around Fort Henry; a pioneer into Ohio and the partner of his brother in marking "Zane's Trace."

Andrew Zane, an early settler at Wheeling; hero of a famous exploit during the siege of 1777 when he escaped from the Indians by jumping over a 70-foot cliff, only to be killed by them a short time later.

"The Fighting Zanes"! Only five of them? No! For there was another—a sister worthy of her brothers—Betty Zane, the girl whose swift feet brought the much-needed powder from Ebenezer Zane's cabin to the hard-pressed defenders of Fort Henry during the siege of 1782 and whose brave defiance of death that day did much to make the name of Zane forever famous.

© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Ugliest Birds at the St. Louis Zoo

Two frogmouths, "ugliest birds in the world," recently arrived at the St. Louis zoo from Australia, the first of their gaping kind to be brought to America. Only the London zoo has similar specimens.

SUCH IS LIFE—A Baby Cop? Ha! Ha!

By Charles Sughroe

The Household

By Lydia Le Baron Walker

A Modern Couch and Table of Good Style.

THE lure of antiques has its fascination, and while it gets a grip on each of us who does any collecting or who furnishes rooms in old-time style, it should not blind our eyes to the beauty and excellence of fine modern furniture, furnishings, embroideries, textiles, accessories, or anything of genuine merit. It is a pity that the faking of antiques, and the crediting of articles to earlier craftsmanship than they deserve, should have done so much, for it makes purchasers wary and unbelieving unless proofs can be set before them as to authenticity. There is almost a demand today for articles to have signatures of makers, such as are found on certain pieces, even of furniture, and are commonly on silver even to this day.

But apart from the many phases of collector's problems, and the fascination of antiques, it should be remembered that in coming years what is new to us, will become antiques to those future generations. This should prove an inspiration for us to buy just as handsome and well-made articles as our purse can reasonably afford. They will give us the lasting satisfaction in our own lifetime of knowing we have what is as good as if made by one of the famous old craftsmen, and added to this the pleasure of having them of enduring beauty and quality.

There are, in the furniture line, two types of contemporary pieces; the reproductions of classic and folk craft pieces; and the articles which are products of modern designers and makers. In the former, time has weeded out the worth while designs from the ones undeserving of reproduction. That is, those only which are good and which have stood the test of time, are continually made. This makes it safe to buy with the knowledge that good taste is assured.

In modern furniture, it becomes the part of purchasers to exercise their own best judgment as to what is artistically good and what is fine in craftsmanship. It is well for the one choosing the pieces to think of the furniture as outliving the settings and decorations of up-to-date modern rooms, and how they in turn will stand the test of time. If a home-maker can, and wishes to change her furniture with different fashions in decoration, she does not need to think of them in other surroundings. But for those who select furniture to last years, a life time, or perhaps to survive their own span of years, and still be cherished, designs should be fine in themselves, and the workmanship and materials worthy and enduring.

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

For Older Women

The older woman will rejoice in the tailored simplicity of this navy and white printed crepe with its detachable bib of white pique.

Public Library on Four Legs

Travel in Macedonia is difficult and the farmers are unable generally to get to a library, so the Near East foundation takes the library to the farmers. Nine outfits like that shown above operate in the 54 villages in which the foundation carries on an extension program for the benefit of farmers, most of whom are newly settled on land now being drained by American engineers.

DAY BY DAY

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The serious illness of one of his patients compelled a celebrated physician to send her to bed for the remainder of her life. She piteously remarked, "Must I lie here all the rest of my days?" "No," replied the physician, "only one day at a time."

If by some magic prophetic vision, we could see enacted on a silver screen all the experiences which would come to us in the future, would we really choose to see it? Would we have courage to face it? Emphatically, we would not. If we knew beforehand all the joy that was coming to us, it would rob life of much of its zest. If we knew in advance the adverse conditions, we would not have sufficient "nerve" to go forward. If some of us knew at the beginning of 1933 what was ahead of us for that year, we would have been inclined to give up before we really started. As it turned out, we went through it and the skies are clearer and the future brighter than they were a year ago.

It is a very merciful Providence that hides the future from us, thereby compelling us to live and work day by day. It is all folly to try to live a whole week in a single day or an entire year in a month. No truer statement was ever penned than "sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Trying to live the future today deprives us of strength and enduring power. When we dissipate our energy in unnecessary anxiety, we throw sand into the wheels of progress, and the friction thus produced causes a mental aberration or a nervous breakdown.

Seeking strength for each day's task and endeavoring to solve a problem when it arises, and not before, enables us to master our work and not be mastered by it. "The eternal stars," writes Carlyle, "shine out as soon as it is dark enough."

