D. C. Spier Dies

Funeral services, conducted by Rev. B. J. Osborn, were held at the Baptist Church last Thursday afternoon, Oct. 6, for D. C. Spier who passed away Wednesday after an illness of several months. All that medical skill and watchful care of loved ones and friends could do was of no avail, his work was finished.

Pallbearers were Wesley Banister, Tommy Bain, Herbert Clay, Ben Kyser, Frank Davis and Bill Gray. Flowers bearers were Meadames Ruby Banister, Elva Davis, Myrtle Swinney, Tommy Bain, Vera Clay, Ben Kyser and Winfred Doherty. Honorary pallbearers included E. L. Duckworth, Frank Jones, Winfred Doherty, Dan Latimer, Raymond Everett, Loyd Bailey, J. W. McPherson, Hobart Moffitt, L. Spalding and Jim Gilliam.

He was born in 1879 near Tyler, Texas, where he was reared and married to Minnie O. Pickett Dec. 25, 1900. To this union seven children were born. After the death of Mrs. Spier he was married to Daisy Ann Pickett April 18, 1929 who with his children, L. M. Spier, Mrs. Ralph Davis and Mrs. Connie Taylor of Hedley, Mrs. Ethel Boyd of Branson and Mrs. Virgil Hagler of Lubbock survive.

Mr. Spier was a member of the Baptist Church and a loyal member. He was a kind companion and father, and will be greatly missed in the home. His jolly disposition won for him a host of friends, who were faithful during the long illness prior to his death.

Let not the sorrowing ones forget that God's love is ever all yearning for all, enduring through all. Death of the just man is like the glorious sunset that rounds out and completes a perfect day.

A Boy's Bill of Rights

1 Like everybody else, he has a right to the pursuit of happiness.

2 He has the right to play that will stretch his imagination and prove his prowess and skill.

3 He has a right to the constructive joy from adventure and thrills that are the part of an opening life.

4 He has a right to affection and friendship.

5 He has a right to the sense of security in belonging to some group.

6 He has a right to health protections that will make him a inch taller than his dad.

7 He has the right to education and training that amplifies his own natural bent and that will fit him into a job.

8 He has a right to a chance in getting a job.

These rights were drawn up at the last convention of the Boys Clubs of America. While these are not all the boys' rights it is the ones the Boy Scouts and other boy organizations are interested in.

The influence of what is happening abroad and what's worse, is happening in America is bound to affect the youth of today. The Boy Scout movement is doing its best to stress the importance of Parent-Teacher Assn.

The Parent and Teacher Association met Thursday afternoon at 4:00 in the music room. During the business meeting the assembly moved for Parents and Teachers to sponsor the Halloween Carnival. Now we are going to have sure enough original stunts here in spite of owls, black cats and specks! Fill your pockets with nickels! Come to eat and enjoy the fun. The association will also take subscriptions and renewals to McCall Magazine in response to a liberal offer from the publishing company. All of this money will be put back into aiding and improving our school.

The third and fourth grades tied for the $1 that is given for the most mothers at P T A for October.

The theme for the program was Texas birthday of Parent and Teacher Association. The Treble Clef gave us a medley of old favorite songs. Mrs. Kendall gave us the history of the local unit. She said the association was organized because the school executives and school board felt that the town and community needed to be school conscious, then pointed out various evidences on ground and in buildings of the P T A work. Mrs. Robert Watkins gave us briefly the history of the Texas state organization of the Parent and Teacher Association. In the period of its 18 years' this body has grown from 2,246 to 122,000.

We had some new members present and we will gladly welcome others. Help us in our campaign drive and in making a better P T A by joining now.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 8, 1938, at 4 o'clock.

News from the 7th Grade

I have been reading in The Hoot about the high school classes and that makes me want to tell the world about my class. Naturally I think our class, our teacher and our room mother are all fine. Our class, I think, is unusual in the fact that we have twice as many boys as girls. When I tell you there are 27 in all, you will know how many there are of each.

In geography the seventh grade pupils have been making Texas projects. We have some nice books of Texas, and some very interesting product maps. The boys have carved things from soap and put them on their maps.

The seventh grade is working hard on being tidy and neat. We are also especially interested in our attendance record. We had a record of 96.5% the past month. What class has a better record?

Cotton Picking

The time of year has come that the majority of the students' backs start aching and their shoulders become sore. Have you guessed it? Well, Hedley school has turned out for two weeks for cotton picking. Rain and sandstorms are predicted during this session, but just the same, school is out and I'm sure the time will not be wasted. On Oct. 24, we hope to see every smiling face return to school with a pocket full of money.

