W. A. PIERCE

William Arthur Pierce was born in Tennessee, Feb. 17, 1886. Departed this life June 16, 1934. The family moved from Tenn. to Newlin Texas when the two boys, Art and Curtis were small. The family moved to McKnight about fourteen years ago where they still reside. The writer has known the Pierce family for about 28 years and I can truthfully say that I have never known a more devoted family.

When Art was quite a young man he was married to Miss Ora Grow of Newlin. This was a real union. He was a devoted husband and father.

Four girls were born to this union, Mrs. Elsie Watkins, Mrs. Ethel Lathram, Mrs. Edith Williams and Artie Pierce. Besides the wife and children, he leaves a broken hearted father, mother and brother, Brother and sister J. H. Pierce and Curtis, and a number of grandchildren.

Art was converted and joined the Methodist Church about ten years ago, and according to his word of testimony the day before he passed on, he was ready to go. He said, I am going to a better world.

May God bless his dear wife, children, grandchildren, father, mother and brother. We know where to find this good man.

"HOMELAND"

Life changes all our thoughts of heaven: At first we think of streets of gold, Of gates of pearl and dazzling light, Of shining wings and robes of white, And things all strange to mortal sight.

But in the afterdays of years It is a more familiar place, A home unshorn by sight of tears, Where waiteth many a well-known face.

With passing months it comes more near, It grows more real day by day, Not strange or cold, but very dear, The glad homeland, not far away, Where none are sick or poor or lone, The place where we shall find our own. And as we think of all we knew Who there have met to part no more, Our longing hearts desire home, too, With all the strife and longing o'er.

A. V. Hendricks

Word was received this week from Mrs. Frank Kendall, who is visiting her daughters, Frances and Virginia, near Abilene, that she was enjoying good health and would remain until the first term of summer school was out, so that they could accompany her when returned.

W. I. Rains is in Marlin in the interest of his health.

Helen Bell and wife moved to Alameda recently.

You need not be alarmed—that is, if your wallet contains Travelers Cheques instead of cash. A wise hold up man is not interested in your Cheques because your signature makes them your individual "money" and only you can legally spend them.

If he is wise and insists upon taking them you are not the loser. The American Express, who issue these Travelers Cheques, returns to you the amount involved if you have not yet cashed them.

Thousands of dollars have been saved to travelers who carry these Cheques. We suggest that when you are planning a trip, you get as this safeguard your travel funds. American Travelers Cheques come in handy denominations of $10, $20, $50 and $100 at the small cost of 7¢ for each $100 purchased.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE BANKS

By F. N. SHEPHERD
Executive Manager
American Bankers Association

WHILE banking today appears in a wholly distorted light in the eyes of some, the more reasoning elements in our population undoubtedly have a less jaundiced view than would appear from certain irresponsible orators, often posing as spokesmen for that indefinite quantity called "the mass" of our people.

Anti-social acts on the part of some bankers formerly have been the subject of spectacular exposures, but I can say with reservation that they were in no way typical of the acts and attitudes of the vast majority of their fellow bankers. The public mind was shocked into the belief that these untypical instances were far more representative than they really were, and this belief has been encouraged by political and demagogic elements.

The Bankers Today

The bankers who are in charge of our banks today represent men who withstood the temptations and avoided the economic pitfalls of the great boom. If they had not they would not be there, or their banks would not have been able to survive the rack and ruin of the economic hurricane, by which even many banks and bankers, whose conduct was above reproach, have been destroyed. The other true of bankers, those that fell below the high standards of professional ethics and business prudence that characterized those that remain, have passed out of the picture. But they have left for those that remain a difficult heritage of suspicion and ill-will.

How irrational this is, when we reflect that not more than three or four per cent of our entire population suffered personal loss because of what any banker did or neglected to do, whereas literally millions of bank depositors did not lose a single cent as a result of banking difficulties and really owe a vote of confidence and thanks to their own bankers who were true to the highest conception of their stewardship and brought their institutions and their customers safely through the greatest business disaster the world has ever seen. It has been a peculiar feature of the psychology of distortion of the times that many who owe nothing but gratitude to their bankers joined in blaming the banker far out of proportion with any rational consideration of the facts.

