Shelterbelt Notes

Hedley, Texas, March 27 Weeds and Shelterbelts can't grow up together," stated W 8 (Bill) Greene, sub District Officer of the Prairie States Ferestly for shelterbelts this soming sea

There are ever 180 miles of ac tive shelterbelts in Donley County continued Mr Greene Some of these shelterbelts were planted in the past few days. In or der to give the trees in these belts a fair start this spring, the weeds that are now springing up must be eliminated.

Weeds and trees compete for soil moisture and plant food. It the weeds are permitted to grew they will rob the trees of the much needed meisture and neur ishment, stunting some and ches ing out others. Soil moisture brings the plant food out of the ground up into the leaves where it is made into usable plant food which in turn is distributed to all parts of the tree. If the weeds are thick and are greedily absorb ing moisture, the tree may lose its battle for a fair chance in life

Mr. Greene advises that all far mers who have belts on their farms get these weeds now be fore they get high and make the job of cultivation more difficult

NEW IDEAS for Home-mokers By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HOUSES of glass are realities today and, if you want to give any house a modern air, try to make the windows seem important. One way is to frame them in a group by covering the wall and leaving the glass exposed. A comparison of these two sketches shows that this may be done even though the windows are unevenly spaced. The cream colored walls, glass curtains and window shades are the same in both and the same two-toned green rug and the same lamp and pictures are used. The couch and cushions are also the same but the covers are new.

An inexpensive chintz with graygreen ground and a flower pattern is used for draperies and to trim the couch cover of heavier graygreen cotton material which is also used for the cushions. The glass curtains are hung on rods suspended from the picture moulding with picture wire and hooks. The side drapes are unlined but the valance is made over buckram. Both are tacked to pine strips and are hung with picture hooks. One end of the book shelves is closed in to make a head for the couch. The outside is painted gray-green and the inside dark green. The parchment lamp shade has green bindings.

NOTE: All types of curtains and draperies are clearly explained with cutting and making directions in Mrs. Spears' SEWING Book 1-draw curtains, lined draperies, pinch pleated curtains, cornice boards, valance boards, as well as standard and period type curtains. Directions for modernizing a couch, various types of chairs, and a fascinating assortment of other useful homemaking projects are contained in Book 5. Copies are 10 cents each. Send order to:

In an address that was carried by dio to all parts of the world, Presient Roosevelt called for an Ameran "total effort" to provide nations sisting aggression with the war plements they need. Speaking fore a gathering of the White ouse newspaper correspondents, e President declared in effect that e aim of the United States is "total ctory" over the dictators. He said at this cannot be achieved without me very definite sacrifices on the art of the American people.

He called for a maximum output war materials by the United ates and stressed the high imporance of national unity. He ex-ressed the thought that the British and their Grecian allies eded ships, planes, food, tanks, uns, ammunition and supplies of all nds. He followed this with the atement that America would pro-de them with all these things. Day later Adolf Hitler spoke to countrymen and told them that of outside help woul it the British to defeat the Axis wers. He did not refer directly President Roosevelt's speech. Germany, according to Hitler, has en preparing throughout the past nter for a final drive to victory in 41. He predicted that this final ctory would come "on land, sea, air or in any part of the earth." RITISH:

irst Again

The British, who have been tryg their utmost to get the jump on eir Nazi and Fascist opponents nce Germany made hash out of ench and British armies on the est Wall, apparently had beaten e Germans to the punch on the rthern Greek front. The story came, not from British urces, but from the Nazi officials Belgrade, Yugoslavia. The move d two important objects, appartly, one to attempt the hopeless sk of keeping Yugoslavia in line a possible Nazi opponent in a ive on Greece, the other to put oops into position for a swift and werful defense against a Nazi in-sion from Bulgaria. The story was that 100,000 solers, including shiploads of munins, tanks and other mechanized uipment, sufficient for five full dions, had been landed and were king up positions on Greek soil posite to the estimated 500,000 azis in Bulgaria.

Germany immediately denied any owledge of the movement, and as e Greeks were not letting newsper men into that territory, but deed were evacuating everyone in spectation that it would be a batground, the entire story was imssible of positive confirmation. One of the most unusual distches, never confirmed, but never nied, emanated from Tokyo, and ld how the Chinese nationalist govnment was sending a million Chise men to Britain's Malay possesons to serve as soldiers.

