WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Key Albanian Cities Fall as Greeks Continue to Drive Back Italy's Army; Turks Declare Martial Law in 'Crisis'; Murray Heads CIO as Lewis Resigns

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by West Coast Newspaper Union.)

BACK DOOR: War in Reverse

Events on the Albanian and nearby fronts gave military experts what they considered proof that the grand British plan of conducting the war from now on will be to knock out Italy first, then turn attention to Germany.

Hence Europe was treated to a war in reverse. Although England was continuing bombing raids against military objectives on German and occupied European bases including Norway, chief attention was focused on Italy, both on the continent and in Africa.

To full reports on the Taranto affair were added the fall of Koritza, accomplished with British air aid, and further Greek successes were accompanied by word that British territorial forces were fighting side by side with Greeks in the snowy and mountainous terrain of the Albanian frontier.

Mussolini, after denying all British and Greek claims of victory, two days later was the first to announce to the world the fall of Koritza and that a major defeat had met Italian arms.

Gen. John Metaxas, handsome Greek leader, was hailed as the savior of the nation from the Italian menace, and the numbers of prisoners taken were succinctly summed up as "too many to handle."

MONKEY WRENCH: In Diplomacy?

Germany's diplomatic maneuvers, usually believed forerunner to huge military operations, continued to be watched closely in half a dozen capitals, and wonder was expressed again whether perhaps Soviet Russia might throw a monkey wrench into the proceedings again.

Balkan resistance to Axis domination showed signs of crumbling, with Hungary first to give in to Nazi demands, and Rumania showing final collapse, though it was pointed out that the latter was already in Nazi hands.

At this moment, Russia stepped in with two moves, the significant character of which was evident, but the meaning of which was not at once ascertainable.

Russia recalled Schwarzkov, Moscow's ambassador to the Reich, and replaced him with another commissar.

Russia sent a warning to her little Slavic neighbor, Bulgaria, to be slow and careful about joining fully in the Axis plans.

Tass issued a flat denial, publicly, that Russia had had any hand in Hungary's joining the Axis.

These three moves were projected on the diplomatic screen for what

The Turks expressed their own attitude as follows:

"If the Germans are to aid Italy against Greece, Russia will not be willing to sit idle.

"However, even if Russia gives her consent, Turkey will defend herself.

"Bulgaria must be kept aloof from this newest move."

So Turkey, joining Russia in the warning to Bulgaria, evidenced that she was on the threshold of entrance into the war on the anti-Axis side.

The counter diplomatic move was coming from Von Papen, who was believed ready to offer Turkey a huge slice of France's Syrian territory if she would agree to remain aloof while the Germans go down through the Balkans and knock out Greece.

Observers felt there was little chance that Turkey would accept, fearing rather Axis domination of the Dardanelles than wishing a slice of territory she could take over herself any time she desired.

S.S.S.: Stress, Strikes, Sabotage

The defense front in the United States moved into the second of the phases that always have confronted this nation in times of industrial stress.

After a series of incidents that were widely interpreted as sabotage, strikes broke out in key industries in widely separated sections of the country.

Leading squabbles involved the Aluminum Company of America, a plant employing 7,500 workers, and the Vultee Aircraft corporation at work on government orders totaling $84,000,000.

Strike fever spread to Baltimore, where 2,000 city workers went out, demanding more money and pay for overtime, most serious public employees' strike in city's history.

The Aluminum strike was over company's refusal to discharge one employee who owed $12 back C. I. O. union dues.

The Vultee shutdown, also a C. I. O. matter, was blamed by U. S. Attorney General Jackson on "Reds." Workers were demanding raises of 50 to 75 cents an hour in pay.

Back of these scenes of labor stress stood the Dies committee, probing and publishing, charging the Nazis with responsibility for much of the Soviet agents with the rest of it all.

Jackson whipped back at Dies, stating he felt that the Dies group was accomplishing nothing but breaking down the public confidence in the ability of the G-men to solve crime and keep order and safety in the nation.