© by Western Newspaper Union.

Won 3-Cushion Title

Kinrey Matsuyama, Japanese billiard star, won the national three-cushion championship in the New York tournament, and he will meet the former champions in the contest for the world title.

Century-Old Cure for Tuberculosis Still Used

Philadelphia.—A century old suggestion for treating pulmonary tuberculosis now is being advanced by physicians as the most effective treatment, according to Dr. J. Norman Henry, director of the department of public health, here.

Writing in the department's weekly bulletin, Doctor Henry said the method originally was suggested in 1821 and demonstrated satisfactorily in 1838.

It has various modern names. Among them are collapse therapy, artificial pneumothorax, and compression therapy.

The treatment consists of allowing the diseased lung to collapse by permitting air to enter the pleural cavity, the space between the lung and the chest wall, on the theory that a diseased lung will heal more rapidly when collapsed because it is at rest.

Historic Oak Dying

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Despite efforts of caretakers to prolong its life, historic old Gorgas oak, one hundred and fifty-year-old landmark on the University of Alabama campus, is dying.

ODD THINGS AND NEW—By Lane Bode

Seeks Release as Betrayer of Cavell

Spy Denies Guilt in Case of British Nurse.

Paris, France.—Judas in the Nurse Cavell case, Georges Gaston Quien, French spy condemned as the betrayer of the martyred English woman, was informed at Clairvaux prison that plans for a retrial of his case have been definitely dropped.

Quien, whose death penalty from a French court-martial was changed to 20 years imprisonment, has been in Clairvaux since 1919. His 20-year term expires on October 23, 1938, unless the French government shortens it for good behavior. His jailers term him a model prisoner.

Brand Whitlock, former American ambassador in Belgium, was among the many who doubted that Quien was the actual betrayer of the nurse. They sought to reopen the case, but political complications were so great that lawyers definitely wiped their hands of the affair.

Still Has Hopes.

From officials of the Clairvaux prison, it was learned that Quien had not given up hope of a new trial and that he had continued to protest his innocence. Troubled with rheumatism, Quien declares that his imprisonment is causing intense suffering.

Until new information comes forward, the evidence brought out in the two weeks' trial in September, 1919, stands. Quien, aged forty at that time, was serving a term in jail at Saint Quentin when the Germans marched into that city in 1914. Released by the Germans, Quien remained behind the German lines as a civilian.

In 1915, at Landreocles, Quien learned of the "underground railway" which Nurse Cavell had developed for repatriating French escaped prisoners and civilians. Pretending to be a French officer, doctor and lawyer, and later posing as an embassy attaché, Quien succeeded in mystifying Prince and Princess de Croix, who were collaborators of Nurse Cavell.

Through them he was sent to the institute of Miss Cavell in Brussels. Through her he was sent along the "underground railway" into Belgium, where he approached the French ambassador and asked for a mission as spy, or a job in the repatriation scheme. A few weeks later he was back in Brussels and was frequently seen with a member of the German secret police.

Returned to France.

He visited Miss Cavell again. The German, wearing a beard as disguise, stood waiting outside the door. A few hours later Miss Cavell was arrested and, with three others, condemned to death. Denounced in Belgium, Quien went to Westphalia, whereafter he was sent to a hospital and finally to Switzerland as an incurable sick man.

He could not fight the desire to return to France and crossed the border, where he was seized and sent to jail for six months on an old theft charge. Released from jail, he was sent to the French penitentiary troops in the Sahara, in southern Algeria. There he was rearrested in October, 1918, and brought to France to stand trial for betrayal.

The court-martial found him guilty, sentenced him to death, then signed a request for pardon in his favor. The principal fact of evidence against him was that the Germans arrested every one of the 20 people who harbored Quien in his voyage into Holland by the "underground railway." Quien named Cavier was responsible but police never were able to find the Cavier concerned.

One in 10,000

From a student body of more than 10,000 at Ohio State university, this young lady, Miss Anne Scott of Columbus, was picked as the outstanding beauty. With the award goes the title of "Queen of the Maklo" and Anne's portrait appears in that student annual.

Dog Proves Good Lawyer for Master

Philadelphia.—Sam Forton of Yeadon has a police dog called Bill, that's a nurse, guard and lawyer.

When Sam fell on the pavement and incurred a concussion, Bill went for a policeman and lugged him to the scene. He insisted on staying at Sam's bedside in hospital.

When Sam was arraigned on a charge of intoxication, Bill stood on his hind legs and pawed at the magistrate.

When Magistrate Hamberg said: "Six months," and police seized Sam, Bill went into action with every howl at his command.

Hamberg changed his mind. Sam and Bill left together, Bill leading.

