Mrs. J. D. Shaw Dies

Another old pioneer of this community passed away this week when Mrs. J. D. Shaw passed away Monday night in a Memphis hospital.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the First Baptist Church here by Rev. M. E. Wells of White Deer and Rev. Vick Allen of Lella Lake. Pallbearers were J. A. Tollett, Herman Horschler, Marvin Whitfield, Ben Latimer, Roscoe Land and Herman Kirkpatrick.

Honorary pallbearers included Jess Adamson, John Blankenbush, Alva Simmons, Cullen Gunnacker, Leon Reeves and Bill Wiggins.

Flower bearers were granddaughters of Mrs. Shaw, Ruby and Ava Hines, Shawlone Lane and Jane and Betty Granger.

Interment was made in Rowe cemetery under direction of Womack Funeral Home.

Diecie Ann Bell was born in Greener, N. Car. on April 18, 1861, being 79 years of age at the time of her death. She came to Texas with her sister at the age of 16. She was married at Mansfield in February, 1885 to J. D. Shaw, who survives her. To this union nine children were born, eight of whom survive. They are Mrs. Oia Hastings of Lamesa, Mrs. Allie Lane and Mrs. Paul Orsler of Portales, N. Mex., Mrs. Barton Hines of Westbrook, Mrs. E-ta Mullins of Riverside, Calif., Archie Shaw of Rotan, M. P. and Harvey Shaw of Hedley.

One daughter, Mrs. Laura Bullock, preceded her in death. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Ben Ellis of Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Shaw was a pioneer wife and mother, and saw many hardships on the frontier in both western Oklahoma and West Texas. After their marriage in 1886 she and her husband moved to Greer county, Okla., where they lived several years. They then moved to Mansfield, Texas, coming to Mitchell county in West Texas in 1905. They returned to Mansfield after some years, and in 1916 moved to Hedley and have made their home here the past 24 years.

Mrs. Shaw was a member of the First Baptist Church here and was a faithful worker as long as her health permitted. She will be sadly missed in the home, the church and the community. The Informer extends sincere sympathy to the bereaved.

The bride wore a dress of navy blue with white accessories.

They were accompanied by J. Davis Harrison and family, Bill Stone and Miss Vera Adams of Hedley, Fred Pierce and family and Mrs. H. H. Ponds of Amarillo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Davis Harrison of Hedley, and was a 1940 graduate of Hedley high school. She also attended school at Lela and Hamrock.

The groom attended school at Childress, and is employed by the Denver railroad here, where they will make their home.

A wide circle of friends will join in the Informer in extending congratulations and best wishes to the couple.

Todd Withdraws from Race for County Superintendent

I entered the race for county superintendent's office of my own accord, and withdrew in the same manner. At this time I believe it to be to my personal interest to pursue my chosen profession, that of teaching school. I will, therefore, use my time in that preparation. For that reason I shall not be a candidate for the office of county superintendent. I sincerely thank each and every one for every consideration shown me. The assistance and encouragement given me will always be a grateful remembrance, coming as it did from those who have been my neighbors and friends through these years. Please remember that I thank each of you for every act of consideration and kindness shown me; and I will continue to be with you, and will be willing and happy to serve you at any time to the best of my ability.

Bill Todd

A large crowd is expected from all over the Panhandle, and Clarendon merchants and citizens are preparing to show their visitors a good time.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Gen. Emilio De Bono, taking command of Italy's southern armies with her entry into the war, is said to have had the longest and strongest Fascist Mast-Head in those parts. Now 75 years old, a tiny man scarcely taller than Italy's liltling, he has been built up as a rough-and-tumble wildcat fighter, a legend which he sustains by ferocious activity. They benched him in the middle of the Ethiopian conquest because, he complained, the Ethiopians wouldn't step out and fight. They sent in Gen. Pietro Badoglio and he finished them with poison gas.

Early in 1935, General De Bono recorded his heart's desire in Mussolini's political review, Gerarchia, as follows: "One proclaims, even shouts, often and perhaps too much, a beautiful word that I have personally promised myself not to pronounce or write any more unless it is on the day where one can by direct action give a real reason to the why of this great word. Oh, well, although old, will live to see that day."

The word so hallowed he dared not write it was—"Empire."

The pint-size general was one of the original quadrumvirate of Fascism and is said to have been the first to nail the empire slogan on the Fascist masthead. This writer remembers having seen him once, an extraordinarily active, bright-eyed, talkative little man, with a neat white beard—a few hours after a mob of young blackshirts had wrecked the house of former Premier Nitti, in Florence, and shreds his classical library of books which ranged back to the Fifteenth century.