The C. I. O. closed its convention by electing Philip Murray to John L. Lewis' post, Lewis thus carrying out his "step-down" promise of the presidential campaign. The C. I. O. then announced it would attempt to organize the Ford Motor plant, and in the same breath asked governmental investigation of any affiliations the company might have with Nazi interests.

they were worth, speculators wondering mostly about the "monkey wrench" angle. Dictator Josef Stalin has a record of throwing "monkey wrenches" into international affairs. They can't forget the famous "treaty of Tilsit" in the Napoleonic war, and many are still betting that in the last analysis Russia will prove the turning point in the upset of the Axis hopes—if they are to be upset.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—For many years, Ernest G. Draper has been speaking up for the small business man whenever he had a chance.

Out to Channel Small Business In Defense Work

This now becomes his official assignment, as the Federal Reserve board, which is a governor, designates him as the board's representative in its invitation to small business to get in happily on the defense front. He will work with the officers of reserve banks in their co-operation with local banks in loosening credit and giving small concerns a crack at government contracts. The idea seems to be to channel small banking as well as small manufacturing into the defense mobilization of money and products.

Draper, New York head of the packing and marketing industry, which isn't so small, has written extolled what he calls "business statesmanship." He writes for trade journals and expounds for business forums his idea of a wide diffusion of opportunity among small businessmen, and the peril of unrestrained monopoly and wholesale taxation. From 1935 to 1938, he was assistant secretary of the Federal Reserve board.

In the latter year, in the representative of the National Association of Manufacturers before a senate committee on banking matters, he expressed the interest of the small manufacturer and merchant.

Owning a yacht and belonging to several yacht clubs might seem to include Mr. Draper from the small business league, but it has been no sinecure. Amherst gave him a degree in 1906 and later on an honorary master's degree.

This winter was talking to the owner of a small tool plant in New Jersey the other day, and found him quite angry about the defense program. He said the New Deal had "ruined everything for the big boys, and it will be worse now that the election is over and small-businessmen aren't immediately needed."

Draper's new activities may reach to him.

THERE is pace and precision in Rachel Crothers' polished drama of life and manners. Similarly everything clicks in her American Theater Wing, which she started last January with six women, and which now has more than 3,000 persons knitting, sewing, gathering funds, garments, food, blankets, even ambulances and canteens, and keeping them moving to England in mounting quantity.

About 1,000 of Mrs. Crothers' associates are New York women, in and out of the theater. But the organization and momentum are distinctly of the theater, and a score for the world of make-believe in facing the grim urgency of harsh reality.

Mrs. Crothers has staged an average of one play a year ever since the Broadway presentation of "The Three of Us," in 1906. At her home in Bloomington, Ill., she was an impresario of paper dolls at the age of four and staged her first play—in the back parlor of her home 50 years ago, when she was 12. It was a five-act play, called "Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining." She was the outstanding dramatist of her Sunday school class, but, because of the deacons, her plays were discreetly offered as sketches. Her parents, of Scotch, Irish, Huguenot antecedents, were both doctors.

After her graduation from the state normal university of Illinois, she worked first in amateur and then professional theatricals, writing, acting and producing and then stormed Broadway with no impressive resources other than the manuscript of "The Three of Us." The Sunday school playwright from Bloomington hit a bright note of big-town sophistication right from the start, clear on down to "Susan and God" of two years ago.

She is slender, brisk and alert at 62, a bit prim, but in and of the big town, a distinguished lady of the theater and supremely effective in all that she does. During the World war, she organized and managed as president the Stage Women's War Relief organization, with similar success in its humane objective. In the slump of 1932, she and John Golden, the theatrical producer, organized the highly efficient stage relief fund. She supplies at least one courageous answer to defeatism and futility. All around one hears of the gallant efforts of the stage women.

Jump'r Blouse for Juniors Very Smart

IN A season when jumpers have jumped way out in front of any other school style, this one stands right at the head of its very smart class. Why? Because it's the pinafore type, cut high and darts-fitted, that juniors are mad about. Because the skirt is made with unpressed front fullness that looks perfectly charming on slim little figures. Because it's adorned with two big patch pockets, as decorative as they are convenient. Last but not least, it's easy to make.

