A Proclamation by the Mayor

Whereas the week of April 8 to 10, 1938, has been designated by Governor James V. Allred in his Proclamation of February 26 as State Clean Up Week; and Whereas the Texas Fire Insurance Department and the Texas State Health Department have agreed to cooperate with the city officials of Texas cities and towns in the observance of this Week; and

Whereas, the aims and accomplishments of this Week are:

- 1 To Protect Community Health
- 2 To Reduce Fire Hazards
- 3 To Create a Better Home Life
- 4 To Build Up Pride of Ownership
- 5 To Increase Property Values
- 6 To Beautify Communities

Now, Therefore, I O. E. Johnson, Mayor of the City of Hedley, do hereby join with the Governor of Texas and Officials of the Texas Fire Insurance Department and State Health Department, and do hereby set aside and proclaim the week of April 8 to 10, 1938, as Clean-Up Week in Hedley. The schools, churches, clubs, newspapers, civic and patriotic organizations, boy scouts and girl scouts, and all of our citizenship are urged to take an active part in the observance of this Week. All of these organizations are urged to consult and advise with their city officials as to the best ways and means of conducting this campaign so that the greatest benefits may be derived by all our citizens.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto signed my name of office and caused the Seal of the City to be impressed here on this 24th day of March, A. D. 1938.

O. E. Johnson, Mayor

Latimer Infant Dies

Lola Bell, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Radell Latimer, passed away Saturday in a Memphis hospital. Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ here Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Elfe Wagner conducted the service.

The Informer extends sincere sympathy to the bereaved.

Coming events cast their shadows before but windstorms and tornadoes cast their blackest shadows after. Do not wait until the winds are blowing to protect yourself with insurance. For a few cents additional you can add windstorm, hail, explosion, riot, riot attending a strike, aircraft, smoke and vehicle damage to your policy with the G. L. Johnson Insurance Agency.

S. O. Bell was one of three Chevrolet salesmen in Texas who were leading in car sales for the month of January. All salesmen of the Oklahoma City zone were entered, and Mr. Bell led the Texas division of this zone.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Franklin attended the funeral Tuesday afternoon in Memphis of Mrs. Franklin's aunt, Mrs. Fannie Craver.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Green of Brownfield are the proud parents of a baby girl, born March 2

Dr. A. L. Johnson Dies

We are sorry to report the death of Dr. Albert L. Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn., who passed away Tuesday morning. He was 87 years of age, and was the brother of O. E. Johnson of Hedley. A more extended article will appear next week.

Revival

A revival will begin Sunday, April 3, at the First Baptist Church. Rev. Vick Allen of Lelis Lake will be in charge of the services. I. J. Lloyd of Sunray will conduct the song services. Everyone is invited to attend.

I have bought the Bible land dry and have moved it 1 block north of the First Baptist Church. We would appreciate your business. Lee Meeks, Phone 47

A BASEBALL TEAM FOR HEDLEY!

About 80 baseball enthusiasts met at the Utilities Co. office Tuesday night and made plans for organizing a baseball team in Hedley. Hedley has been admitted to the Hall County League provided necessary funds can be raised.

C. H. Reid was elected manager of the club, and outlined plans for preparing the ground and securing the necessary equipment.

The cooperation of the business men and citizens will be appreciated.

Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:15

Attending the meeting of the Association of Southern Methodist Orphanages at Waco, we were away from our pulpit on Sunday, and last Sunday being a rainy day, we are hoping to have a full attendance of our people at church next Sunday. Also, its being our regular Communion day, we hope to have the entire membership present to partake of the Holy Sacrament. We shall try to have a special message for the occasion.

As the Revival Meeting begins at the Baptist Church, we shall not have the evening service, but all go over and worship with them. We shall appreciate all our members' cooperation in this meeting to help make it a real revival. Bro. Wells has extended us a hearty invitation to attend and cooperate.

