Notice to Farmers

Emergency crop and feed loans for 1941 are now available to farmers in Donley County, and applications for these loans are now being received at Clarendon by Harold Himmell, Field Supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Section of the Farm Credit Administration.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source including production credits, associations, banks or other private concerns or individuals.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing and cultivating his 1941 crops or in purchasing or producing feed for his livestock.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of cash crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed or, in case of loans for the purchase or production of feed for livestock, a first lien on the livestock to be fed.

Electric Industry Ready

West Texas and the nation now have an abundance of electric power to meet the national defense requirements over and above present consumption in home and business.

Present day plant generating capacity in the United States is greater than the combined electrical output of England, France and Germany, a recent survey shows.

The nation's utilities companies, owned and operated by men and women who invested in sound business enterprise and who've learned to render emergency service through long experience, have prepared in advance and without the use of tax money or government aid.

U S electric power facilities now exceed 40,000,000 kilowatts compared to less than 9,000,000 kilowatts each in England, France and Germany.

The West Texas Utilities Company, now entering its thirtieth year of service to West Texas, is ready to serve three national defense units: the Army air base at San Angelo, Camp Berkeley at Abilene, and the air training school at Stamford. Present facilities are sufficient to fill the requirements of many other defense projects should they be located in this area.

Vine-Whitefield

Mr Horace Vine, and Miss Johnnie Whitefield were united in marriage, at the home of the Justice of the Peace, Frank Kendall on last Saturday night at 8:30. These young people were from the South part of the county, in the Brice Community.

NOTICE

Mrs A A Cooper states that the dining room of the Cooper Hotel has been closed to the public for the present on account of her ill health. She also states that she deeply appreciates the patronage of all her friends and customers, and that the dining room will be reopened later if her health permits.

Baptist Church Notes

The past Sunday was a good day at the local Baptist church. Both the attendance and spirit was better also, both for the local work and for work among the new military camps in Texas. The offering for this special work was $13.00. Some of our people forgot their offering and will bring it later. You are invited to have a part in this worthy work.

The pastor used for his subject Sunday morning, 'God's Message to Backsliding Israel'. As a basis for this message, he read from the book of Jeremiah some verses from the 2nd, 3rd and 4th chapters.

For the evening hour the subject was "So Great Salvation," Heb 2:3. An urge was made to the un saved that they neglect not this great salvation provided and offered by God.

Seventy women attended the all day meeting of the Association of Women's Missionary Union which met at the local church Tuesday, Feb 11. The Association Brotherhood met here the same day at 8:00 p. m. Between thirty and forty men were present.

The Associational Worker's Conference will meet next Tuesday, Feb. 18 at Lolla Lake. Mrs Teaff is on the program for a devotional at 10:00 a. m. Bro Alwin is to give the devotional at 1:30 p. m. Bro Teaff will preach at the 11:30 a. m. hour. It is hoped that a large group of Hedley people will be present for this meeting.

The pastor announces a series of messages beginning next Sunday morning on the subject morning on the subject "God's Plan". Make your plans now to miss none of these messages.

You are welcome to attend any or all of our services.

Taking the "ice"

Out Of Service

Everyone appreciates good service. That's especially true when you go to a bank.

It is our belief that a financial institution can be more than a place which guards your funds and occasionally loans you money.

It should be a place where you can drop in often for a friendly talk where you can ask for advice and get an honest answer and where all assistance is gladly given.

That's our idea of banking—with the "ice" left out of service.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Threat of German Invasion of Britain
And Congressional Lend-Lease Debate
Present Grim Picture of War Situation;
Italians Continue to Fall Back in Africa

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CRISIS:
For Lend-Lease

The real crisis in the lend-lease legislation found a well-defined public response to the antagonistic efforts of the isolationists and the non-interventionists.

The result? The administration called big guns to the support of the measure, and predicted its passage during the week beginning March 3. The schedule called for unlimited debate in house and senate, but there were many indications that this limitation would bring forth tremendous opposition in Republican floor circles and in senate committees as well.

Generally speaking, the public attitude, as disclosed in numbers of polls of sentiment conducted by newspapers throughout the country, seemed to be that the all-out aid to Britain principle was favorably received.

The public, on the other hand, seemed to feel that there was at least a reasonable doubt whether the President should be given as much and as drastic power as the original lend-lease draft indicated.