For the pinafore jumper of this design (No. 1252-B) choose corduroy, flannel, jersey or wool crepe. For the plain little tailored blouse (with short or long sleeves) challis, flannel, linen, flat crepe or batiste are smart.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1252-B is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19. Corresponding bust measurements 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37. Size 13 (31) requires 2 1/2 yards of 54-inch material for Jumper; 2 yards of 36-inch material without nap for long-sleeved blouse; 1 1/2 yards for short-sleeved blouse. Send order to:

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't endure it first and "cure" it afterward. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat the super-refined foods most people do: meat, white bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, you should eat a natural "bulk" producing food—such as one as the crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal, Kellogg's All-Bran. Eat it often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Friday night, Nov. 22, the local ball teams The Owlets suffered a slight defeat of 20 to 22, a narrow margin of two points while the Owis heated over the Alameda boys to the tune of 42 to 6. All of the boys saw service in this game. J. M. Dickson was high point man with 16 points.

Tuesday night, Nov. 26, the Owis and Owlets went to Lelia Lake to play their first conference games. The local girls lost a hard fought game 8 to 14, while the Owis beat the much improved Lelia Lake boys 24 to 18. Again J. M. Dickson was high point man with 10 points.

Our next game will be Dec. 6, at Goodnight. They will return the game Dec 18.

Wonders: Why Chasney Ruth was late to typing Thursday morning. What it was that aroused Ida Lee's affections toward the referee at Lelia Lake.

Why those basketball boys did not score any more points at Lelia Lake. What is the matter with me? I thought that was my job to be a "push over?"

Why it is that Miss Biggs should be sending Margaret a dollar by mail.

Why the remark was made to English IV made Ida a blush so much. I just heard that one of the Senior boys was flirting with the Principal's strap. You seniors better watch your step because it would be quite a "slap" to the dignity of your group.

I just noticed that Miss Biggs has such a fondness for Colleen that he just has to fend her necktie when she is away.

English 1 Holds Court

Wednesday was "book day" for the freshmen. To make this day more interesting we turned our English class into a courtroom. The judge was the Honorable L. J. Wade; the sheriff was Ira McLaughlin, and the lawyer, who gave the cross examination was Gene Davis. As each witness was called by the lawyer, Sheriff McLaughlin brought them to the stand. The witnesses were sworn in on the dictionary. Questions on the book the witness had read were asked by Judge Wade, Lawyer Davis, and the members of the jury. If the witness made satisfactory replies, the jury, the members of the class, declared him guilty.

American Boy Is Companion To Thousands

Hand in hand with thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine. "It's as if my buddy to me as my neighborhood chum, writes me high school senior." "The American Boy seems to understand my problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I'm on the school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy." Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to the helpful suggestions received from the sports articles in The American Boy Magazine. Every issue of the magazine contains famous cartoons, ball, basketball, and every major sport. Fiction articles are also included. Parents and teachers' clubs also recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that a general rule regarding reading of The American Boy advances rapidly and develops worthwhile characteristics that boys who do not read it lack.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in The American Boy, the sort of reading matter boys like best. The American Boy sells on most newsstands at 25¢ a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Periodic and Canadian rates 50¢ year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to The American Boy, 7480 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

Shelterbelt Planting

As the season has arrived when the Forest Service begins to plant stock from the Planting Nursery to the various locations in the area where farm shelterbelts are to be planted according to James W. Kyle, Acting District Officer in charge of the Shamrock District Office.

The locations where shelterbelts will be held in the Shamrock District are as follows: Shamrock, Wheeler, McLean, Hedley, Memphis and Wellington. Moving of the trees will start in the next few days. Kyle reports the trees will be moved by Government trucks and only about two weeks supply stored at any one time.

According to the Acting District Officer the interest in the planting of shelterbelts is greater this year than in past years. It is reported that in past years the Forest Service has been in a position to plant shelterbelts for most all farmers desiring them provided the soil was favorable for tree growth, but the indications are this will not be the case.

The Forest Service furnishes trees and labor for the planting of farm shelterbelts on cultivated land where the subsoil is favorable, and landowners desiring these plantings are requested to make application by January 1st as the applications will be considered as they are received and the late ones may not be considered for this year's planting. For this reason Kyle suggests applications either be made through the County Agent or direct to the Forest Service at Shamrock or to