We have been blessed with a gracious rain, and we should show our appreciation for God's wonderful blessing by coming to His house for worship.

Please be on time, Sunday morning, 9:45 for Church School. B. J. Osborn

IPS to Gardeners

Care in Planting
PLANTING and planting preliminary demand care as the first toward a successful garden. The ground should be worked deeply and the top three or four inches should be made as fine and as possible.
 Primary consideration in planting is to have the soil favorably moist—damp but not wet. If circumstances demand that you plant when the ground is dry, moisten trenches before dropping the seed. Use enough water to moisten the soil, but not enough to saturate it. Retain moisture after planting, cover seeds with fine earth and press down firmly.
 Generally, a temperature between 65 and 75 degrees when planting is most favorable. Depth of planting is important, and it varies, of course, with different seeds. Generally, seeds approximately the size of turnip should be covered not more than half an inch. Larger seeds, such as peas, beans and corn may be planted one to two and one-half inches deep.

LINEAGE LONGER THAN A KING'S!

For 80 years, generation after generation of flower and vegetable seeds have been grown and gradually perfected by the unique Ferry-Morse Seed-Breeding Institute. Some have twenty generations behind them—for it takes time to produce prize-winning strains.
 Each year, before Ferry's Seeds are packeted, the same Institute tests them all for growing ability—and grows and analyzes each variety for true-ness to type.
 Only seeds that have passed their tests appear in the familiar Ferry's Seeds store display. Choose your seeds there—and be sure of a fine garden this year! 5c a packet and up. 1938 NOVELTIES too! Ferry-Morse Seed Co., Detroit, San Francisco.

Don't Neglect Them!
 Nature designed the kidneys to do a hard-earned job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood streams free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.
 When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headaches, attacks of dizziness, setting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
 Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
 The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Theatre Party

Miss Cleek, director of the Senior play, entertained the Senior class with a theater party on the night of March 17. This party grew out of a promise to the play cast for their improvement in their play. After a delightful trip to Clarendon the Seniors saw "Conquest." After the show they went their various ways, all reporting a splendid evening. We wish to take this privilege here to thank Miss Cleek.

Those making the trip were Messrs. Gregg, Sweet, Seales

Girls Win Second Place

In spite of the bad weather, the volleyball girls ventured to Clarendon for the county meet Saturday morning. With great hopes and small fears, they entered the Clarendon court to play their first game with Clarendon Junior High. After playing the best two out of three with them they won! Then with hopes still higher they played Clarendon High and were defeated, but they still had a chance for first place.
Next the girls played Lella Lake and won again! But who comes next but Clarendon High defeated them again and getting first place followed by Hedley with second. The girls who participated in the games were Seretha

America's Greatest
Food Authority Now
Writes for This Paper

C. Houston Goudiss

We announce with pride a new feature in this issue, "What You Eat and Why," by C. Houston Goudiss, noted food authority, radio speaker, author and lecturer, famous as the man who knows food
"from soil to serving, from table to tissue."

One of these articles will appear each week, and we know housewives and mothers will look forward to them for the accurate, worthwhile information they contain on foods and their relation to health. This is not a recipe column. Mr. Goudiss has designed it to serve as a link between laboratory and layman in the food field, interpreting modern scientific knowledge in the language of the home maker, giving her the elemental facts regarding new discoveries and the part played by food in building and maintaining health.

Every woman wants to know what foods will benefit her family and why, and that is just the information that Mr. Goudiss will give.
Watch for the articles each week make a scrap book of them for ready reference. They contain valuable information every home make has been wanting.

THE FLEET'S ON GUARD!

Uncle Sam's 'Battlewagons' Leave West Coast Bases For Greatest Maneuvers in Nation's History With Hawaii Serving as Focal Point

By JOSEPH W. LABINE

Its movements shrouded with secrecy, the strongest battle fleet the United States has ever seen is sailing from home bases at San Pedro and San Diego this month to compete in the most intensive and strenuous naval maneuvers in the nation's history. This will be no child's play under a warm tropical sun. Instead the battle chiefs are sending their iron-clad monsters far north as the Aleutian islands that "drip" off the frigid west coast of Alaska. Here some ships will work under the most unfavorable wartime conditions possible. Meanwhile others will "fight" as far as 1,500 miles below Honolulu.