The men, according to this story, ll be armed and outfitted for the r East defense by American shipents of arms and ammunition.

According to reports brought to Belgrade by neutral diplomats, five ships a day have been coming into southern ports in Greece, and have moved forward to take positions in the central part of the country, readily accessible to the northern

Die Is Cast

The move by the British meant that they had cast the die, that they were going to move in full force to the aid of Greece, and hence that if Germany wants to force a separate peace with Greece it will have to be a real military victory, and not merely diplomatic pressure.

This move, together with the landing at Salonika, was not without a powerful effect on Turkey, which unlike Yugoslavia, seemed to have some ability to stand out against the Nazi inroads, and to hold herself in alliance with Greece and Britain, in accordance with the wishes of the government majority.

While Berlin refused to confirm the reports, and refused to comment on ominous that the statement should be made in a Nazi communique that "the moment had now come for a decisive act in German-Greek rela-

ENVOY:

'Means Business'

W. A. Harriman marched up to newspaper men on the Bristol, England, airport as a special representative of President Roosevelt and said these words: "Believe me, the United States means business in this war."

They were cheering words to the English, and at the same time in this country President Roosevelt's lease-lend plan went zooming ahead. with congressional approval of the $7,000,000,000 implementation of the law a certainty. It was within the same week of the passage of the British aid act that the house subcommittee swept into instant action and approved the President Roosevelt already had

'sold' senate and house leaders that the amount was no figment of the imagination, thought up hurriedly. but was, rather, the carefully considered amount which would take care of a sizeable aid to Britain program for the life of the bill-July,

The newspapers printed careful breakdowns of the 7 billion amount, showed how this and that had been divided out, and how safeguards had been thought out as to the question of moving funds from one category to another.

It was all placed before the public succinctly and with his usual compelling power of oratory by President Roosevelt himself in an address to the nation. Without telling any secrets, or tipping off adverse powers, the President took the people into his confidence, and just on the eve of the consideration of the measure, too. That clinched the situation, in view of congressional leaders, who figured that in three days, at most, it would be all over, and the administration would have, practically intact except for some dozen amendments, his fully implemented aid-to-Britain plan.

Industrial Lag Seen So confident was the President of the outcome, based on the advices of those close to him and watching congress, that he issued an announcement even before his radio address, that he was planning to spend the whole huge sum within 16

William S. Knudsen, however, the head of Production Management, hinted at an industrial lag, and said that it would probably be two to three months before the whole British aid program would really get

THE CASE: Of Hottelet

RICHARD C. HOTTELET 'Suspicion of espionage.'

It was something more than mere coincidence that close upon the passage of the lease-lend bill the Nazis arrested Richard C. Hottelet, United Press correspondent in Berlin, on "strong suspicions" of

The D. N. B. announcement said that Hottelet was suspected of having conducted espionage in the interests of an enemy country. This, of course, ruled out the United States, and the Germans them-selves said: "Naturally the United States is not an enemy power."

It was added that the espionage of which Hottelet is suspected had nothing to do with his journalistic

As the case went forward into the preliminary hearing stage, Americans began to wonder two things: 1. Did the arrest of Hottelet have anything to do with the arrest in the United States of Zapp and Tonn, the agents of the Transocean News Service, a Nazi outfit? 2. Did the arrest have anything to do with the passage of the leaselend bill, and was this to be interpreted as the start of a series of Nazi reprisals which could end only in the entry of America into the European war?

The very day that the special grand jury in Washington returned the Zapp and Tonn indictments, the Nazis arrested Hottelet.

It also might be remembered by some that Mussolini closed the American consulates at Naples and Palermo, and the United States followed suit with the Italian consulates at Newark and Detroit.

Are the Greeks

The "Greeks have a word" for Mussolini, following the episode in which Il Duce took personal charge of the Fascist troops on the Albanian

They called him "bogus Caesar." The story is that Mussolini took charge about the first week in March, and that after a short time at the front he told his generals they'd have to produce something in the way of a victory at the "Ides of March.

The generals, so they said in Athens, did their best. Fresh troops were rushed into the Tepelini battle, troops well equipped with all the arms of war, and each attack they launched, the Greeks said, was beaten back with heavy losses.