This was reflected even in the sponsorship of the measure, because Representative Bloom (N. Y.) who was chairman of the house foreign relations committee, scarcely put up any opposition against three or four major amendments, limiting the time for which the presidential powers would be granted, declaring in principle against convoys and other items in which the opposition found fault with the bill.

This showed the administration forces to be in the unusual position of fostering legislation of which they do not approve themselves, at least in part.

Either that, or they were "shooting for the moon," and willing to give and take in order to reach their main objective—of the passage of a bill which would in effect repeal the Johnson act forbidding loans to belligerents who had not paid their World war debts.

REP. SOL BLOOM
Scarcely any opposition.

INVASION:
Threat Near

As the lend-lease argument reached its zenith, predictions that England was nearing the critical period in the Battle For Britain were legion. Lindbergh had set the most gloomy picture, figuring that Britain could never withstand the onslaught.

One could figure which side of the lend-lease battle the predictor was on by the darkness of the picture he painted. Knox and Stimson predicted a crisis, but gave few details and little soothing as to what would be the outcome.

But those opposed to the lend-lease proposal varied widely in what they saw in the future's crystal ball. Most gloomy of all was Von Wiegand, who in a dispatch date-lined Shanghai, purported to report what German and Japanese authorities believed was about to occur.

Six weeks would tell the tale, said Von Wiegand. He envisioned 247 divisions of trained men, 15,000 paratroopers, a score of tank divisions, descending on England, and Hearst papers printed an "artist's conception" of the "Blitz on Britain," which would tear London into shreds—long before American aid could swing the balance.

Every authority who discussed blitzkrieg on London talked of poison gas—new forms, lethal gas for which "no gas mask" has yet been provided.

LABOR:
Raises Its Head

The domestic labor situation became steadily worse during the weeks that the lend-lease bill was on the tapis in Washington.

Perhaps the Allis-Chalmers strike was the most serious, affecting as it did not only that single industry, but as Allis-Chalmers was making parts, it meant a serious hold-up all along the line, particularly in planes and tanks.

But the most striking labor development of the week was the statement issued by Henry Ford through one of his industrial lieutenants, Ford authorized this man to say in

SIDNEY HILLMAN

Mr. Ford refused to 'sit down' with him. The name that the Ford enterprises would never yield to the government demand that defense products be manufactured under union labor conditions.

Ford's rejoinder was that he would never knuckle down to labor's demands, that instead he would lease his industries to the government at one dollar a year, and let the government run them.

Ford agreed in principle with the necessity of America arming in its own defense, and with the principle that in defense work patriotism was the primary urge, and profits had no part.

He therefore offered to give up his industries, and let the government operate them under a non-profit arrangement, producing whatever vital materials were wished for.

The only government answer to this was to refuse Ford a contract in which his organization had been a bidder.

Based on the dispute had been Ford's refusal to sit down with Sidney Hillman, labor chief of the national defense, and to find some plan in which the Ford interests could cooperate in the defense scheme—settling the labor difficulty once and for all.

Labor, as personified by the C.I.O., set as its major objective for the organization of the Ford plants.

This objective seemed to mean only one thing—abandonment of the Ford plants—of their complete disengagement from national defense contacts.

AFRICA:
Africa

The African campaign of the British forces against the troops of Mussolini continued to be a victorious one, despite the fact that it was reported that the Nazi air force had been considerable aid to the Fascist legions.

In succession one port on the Mediterranean after another had fallen to General Wavell's men—Salum, Bardia, Tobruk and Derna. In Libya, Rome but Bengasi remained to be conquered.

All the cities previously captured, some of them cities only by courtesy, for they were only a few huts huddled together and a small group of embryo wharfs, had been on flat land. In passing Derna the British were moving on the capital of Cyrenaica, and were stepping into a more mountainous territory, the so-called Green Mountains of Libya, where a force of 50,000 Italians were determined to hold out to the last.

The same combination of land attack, backed up by air force and navy shelling from naval craft at sea, was being used by General Wavell in the final phase of the Libyan campaign. There was every belief that with the capture of Bengasi the campaign would end.

Keenest observers of the far-eastern scene forewarned in the Japanese intervention only one outcome. They believed that Japan would become so dominant in southeastern Asia that Thailand and Indo-China would soon be mere puppet states similar to Manchukuo.

The state department in Washington viewed these events with a serious eye, seeing in them assured proof that sooner or later there would have to be a showdown of power in the Pacific between the United States and Japan.