Announced last December when America was worrying strenuously over Japan's aggressive attitude, the maneuvers may well be considered a stage show for Nippon's benefit, though official Washington has denied it. And—intentional or otherwise—the war games will focus national attention on the navy just when congress is considering President Roosevelt's recent armament appropriations bill.

The casual layman witnessing this display of maritime power will probably be moved to stick out his chest with pride. Not so the navy's commanders, however, who will probably view the results of the war games as very tangible evidence that America needs more battleships. With other nations developing long range cruisers and airplanes, the vast Pacific becomes more difficult to defend. Fewer refueling islands are needed by an approaching enemy; they can take a long "end run" around Hawaii and unless America's first line of defense is close at hand, there's apt to be trouble.

Almost 175 men of war, about 500 planes and 50,000 to 60,000 men are participating in this gigantic affair, all under the command of Admiral Claude C. Bloch, recent successor to Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn as CINCUS of the fleet.

Aircraft Carriers Help.

Three aircraft carriers, Saratoga, Lexington and Ranger, are carrying their brood of war birds to America's first line of defense. Mighty battleships, slim destroyers and cunning submarines will play vital roles in this make-believe conquest and protection of the Pacific.

The 1938 defense problem centers around Pearl harbor in the Territory of Hawaii. Known as the navy's largest base, this beauty spot of the Pacific has been the focal point of annual maneuvers for several years. But this spring, for the first time, the navy's show will be diffused over the entire eastern Pacific, piling even higher the evidence that Hawaii is tremendously important in protecting our west coast. Without it, our first line of defense would be the mainland—California, Oregon and Washington. If foreign nations have strengthened their position in the Pacific with long-range cruisers and planes, America is helping its position by developing several strategic islands as refueling points and refuges for bombers. These include such barren spots as remote Howland island, 1,500 miles southwest of Hawaii. Recently a navy bomber flew this distance and return. The feat attracted little attention, yet it was tremendously important.

A few years ago, the flight range of army and navy planes was 150 miles. That is, a plane could carry only sufficient fuel to fly out from its base 150 miles and return. Therefore aviation patrols were limited to circles of 140 miles around Hawaii, the Panama canal, Alaska and the west coast of the mainland. The new long-distance bombers have plugged the "holes" this system left in our defense net.

No Sieve Here!

When that navy bomber made the trip from Honolulu to Howland, it announced to the world that Uncle Sam's Pacific defense was a wall, not a sieve. It meant that observation planes, the eyes of the fleet, could scout from Hawaii to the Aleutians, from Hawaii to Howland, from Hawaii to Midway. It also meant that bombers could carry their deadly cargoes between any of these points and get safely back to the Hawaiian base.

With Howland, Baker and Jarvis islands now American possessions, being developed for refueling and aviation purposes, the United States government holds a strong position in the South Pacific. America also owns Palmyra island in that vicinity, which has a quiet lagoon suitable for seaplane landings. Kiska in the Aleutians is one of the six American ports closed to foreign shipping and over which no civilian aircraft is permitted to fly without approval by the government.

Meanwhile, the military establishment in Hawaii hasn't been neglected. It has become the most important defense center of the nation. It is estimated that approximately $100,000,000 has been spent on fortifications alone. More troops are concentrated there than in any other section of the nation. The world's greatest military airport, Hickam field, is under construction on the outskirts of Honolulu.

Many a world power is now angry with itself for not having annexed more of the several hundred small islands that dot the Pacific, and which are now looming more important for naval purposes. Today for the first time it is apparent that the nations which control the islands are those which control the Pacific itself.

Japan's Pacific Power.