WAR ON SUPERSTITION

The Bunyip, the chief devil of aborigine tribes in Australia, is marked for extinction. Authorities who are trying to stamp out superstition are conducting a campaign of education against the dreaded "beast." With it also must go the "singed bone" punishment. The aborigine believes that if he sees the Bunyip he will die before the next sunrise. It is said to bear the shape of a frog, is about three feet high and haunts deep waterholes. The "singed bone" is believed to be feared by all natives. When a warrior has violated any rule of his tribe the tribe council take an ordinary shin bone, twist it, singe it at one end, and sharpen it at the other. The bone is then given to a runner, who goes at a steady jog-trot into the bush to seek the wrongdoer.

Beggars Live High as Money Rolls In England Finds Barnum's Estimate Too Modest.

London.—How true the saying is, "there is one born every minute," is emphasized by an interview in London with R. E. Astbury, inquiry secretary of the Charity Organization Society. Mr. Astbury is inclined to think that, in England at least, there is more than one born every minute, and tells of some of the extraordinary methods employed by tricksters who specialize in begging letters, writes John Steele in the Chicago Tribune.

"In London today," he says, "there lives a man who has for more than a quarter of a century done nothing to earn a living except by writing begging letters. He lives in a well appointed flat in Kensington, has an office and maintains a staff of clerks, and has an international organization which operates in America and on the continent. He poses alternately as an ex-army officer, an ex-naval officer, and a doctor of literature.

"We first made the acquaintance of this individual 25 years ago. Then he was preying upon elderly women who were interested in the suppression of 'blood sports.' He formed, so he claimed, a society for the purpose of organizing a campaign to stop 'blood sports,' and subscriptions simply rolled in.

"The man is certainly one of the cleverest of begging letter writers, and is always up to date in his ideas. Now he has turned poet and a doctor of literature, but of what university he does not say.

The Same Old Story.
"Then there is the dear old soul who for years has been making a comfortable living by telling of her hardships. Using accommodation addresses in different parts of London, she writes to titled people. Always it is the same story: her husband has just died, she is in terrible distress, owes $5 a rent. And she encloses her 'rent' book of course.

"In the last twenty years we have known that woman, and I have at least a dozen of her 'rent books,' each very carefully written up and showing the amount said to be owing. She uses a score of different names, and is most sympathetic in her appeals. She never makes the mistake of writing to the same person twice with the same story. That she makes a really splendid living at this sort of thing is shown by the fact that only a few weeks ago we went to one accommodation address near London which she was using and found more than 30 letters waiting for her there, and on the envelope of nearly every one was a crest or a coronet.

King of Islamistan

Dr. Khalid Sheidraque, former London pickle manufacturer, who has assumed the title of "King of Islamistan" and claims the overlordship of Sinkiang, Chinese Turkestan, has arrived in Peking, China, with a large retinue. He was converted to Mohammedanism several years ago, and was visited by a deputation last March from Chinese Turkestan, who told him they had been commissioned to invite him to become king of the area.

"The begging writer specializes very definitely. There is one woman who follows the birth announcements and immediately writes her appeal: 'How happy the new mother must be. Yet I, who became a mother on the same day, am destitute and my child dead. Now I have nowhere to go, for my husband was killed in an accident only a week before the child was born.' Another woman specializes on the engagement column and has a sad story to relate, ending with an appeal for help.

Profession Overcrowded.
"Then, of course, there is always the old soldier or old sailor who writes to widows of naval or military officers, claiming to have served under their husbands. Another clever and persistent begging writer is a man who claims to have been employed at one time by a firm of court jewelers in an exclusive part of London. The man certainly possesses a list of old clients of the firm, and writes his appeals to them, pretending to have done them a service years ago.

"The profession of begging letter writing is rapidly becoming overcrowded. In the last twelve months we have had between 3,000 and 4,000 more inquiries regarding the genuineness of letters than ever before."

In a recent police case in London it was revealed that a man had lived for 20 years on begging letters, keeping a man and woman servant, an automobile and four dogs. It was also stated that the man had a small cottage in the country, and went abroad every year for a couple of months to avoid London fogs and bad weather.

HOPE
By LEONARD A. BARRETT

According to Greek mythology, Prometheus stole fire from heaven, and to avenge the theft the gods commanded Pandora, a very beautiful woman, to come to earth holding in her hand a box from which escaped all the human ills, but hope remained.