WEYGAND:
Finally Unmasks

GEN. MAXIME WEYGAND
He'll 'track-along.'

Gen. Maxime Weygand went to Africa an enigma.

Much of this enigmatic quality was dispelled when he issued a statement in which he definitely refused to "throw in" his hand with DeGaulle, but said he would "track along" with the Petain regime in Vichy.

Yet it was not quite so clear as all that, although it was extremely important that Weygand should have finally unmasked himself.

For the Vichy situation was still, in its way, considerable of a mystery.

The Nazis were reportedly much disgusted with Vichy's failure to back up the Laval ideology, particularly in regard to the use of Tunisia for Nazi bases of operations in Africa.

So the stand, announced by Weygand, that he would continue to support the Vichy regime, could or could not be taken to mean that Weygand had fallen in with the Nazi party line.

Yet Great Britain had hoped that Weygand, in going to Africa, was "escaping" from Vichy, and would turn in the direction of DeGaulle.

That hope, at least, was completely dispelled by Weygand's statement, which unhesitatingly lined him up with the Vichy government. What that government would turn out to be, remained undecided.

G. O. P.:

On Two Sides

Oddest picture of the lend-lease bill fight in America was the sudden junket of Wendell L. Willkie, late G. O. P. standard-bearer, to England to take "his personal look" at the state of Britain.

Willkie's departure was speeded by a paternal pat on the head from his erstwhile opponent, President Roosevelt, and a note written by hand to Winston Churchill.

Willkie flew to Europe. He was greeted practically with presidential honor in the Azores, where the natives could not be convinced they were not greeting the President himself.

He landed at Lisbon, was ferried hastily to England, dined with Churchill, lunched with royalty, and hobnobbed with the plain and fancy in London.

He underwent air-raids, habitually roamed the streets without helmet or gas-mask, (on three occasions he had to be handed both with a gentle reprimand from some higher-up), and generally inspected the state of Britain as he, Willkie, had intended to.

America was treated to the strange spectacle of the Democratic administration "needing" the testimony of the ex-Republican standard-bearer to help it over the hill on the lend-lease bill.

The whole situation was something of a shock to Republican leaders of the fight against the measure, especially when Hull let it be known that Willkie's sudden return had been demanded by Senator George, head of foreign relations in the senate, who wanted the Indian to testify before the committee hearings on the bill.

In fact, the shock was so drastic in some quarters that Republican groups in various centers held meetings to "decide Willkie's status" in the party, with the evident intimation that if he should prove too good a friend to the administration, he might be "read out of the party."

JAPAN:

The 'Peacemaker'

With dramatic suddenness, peace came in the Indo-China war with the Siamese.

Japan, it developed, had been "invited" by the belligerents, when a strong Nipponese fleet had appeared in the offing, to sit down and settle the hostilities.

This settlement, as might have been expected, was that Thailand should keep what it had taken from Indo-China, together with some additional cessions of territory.

Keenest observers of the far-eastern scene forewarned in the Japanese intervention only one outcome.

They believed that Japan would become so dominant in southeastern Asia that Thailand and Indo-China would soon be mere puppet states similar to Manchukuo.

The state department in Washington viewed these events with a serious eye, seeing in them assured proof that sooner or later there would have to be a showdown of power in the Pacific between the United States and Japan.

Star Dust
STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CAROLYN LEE is only six years, but already she has made more money in the movies than most people are able to save in a lifetime.

By spring, when her latest picture, "Virginia," will have been seen by many people, she should be established as a child star. In "Virginia," she has an important role and speaks almost as much dialogue as the stars, Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray. Yet she can't read. Her mother reads Carolyn's lines to the child two or three times, and little Miss Lee commits them to memory.

The infant seems to have been shot with luck two years ago; she was in a hotel in Wheeling, W. Va., just a few miles from her home town of Martin's Ferry, Ohio. She toddled up to a man, a stranger—and he just happened to be a movie executive. He let her lead him to her mother—and a screen test and a bit in "Honeymoon in Bali" resulted.

Fibber McGee and Molly have been signed by RKO to co-star in a picture with Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy; the picture, a feature film, will be produced by David Hempstead, who produced Ginger Rogers' "Kitty Foyle."