France, Portugal, Germany and The Netherlands have disappeared as strong contenders for Pacific power. The last to leave was Germany, and its place was taken by Japan which was given most German possessions under mandate at the treaty of Versailles. Under this mandate Japan took virtual possession of a strip of the Pacific 2,500 miles long from east to west and 1,200 miles wide. She acquired 623 islands, including the Marianas group (with the exception of Guam); the Marshall islands; the Caroline islands; and the Palau islands.

Since Japan is probably the only nation from which the United States has anything to fear in the Pacific, the Versailles mandate now looms highly important. Japan can establish naval bases almost halfway across the ocean from her home shores and within 2,500 miles of Hawaii, within easy striking distance. But she has not yet established these bases, and Uncle Sam has made his Hawaiian islands so impregnable as to discourage the most optimistic would-be attacker. Which once again emphasizes the islands' importance, since an enemy from the west would almost have to gain possession of Hawaii before attacking the United States.

Oahu, the island on which Honolulu is located, is circled by a coast railway on which guns can be moved quickly to stave off any attack. Latest anti-aircraft weapons are ready for the enemy, including huge horns capable of picking up the sound of aircraft miles away. This sound is transferred to 800,000 candle-power searchlights. Once the enemy plane is bathed in light, range-finding devices automatically aim the guns on the target.

Indeed, Hawaii has become the Malta of the Pacific.

U. S. Joins the Race.

Talk of guns and battleships and fleet maneuvers may sound strange to American ears today, and more than one slow-awakening individual will wonder why all this bustle about defending the Pacific. But in Washington, where congress is building a program that will give the United States a navy "second to none," the matter is of vital importance. Actually our navy is not in the best of shape, and we are entering the rearmament race five years behind the leaders.

The impossibility of America's continued abstinence from this military program is a growing conviction with more Americans every day, though a peace-loving nation may rebel at the thought of building for war.

As we turn our eyes west to the sinking sun, though, we'll be assured that no trouble will come from that direction before dawn again lifts the Pacific's night shroud. The fleet's on guard!

C. Houston Goudiss Discusses PROTEINS— The Foods That You Cannot Live Without

Eminent Food Authority Explains Why No Protein Means No Life—Describes the Kind and Amount Required for the Best Growth in Children—Good Resistance, Vigor and Endurance in Adults.

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS
6 East 39th St., New York.

FOOD is—and always has been—the central problem of life. But only in recent years has its true power been revealed, as a result of scientific investigation.

Fortunately, we now know what constitutes sound nutrition, and it is possible for every homemaker to plan meals that will enable her family to eat their way to health.

Topping the list of food essentials are the proteins. The Dutch chemist, Mulder, who hit upon this name, made a wise choice, for it means "to take first place." And certainly the proteins are first in importance. For they are the stuff of which our bodies are built. Without them, there would be no life.

Every man, woman and child has a fundamental need for protein, because it is an essential component of every living cell and makes up a large part of the solids of a muscle cell. Evidently, a great many of the glandular principles and substances, which control the functions of the body, are also protein in character.

Protein is the only food element that contains nitrogen, and next to water, nitrogen is the chief constituent of the human body.

Protein Builds Bodies.

A new born baby weighs, on an average, from 7 to 7½ pounds, and the adult into which it grows may weigh 20 to 30 times as much. The vast amount of tissue necessary to construct a man is built chiefly from protein.

Once the adult body is built, however, protein is not required for the growth of new tissues, except under certain conditions, such as during pregnancy, when one is recovering from a wasting illness, or when an athlete is in training and the muscles are increasing in size.

Keeps the Body in Repair.

There is, however, a maintenance requirement for protein which continues throughout life, and which applies to both children and adults. For the body may be compared to a machine, on which it is necessary to make allowance for the wear and tear of parts. Protein is the only substance that will rebuild the millions of cells which each day cease to function.

