Sheriff Pierce in Statement To Donley County Voters

To the Voters of Donley County:

I take this means of asking you your support and influence in the coming election for reelection to the office of sheriff. It is impossible for me to see each one of you personally as I am financially unable to hire another man to work in my place, however, I would like to see each one and solicit your

I want to thank each and everyone for everthing you have done for me. I appreciate your favors very much. I have tried hard to merit your confidence by working hard. I am running for reelection on my record; a record I am proud of. I think anywhere you go in West Texas you will hear folks speak of Donley County as a clean law abiding county. Ask any officer concerning Donley County, and see what he says. Local officers, state officers and federal officers if they do not say Donley is a clean law abiding county, and is a little above the average county in that respect I will with draw from the race. I have made mistakes and will make more: I am only human. You have tried me as your sheriff. You know just what I can and will do; I do not have to tell you.

I have been offered a good chance of the office of sheriff in at least two other Counties by good substantial people if I would come and live there my required time and also by their grand juries. The sheriff office in Donley County is not a political plum any more, nor has it been since I have been in office. I make three sworn annual reports each year. Of all fees earned and collected, one is on file at Austin, Texas, one in the District Clerk's office and one in the County Clerk's office of this county. I would be glad for any one to examine my records at any time. I can show you a saving in the sheriff office of better than fifty per cent in the last four years to what it was in previous years. I have had three automobiles stolen and taken out of the county in the last four years, and have recovered them. In a neighboring county, year before last there were fiftynine stolen cars. We have had two burglaries in the county in the last year, and the parties were caught and convicted in each case. I have never lost a stolen car that has been stolen in Donley County. I would appreciate very much if you would compare this county with any county in Texas along that line.

I do not want to seem like I am bragging: I lay my success on two things, not as to my ability being above the average, but on hard work staying on the job night and day, and the co-operation of the people. Without that co-operation, I could not be a success. The people make the law and the people enforce the law. As to my character, I have lived in Donley County most of thirty years. I think you folks know me pretty well. I have lived so I am not ashamed to look anyone in the eye, man or woman as to what I do here, at home or when I leave home. I am not on the fence on any subject. I can tell you where I stand without hesitation. I can say anything to any one's face that I say to their backs. We have some folks that can not do that. I want to be thoroughly investigated on anything I do. If I do not come up to standard, do not vote for me. A sheriff is in a hard spot every time you make an arrest. Usually you make some one mad, but that is part of the job and as to the time I have been in office. Since the sheriff's office is just a job like any other job, is it reasonable if a person has made a success of the job to fire him just because he has been in a certain length of time. Would you, as individuals, fire someone working for you because he had worked for you a long time and done a good job of it? You would not. If you or any of your family got sick and you should call a doctor, would you call one that has had some experience or would you call one just beginning to learn how? There's no one a born officer or anything else; he or she has to have experience and training before they have any success regardless of who they are, so I ask the folks of Donley County to take my opponent and myself, put us side by side. compare us the way we have lived, compare us every way, that is fair and honest and then vote for the one you think will make you the best sheriff, because the sheriff's job is a responsible job and means a whole lot to

Not only does the employment of dainty sheers pertain to the evening mode but the real news lies in the fact of their also an important style note for these outstanding vogue for practical day- frilly accents are inevitable this seatime wear. From all style centers comes the persistent report of the supremacy of nets, laces, marquisettes, tulles, mousseline de sole and various other media of like character.

The fact that designers have taken to tailoring net as if it were a heavier material is providing one of the most exciting and fascinating ventures e'er recorded in the annals of fashion history. To refer to the new tailored net suits and ensembles as costumes of sheer delight is no mere play on words for they are just that-delightfully cool, sheer and smart as can be to wear on a late spring or a midsummer day. A jacket suit strictly tailored of net in black, navy, Dubonnet red or any other dark color is about the neatest daytime fashion one could choose for immediate and summer wear. The net employed for these practical tailleurs is of an especially firm and dependable weave which, however, does in nowise detract from its sheer cool-

MOST significant trend in current | In fact it is the dress-ideal for most fashion is the preference shown for any daytime social event where one hopes to look smartly gowned and to keep cool at the same moment. The sheer frill that enhances this dress is son if you would be chic. By all means have a printed net frock, it is exactly the sort that you will love to be wearing the whole summer through.

