WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LABINE

Higher Liquor Tax Considered To Finance Defense Program; Election-Year Levy Unpopular

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

CONGRESS: Budget Blues

What Franklin Roosevelt's budget message tossed into the congressional lap was a choice of following his recommendations and getting a deficit of only $1,716,000,000, or defying him and making it about $3,000,000,000. Slashed were most items, but boosted to a peacetime record was national defense. If the President's ideas are followed, and if previous authorizations are appropriated, the cost will run well over $2,000,000,000.

Very shallow was the hope that an early European peace may obviate the defense program. It appeared, instead, that congress must enter an election year trance and decide which plan the public would swallow the easier: More taxes, to raise $460,000,000 as the President asked, or a boost in the national debt limit?

Within a few days it was obvious that good Democrats were sparring for time. They gathered in huddles to wonder where tax money might be raised, tentatively settling on new liquor taxes and a slight boost in income levies. Mississippi's Pat Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, publicly doubted whether the defense program was justified, yet he shied away from criticizing the President. Finally, with White House blessing, he sought more time by asking a joint legislative committee to study the Rooseveltian budget. But congress, apparently refusing, turned instead to that hardy perennial, the anti-lynching bill.

Notes
In an election year, congress and politics are intimately associated. Many G. O. P. comments were forthcoming after the President's budget message. Samples:
At Topeka, 1936 G. O. P. Candidate Alf Landon thought this about the slash in expenditures: "If the President really is serious in his budget plans, you will hear howls all over the place. He couldn't get the nomination now if he wanted it. He is too smart a politician to try it."
At Chicago, Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft accepted the President's challenge to submit a plan for balancing the budget. The Taft Plan: (1) determination by the President to balance it; (2) elimination of bureaus, reduction of employees; (3) return of relief to states, and changes in housing, agriculture and loan agencies; (4) elimination of local works grants, reduction of federal public works and reduction of subsidies; (5) elimination of budget "pets," like army and navy items.

NIBLETS
HERE'S WHY—At Moscow the magazine Communist International explained, in answer to foreign reports that Russia had ambitions to "Sovetize" Finland: "Russia's only aim is to free Finland from a gang of oppressors and imperialistic warmongers and to safeguard Finnish democratic development."
CASEY AT BAT—At Washington and Canberra it was announced simultaneously that the U. S. and Australia will establish diplomatic relations for the first time. (Previously, Britain represented Australia here.) First Australian minister will be Richard G. Casey. Soon to be named is the U. S. minister to Canberra.
SPENDTHRIFT—Of her $25,750 personal allowance for 1939, the 16-year-old heiress Gloria Vanderbilt spent only $10—for books.
BANQUET—While Democrats winned and dined throughout the U. S. in honor of President Andrew Jackson's birthday anniversary, Republicans in St. Louis held a 25-cent feast honoring ...

BALKANS: Squabbles

Before 1940 has gone its way the brave nation of Rumania may see trouble aplenty. It started that way. Bucharest heard that Bulgaria, its unfriendly southern neighbor, had signed a trade pact with Russia, which wants the Rumanian province of Bessarabia. Next King Carol heard that Hungary's Count Stefan Czakay, whose nation will seize Rumanian Transylvania if Russia invades Bessarabia, was conferring in Italy with Foreign Minister Ciano.

A political realist, Italy's Benito Mussolini knows the Balkans have a better chance of blocking Russian aggression (which would also hurt Italy) if they settle their squabbles in advance. Purpose of the Ciano-Czakay conversations, therefore, was to urge Hungary and Rumania to settle their revisionist problem immediately. In so doing, Il Duce took a hearty slap at the Soviet.

So did King Carol. Encouraged to defend Bessarabia now that the Finns are doing a remarkable job against Russian aggression, Carol and his retinue crossed into this dangerous province, defied Moscow and smiled while Bessarabian minority leaders shouted: "We pledge our lives for our beloved Rumanian fatherland."

ASIA: Wang's Ready
"The time is now ripe for establishment of a new central government in China. Careful study reveals that the objectives of Wang Ching-wei are consonant with Japan's manifest efforts toward helping in the formation and expansion of the proposed new government."
Thus, after much back-slapping, brow-beating and tutoring, Puppet Wang Ching-wei was announced ready to take over Japan's make-believe "government" in conquered parts of China.

THE WARS: Shakeup
Far bigger than the war on France's western front was the battle of London. Called to a cabinet meeting by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was Leslie Hore-Belisha, dynamic, Jewish minister of war who has built the British army from a stodgy and antiquated organization into one of the world's smartest. Minister Hore-Belisha was asked to sign his resignation. Also fired was Lord MacMillan, blundering minister of information.
Announced purpose of the shake-up was to establish national unity.