Among those killed were two members of Il Duce's cabinet. The defenders of Greece claimed that Mussolini had failed as had his armies, for Benito had hoped to build up their morale, but the men in the front lines still showed, it was claimed, the "spirit of despair" and the "criminal indifference" to fighting that had marked the long series of defeats in Albania.

In the final five days of the fierce Italian drive, the Greeks claimed, they killed 15,000 of the Fascist soldiers, decimating entire battalions, and reducing the strength of five divisions to about one-half.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO By VIRGINIA VALE

ERNEST LUBITSCH recently signed a contract with 20th-Century Fox that promises us something special in the way of movies. He will choose and direct his own stories. So we'll have the celebrated Lubitsch touch applied to tales that he feels are particularly suitable. He has one more picture to do for United Artists

before he starts out on his new con-

Merle Oberon says that she knows it's silly, but she can't help being affected by the roles she plays. For instance, after a day of "Wuthering Heights" she'd go home and cry herself to sleep, because she was so depressed

"In 'The Cowboy and the Lady' was somewhat of a spoiled brat and I had to watch myself to keep from being as demanding off the screen as I was on," Miss Oberon continued.

With a good many innocent bystanders the effect was just the reverse. After they saw "Wuthering Heights" they rushed out and demanded more pictures as good as that one, but "The Cowboy and the Lady" sent them weeping to their corners because it was so bad.

MERLE OBERON

Anyway, Miss Oberon jumped at the chance to play a modern, witty young wife in "That Uncertain Feeling," opposite Melvyn Douglas, because she felt that it had something very special for her-a chance to be just herself. It's a Lubitsch picture, Martha Scott won a horse in a raffle the other day-it cost her all of a dollar, and it's called Red Ember. Then the producer of "They Dare Not Love," in which she is co-starred with George Brent, saw the horse and announced that it was exactly what he needed for William Holden to ride in "Texas," which he is also producing. So Red Ember was signed up, and will earn $25 a day when he works.

If, when you see Margaret Hayes' face on the screen, it looks familiar, it will be because you've seen it before. She was a model for New York artists and photographers, and a well known one, before she went to Hollywood, and her name in those days was Dana Dale. She has the second leading feminine role in "The Night of January 16th," supporting Ellen Drew and Robert Preston, and look for her in "Skylark," with Claudette Colbert.

Rio Rita has had quite a career during the last two years as a band leader, singer and dancer; she's appeared on Broadway and at theaters throughout the United States. Paramount signed her up to appear as the tropical rival of Dorothy Lamour in "Aloma of the South Seas" -and promptly changed her name to Rita Shaw! It was a case of necessity, though. Metro's just bought the screen rights to the musical, "Rio Rita," from RKO and will give us a new version of it.

It's simple enough to make a fortune these days. First, you write a play that's a success on Broadway; second, you sell it to the movies. Recently Paramount paid $285,000 for "Lady in the Dark," in which Gertrude Lawrence gives a superb performance-Irene Dunne is probably the only motion picture actress who could handle it. Columbia liked "My Sister Eileen," an amusing play, well enough to buy it for $225,000.

William Holden's dispute with Paramount was settled very satisfactorily; he got a new, seven-year optional contract, at double his former salary You'll see him before long starring in Columbia's 66 TOBACCO ROAD," that A painfully realistic drama of life among the poor whites that has been running for years and years on Broadway, has reached the screen at last. There's been considerable speculation about what would be left of it when it became a picture, since practically all of it was highly censorable. Well, just about nothing got by.

Most of the sizzling dialogue of the original version was omitted, of course. The characters have been changed. The result is a rather innocuous movie with a few beautiful camera shots.

Dennis Morgan says that the only time he was ever broke, hungry and desperate was the day he became a full-fledged movie star. Morgan, who is co-starring with Merle Oberon in Warner Bros.' "Af-fectionately Yours," was discovered by Mary Garden when he sang "Don Juan" to her "Carmen." She called the attention of movie scouts Dennis Morgan to the handsome and popular young singer. "I signed at a good salary and thought I was sitting on top of the world," he said. "Instead, I found myself, broke and hungry, sitting out in the desert in a broken-down jaloppy." He didn't understand that a yearly movie contract provides for a 12-week layoff without pay. He bought an ancient auto and headed West. But his layoff period came first.