In 1926 General De Bono was charged with knowledge of the political kidnaping and murder of the Deputy Matteotti. There was latent opposition to Fascism then, and Il Duce hastily sent his little wildcat general to Africa. The incident was forgotten and the general went to work getting Africa ready for empire day. He was the Fascist chief of police in the early days of the regime and built up the Italian Cheka. He entered the Milan Military academy at the age of 12, and has put in his entire career in the army.

THOMAS NAST, the hornet who stung Boss Tweed, is perhaps the best precedent for David Low. Similarly, the British cartoonist has been slinging Britain's "Apollonia Germania" for several years. A brief cable today reports the telling effect of his cartoons in stirring a new surge of anger against the trimmers and side-steps of the immediate postwar years. Correspondents score him on the side of new unity and fighting spirit.

The quiet, bearded Briton with a big black hat topped up the fifth column long before the Norway debacle. Visiting the United States in October, 1936, he said: "We're becoming a world of stool pigeons. There are too many white rats loose everywhere. I'm pessimistic. We'd better get ready to save what we have. That goes for the U. S. A., too. People who believe in civilization don't know what's happening to it. They'd better find out. I'm trying to tell them."

During the last two years, his ten-strike cartoons have been carried on the cables and widely reproduced in this country, the first to be thus distinguished. They have found publication in many other countries—signed "Low," as the David has long since been dropped. He says people have to learn to laugh to win a war, and add, "We laugh too much from our back teeth and too little from our stomachs."

He is of Shakespearean aspect and says that his neat little beard is in deference to the bard and not Moscow. He was born in Dundee, New Zealand, in 1891 and began his career as a cartoonist with the Sydney (Australia) Bulletin.

"THE Beautiful Girl of the Bowery Run" heads the move of the American Medical Women's association to get military training for women physicians in government service, and to prepare women doctors and dentists for effective war work—if necessary. The move designating was that of Dr. Emily D. Barringer, when she was the country's first woman ambulance surgeon in 1903. She recently retired after twenty-one years of the staff of the Kingston Avenue hospital, Brooklyn.

Great Britain to 'Fight On, Alone' In Spite of French Capitulation; U. S. Speeds Up Defense Program

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

II GERMAN WAR: Honorable Peace

Premier Paul Reynaud of France had often and sincerely pledged that he would lead his country in a "fight to the finish" against the German invader. Thus when the government announced his resignation and the appointment of 84-year-old Marshal Henri Petain to take his place the French people knew without further information that a peace offer was in the offing.

And soon it came. Marshal Petain declared to his people that he was asking the enemy to end the war by giving to France a "peace with honor." Negotiations were immediately begun. While peace terms were being arranged, the badly crippled and out-fought French army was forced to carry on its battle against Germany and Italy even after its leaders had asked for peace.

England meantime was rallying every force at her command to prepare for the next German blitzkrieg. Home defenses were bolstered and a firm resolution held sway over the island center of a world empire: "Even alone, we will fight on."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared in a radio address that the British empire would fight on "until the curse of Hitler is lifted from the brows of mankind." British leaders expressed the hope that despite any peace arrangements, that France's resources would not be used against England.

Should Germany gain control of France's fleet (second only to England's in Europe) Britain would have a very serious naval problem on her hands. For the combined fleets of Germany, Italy and France are equal to or stronger than the British fleet. England's effective sea blockade of the axis powers would thus be put to the extreme test.

Russia meanwhile had not been idle. Exactly what the Soviet Union had in mind, few men except Joseph Stalin could be sure, but Russian troops marched into Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia and the governing francs appeals to Roosevelt, and to Americans generally, and this aerial propaganda had its effect. Some Americans went so far as to favor a declaration of war against Hitler, although for the time being, Mussolini was even more unpopular.

The senate passed, by 87 to 13, the presidential policy of trading in government-owned weapons to private corporations, for re-sale to the allies. Old rifles, older ammunition, airplanes; and there was even talk of "obsolete" U. S. naval destroyers, for England to hunt submarines and sea-sleds with. U. S. Steel, for example, was reported as planning a $37,000,000 deal, via the war department, for the allies.

The house of representatives passed an increase of $5,000 privates for the regular army, and there was congressional talk of running our armed forces up to a million men, including the National Guard. The house also approved the national defense tax bill, to yield a billion additional dollars during the coming fiscal year, and increasing the national debt limit to 49 billions—a jump upward of four billions.