Maureen O'Hara, RKO-Radio's star from Ireland who is now at work in the leading feminine role of "They Met in Argentina," recently bade farewell to her mother with the injunction to "bring back a bit of the old sod" and a shamrock. Mrs. Fitzsimmons sailed for Lisbon, but expects to return soon with another gifted daughter.

She and Maureen came to this country two years ago, when Maureen made her Hollywood debut in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." "The Bill of Divorcement" and "Dance, Girl, Dance" followed, and Mrs. Fitzsimmons, who used to be an actress herself, is perfectly satisfied with her talented daughter's achievements.

How'd you like to act as a target for tomatoes and like it—and even ask for more? That's what George Michelson spent his time at the other day, and after the fourth shot he was the happiest man in Hollywood.

Michelson is assistant property man on James Roosevelt's "Foot o' Gold," and he had to make the tomato that James Stewart throws at Charles Winninger. He did it first by filling the thin outside skin with a mess of catsup, chocolate sauce and other little items, and then had somebody throw it at him while a camera turned.

After the first three smacks Michelson shook his head. "Nope," he said. "This won't do. I'll have to put some whipped cream in it."

So the whipped cream was added, and once more he took a tomato right between the eyes. This time he could grin—he'd made a photogenic tomato, one that photographed so well that when it meets up with Winninger on the screen all of us will think it was just the ordinary garden variety.

Fran Allison, singing comedienne on the "Uncle Ezra" air show, can scratch her forehead and tickle a rib with the same motion, at the same time—and thinks probably she's the only person who can. About a year ago she had a plastic surgeon repair some injuries she'd suffered in an automobile accident, and he fixed up her forehead by building it up with one of her ribs.

ODDS AND ENDS—Fred Allen reads nine newspapers every day and clips everything that seems to contain a suggestion for his radio show; then he selects the best items and points up the humor. . . . The thousands of Brian Donley fans who have begged Paramount to give him a romantic role are going to have their wish granted—he'll play the part of a romantic two-gun gambler in "Pioneer Woman," with Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea. . . . This year's concert tour takes Nelson Eddy to twenty cities—he'll return to the coast by April 7th, to start on Metro's "The Chocolate Soldiers," with Riss Stevens.

ELECTRIC POWER FOR U. S. DEFENSE IS READY NOW!

The Electric Industry Has Prepared Without Tax Money Or Government Subsidies

Nation's Power Facilities Total More Than 40,000,000 Kilowatts...

Greater than France, Germany and England Combined

EDISON, through his invention of the incandescent lamp, laid the ground work for an industry that today holds a key position in the nation's defense program. It is a credit to his discoverers that electric power today is plentiful both for national defense and for the people's livelihood.

"...to free the people from drudgery and create happiness and prosperity."

FOURTEEN BILLION DOLLARS for national defense. It is not a state of the emergency money is required to give the electric industry to meet the present.

Presently generating capacity of American industry, with an increase of 25 percent by the end of 1938, is ample to supply a vital need in the national program. In fact, it is more than ample. It is possible that the present capacity of the country, including coal and water, could be increased to 50,000,000 kilowatts.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Both Sides Are Heard on 'Lend-Lease' As Congress Continues Open Hearings; Reports Reach U. S. of Italian Revolts; FDR Meets British Envoy on U. S. Arrival

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

LEASE-LEND: Line-Up

To the administration's lineup which included the chief cabinet members and Bullitt, Dorothy Thompson and General O'Ryan (who urged that we get in the war right away), the rebuttal forces brought several notable figures, but none who produced the sensation that did Colonel Lindbergh.

In fact, the much-heralded statement by Ambassador Kennedy fell far short of being critical enough of the administration to suit the lease-lend bill opponents, as he generally favored the plan, only thought the President's powers should be limited.

But Lindbergh minced no words, though the administration adherents fired questions at him, hoping to trap the flying colonel into some admission that he was "pro-Nazi" and "anti-British."

The closest they came was when Bloom asked him point-blank: "Who do you hope wins the war?"

"I admit that if I had it to do over I would not have made that speech," Lindbergh's plan was simple—that we drop all aid to Britain, disassociate ourselves entirely from the war, let it muddle itself out as best it could.

At the same time, he urged, let us manufacture a fleet of 20,000 planes, 10,000 on the first line and the same in reserve, and a two-ocean navy, with plenty of bases in North and South America.

Let us take our stand on the Monroe Doctrine, and make ourselves too strong to attack, entering a war immediately, however, if the Monroe Doctrine is abused.