DEFINITION OF GENIUS

Thomas A. Edison once said "Genius is 2 per cent inspiration and 98 per cent perspiration."

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of strong laxatives may do more harm than good.

Harsh laxatives often drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin gently helps the average person's bowels back to regularity. Why not try it? Some pills or tablets may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. All druggists, ready for use, in big bottles. Member N. R. A.

Look Up

We look backward too much. Thus we miss the passing moment.—William Lyon Phelps.

Mercolized Wax

Keeps Skin Young

Absorb blemishes and discolorations using Mercolized Wax daily as directed. Invisible particles of wax and skin are freed and all defects such as blackheads, tan, freckles and large pores disappear. Skin is then beautifully clear, velvety and so soft—face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out your hidden beauty. At all leading druggists.

Powdered Saxolite

Reduces wrinkles and other age-signs. Simply dissolve in cream Saxolite in half-pint which hased and use daily as face lotion.

Is This Too Good for Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild cough often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

WHISPERED Great Complexion Secret!

To her friend she confessed the secret of her flawless clear white skin. Long ago she learned that no cosmetic would hide blotches, pimples or sallowness. She found the secret of real complexion beauty in N-R Tablets (Nature's Remedy). They cleaned and cleared the eliminative tract—corrected sluggish bowel action—drove out the poisonous wastes. She felt lighter, too, full of pep, tingling with vitality. This mild, safe, dependable, all-vegetable corrective brought her complexion to its natural beauty. At all druggists.

See headacher, dizziness vanish. At all druggists—only 25c.

Quick relief for acid indigestion, heartburn. Only 10c.

TUMS

Biblical Warning The familiar warning "Beware of dogs" is found in Philippians 3:2.

for COLDS

Put Mentholatum in nostrils to open them, rub in chest to reduce congestion.

MENTHOLATUM

CHAPPED ROUGH SKIN

To relieve the redness and dryness and hasten the return of skin comfort and health, apply soothing Resinol

A Few Have Not Yet Paid Up

Their Subscription to

The Informer

If You Are One Of These,

this is to let you know that for a few days

WE WILL ACCEPT CASH

On These Subscriptions

We advise you to

Act Promptly

Before This Rare Opportunity Is Withdrawn

Subscribe for the

INFORMER

$1.00 per year in Donley county

$1.50 per year outside of Donley county.

Specials FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

All foods that any good grocery handles can be found here. You also save more on Every Purchase if you trade regularly at the "M" System

Sugar, Pure Cane, 25 lb.	$1.19
Flour, White Eagle, Kansas gear, 48lb	1.59
Meal, Yukon, large sack	41c
Sweet Potatoes pk.	25c
Spuds, No. 1 Colorado, peck	33c
Coffee, Admiration, 3lb	79c
Coffee, Admiration, 1lb	27c
Beans, Pintos, 10 lb.	47c
Baking Powder, K. C., 25 oz.	18c
Mustard, qt. jar	15c
Lettuce nice firm head	5c
Celery, large stalk	10c
Salt, 10c pkg., 2 for	15c
Oranges, nice size, doz.	19c
Grapefruit, nice size, 6 for	25c
Bananas, doz.	19c
Lemons, large, doz	19c

Market Specials

Brick Chili, 2 lb.	25c
Cheese, Longhorn, 2 lb.	35c
Sausage, Pure Pork, 3 lb.	25c
Roast, Rib, nice and fat, 3 lb.	25c
Steak, Fat & Tender, lb.	12c
Salt Pork, lb.	6c

M System

PASTIME THEATRE Clarendon, Texas

Friday, Mar 9th,
Fredric March, Mariam Hopkins, George Raft and Helen Mack in All of Me

Concerns the love affairs of two couples of opposite stations of life. There are two kinds of women but only one kind of love. Some women know all the thrills of romance. You will learn all about love from these two people who have nothing else. Also comedy.

Sat 10th Back Jones and Dorothy R. Vier in

The Thrill Hunter

A roaring, thundering thriller drama, teeming with excitement, suspense and glorious romance. Also Cartoon Comedy. Be sure you see "Buck."

Matinee, 10c to all

Midnite show, Ralph Bellamy, Fay Wray, Walter Connolly, Mary Carlisle in

Once to Every Woman

A picture that you will long remember. Also good comedy. Beginning at 11:00 sharp.

Monday, and Tuesday, 12-18th
Francis Dee, Gene Raymond, Alison Skipworth in

Coming Out Party

There's a definite human interest punch in this picture, portrayed in a realistic and convincing fashion. Francis Dee is swell, getting better all the time. All in all you will be glad you have seen this picture. Also Fox News and comedy.