V Column
Congressman Van Zandt of Pennsylvania demanded that Roosevelt begin a drive against the fifth column here in America. Roosevelt was requested to fire the 563 people listed by the Dies committee, as government employees who belonged to the reddish League for Peace and Democracy. But the fifth column charges became wilder and wilder—each American making up his own list of fifth columnists, and putting on it special grievances. A complete list of "amalgamated" fifth columnists was assembled. It included Republicans, Democrats, third termites, anti-third termites, pro-Germans, pro-Russians, pro-Italians, pro-Britons, aliens, communists, socialists, the Bund, pacifists, "professional" Irishmen, Jews, Catholics, atheists, gossipers, defeatists, pro-lor pinks, roaring reds, anarchists, pietists, and conscientious objectors. Readers of the column may add to this partial compendium, at their pleasure.

INTERNAL INTERESTS:
Ex-Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana got 10 years in a federal jail for using the U. S. mails to defraud the state in the purchase of trucks. Leche had held gubernatorial office from 1936 to last June, when he resigned.

A new 35,000-ton battleship, the North Carolina, was launched in the Brooklyn navy yard. Sabotage, spying, and insidious camera work were carefully guarded against, as the great ship slid down the ways.

The $4,000,000 Italian building at New York's World fair kept open, despite the U. S. domestic roasting of Italy, and a reduced clientele. Pennsylvania supports half a million people, unemployed and on relief. A major purge was scheduled to oust single, able-bodied men from the rolls, for the sake of economy. At Albany, N. Y., an organization known as the First Column was organized. Its purpose was to block Earl Browder for communist president of the United States—a movement which seemed hardly necessary under the conditions

NAMES ... in the news

It was the twenty-ninth birthday of an up-state N. Y. butcher boy named William Braun. He was reported to have drunk an estimated 80 whiskies in 12 hours, then got 30 days for alleged driving while intoxicated, two days for alleged driving without a license, and two days for alleged failure to produce a motor-vehicle registration card.

WASHINGTONIANA: Foreign Policies

Following the President's speech at the University of Virginia, there was a storm. Part of it was a storm of applause by third termites, New Dealers, warhawks. The rest was a storm of protest by Republicans, pacifists, independent Democrats. Senator Wheeler of Montana began to emerge as heir to the laurels of the late Senator Borah of Idaho. He indicated he might break with Roosevelt, if the Democratic party turned into the "war" party. Republicans planned to label the Democratic party by that tag, in the 1940 campaign.

On the other hand, some of the New Dealers wanted to repeal the Johnson act, and Roosevelt's own neutrality act, with its cash-and-carry provisions. France kept mak-

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN you see Paramount's version of Joseph Conrad's "Victory" (directed by John Cromwell, co-starring Frederic March and Betty Field), you'll see some of the most-traveled film ever shown. Scenes were shot in Sourabaya, on the island of Java, in the Dutch East Indies; then the cans of film were transported by train, native boat, and finally by Chinese air line to Hong Kong. A Pan-American clipper flew it to Manila, and there it stayed; so many passengers were waiting to take the clipper home that there was no room for part of a movie.

It came along on the next scheduled flight. Meanwhile the cast was working at Baldwin lake. The scenes shot in the actual location of the story will be slipped in with the ones shot on the American location—and it won't be surprising if the Baldwin lake shots are the more convincing.

More than 100 boys are being paid for having the time of their lives; they're portraying real-life cadets in Columbia's "Military Academy," and much of the action calls for them to disport themselves on the track and football field of a local military academy. They sprint, put the shot, pole-vault—and the checks come rolling in. Tommy Kelly, Bobby Jordan, David Holt and Jackie Seari are in the cast.

Four-year-old Dickie Lyon, son of Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, (and don't tell me that you don't remember those two picture stars!) is worried. He's working in "The Howards of Virginia," and doesn't want his parents to find it out.

"They told me pictures was bad," he declares.

Bebe and Ben have been starring in a stage play in London, and they sent the boy back to California to live with his grandmother several months ago, because of the war. Frank Lloyd, who's directing "The Howards of Virginia," persuaded Mrs. Daniels to let Dickie take the role of the young son of Cary Grant and Martha Scott, and Dickie is doing remarkably well—except that he's worried. He's afraid of what his mother will think when she sees him on the screen.

"Maybe she won't like it," he says, ominously.

But Lloyd's not anxious. Some time ago he told Bebe that little Dickie was a good picture prospect, and she said, "I'd trust him with you."

Uncle Ezra (Pat Barrett; of radio's National Barn Dance) is highly enthusiastic over making movies in Hollywood, but the most difficult thing he had to adjust himself to was the delay in starting. He recently returned to Chicago from the cinema city after making "Coming Round the Mountain" with Bob Burns; later he'll go back to Paramount and do two more.