Long Waited for Rings

You would have thought that old Saint Nick had come again if you could have seen the faces of the Senior class last Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, as Mr. Harmon slowly handed out the long waited for class rings to the eager members of the class. They are very proud of them, and we hope that they will all study hard in order that they can all graduate next June.

Weiner and Marshmallow Roast

On Tuesday evening Sept. 27, a group of school students and faculty members gathered at the roadside park near Hedley to roast marshmallows and weiners. I believe we had some boy scouts in the group because they built a good fire that didn't take long to cook our food. Several in the group commented on the fact that that was the first time they had really eaten roasted weiners and I'm sure it was a new experience for me. We had one bright lady in the group who thought to bring mustard; therefore we had what we had what we called hotdogs to eat from the way the food disappeared. I am positive that no one in the group had eaten any lunch; but to say the least, we didn't have anything left to bring home.

We left the park and returned to the skating rink where almost everyone in the group skated. All received plenty of tumbles, falls and bruises, and each one believes that the manager of the skating rink got his floor cleaned real well. Those included in the group were Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, Mr. Gregg, Mr. Sweet, Jerry Hunt, Geraldine Riley, Ross Holloway, Eddie Mae Land, Seratha Gunn, Bruce Edwards, Lamar Adamson, Virginia Watt and Mary Rains Bridges.

Despite the fearsome thunderings of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, a paradox of war-mad Europe is that the foes of Germany and Italy have far superior military equipment.

Though Rome and Berlin may shout and boast, a cold analysis of comparative strength shows that the inevitable "allies" can eventually defeat them in a war which might last as long as two years.

This fact has long gone unnoticed. It was not brought out until a few weeks ago when Germany opened her autumn maneuvers and began looking with hostile eyes at little Czechoslovakia, whose Sudeten German minority has allegedly been discriminated against.

Though Czechoslovakia herself is weak, though even Great Britain has a surprisingly small armed force, the mighty power distance guns and other fiendish implements of Mars.

But the theory has not been borne out in the three conflicts the world has seen these past five years. Italy's campaign to capture Ethiopia lasted an amazingly long time, considering the crude type of opposition offered by Haile Selassie's forces. And in China the Japs have met with similar resistance. Shanghai was not captured overnight by a terrific bombing attack; the campaign lasted closer to five months.

The most striking example of modern warfare is in Spain, where two powerful forces are fighting their battles along tactics similar to those used in the World War. Madrid was bombed hundreds of times and still found itself able to hold out against Generalissimo Franco's rebel troops.

Thus, militarists of 1938 are of the opinion that warfare has not changed much in the past 20 years. As in the World War, the doughboy is the most vital factor in land conflict. A similar comparison can be made on the sea, where the battleship is still the backbone of the fleet despite mighty naval planes.

"Ersatz" to the Fore.

Perhaps the major difference between 1918 and 1938 is that gold is not now so important. The "allies" have behind them a gold reserve almost 30 times the value of that of Germany and Italy, but the latter two countries now boast of their

What to Eat and Why

C. Houston Goudiss Describes Diet After Middle Age; Shows How Right Food Can Prolong the Vigorous Years

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ONE of the best prescriptions ever offered for longevity was advanced by the wise man who said: In the twenties, prepare for the thirties; in the thirties, prepare for the forties; and after that—prepare for a long and vigorous old age!

That advice is well worth following, for it has been estimated that by taking into account all the newer knowledge of nutrition, it is possible not only to improve health, but to add a number of years to the normal life span.

A Man Is as Young as He Feels

It has been well said that "the age of man has small relation to his years," for it has been demonstrated, both clinically and in the scientist's laboratory, that old age is a physiological condition rather than an accumulation of years.

In grandmother's day, a woman of 50 was considered old. Today that age is regarded as young, and much of the important work of the world is being done by men and women who can see 50 only by looking over their shoulder.

Importance of Correct Diet

On the other hand, thousands of Americans are unknowingly impairing their efficiency and shortening their lives through the misuse of food. They are eating the wrong kind of food—and what is equally disastrous—they are overeating! They do not seem to realize that eating too much does not strengthen the body, but exhausts it with the labors of digestion. The surplus nourishment clogs the system and may be indirectly responsible for headache, dyspepsia, biliousness and mental dullness.

Unless they change their habits of eating, they will inevitably become victims of their own indiscretions. For while it is folly to neglect the health at any age, to do so in middle life is to open the way to an early death or to an old age marred by sickness.

Keep Down the Weight

The first 25 years of man's life are devoted to growth. During this period of youth, the body usually has a large fund of reserve energy which can be called upon in times of stress. During the next 25 or 30 years, the weight should remain constant. If the diet is properly regulated, and sound habits of hygiene are followed, a man or woman will come into middle age full of vigor and with mental and physical capacities undiminished.