> Lace for daytime wear has come definitely into its own this season. White cotton alencon makes up stunningly, as you will see by the swank gown to the left in the illustration. For all its tailored simplicity, it takes its place charmingly and definitely for afternoon wear and the cocktail hour. This attractive model features the newest silhoutte. It buttons demurely all the way down the front, and has a little stitched collar and cuffs of white linen. Lace has every advantage in tailored clothes, for it has pattern and texture in itself that allows for no extra trimmings or furbelows.

> The tailored day dress centered in the group is as honest-to-goodness a product of the lace looms as the cobwebby laces and various cotton laces to which we have been accustomed. The dress is made of wool in one of the fabric lace types so much talked of this year. The colors are navy and gray with an accent of navy wool for the neckline and belt. Rosevienne of Paris is the creator of this high-style gown. The model wears it very smart-

Vegetable colors will dominate the summer styles, according to a fashion preview held in New York. Rhubarb pink, wax-bean, parsley green, red cabbage and garden blue (bluebonnet) were shown in every gown or its accossories. Hats were all in color, contrasting with the gown.

Two organza frocks for lunching in town indicated that dark sheers will replace prints for summer wear. With a black organza tunic dress was worn a large Swiss hair hat in rhubarb pink. with black streamers at the back. Gloves in rhubarb and nail polish in rose, carried out the color of the hat.

The ensemble that won the biggest hand was a bicycle culotte of Mt. Airy cloth. Beautifully tailored and practically wrinkle-proof, this new fabric made its formal bow to the world of fashion. Under her pert, tiny straw fedora, the model wore a light tan make-up and rust nails and lips carrying out the off-red tone of her belt and Coats shown for travel were of tweed or lightweight wool with exaggerated shoulders. Long coats were fitted at the waist; swagger, boxy models were finger length. Particularly effective was a swagger top-coat in red cabbage over a navy suit. The mannish line of the large rolled straw fedora was softened by a veil, both in navy. Shoes and bag were navy, and ruby lips and nails carried out the purple red tone of the coat.

Prints Are Designed for Girls Who Take to Golf

The golf-minded girl may carry a country club course on her back this season, if she keeps an eye on the new prints which manufacturers are introducing. Topping the list for novelty patterns introduced this season is the fairways print, ornamented with an entire 18-hole golf course. Designers also have taken inspiration from sea and sky to introduce figured cottons and silks containing piscatorial prints and the sign of the zodiac.

The next morning there were two responses to the advertisement suggested by Evans. Barry wrote asking both applicants for the reward to call at his rooms. On the way to The Globe, he dropped in on Tim Laugh-

Tim had been assigned to a new case now, and regarded the Kelly matter as a closed incident. Barry's zeal amused him. "What're you talking about?" he inquired with mock seriousness. "Kelly? We're at the Ziegfeld Follies, buddy."

Barry reported his interview with the Oriental.

Tim grinned; "We knew all about that ten days ago!"

He produced his records. There was a call at 8:16. That came from a hotel in the Fortles-an actorine named Betty Barclay. Then there was three calls from Kelly'sat 8:22, 8:27 and 9:41. That first number's the house of a lawyer named Next comes the Yale club. And the third's a flat in Riverside drive."

"Whose?"

"I don't know."

"What about the call that came in while Rogers was there?" "Boloney."

Barry proceeded to The Globe, quite expecting to find his dismissal there "I'm going to draw down fifty bucks," he thought, "and what have I done for it?

But Ernie Harwood had caught the contagion for "sleuthing."

"The other papers have practically dropped it," he said. "Okay. We'll go on working quietly, and, some day, we'll turn up the story. It's good any time. And I'm dead sure now the cops have got the wrong party. Maybe they know it, too. Maybe they don't want to know who bumped off the big boss. What're you doing?"

Barry told him, "Let's see those telephone num-

Standing over him, Barry pointed out that somebody had made two calls from Kelly's within eleven minutes after the receipt of the message from Betty Barclay. Harwood saw nothing remarkable about that. "But," Barry persisted, "who was 'somebody?' Kelly didn't get home till 11, the Filipino says. Mrs. Kelly was in Harlem. Who called the Yale club, and the flat on Riverside drive?"

Harwood sent for a newspaper file. "I thought so," he observed, his finger on one of its pages. "Betty Barclay's the dame Mrs. Kelly named when she was going to divorce Kelly." Barry whistled.

"That might explain Mrs. Kelly calling a lawyer named Hood." The city editor glanced back at the

"Especially since he was her lawyer.

Gimme that big red book." Barry obeyed.