Neville Chamberlain did just that: There was national unity, but it was unity of opposition to the "sacking" of Oliver Stanley, the 43-year-old board of trade president whose father (seventeenth earl of Derby) was a war minister in World War days.
By next morning every British paper, regardless of political leanings, was blasting against the government. Typical was the London Star: "If it is shown that Mr. Hore-Belisha was thrown overboard to satisfy a clique of generals who disliked him on social grounds, or because he was pressing the pace of democracy in the army too strongly, then public resentment will be wide, deep and lasting."
To both Hore-Belisha and the Prime Minister an opportunity for rebuttal was coming, but it would probably take place behind closed doors in the house of commons. Meanwhile—it was rumored that Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, would soon follow Stanley as war chief.
Other war news:
Western Front—Minor artillery fire. Entertainment by the fabulous Albert, French airman whose daring antics along the Luxembourg frontier keep natives in stitches.
Northern Front—Finnish destruction of still a third Russian division (the forty-fourth) near Suo at Finland's waistline.

The President's son plans to give us a mystery picture—made from one of the best mystery plays ever written—as the first release of his Globe Productions. It's "The Bat" by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, and has everything that a thriller should have. It was filmed by Mary Pickford's company in 1926, and done again, as "The Bat Whispers," in 1931. Norman Foster will direct the new version.

Hard on the heels of her scrap with Warner Brothers over her refusal to appear in "Married, Pretty and Poor," Jane Bryan showed the studio that she preferred to be married, pretty and rich—she announced her engagement to Justin W. Dart, who is general manager of a drug firm.

Mickey Rooney may rank first at the box offices of motion picture theaters in this country, but in Great Britain and Ireland he comes second, with Deanna Durbin pushing him out of first place. She was not among the first ten in this country.

If you are devoted to the story, "The Light That Failed," you'll like the picture version, which sticks to the original, even to the unhappy ending. If it's Ronald Colman, rather than the story, who's responsible for your interest in the picture, you'll enjoy it hugely, for he gives an excellent performance.

So do Walter Heston, Dudley Digges, and Ida Lupino. Miss Lupino has had a hard time of it in Hollywood; she was put into ingenue parts and kept there; now that, at last, she had been given a chance to show what she could do with a real role, she had made the most of it.

Hers is rather like the one in "Of Human Bondage" that established Bette Davis as a dramatic actress. Miss Lupino's performance is good enough to do as much for her. No longer can she be thought of as just one of those pretty blondes who are so numerous in the picture-making metropolis.

If you're interested in the present activities of former radio favorites, here's news of some of them. Jimmy Melton is now known as James Melton, and is a concert singer. Morton Downey wound up his summer engagement at the World's fair and followed it with an equally successful one in a Hollywood night club. Singin' Sam is making money by making recordings.

Jessica Dragonette makes occasional appearances on the air—and when you see "Gulliver's Travels" you'll hear her voice. Vera Van, Leah Ray and Annette Henshaw have retired.

Gene Autry, the singing screen star who is Public Cowboy No. 1, heads a new western series from "The Double M Ranch" over the Columbia network each Sunday. Incidentally, did you know that Gene was discovered by the beloved Will Rogers? Rogers stopped at a small town in Oklahoma to forward his syndicated column; Gene, the telegraph operator, was singing a western ballad. Rogers advised him to capitalize on his talents—and a little more than a year later Gene Autry was a popular radio and recording artist.

Del Courtney, who features Candid Camera music over NBC, has borrowed an idea from the movies in his presentation of "previews" of his forthcoming programs. Before concluding his broadcasts, he plays a few bars of some of the new tunes to be featured on the next program. It's a novel idea, and will probably be widely copied by bandleaders who don't hesitate to imitate their more successful brethren.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels, and Also Pepsin-ize Stomach!

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up last dinner's undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach-relief, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. I took all the speech work I could get. One of the most interesting courses was one in interpretation
in which we memorized "Romeo and Juliet" by Shakespeare and presented it to an audience.
There was a lot of fun in our course of make up. I imagine looking like an Irish policeman
one minute, a Chinese the next and then a negro mammy. At the end of my Junior year I was student director for the college senior play. During my senior year the Panhandle players gave "Moor Bom", a play about the Bronte sisters, Emily, Charlotte and Jane. For our senior play we gave "Family Affairs" by Gertrude Jennings. In this English comedy I fulfilled my ambition of being an actress by playing "Hannah", the housekeeper, who thought that everybody's business was her business too."
Miss Wilhelmina Cleek graduated from Panhandle high school in 1932. She finished West Tex as state college at Canyon in 1937. Her two years of experience has been devoted entirely in Hedley. While in college, Miss Cleek had the honor of being received into the Alpha Chi Omega
a National Dramatic Organization and the Panhandle Players, a College Dramatic Organization.