ODDS AND ENDS—Gary Cooper has a photograph of his two-year-old daughter, Mary, encased in the dashboard of his car. . . . Agnes Moorehead used a train and three planes in a frantic effort to get to New York from Milwaukee for a "Big Sister" broadcast, landed in Washington, and had to give up; when she found the New York plane grounded in Milwaukee because of bad weather, she flew to Cleveland, then to Pittsburgh, then to Washington, only to find that there wasn't enough time left to reach New York for the broadcast. . . . Virginia Dale and Lillian Cornell, whom you've seen or perhaps will see in "Buck Benny Rides Again," will supply the feminine interest in "Touchdown," with Wayne Morris.

Frances Langford finished a broadcast, then drove 700 miles to the Navajo Indian reservation in Arizona to spend her second wedding anniversary with her husband, Jon Hall, who's starring in "Kit Carson," an Edward Small production. There are 50,000 Navajo Indians on the reservation, but the role of Indian chief went to Al Kikumi, a full blooded Hawaiian. After numerous tests Producer Small came to the conclusion that Kikumi looks more like an Indian chief than any of the Indians do.

LEAKY JOINT
This is the kind of indifferent window frame construction that is used in many new homes. It results in drafts and dirty walls around windows. Arrows point to where cold air leaks in.

TIGHT JOINT
Contractors call this wide blind stop construction. It cuts air leakage more than half around window frames. Costs just a few cents extra per window. Arrow points to wide blind stop.

Don't overlook the importance of the lowly window frame when you build your new house. It is the one thing that permanently joins your windows with the framework of your house. A window frame properly constructed keeps out dirt and drafts by making a weather-tight joint with the wall. A window frame indifferently constructed will allow as much as 174 cubic feet of air per hour to leak into your home, air that is often loaded with dust, to dirty up walls and cause drafts.

Good Construction Costs Little
Wide blind stop construction in window frames has been in use for many years, yet jerry builders will use frames without it in order to cut costs without regard to consequences. This type of construction costs about 30c to 50c more per window opening than ordinary construction and it will quickly pay for itself in heat saved and added comfort.

Window Frames Permanent
Remember window frames are a permanent part of the wall in your new home. To tear them out and replace them is not only a mess but a big expense as well. The easiest way to avoid leaky window frames in your new home is to buy frames that make a weather-tight wall joint and that means wide blind stop construction.

JOHN GARNER, PRESIDENTIAL PROSPECT, HAILS FROM SMALL-TOWN LIFE IN TEXAS

When he is not in Washington presiding over the Senate, John Garner is a typical Texan—a friendly neighbor and an ardent sportsman. Folks who drop in at his Uvalde home usually find him tending the chickens or raking up the back yard, but his love of a vigorous outdoor life often sends him hunting or fishing at some remote camp for days at a time.

Vice President Garner, now a leading presidential candidate, is a stalwart American whose political honesty and integrity stem from the simplicity of his home life in Texas. Born and reared on a Blossom Prairie farm, he became a country lawyer and editor before beginning his notable career of public service. Today he still cherishes his ties with small-town life in Texas.

THE BOY who "HAS NO FUTURE"

He is an American boy.

There are fifteen million like him in America; as young, as eager, as promising.

Yet some people feel sorry for these boys. They tell us American frontiers are gone. They say there is no future for youth in this country.

Do you believe such statements? We people of your electric company don't believe them, and we'll tell you why:

Fifty years ago the electric industry had barely begun its existence. There were no automobile, radio and aviation industries. Coming right up to date, here are a few of the things we don't have as recently as 1930:

Streamline travel. Transoceanic air service. New plastics and resins. Synthetic rubber. Synthetic vitamins. Sulfanilamide and sulfapyridine, drugs that are revolutionizing medicine.

There are always new frontiers and new futures in America. In good times and bad, Americans work to make the good things of life better and cheaper. The employees of your electric company are typical; their efforts have helped make it possible for this company to give far better service than it could give twelve or fifteen years ago, and to charge about half what was charged then.

The men of your electric company were once American boys. They believed in their own futures and the future of their country. They worked to make the future better for themselves and their fellow citizens. They hope today's young Americans will not listen to pessimism, because they know that every American has a future if he sincerely believes he has.

WEEKLY ANALYSIS BY ROGER SHAW

Italy Joins Germany in War
As French Retreats Continue;
Allies 'Ready' for Mussolini

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THE WAR:
Enter Italy

After nine months of watching his ally Hitler carry on the actual warfare against France and England, Benito Mussolini has finally thrust the armed force of Italy into the European conflict. In a dramatic announcement the Italian dictator told his people and the world that his country had decided to enter the war on the side of Germany.