While fear is the arch enemy of the race, hope is its greatest blessing. To the person in whose heart burns the light of hope, every cloud of discouragement has a silver lining. Hope constructs a future which becomes a sort of goal summoning all one's strength to reach it. Hope knows no present tense. It functions wholly in the future. "Come ride along with me, the best of life is yet to be," can only be said by those whose lives are dominated by hope. Hope knows no discouragement, because the latter is a thing of the present moment, and hope is interested in the future.

There is a popular phrase, "As long as there is life there is hope." The opposite is more the truth, as long as

New Speed Flash

Fox Draper is the latest track star developed by Coach Dean Cromwell at the University of Southern California. He is small but very speedy and is being groomed for the N. C. A. A. championship meet to be held at Los Angeles June 22 and 23.

there is hope there is life. "When hope dies within the heart, a common grassy sivers everything" and purpose, ambition and even faith itself are near the end. No more severe fate could befall any person than to be bereft of the light of hope.

Hope calls out all latent energies and makes each adventure in life a "stepping stone to higher things." Hope quickens the mind, sharpens the perspective and stimulates the heart. Hope is like the lighthouse. Out upon the stormy sea it throws its light. Penetrating the darkness with its beams the ships are guided to safety.

Hope is an innate gift, deeply implanted within the heart. We may kill it or cultivate it, just as we choose. It develops, however, through self-expression. "If we have no hope we are of all men most miserable."

Hope was unknown among the ancients as a virtue to be cultivated. They emphasized courage, physical strength, endurance, but seldom mentioned hope. It is a virtue especially characteristic of a Christian civilization. Hope is named as one of the blessings which still remain, "Now abideth, Faith, Hope and Love."

The Household

Curves Are a Pronounced Feature of the New Furniture.

A NEW style of furniture is coming in. When named, it is variously called modern classic and Twentieth century furniture. It is designed on classic lines and is, therefore, in pronounced contrast to the modernistic furniture which has been featured in the past few years. This new type may be said to "mix well" with other styles, while the modernistic type requires more special settings suited to itself. The incoming furniture vogue is far from bizarre. It is not difficult to introduce pieces into already furnished rooms when new furniture is needed to be substituted for wornout pieces, unless the previous furnishings were modernistic.

The new furniture is restful in style rather than striking. One is not impressed by its presence in a room because it is different, but because it pleases the eye. Straight lines so omnipresent in modernistic furniture are neither stressed nor avoided, but neither are curves shunned.

Return of Curves.
One striking feature of the Twentieth century furniture, in fact, is the return of curves. These are lines of beauty which have been sorely lacking in modernistic pieces. So pronounced is this feature, that the up-to-date modernistic furniture already is influenced by it, as instanced in modifications of the severity of the usual straight and angular shapes. There is no doubt that furniture and figures both are returning to curved contours and lines of beauty.

The name modern classic which is applied to the new or Twentieth century style of furniture, is revealing. It gives in its name its two characteristics. It is modern but built on classic lines. It is graceful without extravagance of embellishment. It does not feature carving, either the choice sort done by hand, or the mechanical reproductions made separately and glued in place. It is simple but not severe. Since curves are introduced as instanced in cabriole legs, the standard supports for mirrors on bureaus, etc., the furniture could scarcely be severe. It can be stately, gracious, and pleasing and it is these characteristics which are focusing attention.

Cigarette smokers must have ash trays. If the homemaker does not provide plenty of them, she will find her vases and dishes converted into ash receivers, and even tops of boxes will be upturned and used for the purpose. It is important, therefore, to have enough of these dainty little trays. They should be the sort to withstand heat, as well as wash easily.

About Ash Trays.
For these reasons there is nothing better than pottery for ash receivers. This substance is not inflammable, it is a nonconductor of heat, and it washes to look like new. Pottery, or semiporcelain is preferable to china for both are heavier than china. The intense heat of glowing stubs when pressed against the last ware may crack it. The ashes, of course, would do no harm, only intense heat of the burning tip when carelessly pressed too long, without releasing the stub continually while the fire is being quenched.

Glass ash trays are attractive in their pristine clearness, for their gay colors. They should be fireproof. It is chiefly through carelessness that either the glass or the china cracks, but smokers are proverbially heedless with cigarettes.

