AGRICULTURE: Exit Wheat

Hearing rumors that U. S. wheat exports would diminish this year (see DOMESTIC), the department of agriculture and Commodity Credit corporation decided to unload while the chances were good.

Simultaneously came two announce-(1) CCC announced all farmers having 1938 wheat sealed under government loans must redeem it by paying their obligations or surrender the grain when the loans expire March 31. Since the domestic wheat price is higher than the world market, it was estimated that in most cases loans, storage charges and interest would total less than the cur-

At the same time the corporation hinted loans on 1939 wheat, maturing April 30, probably (2) To unload this unleashed surplus abroad, the department of agriculture announced it would retion empty-handed—and he knew it. It certainly was. It was the big sume subsidy payments on exports of wheat and flour from Pacific coast ports to China and Hongkong. Though subsidies were abandoned January 3 in the face of poor winter wheat prospects, worry over congressional action on the farm prob-

Choice

Unless something intervenes, the Philippine islands will gain their independence from the U.S. in 1946. Then, as every Filipino knows, aggressive Japan may step in to snuff out their long-cherished independence. Hence, since Japan went to war in China, many Filipinos have back-slided on independence, seek-ing extension of U. S. control until oriental waters are still again.

Faced with such indecisiveness, fiery President Manuel Quezon decided something had to be done. Opening the national assembly he told a startled audience that the islands must choose now: either risk the dangers of independence or resign themselves to permanent retention by the U.S.

DISASTER:

Ship in Flames

Out from Genoa with 643 passengers and crewmen sailed the 11,669ton Italian metership Orazio, bound for Chile. One day out, off the French Mediterranean coast, she suddenly exploded and was enveloped in flames. All lifeboats but two were burned. Orazio's passengers jumped into the sea while her radio sent a desperate and final SOS. Twenty-four hours later first rescuers arrived and by nightfall all but five crewmen were safe.

ate just doesn't seem the same without Senator Borah. He was the first leader I came to know intimately as a cub Washington reporter 15 years ago, and I saw him last the day before his fatal accident. I think I am the last newsman he talked to.

It was late in the afternoon. I knew that the President's message office to get his views. Wrapped in an army blanket, he was lying on a couch, reading an article on trade treaties. He motioned me to a chair, which I pulled up near him. On the marble mantle directly over him was a striking new photograph of himself which he liked very much.

Duty Came First. Borah looked well, but frail, and recalling that during the Christmas holiday he had told me he was thinking of taking Mrs. Borah south, I said, "What about your trip?" "I guess that's off, Robert," he replied. "Mrs. Borah won't stay if I don't, and I can't."

"What about the Finnish loan?" I asked.

"That's a very distressing dilemma for me, Robert," he said. "My heart goes out to those gallant people, but at the same time I have grave misgivings about lending money to anyone in Europe. Once we let down the bars we can't foresee what it may lead to. We must keep out of that mess regardless of our personal sympathies."

Dilemma of 1936.

I remember another time when he was in a dilemma. It was in 1936. That spring, at the age of 71 and for the first time in his long career, he decided to make a serious try for the presidency. There was consid- and I think they know where I nonular resnonce but the ma-

Doubted Landon's Ability. "They'll nominate Landon tomorrow," he said. "The stage is all set. Hoover tried to run away with the convention tonight, but they don't want any of him. It will be Landon and Knox, you mark my word."

"And then what are you going to do, Senator?"

"I don't know. I'll wait and see what Landon says. But what I'm wondering is what can he say. He knows nothing about national or for-eign affairs. I am told he is a nice gentleman, but the country needs more than that in the White House in these times. I don't want to prejudge Landon. I shall hear him out, but I have a strong hunch I will not support him."

He Didn't, Either!

Borah's premonition was right. Three months later I spent a day with him in Boise as he campaigned for his sixth senatorial term. We had a long talk that night in his room before he retired. I remarked that I hadn't heard him say a word during the day about Landon.

"And I don't intend to say anything about him," Borah replied quietly. "I am not for him."

"Are you for Roosevelt?" "Well, Robert," he said, "I've got a lot of Democratic friends in Idaho " And then with a gentle smile

Balkans Safeguard Neutrality As Nazi-Russian War Menace Hovers Over Northern Europe

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinious are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Peace Moves in the Balkans—at a Glance

CAROL

TWO unrelated but parallel efforts originating in London and Rome are converging in Belgrade, Jugoslavia, on February 2, when Balkan states meet to discuss neutrality and self-defense against Russia. The efforts:

Roman. Count Stefan Csaky of Hungary, which has revisionist claims against Rumania, met recently with Italian Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano, who urged Csaky to seek peace with Rumania as a defense against Russian aggression.
In answer Rumania said nothing, but it was intimated King Carol would be ready to cede land to Hungary after the European war. A few days later he met secretly with Allied. Should the western front be permanently stalemated, France and Britain might have to invade Germany via the Balkans. Already lined up is Turkey, and through that nation the allies hope to win cooperation of other states. No. 1 problem child here is Bulgaria, which, like Hungary, has revisionist claims against Rumania. Even as King Carol was talking with Prince Paul, Turkey's Foreign Minister Sukru Saraçoglu had an emissary

THE WARS: Two Into One?

Peace hovered over the Balkans (see above), but it found little welcome elsewhere. The "Oslo group" (Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Norway and Sweden) was in deeper water than at any time since September. Overnight close to a million Belgians and Dutchmen were rushed to the 300-mile frontier, because German troop concentrations. cause German troop concentrations were reported on the other side.

No one doubted Adolf Hitler would like these tiny lands; from Netherlands he could bomb Britain at close range, and from Belgium he could throw a flank attack around the Maginot line. Berlin scoffed at such rumors, but why else had Nazi airmen made reconnaissance flights over the Low Countries?