When the anti-bill smoke blew away, Lindbergh stood as the chief witness.

BULLITT: Then—and Now

Former French Ambassador Bullitt, in testifying before the lease-lend bill investigation of the house foreign affairs committee, told Chairman Bloom that he was in entire accord with President Roosevelt's plan for all-out aid to Britain short of war.

He used the strongest phrases, such as "this terrible, terrible emergency," and stressed the need of "buying time" for the United States to prepare.

He said that if England fell, we must be prepared to defend these shores by 1946 at least. He asserted he was of the view held by many that if England fell, the British navy also must fall, if not actually in the fall of England, then that it would be rendered useless because the Nazis would threaten the officers and crews of surviving vessels with dire reprisals against their relatives ashore.

Bullitt asserted that therefore, unless Britain were to survive, this nation would find itself with a one-ocean navy, needing two. He also asserted that during 1941, we would find the Japanese navy raised to equal force with ours.

His evidence was given extremely unusual point when Chairman Bloom introduced a letter he had written to Acting Secretary of State Moore in 1936 in which he gave Moore the inside "dope" on the French attitude toward a struggle that everyone believed inevitable.

In this letter Bullitt had expressed the belief that the French were strongly depending on promises of American aid in the form of a navy and army, and pointed out that he was just as surely promising the French that they could count on nothing of the kind.

The closing paragraphs of his letter, however, expressed the conviction that Britain, also, was counting on American help and that this would not be forthcoming.

Yet Bullitt was standing before the committee advocating a course of all-out aid to Britain, a course to which President Roosevelt was committed.

ITALLY: Germans Take Hold

Most sensational of the ever-recurring reports of serious unrest and disaffection inside Italy culminated in a dual report (emanating from a radio source in Belgrade, and confirmed by N. Y. Times) that three Italian generals had been shot by Nazi soldiers in rioting in northern Italy.

Guardedly, from the capital of Yugoslavia, came the report which tended to show that Italy, on the verge of internal collapse following the reverses in Greece and Albania, also on the African fronts, is now virtually under Nazi occupation and control.

That this long has been so was often previously hinted at, but that it was now a completed fact appeared reasonable and certain after the just-concluded conference between Mussolini and Hitler, so closely followed by the reports from Belgrade.

These showed that the civilians and soldiers of the army in northern Italy, in such centers as Milan and Turin, were practically in open revolt against continuance of the war. They were being subdued and fought in bloody street battles by Nazi troops with the aid of Fascist blackshirts, who function in similar manner to the Nazi storm-troopers who quelled anti-Nazi fermentings in Germany some years ago.

A long-range view of the situation also compelled the belief, ever growing, that the flop of Italy as a war partner and agent in world conquest would leave Germany alone in the fight, but by no means less powerful, for German leaders, with Italian troops organized and led by Nazi-trained groups, could still conduct the Albanian and African campaigns, and certainly, it was held, not less successfully than the Italians had been doing under their own training and leadership.

PRECEDENTS: Shatter Again

President Roosevelt, sensing a dramatic situation in the sudden and unheralded arrival of Lord and Lady Halifax on the King George V, Britain's newest battleship, right in his front yard (Annapolis), broke all precedents by auto-riding to greet him, and boarding the Potomac to make it a "water's edge" greeting.

The battleship was anchored off Annapolis by 3 p. m., but it was 7:10 p. m. before the lanky British ambassador, preceded by attractive Lady Halifax, descended the Potomac's gangplank and greeted newsmen with a prepared statement for their attention.

He read a good deal of this to them, while they took notes, then a voice said "The President is coming." Lord Halifax hastily stuffed his notes back into his pocket again, told the reporters carbon copies would be available to them on the dock, and joined the President.

Now living in North Dorset because her own neighborhood, "Somewhere (else) in England," has been bombed, the tot seemed pleased with her pet and her clothes—"Made in the United States."

RUMANIA: Follows Suit

The Rumanian situation, similar to that in Italy, was quite as dramatic, and had the most unusual feature of showing the Germans as apparently sitting on the fence, prepared instantly to throw in their hand with either of the rebel factions which might get the upper hand.

Where in Italy the army leaders were apparently turning anti-Mussolini and anti-Hitler, in Rumania both factions, that by Antonescu and that led by Sima, claimed that they bore the official ukase of Hitler.