From Berlin came reports that the first Italian troop movements had been directed into French Riviera, even as Mussolini was notifying British and French diplomatic officials that a special train was ready to take them out of his country as war against their native lands was already under way.

Italy's main war aim as outlined by Mussolini is control of the Mediterranean by that country.

This grave development presented a truly serious military problem for the hard-pressed French armies. While they have been expecting the move for some time, they were so busy fighting off the German advances in the north that the spread of battle to the south weighed heavily upon the high command.

Italy's chief value to Hitler as an ally lies in the fact that the nation is geared to strike fast—in the blitzkrieg manner so well liked by the Fuehrer. Military experts generally agree that Italy is not in an economic position to successfully wage a long and costly war.

Naturally reaction to Italy's entrance into the war was varied. Here is a brief summary of this sentiment from the various world capitals:

London—An information ministry communique declared that preparations of the allies to meet Italy's war bid were complete and that Britain and France know how "to meet sword with sword."

Berlin—Cheering crowds hailed the reports as being added evidence that the end of the war for a victorious Germany was at hand. Hitler wired Mussolini that he was glad Italy had come in "of her own free will."

Washington—President Roosevelt declared in a speech made the same day as Italy entered the war, that Italy had scorned the "rights and security of other nations," by this move. He promised material aid to the "opponents of force."

Politics
Premier Reynaud dropped "appeaser" Daladier from his cabinet, and it looked as if "appeaser" Chamberlain was also on the way out of the Churchill dictatorship. Churchill and Chamberlain had been on bad terms from way back, and this was Churchill's chance to get even. Furthermore, the British veterans back from Flanders were especially bitter with Chamberlain and his friends because of the lack of British airplanes to hold back Goering's daredevils.

NAMES

... in the news

¶ Said a Washington official, here perforce anonymous, to your correspondent: "We must stop Hitler, and save the British empire. We simply must! But if we save the British empire a second time, we will have to take it over, lock, stock and barrel."

¶ Peter Gannon, age 18, of Long Island, joined the regular U. S. Eighteenth infantry. He was the sixth Gannon brother to enlist. Gannon now have been joining up with Uncle Sam for just 10 years—since 1930. This is supposed to constitute a regular army record, and a sarcastic pacifist spoke of "Gannon-fodder."

¶ Said parliamentary Deputy Sam Valek of Chile: "Although I myself am the son of a German, born in Chile, I firmly believe that our government should investigate the activities of Nazi elements here."

Battle of France

With the battle of Flanders at an end, the follow-up battle of France began. The so-called battle of France was primarily a German drive for Paris, Normandy, and such additional channel ports as Havre and Cherbourg, and Seine port Rouen, where Joan of Arc was burned by the English in the Fifteenth century.

Twenty-four hours after Mussolini had entered the war, German tanks were encircling Paris and the city was under constant bombing by the Nazi air force.

Whether the Germans could keep it up or not, depended largely on the amount of their tanks destroyed by the allies in the battle of Flanders. The new Aisne-Somme front was 125 miles long, but probably only two-thirds of the northern French army was left to hold it. Meanwhile, the English army had been driven back to England, with the loss of all its mechanized equipment.

Generalissimo Weygand invented a new anti-tank strategy, which consisted of opening "free" lanes for the German Suhs and A. Y. V.s and then hammering them from all sides. These were exactly the anti-elephant tactics of the old Roman, Scipio Africanus, with which he finally beat the great Hannibal, that master of "tank" warfare. For Carthaginian war elephants were used just like Hitler's battle wagons.

LATIN AMERICA:
V Columns

There was a lot of fifth-column talk from Mexico, Uruguay, Ecuador, and Colombia. Many critics seemed to feel that the Nazis were at the bottom of anti-Yankee feeling in these countries, but that was hardly the whole case. For the United States has had serious trouble with Mexico, Nicaragua, Colombia, Chile, Haiti, San Domingo, the Argentine, and others, long before Hitler was ever heard of. Nearly a century ago, we annexed half of Mexico, and Latin Americans have a curiously unified feeling when it comes to Anglo-Saxons.

Naturally, tricky Nazi agents sought to fan these ever-present flames. But by a curious circumstance, the only truly totalitarian dictatorship in Latin America is our very best friend of the lot—Brazil, under Dictator Getulio Vargas. Most like ourselves in its institutions is the all-white Argentine, and the Argentine is our stoutest opponent among the 20 Latin American

WAR HUMOR:
One Bright Spot

Most beloved of all English wits today is the famous P. G. Wodehouse, who always depicts his countrymen at their worst—and most likeable. He and his wife were giving a gay cocktail party at Le Touquet, an English resort on the French channel coast. Little did they care about the war. Then the butler "Jeeves" knocked and announced—the Germans! The latter arrested the comic author, but not Mrs. Wodehouse. Mr. Wodehouse's farewell words were strictly Wodehousean: "Maybe, my dears, this will give me the material to write a serious book for once."