Thus, we see that protein performs two vital services—First, it builds new tissues; second, it repairs worn-out tissues.

The Building Stones of the Body.

Protein is found in many different foods, but unfortunately, not all proteins are equally valuable. That is because protein is a very complex substance, resulting from the union of 22 or more simpler substances containing nitrogen, and called amino acids. These are the true building stones of the body. Some protein foods may have only 7 amino acids represented in their substance; others may have as many as 15 or 16, and these also may be varied by the proportions of the kinds present.

Proteins Vary in Value.

Some of these amino acids are necessary to build new tissue; others will not build tissue, but are capable of repairing worn-out cells. Some protein foods are, therefore, more valuable to the body than others.

It is absolutely essential that the homemaker, charged with the responsibility of feeding a family, should be able to distinguish between those types of protein which are adequate for both growth and repair, and those that are only useful for maintenance.

For if the diet does not contain an adequate amount, or the right kind of protein, our bodies will be badly built and they will be improperly repaired and cannot wear well. As Dr. Eugene V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins university, the world-famous investigator and discoverer of vitamin A, puts it: "Unless the right kinds, with respect to the size and shape, are furnished by the food proteins, the exact pattern on which the muscle must be constructed cannot be formed and, in this case, growth is interfered with."

If you were building a house you would consider nothing less than the finest materials. You would know that cheap lumber and poorly made bricks could not produce a lasting building. In the same way, you must learn to discriminate between the various types of protein used for the supremely important purpose of building your children's bodies, or keeping adult physiques in perfect repair.

Some foods cost more than others and you should not be guilty of spending hard-earned money for expensive protein foods when the same amount of nourishment could be more economically obtained from an inexpensive source.

Where to Find Protein.

Proteins are found in many different foods, but unfortunately, only a limited number of foods supply proteins containing all the amino acids necessary for both growth and repair. Proteins that will build new tissue, as well as replace worn-out cells, are known as complete proteins. In this class we have meats, fish, cheese, milk, eggs and some nuts.

Other proteins are adequate for repairing worn-out tissue, but do not support growth. Such incomplete proteins are found in grains and products made from them, and in the legumes—that is peas, beans, lentils and peanuts.

The proteins of these foods are of high nutritive value, however, and when supplemented with other proteins, such as those of milk, will meet every bodily requirement.

How Much Protein?

The protein requirement varies according to size, age, and the kind of protein foods consumed.

To allow for growth, children require twice as much protein per pound of body weight as adults. That is to say, an adult requires only one-thirtieth of an ounce for each pound of body weight, but a child needs one-fifteenth of an ounce for each pound of body weight.

The amount of protein food should usually constitute from 10 to 15 per cent of all the calories taken. If this plan is faithfully followed, there will be more than enough to take care of every requirement, because experiments indicate that a man who weighs 154 pounds, or 70,000 grams, needs a minimum of 44 grams of protein every day.

Eskimos eat two or three times as much protein as most dwellers in the temperate zone, but that is because other foods are scarce. In the tropics, on the other hand, the consumption of protein is often not more than half that of the temperate zone.

An Adequate Protein Ration.

Milk and eggs are among the finest forms of protein, and they should have an especially important part in the diet, not only of the growing child but of invalids, prospective mothers, and the mother who is nursing a baby. If the choice must be between milk and eggs, milk should have first place because it is usually cheaper in proportion to the food value it supplies.

In planning the family dietary, a safe rule to keep in mind is to include in the daily diet: a quart of milk for every child, a pint for each adult; one egg, one serving of meat, fish or chicken, one serving of another protein food such as cheese, dried peas or beans, or a main dish made with nuts.

You can achieve wide variety and still provide an adequate protein ration within the limits of this rule. For milk may be served as a beverage, in soups, puddings, and as cream sauce. Eggs may likewise be varied in their method of preparation, or concealed in other foods. There are many fine meats, and the number of ways in which fresh, canned, frozen or dried fish can be served is legion.