Metal ash receivers have the advantage of being unbreakable, but they cannot have all the points in their favor. Metal heats through very quickly. If a smoker carelessly or hurriedly leaves a burning stub in the tray, as we all know happens occasionally, the heated metal is liable to mar a highly polished table top of wood. When the smoker's stand or table top is of marble or tiling, such possibility of damage does not exist.

This Is a Perfect Case of Goods Exchanging

Birmingham, England.—Tribesmen in the Solomon Islands are now so busy making soap that they no longer have time to carve personal ornaments out of palmwood, and are buying brass ornaments from Birmingham as a substitute. This is thought to be the perfect case of fair international exchange, as the Birmingham people get dirty making brass ornaments to sell to the Polynesians who pay for the brass ornaments with soap to get the Birmingham people clean.

W. M. SOCIETY

The women auxiliary of the Methodist Church met Monday with Mrs. Webb, president in charge. After a song and prayer quite a bit of business was discussed, and plans for the near future were arranged, among which, next Monday being the regular social meeting of the month, we will meet at the church just as soon after noon as possible and do some quilting for Mrs. Pickett, whom you all know. Every one who can do so is invited to come to this meeting not only the missionary women,
but the women of the church.
Your presence is always appreciated, and we'll have refreshments; we always do on social day. The society will serve a dinner on election day down town.
Details, place and price will be announced later. We hope to meet you all at the church early Monday afternoon.

DORCAS CLASS

The Dorcas class of the First Baptist Church met in the basement of the church Friday afternoon June 15. Mesdames Land and Alewine joint hostesses.
The lives of Mary and Esther were discussed. Our next class meeting will be announced later.
All young married ladies who are not attending Sunday school else where are invited to attend our class.

WIFADADOS CLUB

The Wifadados club met in regular session at the home of Mrs. Reed, June 13. The president called the house to order and opened business of the afternoon by repeating the club prayer in unison. After the business of the hour was disposed of, Mrs. Burdine of Quail gave a demonstration of molding clay work which resulted in a nice little horse. The process was rather fascinating. Ten members answered to roll call.

instead of Mrs. Swinney as intended. Subject, The Wardrobe a feeling of mirth. After several games of progressive 42, high

A Few Little Smiles

AWA, AWA

Muggsley, who rather liked to hear the sound of his own voice, was re-counting one of his experiences to a number of long-suffering clubmen.

"Yes," he said, with a dramatic touch in his voice, "There was I standing unarmed with a raging lion only five yards away from me. Suddenly it took a flying leap, and—"

"How thrilling!" interposed one of the members who was trying to read his paper, "What on earth would you have done if the bars of the cage had given way?"

IF AND WHEN

"Mrs. Brown is crazy to have her husband get an airplane." "What for?" "So that she can look down on the neighbors, I suppose."

One Who Knew

A pessimistic woman happened to be in a shop where the assistant was trying to sell a clock to a girl.

"I recommend this one with its illuminated dial," he said. "It's very good to tell what time your husband comes home at night, you know."

The girl smiled.

"But I haven't a husband," she said. "Ah, you will have one of these days," the assistant replied.

The girl smiled again.

"Anyway, he won't be that sort of man," she said.

The pessimistic woman interrupted: "My dear child, they're all that sort. I'll buy the clock."

Proof Enough

Rastus—Say, Sambo, what time in your life does you think you wuz scared de worst?

Sambo—Once when Ah wuz callin' on a married gal an' her husbin' come in an' caught me. Boy, wuz Ah scared!

Rastus—How are yo' suah dat was de worstest yo' evah bin scared?

Sambo—Cause her husbin' turned to dat wife ob his an' he say: "Mandy, what's dis white man doin' here?"

Her Guess

Him—It tells here of a woman who laughed herself to death.

Her—Probably happened while listening to the other woman who married the joke she put back in circulation telling the grief she was having trying to live with him.

Squeezed

Jean—But surely you didn't tell him straight out that you loved him?

Mildred—Goodness, no. He had to squeeze it out of me.

By George!

Lady (to new milkman)—How much is my milk bill?

Milkman—Scuse me lady, but my name's Joe.