Sima, with his Iron Guard legionnaires, attacked Jews and looted Jewish homes in the approved Nazi fashion, but just as soon as the Antonescu forces gained the upper hand, the government leader asserted in his address to the people that he had "the favoring shadow of Der Fuehrer" hovering over him.

The Rumanian situation still bore many traces of anarchy and chaos, despite the fact that Antonescu seemed in the saddle, and one thing seemed certain, that before long Rumania, like so many other nations, would lose its identity and simply become another base for Germany to loot for supplies, another base for German troops and munitions, another link in the German chain of conquered peoples.

Sitting right in the center of the strategically important Balkans, and the only really productive territory in the whole 280,000 square miles, the importance of Rumania could not be overexaggerated in the Nazi scheme of things.

It was of another important well of supplies of oil and wheat, two tremendous essentials needed by Germany in prosecution of the war.

INVASION: Three Dates

Three sources, all of them for various reasons worth quoting, gave various versions of the Nazi plans to invade England, but all of them were agreed that a serious and desperate attempt is to be made, and probably soon.

Ronald Cross, British minister of shipping, said it would come in 63 to 90 days, and that while the British would be able, he thought, to beat it off, it would cost England about 250,000 men and maybe half of the fleet.

He stressed the need of American aid in building ships to meet the shortage that would result.

Lord Halifax also gave the 60 to 90 day time and set it as "probably in May," and also expressed the belief that England would be successful in beating back the invaders, and also urged full U. S. aid.

The third authority was a Nazi captured air pilot, who leaped from a prisoners' train into a Canadian snowbank head-first, ferried himself across the raging St. Lawrence rapids on a stolen boat, and was captured in Ogdensburg, N. Y.

The youthful pilot, Baron Von Werra, said he believed the invasion attempt would come in March, would last two weeks and would be successful. He said he was trying to escape back to Germany because he "wanted to be in on the fun."

THE TRUTH SIMPLY TOLD
Today's popularity of Doan's Pills after many years of world-wide use, surely must be accepted as evidence of satisfactory use. And favorable public opinion supports that of the able physicians who test the value of Doan's under exacting laboratory conditions.

These physicians, too, approve every word of advertising you read, the objective of which is only to recommend Doan's Pills as a good diuretic treatment for disorder of the kidney function and for relief of the pain and worry it causes.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove waste that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole body suffers when kidneys lag, and diuretic medication would be more often employed.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warn of disturbed kidney function. You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won world-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Ask your neighbor!

GUARANTEED TO GET THE FAMILY UP IN THE MORNING (See Recipes Below.)

BREAKFASTS TO GET THE FAMILY UP

"The nice thing about breakfasts" said one newlywed, "is that you don't have to plan them, you just serve them." Although it is possible to get a breakfast with whatever there is at hand in the line of toast, coffee, and fruit juices, a little planning does yield big dividends.

For it is planning that makes possible the breakfast specialties that get the laggards out of bed in the morning—and down to eat before they go. And that's important, because they miss the Vitamin C in the orange or tomato juice when they skip breakfast, the Vitamin B in the whole grain cereal, the iron in the egg yolk, which aren't always made up later in the day.

A sketchy, hurried breakfast, or none at all, accounts, too, for some of that mid-morning fatigue. It's a long time to go without food, from six o'clock of one night until noon of the next day.

Here, then, are some breakfast menus, and some recipes for new breakfast specialties, that are guaranteed to get the family out of bed in the morning. Just let them get one whiff of a platter of shiny brown sausages garnished with orange slices, like that in the picture above, and no coaxing will be needed to get them down to breakfast.

Coffee, milk

Raisin Sally Lunas
(Makes 2 dozen 2-inch Lunas)
1 cup milk
1 cake compressed yeast (1/4 ounce)
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup melted shortening
2 eggs
3 cups sifted flour (all-purpose)
1/2 cup raisins

Scald milk and cool to lukewarm (85 degrees Fahrenheit). Add crumbled yeast, sugar, and salt. Add 2 cups flour, beating thoroughly. Add melted shortening and beaten eggs. Add remaining flour, beating until smooth. Add raisins. Fill greased muffin pans half full. Brush with butter (if desired), cover and set in warm place to rise until doubled in bulk (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 15 minutes.