Both cheese and nuts make sandwiches, salads and desserts, as well as main course dishes. Peas, beans and lentils can appear as soup, mock roast or croquettes. Grain products, which include cereals, macaroni and bread, may appear in any course in the meal.

In planning menus, always keep before you the ideal that an adequate amount of first class protein makes a first class man, whereas an inadequate amount may lead to stunted growth, functional nervous diseases, lessened efficiency and the earlier approach of old age.

In choosing proteins to feed your family—remember that they take first place among foods, and that upon their wise choice rests your future welfare, your destiny—your life!

Polishing Ethics— Pro and Con

When fine furniture leaves the shop of the manufacturer, its finish has been professionally treated, to preserve its beauty—prolong its endurance. And from that time on, this furniture is best maintained by a quality light-oil furniture polish—first, on the shop floor of the furniture dealer—and then in the home. This is acknowledged and accepted as the best way to heighten its beauty—lengthen its life! But unfortunately, many housewives coat the finish of their furniture and woodwork with various shellacs and varnishes—using them as a substitute for a fine oil polish and rubbing. And what a great mistake this is! For these coatings form a false finish over the true finish of the furniture; and rosin and other destructive elements in them dry out the wood—toughen it—leave a sticky residue. When many layers have been applied, they accumulate as a crust over the finish, clogging it and clouding the natural beauty of the grain. This is the slack way to care for furniture. If the home-maker really "cares for" her furniture, she will frequently rub on a reputable light-oil polish, to preserve it—keep it lastingly lovely!

Bible Thoughts of the Week

Life is short and uncertain. Death is sure. What provision have you made for the life beyond? Some one asks how we know there is a life beyond the grave; since no one has returned to tell us about it. Well Jesus did, and he told us about the future life. Christ was killed. He arose on the third day from the dead. Since Christ had the power to raise his body from the grave, he also has the power to raise your body from the grave. Will you be prepared in that resurrection? To be prepared, you must become a Christian; then you must live the Christian life to the best of your ability.

Parent-Teacher Assn.

The P. T. A. met Tuesday afternoon, March 22 at 4:00 p. m.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Lula B. Owen. The topic was the Family. This topic was discussed in the light of Home Relationship from the viewpoint of the school children. The material used in the program was the findings from a questionnaire given to the high school students concerning their home, its atmosphere, relation of parent to child and child to parent. The findings were enlightening to many P. T. A. workers.

The next feature of the program was a panel discussion by eight high school boys and girls who discussed:

What a high school girl expects of her home, Eutha Davis
Why I like to have parties in my home, Mary Kalps Bridges
Why many youngsters do not want parties in their homes, Ione Wall

Training a boy wants his mother to give him, Bruce Edwards

The high school girl's behavior as a high school boy sees her, Clay Plunk, Billy C. Johnson, Don Hickey and Geraldine Land

The next program will be on April 7, at 4:00 p. m., at which time our delegates will bring us just as much from the Conference as their memory will retain.

Stamps Quartet to Sing in Memphis

The Virgil O. Stamps Quartet, nationally famous singers, will appear in a paid concert at the High School auditorium on the night of April 9, according to A. B. Wills, president of the Hall County Singers Association.

The county convention will be held in Memphis on Sunday, April 10, and Saturday night before and the Stamps Quartet has been secured as an added attraction.

Other prominent singers will be in attendance at the convention, including the Dodson Quartet and Rev. E. F. Cook's Quartet of Amarillo.

Science Beats the Sun

INDUSTRIAL engineers have now developed the device shown above. Consumers information reports, to test color fastness of fabrics, so that manufacturers can make sure in advance that their materials won't fade in the sun. Women never used to be sure that their dresses and draperies would retain their original brilliance until they had actually been exposed to sunlight. But through the use of this machine, developed by industrial research experts, it is now possible to tell whether dyed fabrics will hold their color. This is just one more of the many examples of how industry helps the consumer.