Hood. Graduated from Yale. He wasn't at home, so they tried to get him at his club. Law firm: Hood & Loring. Gimme the telephone book. Just a hunch, but-Okay. The Riverside number's the home of Horace Loring. Somebody wanted legal advice that night, and wanted it bad."

"Who?"

"Use your imagination." "Mrs. Kelly?" "Sure. She took the call from Betty Barclay-" "She didn't. The butler took it."

"All right. Then he gave it to her, and she went wild. You want to know why the Oriental's 'cagey.' Well, that's why. He's trying to shield Mrs. Kelly. What you've got to do now is to check up on that alibi."

They discussed ways and means. Also, they discussed Barry's other activities. Barry showed Ernie his advertisement, and the two responses. Harwood was skeptical.

We might get the number of the taxi that killed the woman. What then? That was two hours after the murder. And, if you have the good fortune to get the taxi-the one that brought the midnight caller to Kelhow's the driver going to know who his fare was? No, son; that's beet-

"You never can tell what you're going to get till you go after it." Harwood was searching for that in evitable pipe.

"You're enthusiastic," he commented, "and that's something. In fact, it's everything. I figure getting anywhere as 5 per cent luck and 95 per cent enthusiasm. Now, beat it. I'm tee busy for mathematics."

I started back to my cab, and whom should I bump into but the chap I'd driven to the drug store. He was coming out of Sixteenth street, so lost in himself that he hadn't even

He smiled, almost as warmly and kindly as Winslow had done.

"You've got a nose for news," he went on. "When I hired you, I said you'd get a raise if you were worth it, and fired if you weren't. Well, I think you're worth a hundred a week." "That's swell of you," Barry glowed, "but I don't see what I've done-

Wednesday brought the desired letter from Bad Nauheim, and three more from gentlemen who hoped to receive the fifty-dollar reward. With these, as with their predecessors Barry made appointments beginning at four o'clock Thursday. Mrs. Ridder's envelope contained a check drawn to her order by "the old man," and endorsed simply "Eleanor Ridder." "She's a good business woman," Barry said to himself, ironically.

It hadn't occurred to her to doubt the sender of that cablegram, or what meant to do with the money. "Winslow'll take it," Barry told Peggy, "and take his retainer out of it. Then he can give us his check for the rest. Winslow's name'll be on this check when it's returned to the old man, and, of course, that's all right."

"What'll we do with Winslow's check?" "Start a bank account in your name

Then I'll go to you when we need funds, and tell you what for. Give this letter to Jack, and tell him it ought to make him ashamed of him-

It almost did. Even more than the communication Barry had shown him, this answered Jack's question as to whether his mother cared. "I'm so glad you've got work," she had written, "and so glad you're taking an interest in that boy. It shows I've always been right about you. And it will help you, too. We can't help others without helping ourselves making character. I want to boastto your father. He's no better, though. Worse, if anything. Goodness knows when we shall get back to America, and I'm so anxious to get back-now!" The real Jack Ridder answered that letter without prompting, and the "fake" Jack Ridder posted the answer. At three Thursday afternoon, he was in his rooms, preparing to quiz the reward-seekers. Barry had reason to know the ways of imposters.

The first caller was just that. "I was walking down Fifth avenue," he recounted, "and I happened to glance to my left. I saw the cab coming, lickety-split-"

"To your left?" Barry asked. "That would have been east. And Sixteenth street's for traffic from the west."

The second applicant was waiting by now-a lunch-counter clerk who'd run out of his place "to see what the excitement was about," but hadn't seen much. On his heels, came an exceptionally interesting Jehu. He was an M. D., he told Barry, "but business is bad, so I'm out to make a little."

"A little business?" Barry asked. "Well, I haven't hit anyone yet."

He was thirty-five, neatly dressed, and wore glasses, and his English was pure and undefiled. Moreover, he had scientific instinct for observation. "I saw the taxi," he said, "and the woman step off the curb. I knew the cab would hit her, and it did." "Get the number?"

"Of course," the visitor answered. "Took it down as the runaway crossed in front of me."

He produced a prescription pad.

Barry wrote it in the note-book to which he had transferred the number of Kelly's lost latch-key.

"How did you happen to be in lower Fifth avenue at that hour?" he

"I went down-some time beforewith a very singular person." "Why do you say he was singular?"

"He acted strangely. At least, I thought so at the time. I picked him up in a tobacconist's shop a few minutes before twelve o'clock. 'Where do you want to go? I asked him.