Miss Cleek is a very reliable character and can be thought of as one that never thinks a task is too difficult for her. Her contributions to this school are many,
and are certainly appreciated.
Some of the things she has done for the Hedley school are she conducted two senior plays, "Tragedy at the Tavern" in 1938 and
"Here Comes Cholera" in 1939.
She is director of the drill team
this year in high school and puts in much of her time for the teaching and encouragement of art work in the grade school.

Assembly

The entire student body assembled in the auditorium on Thursday for the weekly assembly.
The entire group, led by Miss Cleek and accompanied by Mrs.
Watkins, sang "O! Susanna. Annie Laurie and Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Payne, who is an excellent inspirationalist, talked to the body on the subject of David a Great Man. He stressed the importance of having a good cause to work for.

The entire school assembled in the auditorium Thursday for the weekly assembly. The group, led by Miss Cleek and accompanied by Mrs. Watkins sang some very "spirit lifting" songs.

Mrs. Owen announced that she had planned a series of book reviews and that Billy Clifford Johnson had kindly consented to entertain the school and visitors with the first of the group. Billy Clifford, who is quite distinguished in high school for his excellent ability to express himself, gave a very entertaining synopsis
of "The Laughin' Boy" by Lafarge.

The next in this series will be given by Mrs. Ross Adamson who is an excellent reader and speaker.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headache days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention?"
If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it regularly—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Island Fugitives

Eight men who are fleeing from the dread French penal colony at Devil's Island are shown lined up at the beach at Ensenada Playa, Puerto Rico, as they listened to instructions read by an immigration inspector before setting sail in their small boat, in which they hope to reach Mexico. The fugitives first sailed to Venezuela, to Trinidad, then to Puerto Rico, securing help at each port. They hope to obtain a pardon, and if successful will join the French army.

Australian Farmers Strive to Maintain Production

"This is our land—and to keep it so we must maintain our primary industries." That's the rallying cry of young Australia during war time. The picture is symbolic of the commonwealth's part in preparation. A farmer continues harvesting his crop as an armored car section holds maneuvers on a nearby road. Following their initial maneuvers, many of the armored car regiment members returned to their fields to complete harvesting.

George Young, ace marathon swimmer of young years ago, waited 12 years to get the $25,000 cash prize he earned by winning the 36-mile Catalina island swim in 1926. George and his wife, residents of Canada, turn "thumbs down" on a swimming career for George Jr., who practices his strokes on the piano stool. The $25,000 is all he and his wife have left from swimming careers which won them $125,000.

The teacher was examining the pupils in arithmetic. "Now," he said, "I'll give you one more sum. If a cat falls down a bottomless well, and for every two feet it climbs up it falls down three, how long will it take to get out?" One boy took a sign, and after filling both sides with a mass of figures, asked for another. "Good gracious!" snapped the teacher, "haven't you the sense to see the cat will never get out?" "Don't be in a hurry, sir," replied the boy. "There's plenty of time and heaps more slates. If you wait long enough I'll bring the little beggar out of Australia."

W. M. SOCIETY

On Monday, Jan. 15, the Masterston Circle of the Missionary society met at the parsonage for their regular meeting. Because of unpleasant weather conditions it was the first meeting for 1940, but while we missed so many times, feel that in some measure this very apiritual session in a way partly compensated for those missed, and we are looking forward to a profitable year. Let everyone be prayerful for a continuation of success.

Mrs. Biggs led the devotional. Subject, We are Debtors, I Cor 1:5—"by whom we have received grace and apostleship for obedience to the faith among all nations, for his name." The leader gave a very impressive comment on the text and subject material of the afternoon, "Life of Miss Belle H. Bennet", which was ably given by Mesdames Kendall and Masterson, to some of us, as they brought out anew some of the main points of this noted christian character, her aims, perseverance and achievement. We are made to wonder is there now such faith and perseverance as many who claim to follow.

The program completed, Mrs. Biggs dismissed with a very helpful prayer, then we had a short business session led by Mrs. Masterson. The hostess, assisted by others served sand wiches and hot cocoa to the following: Mrs. Housley, a visitor, and Meses Kendall, Masterson, Newman, Moreman, Cherry, Killian Kullingsworth, Reese, Biggs and Danson and Misses Oia and Elsa Curd. We adjourned to meet with Mrs. Reese next Monday, Feb 5. Some called for an old hymn, by some searching it was found, then two others were called for, thus completing the first meeting of 1940. Hope the good work goes on.

Mrs. Duncan, Reporter