U. S. DRAFT:
Conscripts Again

The N. Y. Times, which some believe to be in a nervous state these days, published an editorial advocating U. S. conscription, which they called "compulsory military training." It created a stir. Roosevelt said he found the editorial most interesting, but declined to comment. War Secretary Woodring said it was a matter for the populus americanus to discuss. Secretary Wallace said that the populus americanus was waking up.

Star Dust
STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

EACH year Hollywood makes a "sleeper"—a picture that, during the making, created no excitement, but during the preview showing had all the earmarks of being one of the best of the year. "It Happened One Night" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" are two of the better known sleepers. This year's, according to some of the people who have seen it, may be "Down Went McGinty."

Written and directed by Preston Sturges, with a cast including Muriel Angelus, Brian Donlevy and Akim Tamiroff, it is "a saga of a bum."

It may be the making of a new star, Muriel Angelus. In England she is one of the foremost musical comedy stars; she played the lead in "Balalaika" on the stage there—you'll recall that Nelson Eddy and Ilona Massey did the picture version. She has been in this country for two years; last year, while singing on the New York stage in "The Boys From Syracuse," she was signed up by Paramount, and "The Light That Failed," with Ronald Colman, was her first picture. Then she did "Safari" and "The Way of All Flesh," followed them with "Down Went McGinty."

When John Barrymore seemed to be unavailable for the role of John Barrymore in "The Great Profile," at Twentieth Century-Fox, Adolphe Menjou was engaged for it. Then Barrymore's plans changed, he took the part, and Menjou took his salary, as the studio had no other picture ready for him.

Rod Cameron, a young, six-foot Canadian, went to Los Angeles a year ago to learn the dime store business. That didn't work out very well, so he quit, took up little theater work, and now finds himself acting for Paramount.

Death brought him his first role, that of "Corporal Underhill" in Cecil B. DeMille's "Northwest Mounted Police." Earl Askam, a former stage star and war hero, was to have played it, but he died recently of a heart attack, and young Cameron (whose real name is Rod Cox) was summoned for it. By a grisly coincidence, the role included a death scene, but he's so elated over getting the part that he can't afford to be superstitious.

Now that they need passports to sail for a tour of South America, it has been discovered that many of Toscanini's NBC Symphony musicians are men without a country. It seems that there was a general impression among them that all they had to do to become American citizens was to file their intentions of doing so; now they're Americans, and, as they renounced their native lands, they don't legally belong anywhere.

George Brent, working in Warner Brothers' "The Sentance," offers to put up $10,000 at 10 to 1 odds that he won't marry for another three years. "That's no reflection on Ann," he says, meaning Ann Sheridan, whom gossips have him wedding soon. "It's just that I'm going to wind up my picture contract then, and I'm not making any marriage plans until I do."

Miss Sheridan (working in "They Drive by Night," same studio) is equally vehement. "George and I haven't even discussed getting married," says she. But—it's the kind of bulldog that so often leads to an elopement, in Hollywood!

Carl Hoff, on the CBS Al Pearce show, drew an impressive crowd the other day and wished he hadn't. He parked his new coupe and then tried to get out of it, and couldn't. He went through assorted acrobatic convulsions, thrusting his feet and arms out of the windows in all possible combinations, while the crowd offered advice hilariously. The new coupe has patent thief-locks on its doors. Only after he had struggled till he was limp did it occur to Hoff to pass the key to one of the amused bystanders.

SURVIVOR RECALLS
FIRST BOAT TRIP
IN GRAND CANYON

Thrilling Tale of Hardship
And Adventure Related
By Old-Timer.

PHOENIX—Last surviving member of the first expedition into the Grand Canyon by boat is James Fennemore, a spruce old fellow of some 90 years, who sits every day at the Arizona club here to spin his tales of adventure.

The spare, lean-faced Fennemore has had more than his share of adventure in one way or another, but tops the tales he tells by his arduous inland voyage on the Colorado river with Maj. John Wesley Powell.

"It wasn't fun," he said, speaking of the trip through the canyon. "Our clothes were wet for days. We slept beside mud puddles that bred mosquitoes big enough to bite through a Navajo blanket, and we stood in water up to our necks for hours dragging our boats around some of the rapids."

Drives Wagon Train.

Born in London, Fennemore came to America in 1864, and although he didn't remain long, he came again in 1866 to stay. Like most young men of the day, he saw opportunity in the West.