To a drug store,' he answered. "There's one in the Flatiron building, at Broadway and Twenty-third street. Take me there.'

"It seemed a long way to go for a drug store, but I supposed he knew someone, or wanted a special prescription. Anyway, it was none of my business, and I took him. He gave me a fifty-cent tip, and went into the Broadway entrance. Five minutes later, while I was womlering where to go next, I saw him walk out of the door that opened on Fifth avenue. I started

"About half past one, I picked up a couple that wanted to go to the Brevoort, on Eighth street. I took 'em. and was making for Times square again when the traffic lights stopped me at Sixteenth. Then I saw the woman and the cab. The whole thing was over in a minute. The taxi struck her, went right up on the pavement, smashed a lamp-post, and kept going.

But I got the number.' "Then, of course, I jumped out of my cab and went to the woman. She was beyond help, though. And, by this time, a policeman had turned up, and I decided to move on." He smiled. "A taxi-driver learns to avoid the constabulary." "So you didn't give the cop that license number?"

"What for? The woman was dead, and arresting some poor, scared taximan wasn't going to do her any good.

noticed the crowd. 'Hello,' I said. 'We seem to be meeting a lot tonight.'

"'Who are you?' he asked, curtly. "'I'm the taxi-driver who took you to a drug store on Twenty-third street a couple of hours ago.'

"I never saw you before in my life. You've made a mistake,' he said. 'I live in this street, and I've been home all evening. You never drove me anywhere.

"'Have it your own way,' I said. and climbed into my buggy.

"I wasn't mistaken, and neither was he. He was in kind of a daze until he recognized me, and then he got almost hysterical. You'd've thought I'd accused him of murder.' The doctor rose from his chair.

"Maybe I'm doing that," he added. There was a murder that night, you know; in that street. But, of course, you krew. Your ad didn't fool me."

"Then why did you answer it?" "Well, my conscience has been hurt-ing me a little." He smiled again.

"Who Are You?" He Asked Curtly.

That's my number, and my name and

"There's your fifty dollars." "Thanks."

"I wish you could tell me more about your singular fare." "I wish so, too, but I can't. I'd know him if I saw him again, but I'm not likely to see him." "Would you mind leaving me a receipt for that money?" Barry asked. "Certainly not."

"I like to have vouchers for what I pay out." The doctor nodded, and went to the

Barry was halted by an exclama-

"What is it?" he asked.

The doctor turned to him. "That's the man I saw in Sixteenth treet," he said. "Believe it or not, that's the man."

In his hand was Barry's newspa per, with the picture of Judge Hambidge.

"I must see Pat at once," Barry

What was he going to say to her? Six days before, she had given him a pretty plain warning to keep out of this. Barry no longer had any doubt and then Willetts had reminded him that gentlemen didn't "abandon ladles in distress." Well, what was a gentleman to do now?

"Damn it," he raged: "I can't blame her for wanting to protect her own father! And it doesn't make the least difference, anyway. I'd go on loving her if she'd committed the murder!"

Once more, he asked himself what right he had to assume that either Pat or the Judge had anything to do with that murder. Pacing the floor, he reviewed all his evidence again, and reached a conclusion as to what it indicated. That brought him back to the idea of himself as Pat's ally. "If I can make her see that," he said. 'She's got to come clean, though. And she will. When I can tell her about Peggy, and make her understand that the truth will clear that boy. And then we can get together to clear the Judge. There might have been a whole lot of reasons-decent onesfor his going to Kelly's that night."

Evans phoned at ten. "I've been having dinner with Kel. ly's chauffeur. His name's Nolan." Evans said, "and he don't talk much. We got pretty thick tonight, though. "Suppose we start for home at nine in the morning." Barry said.

He was hungry, and tired of think ing, so he had a snack at the corner Precisely at nine the next morning he called Pat and told her he was coming. "Something important's hap-pened," he said.

"Why not lunch with us?" Pat sug-

"We're lucky if we get out by two," Barry told her. "And, anyway, I want to see you alone." "I'll expect you at two," she said.

Evans was waiting, and full of his evening with Nolan. "I didn't dare ask a question," Evans reported. "He's the suspicious kind. I think he drinks, though, and a fellow that drinks is bound to loosen up some day.' "Buy him all he can hold," Barry

Conversation lapsed after that. Ev ans' passenger was rehearsing his part of the coming interview. "I'll bet she knows now what it's about," he speculated. And she did. "Come in," Pat invited, leading the way to the drawing room.