The days of the glorified bathtub are back. In "Ziegfeld Girl" Lana

Turner, as one of the glorified showgirls, steps into a marble tub wearing her jewelry, including earrings and a tiara, and apparently nothing else. Though the muchpublicized episode of the Anna Held milk bath will not be used, the scene with Lana is based Lana Turner on an actual occurrence, when a slightly tipsy Follies Girl stepped out of her bathrobe and into the tub wearing her hat and jewels. But when Mis of the bathrobe there's a flesh colored bathing suit on her, as well as the jewels.

What kind of noise does a planet make when it explodes? what a group of serious-minded men in Miami, Fla., want to know. They're bringing "Superman" to the screen at the Fleischer Studios, and in one of the opening scenes a planet explodes-only "Superman" in a rocket ship, escapes. Max Fleischer thinks it ought to be very, very loud; Dave Fleischer thinks it ought to be a combination of heavy gunfire, earthquake-and an apple breaking in two, much multiplied. GARDENING AS HOBBY

GARDENING as a hobby can be made to pay excellent dividends. As an example, a Missouri woman reports she made a net profit of $300 from her twothirds-acre garden in a single season. Figured at market prices, food used fresh was $230; food canned, $80; and food stored, $71. Seed and sets cost her only $20.

There are two major requisites to obtaining garden profits of this kind. They are, willingness to work and the use of quality seed. It is important also to devote considerable space to multiple purpose crops like beets, onions, and tomatoes-crops that can be used in a variety of ways.

Here, briefly, are the uses of principal multi-purpose crops; Onbulbs fried, stewed, or as seasoning; bulbs for pickle, and relish making; tops for seasoning; bulbs for storage. Tomatoes -- fresh fruits for slicing or stewing, for immediate table use; for canning, or for making tomato juice, or tomato catsup; green tomatoes for frying, or for use in pickle relishes, or in pie filler (like mince meat); yellow fruits for preserves, juice, or immediate table use.

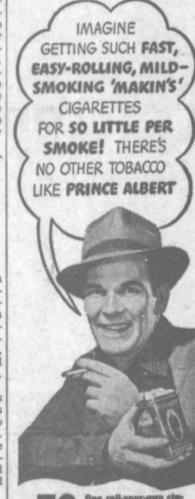

Cabbage-fresh in slaw, or salad; cooked for table use; canned as kraut, or stored. Beets-tops for greens; roots cooked fresh, canned, pickled, or stored.

SPEAKING OF LENTEN VEGETABLES

Yes, speaking of Lenten vegetables reminds us that the Lenten season has again returned—that season when Lent challenges us as good cooks to produce something new and different—something which will en-tice the appetite of the family— something that will perchance become so great a family favorite that it will remain a "must" on our recipe list all through the year.

Such is the list of new ideas for cooking vegetables as contained in this column to-like some of the ideas for serving them. Note the canned peas as shown in the photograph above. Look good enough for any company dish, do they not, yet all that was done to dress them up was simply to surround them with onions and carrots and the carrots were garnished with tiny sprigs of fresh parsley.

Thus it is that everyday foodsfoods full of nourishment and of food value become new favorites. Please from time to time, try each one of these recipes-you'll like all of them, I know.

If you've strange guests coming for dinner and don't know what vegetables they like, cover your confusion by letting them choose their own from this attractive ar- bread crumbs. Bake in moderate rangement of canned peas, onions and carrots.

TIPS to Gardeners

CHOOSE BEANS WISELY THE gardener should be well acquainted with the many available varieties of stringless beans, if he is to get the most from his bean crop.

If earliness is the principal interest, the gardener should select either Bountiful (green-podded) or Golden Wax (yellow). Bountiful is excellent for use when small, in shoe-string size. It is also a good choice for home canning, for it produces abundantly.

The gardener interested in yield over a long season should select both a bush bean, and a pole bean. The pole beans begin producing when the yield from the bush beans tapers off.

Kentucky Wonder is one of the best all-purpose pole beans. It provides good quality snap beans. When past the snap stage, the pods may be cut up, and cooked southern style. Later, this bean may be used in the green shell stage. In the more mature stage the beans may be used in baking or in soup.