A photographer by trade, Fennemore came West by working as a driver on a wagon train taking supplies to Fort Bridger, Utah. The wagons were pulled across the plains by oxen.

"Texas longhorns are what they were," said Fennemore, "and wild ones at that."

When the going was good the train made seven or eight miles a day. It took four days to get the wagons across the Platte river, using 36 cattle to each wagon.

Finally arriving at Fort Bridger, Fennemore pushed on ahead 90 miles to Salt Lake City, where he got a job in a photograph gallery.

To him one day came an army officer, Maj. John Wesley Powell, who wanted some pictures printed. Fennemore did the job and Major Powell took the prints back to Washington. With the aid of the pictures the officer succeeded in getting enough money from congress to outfit an expedition to the Grand canyon.

Joins Expedition.

Powell remembered Fennemore and offered the youth a chance to go on the exploration as official photographer.

"Of course I went," said Fennemore.

Fennemore remained with the expedition seven months, going from Lee's Ferry up the Colorado river and into the mouth of the Grand canyon.

"Every day was an adventure," he said. "We started on February 28 from Salt Lake City and took the stage as far as Toquerville. We outfitted in Johnson's canyon east of Kanab and set out overland for the Colorado river."

He Gets
So Cheap

SEATTLE, WA.—A man, aged 47, unemployed, with a wife and three children, is looking for a buyer for one of his eyes.
He asks $2,500.
"One eye will be enough for me," he said. "I'm washed up as far as work is concerned, anyway. I've had arthritis for eight years, and I've given up hope of getting better. I need money for the wife and kids, and surely someone needs an eye."

NARCOTICS PEDDLED
OPENLY IN NANKING

Gangs Get Armed Protection
From Japanese.

SHANGHAI—Nanking, which suffered so atrociously from burning, looting and rapine after the Japanese captured the city, is now being afflicted with peddlers of narcotics who work openly under the protection of the Japanese army, according to confidential reports sent here by foreigners still living in the former capital.

Opium is sold openly for around 20 Mexican dollars an ounce, which is less than $4. Heroin, for a pure ounce, commands a price of 244 Mexican dollars, the equivalent of about $45 an ounce. But this narcotic is mixed with cheap flour and sold to the poor in small packets at 5 and 10 cents each—prices respectively less than 1 or 2 cents in United States money.

The leaders of the narcotic gangs are in possession of arms, which, it is charged, they receive from the Japanese military. Many of the drug distributors are Chinese, working under military protection, and these men organize gangs at night which rob and loot without military interference. The Chinese police, not permitted to carry arms, are helpless.

Opium pipes and lamps are sold openly at stalls on all the main streets and a degree of license exists, which Nanking never knew under Chinese administration. In fact, many of Nanking's main streets today are like the streets in the Japanese concession at Tientsin, where opium and its derivatives have been peddled openly for many years.

Chinese currency still circulates in Nanking and is accepted everywhere except at the telegraph office, railway station and at a few Japanese shops. The general rate is 1.04 to the Japanese yen, of which ever larger quantities are being forced into circulation by the Japanese military.

A 'SAFE AND SANE' PARTY
(See Recipes Below)

Why not plan a party for the Fourth of July, to keep the youngsters in the family happy and out of mischief? It might be a party on the porch or in the yard—or a picnic in the country, if you prefer it. Make it a family affair, or invite a youthful guest or two to keep your own children company.

Whatever type of party you plan, make it a festive affair—with gay table decorations (if refreshments are being served at home), very special "party foods" and patriotic party favors, too. Gaily colored paper table cloths and napkins are a must, and they do save work! And be sure to provide balloons and snap crackers, or noisemakers of another kind.

Plan definite entertainment, with an active game or two to permit the children to use up excess energy, and a "pencil and paper" or guessing game to play when a little rest is in order. Pencil and paper games such as these two might be used—and you'll find that adults as well as young people enjoy them.

Jumbled Names.
Prepare for each player a typed or mimeographed copy of the following list of scrambled letters each of which, when unscrambled, spells the name of a famous American. To get an idea of what the game is like, why not try your own luck with the list before looking at the answers?

Menu for July Fourth Party.
Tomato Aspic Salad
Assorted Sandwiches
Potato Chips
Ice Cream Fire Crackers
Pinwheel Cookies
Beverage

Parfait glasses full of Peppermint Stick Ice cream, camouflaged in red paper cylinders to look like giant firecrackers, are amusing for a Fourth of July dessert. Top the ice cream with a cherry, with the stem left on to form the firecracker wick. And serve Pinwheel Cookies to complete the "fireworks dessert."