Pat indicated a chair. "Sit there,"

she bade him. "It's awfully warm-(TO BE CONTINUED)

Pleat, Tailor and Tuck Smart Silks

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

EVERY day in every way women who recognize the importance of selecting materials for the fashioning of their costumes that can be "put to the test and not found wanting," are turning to handsome dependable silks that are really and truly pure silk for the solution of their fabric problems.

The fact that a lavish amount of pleating, tucking, shirring and meticulous tailoring is involved in the styling of this season's smartest apparel is proving an added incentive to insist on silk of the better sort that may be relied upon to yield successfully to these varied and sometimes intricate manip ulations.

Three outstandingly important fashion trends are presented in the illustration, each of which demonstrates the chic and charm of silk weaves in the current mode. For the perfectly stunning jacket suit the designer handles black and white printed silk crepe as tailor-perfect as if it were wool. The braid-bound edges of the jacket interpret a highly significant styling detail. As to the white organdy frill, it is a "last word" in accessory chic. Watch for these frilly-frilly effects; they are coming along at a fast and furious as all the newest fashions would have it. A tiny boutonniere and a yellow chamois belt stress the new vogue.

As to this matter of tunics, from all indications they are about to stampede the fashion picture. If in doubt, choose a tunic frock is timely advice, for it is to be tunics by day and tunics by night according to reports from style centers. Some tunics are straight and narrow while other tunics flare about the knees like a bell or a lampshade. Many evening frocks adopt pleated skirts with tunic tops.

Another big fashion feature is the blouse that is all-over pleated like the one shown in the picture. This blouse is of bright green pleated silk chiffon. It is worn with a black silk taffeta suit. Note the pleated frill about the throat. This is a favorite new neckline silhouette. And again please to observe that the sleeves are short and puffed in latest manner. The smartest flower turbans are topheavy in front. The one topping milady's prettily coiffed head is made of purple silk violets. Purple, green and black is the color scheme of this costume which goes to show how striking the new color alliances are this season.

The new and fashionable bolero costumes bring blouses into the very foreground of the fashion scene. black bolero two-piece dresses or suits the outstanding color idea is to wear as bright a blouse as the new silk prints can afford or if not a print then your blouse be of a high-color pleat Short puffed sleeves follow the latest ed silk sheer. Cord laces will be the tops in spring and summer swank, shown in tailored sports clothes for resort wear now and all-round use later.

Peasant weaves also are slated for high success in natural neutral tones, both in cotton and linen, with bright accessories.

Embroidery, which has been creeping back into the style picture, achieves rampant recognition in the new cotton fabrics. Embroidered surfaces are all over the place, both in soft, homespun type of cotton fabrics for sports wear, and in the organdies and mousselines for evening.

Dark Blue Is Gaining in

Popularity for Summer

The increasing popularity of very dark blue (called midnight blue by certain houses and raven blue by others) is halled with enthusiasm by those who find black too somber. Another characteristic is the growing influence of purplish tones which are affecting the new reds and the new blues, although not yet prevalent in decided purple or violene.

Gray, while not prominent as a plain color, has a strong influence over blues, giving them a slate-blue shade. This influence is seen also in greens, which have the appearance of reseda green and verdigris. A new shade which is strongly sponsored for sum-mer is burnt straw or toast, news but a print coat topping a plain frock is latest news from fashion town. The model pictured typifies the new mode. In this instance the redingote is of black and white print linen over a black linen dress. The short sleeves proclaim a popular vogue for the summer. Bright silk print coats with monotone slik dresses, also jackets of gay floral silks that contrast plain skirts will be made a big feature during the coming months.

Book buttons lend a "highbrow" alt to several new mid-season frocks. They are tiny, closed volumes of black en-amel whose leaves are edged with gold.

when you buy your refrigerator

BE SURE IT . . .

- Keeps Foods Safely
- Freezes Plenty of Ice, Quickly
- Operates at Low Cost

MODERN Electric Refrigera-A tor automatically maintains a temperature below 50 degrees, the government standard for safe food preservation. Its operating mechanism is so constructed to give you the surplus refrigeration power necessary during hot spring and summer weather.

In addition to safe food preservation, a modern electric refrigerator gives the home a score of conveniences. It will freeze plenty of ice quickly. Permit the serving of frozen salads, ice cream and other desserts on short notice.

This important health protector and outstanding convenience of electric refrigeration is yours for only a few cents each day. In fact, the average daily cost of electric service to operate the new, modern electric refrigerator is considerably less than the cost of a quart of milk.