Eggs in Corn Bread Cases
(Serves 6)
6 squares—or slices corn bread
1/2 cup butter (melted)
6 eggs
Salt
Pepper

Cut off top crusty portion of corn bread. Then remove part of corn bread from each slice, forming a depression. Brush top of each slice with melted butter. Break an egg into each depression. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, place on baking sheet and bake in hot oven (475 degrees Fahrenheit) for 10 minutes or until white of egg is set. For quick breakfast, corn bread should be prepared the day before.

Grated Apple Waffles
(Makes 8 waffles)
1 1/2 cups flour (all-purpose)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups cooking apple (grated or cut fine)
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once before measuring. Then add salt, cinnamon, sugar, and baking powder and sift again. Separate eggs. Combine milk, eggs, and cooled melted shortening. Add dry ingredients to milk and egg and stir lightly until just dampened. Fold in grated apple. Beat egg whites until stiff and glossy and fold in, using a spatula. Bake on pre-heated waffle iron and serve with butter and brown sugar.

Corn Bread
(1 8-inch square)
1 1/2 cups yellow corn meal (uncooked)
1/2 cup flour (all-purpose)
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 eggs (beaten)
2 tablespoons fat (melted)

Sift corn meal with flour, baking powder and salt. Combine milk, eggs, and shortening and add to dry ingredients. Bake in a well-greased 8-inch square baking pan, in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 40 to 50 minutes.

Bran Griddle Cakes
(Makes 15 cakes)
1 1/2 cups milk
1 egg (well-beaten)
2 tablespoons melted fat
1 1/2 cups flour (all-purpose)
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup bran cereal

Combine milk, beaten egg and cooled melted fat in mixing bowl. Sift flour once before measuring. Then add salt, baking powder, and sugar and sift again. Combine dry ingredients with bran cereal. Add to milk, stirring until just mixed. Bake on a hot griddle and serve with butter and strained honey or maple syrup.

Apricot Omelet
(Serves 4)
1/2 pound dried apricots
1 cup water
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
4 eggs

Prepare apricots ahead of time. Cover them with water and let soak 30 minutes. Then simmer until tender, about 25 minutes. Add sugar and cook for 3 minutes more. To make the omelet, drain juices from the apricots and measure. Fill to the 1/2 cup mark with water, if necessary. Combine tapioca, salt and apricot juice in top of double boiler over boiling water and cook 10 to 12 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon butter, remove from heat and cool. Separate eggs. Beat whites until they are stiff and will stay in a partially inverted bowl. Without washing beater, beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add egg yolks to tapioca mixture, then lightly fold in egg whites.

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in large frying pan (10 inch). Turn in egg mixture. Cook over low heat for 5 minutes, then place in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) to finish cooking for 15 minutes or until golden brown on top and firm to the touch. Make a shallow cut across the omelet at right angles to the pan. Cover half the surface with finely cut cooked dried apricots. Fold over omelet, turn out onto hot platter and serve at once.

Codfish Toasts
(Serves 4)
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
2 eggs (hard-cooked)
1 tablespoon green pepper (minced fine)
1 cup shredded codfish (freshened)
Few grains white pepper
Few grains onion salt
4 slices bread
1/2 cup grated cheese

Melt butter and add flour. Stir to make a smooth paste. Add milk. Dice eggs and add to milk mixture together with green pepper and shredded codfish. Season with white pepper and onion salt. Toast bread on one side, cut in half diagonally and place codfish mixture on untoasted side of bread. Sprinkle with grated cheese and brown lightly in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit.) In Pinch, Baggageman Was True to His Trade

Along the dark and lonely road plodded a solitary figure. Behind him lurked three shadows, which chose their moment and sprang upon the unwary one.

Three to one! The odds were heavily against the victim, but did he falter? Not on your life! One by one his assailants were sent flying, to lie bruised and stunned on the cold, wet ground.

Up dashed a policeman. He surveyed the wreckage, and then turned to the hero, who was coolly lighting a cigarette.

"Jujitsu?" he asked admiringly.

"No," was the reply. "Railway baggageman."

Wishes
Anger wishes that all mankind had only one heart; grief, two tear-glands; and pride, two knees.—Richter.

Omnipotent Persistence

Nothing in the world can take the place of persistence. Talent will not—nothing is more common than unsuccessful men with talent. Genius will not—unrewarded genius is almost a proverb. Education will not—the world is full of educated derelicts. Persistence and determination alone are omnipotent.—Calvin Coolidge.

'DISAPPEARS'

... is the word that describes Penetro's action as it vanishes in skin surface.