NOT ENOUGH

"Beauty is only skin deep." "I consider that a wise provision of nature, as with that limitation only the girls are kept busy enough."

Equilibrium

"Have you no fear of an unbalanced budget?" asked the constituent.

"I fear it greatly," answered Senator Sorghum, "but I've got to consider the chance of unbalancing a neat and hitherto reliable majority out home."

Wedding Account

Friend—There wasn't a very big account of your daughter's wedding in the paper this morning.

Father (sadly)—No, the big account was sent to me!

Hold Your Horses

"The people of this country must grow more wheat," declaimed the candidate.

"How about hay?" shouted a heckler.

"I'm talking about food for mankind just now," said the candidate, "but I'll get around to your case in a minute."

Earmarked

"Am I good enough for you?" sighed the fond swain.

"No," said the girl candidly, "you're not; but you're too good for any other girl."

"The letter I gave you this morning—did you post it?" asked Mrs. Brown inquiringly.

Brown put his hand in his jacket pocket and drew out the letter.

"I'm afraid not, my dear," he said coolly enough.

"Of course you didn't!" she snapped. "And I told you that it was very important."

"Yes, I remember, dear," he returned.

"How like a man that is!" she continued.

"But, dear—" he stammered.

"Don't 'but' me. I'm angry," she snapped.

"But, dear, be reasonable. Look at the letter; you forgot to address it," he explained.—Stray Stories.

Wealth

Primo Carnera told a story in Miami.

"A powerful speed boat," he began, "shot out of the harbor the other morning and a young lady said to me:

"That boat belongs to Mr. Van Gold. He has made an enormous fortune."

"Good for him!" I said. "Is he rich enough to have his name in the Blue Book?"

"Blue Book!" said the young lady. "Why, he's rich enough to be called before the senate investigating committee."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Natural Assumption

The young mistress sent her maid, newly hired, for a number of toilet articles.

"Mandy," said the mistress a few days later, "where is that tar soap you got for me the other day?"

"Lawsee, Miss," exclaimed Mandy, "what all's a blond baby like you to do with tar soap? Ah thought you ordered it for mah own pussional use."—Boston Transcript.

The High Hatter

"Have you ever high-hatted anybody?"

"Not for a long time," answered Senator Sorghum. "Not since I used to make faces at the class when the teacher required me to wear a tall, conical dunce cap."

PRINT FROCK THAT IS WORTHY PLACE IN ANY WARDROBE

PATTERN 1776

There's nothing like a print frock to suggest spring—to brighten up our wardrobe—and our spirits! We'd love the model sketched here in one of the colorful all-over designs so popular this season. It has truly flattering, feminine lines—the gracefully flared sleeves, the slim semi-belted waistline and length-giving skirt panel. With the neckline worn open, artificial flowers posed at the neckline add a chic note. For added interest, tiny buttons trim the back bodice. Sleeves may be omitted or may be made of contrast.

Pattern 1776 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 40. Size 16 takes 4 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Address orders to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

ENCOURAGEMENT

While the young suitor was waiting to take out his young lady the latter's little sister entered the room.

"Did you know my sister's got three other boy friends?" said the child.

The suitor pricked up his ears at this piece of news.

"Really?" he said, in surprise. "I haven't seen any of them."

"Neither have I," returned the child, "but she gave me a quarter to tell you."—Border Cities Star.

Up-to-Date Budgeting

A film magnate said on his return from Europe:

"Budget balancing nowadays reminds me of a little story.

"A boy went into a shop and looked the stock over, then he said: 'A nickel's worth of chewin' gum and a nickel back, and I'll be along with the dime next month or so.'"

Too Slow for Him

The real estate agent, having shown the prospective customer around all day until well into the evening, inquired: "Well, now, what do you think of our little city?"

"I'll tell you, brother," replied the tough westerner. "This is the first cemetery I've ever seen with lights."—Exchange.

Bad for Both

Major (telling of big-game hunting)—There we stood, the tiger and I, in the thick of the jungle, face to face!

Dumb Dora—Oh, Major, how perfectly frightful it must have been for both of you!

It Was Plenty

"What did the wife say when you came rolling in at 2 a. m.?"

"Maybe you have time to spend three hours listening, but I haven't that long to waste repeating what she said, and she talks a heap faster than I do."—Cincinnati Enquirer.