Get your tickets from the professional and business ladies.
Wed. and Thurs 14 15th

Devil Tiger

The greatest wild animal picture ever filmed. Enough amazing animal fights for half a dozen thrilling features packed in a half dozen breathless reels. Get ready for it. You will be glad you came out. Also Paramount News and comedy.

Pictures coming: Design For Living and Hold That Girl

A few more ladies dresses to sell for $1.00

B. & B Variety Store.

CITY CASH MARKET Saturday Specials

Chilli, lb.	10c
Beef Roast, 3 lb.	25c
Steak, choice cuts, lb.	12 1/2c
Pork Chops, 3 lbs.	25c
Speckled Trout & Oysters

Best Quality Cured Meats

L. W. Montgomery,
Prop.

RITZ THEATRE Memphis, Texas

Thursday or Friday Mar 8th
Once to Every Woman
Fay Wray, Walter Connolly and Ralph Bellamy. Comedy and News.

10 and 15 cents

Fri and Sat Mar. 9 10th

Above the Clouds

A fast action picture with Richard Cromwell and Robert Armstrong. Cartoon and comedy.

10 cents

Sat. preview Sun. and Mon. Mar. 10th 11th and 12th

Prizefighter & the Lady

With Jack Dempsey, Max Baer, Walter Huston and Myrna Loy. Also a good comedy

10 and 15 cents

Tuesday and Wednesday 13 14
The return of Lillian Gish to the screen in

His Double Life

with Roland Young Comedy and news 10 and 15 cents

Bank Night at the Palace Thursday, 8th

Coming: Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in Dancing Lady.

Make plans now to see it
Mar. 17th 18th and 19th

Mr and Mrs G. E. Kinslow visited in Clarendon Monday.

COLEMAN

AUTOMATIC
ELECTRIC IRON

Finest, most economical electric iron made. No overheating... no waste of electricity. Heat adjustable and automatically maintained for either light or heavy ironing.

Handsome, super-chromium finish. Glass-smooth sole plate slides easier. Tapered ironing edge makes it easy to iron around buttons, under pleats, etc. Produces better ironing results... saves you time and money because it has...

Sturdy, Accurate Long-Lasting Thermostat
Dependable Long-Life Heating Element

Thompson Bros.

Watch our Windows for Specials
Come in and Price Our Goods
FOR BARGAINS

HOUSTON CASH GROCERY AND PRODUCE

Phone 43

We buy Poultry, Cream, Eggs and Hides

Every Day Specials

Flour, Plains Delight, 48lb. $1.58

Meal, 20 lb.	43c
Coffee, Bulk, lb.	13c
Spuds, pk.	30c
Syrup, E. Tex. Sorghum, gal.	50c
Honey, strained, gal.	98c

Oranges, nice size, doz 19c

Lettuce, head	5c
Cabbage, lb.	2c
Seed Irish Potatoes, pk.	50c
Bermuda Onion Sets, Two bunches	15c

We have moved just across the street to the Kendall building

We have plenty of Seed Oats

We buy Junk Iron

EADS & CO.

WE DELIVER THE GOODS
PHONE 23

KING FOR RE-ELECTION

The Informer is authorized to announce R. Y. King as a candidate for re-election to the office of County Attorney of Donley county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries in July.

Mr. King needs no introduction to the voters of this county. He is asking for re-election solely on his merits and his past record, and promises to be again chosen as County Attorney so continue to perform his duties to the best of his ability.

He will appreciate your support and influence.

Mrs. B. E. Plumlee is visiting relatives in Wellington this week.

Political Announcements

For District Attorney:
JOHN M. DEEVER
Re-election

For District Clerk:
WALKER LANE
Re-election

For County Judge:
S. W. LOWE
Re-election

For County Attorney:
R. Y. KING
Re-election

For County Treasurer:
MRS. R. WILKERSON
Re-election

For County Clerk:
W. G. WORD
Re-election

For Sheriff:
M. W. MORLEY
C. HUFFMAN
GUY S. PIERCE
Re-election

For Tax Assessor and Collector:
MARVIN SMITH
JOE BOWNS
W. C. (BILL) McDONALD

For County Commissioner, Precinct No. 3

G. L. ARMSTRONG
T. N. MESSER
J. W. DEBORD
J. LES HAWKINS

Re-election
L. J. CRAWFORD
RAY DOHERTY

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

Turning from city newspapers to small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the paper aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us; one gains renewed faith in life.

Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, school activities, farmer's items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.

Christian Science Monitor.

NAZARENE CHURCH

Sunday School at 10 a. m.
Preaching service 11 a. m.
Young people meet at 6:30
Night service at 7:30

Rev. Nannie Carter,
Pastor.