Denmark was unmenaced for the moment, but Joe Stalin was turning the screws on Norway and Swedan. Russian planes offered no apology for bombing a Swedish island; in fact both Stockholm and Oslo governments were warned against violating their neutrality by aiding Finland.

It was easy to see behind this joint Russo-German action. For several months northern European neutrals have been a thorn in the sides | eat those words by signing Alumiof both Stalin and Hitler. They have bothered Hitler by accepting the British blockade and looking unkindly at Russia, whom the Nazis now consider a "friend." Scandinavia has bothered the Soviet, in turn, by sending aid to beleaguered Finland. Observers had good reason to fear, therefore, that Europe's two wars may soon merge into one free-for-

In the North

There was no such polite warfare between Finland and Russia. The tide of victory, which superior land activity has placed in Finnish hands since last December, suddenly shifted as the Soviet began a systematic bombing campaign to demoralize its foe. Unless Italy, Britain and France can rush more planes to Finland (which is exactly what Russia and Germany are trying to stop), the Finns will probably be defeated by April 1.

Virginia case (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

OAN CRAWFORD is as popular as ever, judging by the welcome that she received from the fans when she arrived in New York not long ago for brief vacation. She was accompanied by two dachshunds, Stinky, which is hers, and Pupschen, which belongs to her exhusband, Franchot Tone, with whom she is on the friendliest Fetchingly dressed when she arrived, she rushed straight to her favorite milliner's and ordered hats—all kinds of hats, rather goofy ones, the kind so many of her fans like to have her wear.

Twentieth Century-Fox is going to film the history of radio, probably next fall, with Alice Faye and Don-Ameche starring in a tale that will cover the development from crystal sets to television.

Did you know that that dashing hero of the films, William Powell, wore a gray suit and a sweater to his own wedding? The bride took the occasion more seriously, sartorially; she wore a blue flowered print dress and a turban that matched it. But then, she hadn't been married twice before! You'll see her before long in "Forty Little Mothers," and you may have seen her on the screen already, without knowing it; as Diana Lewis she's been just one more promising young actress. She's beautiful and talented, and acting is an old story to her—her parents used to be headliners in vaudeville.

If the British government had been as eager to send David Niven to war as he was to go, he could have taken with him-and probably would have-a novel memento of Hollywood. It is the service cap which he wore in the role of a young English officer in "Dawn Patrol." Louis Hayward, playing the role of an English captain in one of the sequences of "My Son, My Son!", in which he has one of the top roles, drew an army cap from wardrobe. He noticed the initials "D. N." in the band, and learned that it was Niven's "Dawn Patrol" cap, so he bought it and sent it to his friend.

Time was when a screen star couldn't be sued for divorce and hope to carry on with her career. And although she planned to marry someone else as soon as she was free, she wouldn't have said so as frankly as Vivian Leigh has. It seems likely that her studio would have been just as well pleased if her husband had not chosen to sue her while "Gone With the Wind" was still at the height of its glory, but she did so well in it that the publicity regarding her private life probably won't keep the public from clamoring to see her in "Waterloo

It's not unusual to hear a few bars of "God Bless America" in traffic jams in New York these days. People look about and stare, and if they're lucky they catch a glimpse of Kate Smith in the car whose horn startled them. A horn manufacturing company gave the horn to Miss Smith as a present; the driver just presses a button, and a bit of the patriotic song that she made famous rings out.

Title to the title, "Buck Benny Rides Again," has changed hands three times. When Benny's authors, Morrow and Beloin, first used the idea it automatically became the property of the comedia, as does all their material. With characteristic generosity, Benny gave it back to the writers.

Now they have sold the title to Paramount, the company for which they wrote Benny's new picture,

* All Is Not Welles * Ingrid Has Promised

* A Musician's Needs - By Virginia Vale (Released by Western Newspaper Union)

DLENTY of bets were won in Hollywood when RKO decided to shelve the first Orson Welles film, "Heart of Darkness." People in Hollywood were against Welles before he arrived there; they didn't like him in advance, and lost few chances to prove it. It was too much for the film colony to have a man demand the world with a pink ribbon tied around it, and get it.

That was practically what Welles did. He insisted on producing, writing, directing and acting in whatever picture he decided to make. RKO agreed.

And after some weeks of trying to get started, and finally postponing the first picture while a second, "Smiler With a Knife," got under way, it was announced that all bets were off, so far as "Heart of Darkness" was concerned. The reason

ers; pray for powers equal to your tasks; then the doing of your work will be no miracle—but you will be

And various Hollywoodites are collecting bets made with friends who were sure that the picture would reach the screen.

When Ingrid Bergman arrived recently in New York on her way back to Hollywood to make "Joan of Arc" she made two definite statements to the press. (1) If she becomes famous she will not forget her husband, back in Stockholm. (2) Dur-ing this stay in the United States she absolutely will not lose her head over American ice cream, as she did the last time she was here.

As a matter of fact, she has already become famous. Contrary to custom, she was introduced to the public in her first American picture, "Intermezzo," without the usual ballyhoo. She saved the picture, despite the fact that Leslie Howard, Edna Best, and two enchanting children were also in the east-and an enchanting child can give the most experienced actress the toughest kind of opposition.

Miss Bergman should be perfect for "Joan of Arc"; her beauty, talent and sincerity make it fitting that the role should be hers.

ODDS AND ENDS-The boys in Johnny Green's "Johnny Presents" orchestra have discovered a new way of relaxing after rehearsals; they hold a jam session on toy instruments . . . Robert Taylor got the coveted role of the hero of "Waterloo Bridge," opposite Vivian Leigh; it was rumored that Laurence Olivier, the hero of the private life might get it. of her private life, might get it . . .