Chocolate Pinwheels.
½ cup shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
2 cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 ounce chocolate (melted)
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening thoroughly and add sugar slowly. Add egg and beat well. Mix and sift all dry ingredients and add, together with the milk and the vanilla. Divide dough into 2 parts. To one part add the melted chocolate. To the other add the cinnamon. Roll each part one-eighth inch thick. Place the chocolate dough on the cinnamon dough and roll up like a jelly roll. Wrap in wax paper and chill for several hours. Cut in thin slices and bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 8 to 10 minutes.

Potato Chips.
4 medium sized potatoes
2 to 3 pound fat
Salt

Paré and cut potatoes into very thin slices. Allow sliced potatoes to stand in ice water until firm (about 1 hour). Heat fat to 375 degrees. Blot potatoes dry with a clean towel and place potato slices in French fry basket. Immerse basket in hot fat by handle. Keep potatoes moving constantly so that the slices do not stick together. Remove basket and drain potatoes on brown paper. Sprinkle with salt.

Tomato Aspic.
4 cups canned tomatoes
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 bay leaf
½ cup celery (chopped)
1 tablespoon onion (chopped)
4 whole cloves
2 tablespoons gelatin
½ cup water
¾ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine the tomatoes, salt, pepper, bay leaf, celery, onion and cloves. Cook gently for 10 minutes and strain. Soak gelatin in cold water and add to the hot tomato mixture, together with Worcestershire sauce, stirring well. Pour into ring mold and chill until set. Unmold on large plate, garnish with lettuce or watercress and fill center with cabbage salad.

Magic Peppermint Stick Ice Cream.
1½ cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
2 cups thin cream or evaporated milk
1 cup cold water
¾ cup crushed peppermint stick candy

Blend sweetened condensed milk, thin cream, and water. Freeze in 2-quart freezer using a mixture of 3 parts ice to 1 part rock salt. Remove dasher. Add crushed peppermint stick candy and salt for 1 hour or more after freezing. Makes 1½ quarts.

Special Peanut Butter Sandwich Filling.
(Makes 1 cup filling)
1 ripe banana
1 cup peanut butter
½ cup dates, cut fine
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Mash banana with a fork and thoroughly blend in remaining ingredients.

Ice Cream Cone Clowns.
Place a ball of ice cream on a butter cookie, and with raisins or tiny gumdrops make eyes, nose and mouth in the ice cream. Place a cone jauntily on top of the ice cream. Add a ruff of whipped cream around the clown's neck.

Brown Bread Sandwiches.
1 loaf brown bread
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
2 tablespoons butter
Slice brown bread very thin. Mix cream cheese and butter together thoroughly. Spread brown bread slices generously with the cheese mixture.

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

HERE is Betsy again—the clever girl in Sewing Book 3, who streamlined an old iron bed. In her house there was an enormous kitchen and her mother hated big kitchens. So, a partition was used to divide it into two rooms. The half with a door into the front hall was for Betsy to entertain her own special friends.

The old linoleum was painted dark green. All the walls were painted cream and then pink stripes were painted on the new wall. The neat and efficient cot cover is cream chintz with pink roses and green leaves. The sides of the pad, the two end cushions and the center cushion are green, lighter than the floor. The cut-down table with the tin tray on top is painted with the green floor paint with some of the cream wall color added.

Stymied Immigrants

During hibernation, the mouse, a small rodent resembling a squirrel, sinks into such a deep sleep that it must be aroused gradually or it will die. Even when shaken violently, it cannot awaken in less than 20 minutes.

Ninety per cent of all historical books have been written about Europe, which has never contained more than 30 per cent of the world's population.

St. Pierre and Miquelon, islands off the southern coast of Newfoundland, have an unusual history. They were French in 1600, British in 1702, French in 1763, British in 1778, French again in 1783, British in 1793, French in 1802, British in 1803 and French again in 1814, since which their possession has not changed.

The U. S. immigration border patrol, which guards more than 5,500 miles of our northern and southern boundaries, has apprehended, in a single year, as many as 33,000 persons who were attempting to enter the country illegally.—Collier's.

Concrete Facts

Cement and concrete play a tremendous part in both peace and war, and without concrete most vast engineering enterprises would be impossible. But concrete is not an entirely new invention, for the Greeks and Romans had something very much like it. They used a mortar made from fine ground volcanic deposits mixed with lime and sand. The Greek called it Santorin earth, and the Romans pozzolana, and the Emperor Hadrian named 120-130 A. D. has walls 20 feet thick, composed partly of pozzolana and faced with brick.

In Britain a form of concrete was used by the Saxons to build Corfe castle, in Dorset. Modern concrete, incidentally, increased 50 per cent in strength during the first month, and an additional 60 per cent during the next 35 years.