Unfortunately, however, the laws of hygiene and nutrition are often broken during the active middle years. As a result, bodily reserves are depleted and middle age finds many men and women near the danger line, no longer able to resist infections and the degenerative diseases.

That is why it is so desirable—if you hope to be vigorous at 50 and after—that you begin to plan for it many years earlier.

Live sensibly. Avoid overwork. Regularly take a moderate amount of exercise. Get enough sleep so that you avoid that chronic "tired feeling." Above all, eat enough, but not too much, of the foods that build and maintain health: milk; eggs; fruits and vegetables; protein foods in amounts just sufficient to meet your requirements, so that there is no excess to be eliminated; enough fat foods to give you plenty of pep and power, but not in amounts that will cause the weight increase which many people erroneously believe inevitable during the middle years.

Curb the Appetite for Rich Foods

It is most important to avoid overeating. For muscular activity decreases with the passing years. The middle aged individual often rides where a younger person might walk or observes active sports from the sidelines where he formerly played them with zeal. Unfortunately, however, the appetite seldom diminishes in proportion to the lessened fuel needs. That is why every individual who has entered upon the middle years should check his or her weight frequently, and promptly reduce the fuel foods if a significant gain is noted.

The protein requirement diminishes somewhat after the age of 60 for no new tissue is being built. It is, furthermore, advisable to take a large share of the protein in the form of milk and eggs.

Vegetables should be used freely and if there is difficulty in mastication, they may be finely chopped. Fresh fruits may be eaten as long as they do not cause fermentation; otherwise, cooked fruits should be used instead. Contrary to popular opinion, sweets can frequently be eaten in considerable amounts without causing indigestion. Fats, however, should be used sparingly.

Hot Foods Beneficial

Hot foods are often more easily digested than cold, and it is helpful to begin a meal with hot broth, in order to stimulate the secretion of digestive fluids. A hot beverage may also be beneficial at bedtime.

It is sometimes observed that five or six small meals are more easily digested than three large ones. Each person should discover what meal schedule best suits individual requirements and then abide by it. For it is indeed true that middle age—and the years beyond—are largely what you make them!

Questions Answered

Mrs. J. A. H.—Milk, fruits and vegetables supply a large part, but not all of the minerals required by the body daily. The diet must be supplemented with whole grain bread or cereals, eggs and some meat.

CONSTIPATION Gas Crowds Head
"For thirty years constipation caused headaches and pains in the back. My bloating crowded my heart. Adierka helped right away. Now I eat sausage, ham and anything I want and never feel better." Mrs. Mabel Schott. Two things happen when you are constipated. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up bowels and press on surface of the digestive tract. SECOND: Ferried food starts to decay forming GAS, which presses on your stomach, indigestion, and heartily bloating run up until you sometimes get double-breasted. Adierka gives double relief. DOUBT IN ACTION. Adierka relieves STOMACH GAS almost at once. It clears bowels in less than two hours. No straining, no after effects, just quick results. Recommended by many doctors for 35 years. Sold at all drug stores.

To School Tax Payers

To the Tax payers of the Hedley School District:
 By means of a circular letter dated Sept 24, 1938, you were notified of a contemplated 24% increase in taxes. This same letter briefly explained the reason for the increase and stated that it was our belief that the action was the best thing that could be done for the district.
 On Sept. 29, 1938 the Equalization Board for the district met and heard the cases of a large group of property owners, and came to the conclusion that the sentiment of the property owners was definitely against the raise, preferring to take the consequences of such action as the bond holders may take.

Because we feel ourselves duty bound to abide by the sentiment of the people, we have this day accepted the recommendation of the Equalization Board, which is that the request for the 24% raise be withdrawn and the valuations be left approximately as they were in 1937.

It is our sincere belief that this is your desire and it is our sincere trust that our action will meet your approval.

Birthday Dinner

A number of friends and relatives gave W. B. Morgan a surprise birthday dinner Sunday on his 73rd birthday. He received a number of nice presents and then we had a grand dinner. We spent the afternoon playing ball, kodaking and singing.

Mr. Morgan is the father of 12 children, 7 of whom were present. Those present were W. G. Tims and family of Lubbock, B. F. Tarver and family and J. W. Tarver and family of Metelline, Carl Detson and family, Rob Simmons and family, Homer Lee, Wilcox and Flora Bell Morgan of Hedley.

The friends present were Mrs. Lyons, Mrs. Blask, Mr and Mrs Theo Swinney, Otis Owens and Charles Tims and family.

He had the fourth generation present. The children absent were Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Morgan of Exter, Calif., O. G. Morgan and family of Wichita Falls, Loyd Morgan and family of Arcadia, Tom Morgan and family and Geo. W. Haskins and family of Merton.

Mr. Morgan wishes he could have a birthday every month.
