moved in to take charge of the plant. Troops advanced on the picket lines and were soon inside the plant. Notice was given that all workers desiring to go back to work were now able to do so. Thus the government's patient policy with labor to help in the allout defense effort turned from that of merely a request to a demand. It was clear that under the provisions of the unlimited emergency the government had the authority to act as it did. Although the army was in direct charge of the plant and had assured all workers that they would be given adequate protection, mediation efforts still went forward. Washington official sources disclosed that every effort was being made to reach an agreement be-tween the demands of the local un-

Britain was seeking to justify a move into Syria by stating that 15,-000 Germans, many of them carrythreat became fact and U. S. army ing suitcases marked with a large to indicate that they were Jewish refugees, had "taken possession" of the country, making it "eccupied territory." This the Germans denied, and France cryptically said it would "defend its colony" against any aggression, the statement pointedly directed against Britain and the Free French under DeGaulle. Paralleling this diplomatic struggle was Germany's effort toward Moscow, apparently to frighten Stalin into permitting Nazi passage through Russia to the Middle East, and the strengthened efforts of the Japanese to force the Dutch East Indies to supply the country with oil. This latter effort was the nearest to getting the United States into war, and even Ambassador Grew, perhaps closest in the world to the "inside story" of Japan, frankly stated that he believed the United States might be forced to enter. In the midst of all this Winant made a flying trip back to this country, and rumors immediately started that he was bearing a special peace proposal from Germany, via Hess. This President Roosevelt promptly scotched, and capped his denial with the story that he had positive knowledge that a direct Nazi order had gone forward to American agents of Germany to spread such a rumor. Winant, closeted with congressional leaders in executive session, never revealed all the purpose of his visit, but it was announced that:

of the whole affair came from the great man of mystery, Marshal Weygand. Weygand, in on all of the conferences, found finally that the

Simultaneously it was learned that a few of the strikers, who had been classified 2-A in the draft, were called for their physical exams, and informed that if they went back to work they would probably be reclassified in the deferred group, but that if they did not, they might be expected to be sent to camp forthwith

The presidential threat and the draft action were seen by observers as the first sign that the govern-ment was "cracking down" on the labor-capital problem with some of its total force.

The administration also gathered to itself the right to dictate priorities on the flow of raw materials and machine tools to defense industries, and also moved to meet a shortage of oil by presenting favorably a plan to build a huge pipeline system from the southern oil fields to the industrial East.

A recommendation for gasless Sundays and daylight time for the whole nation were other steps showing the trend of the day-toward a recognized, workable plan to mobilize American industrial men and factory power to a point where its nitions of war.

1. American actual intervention in the war was not needed at this time -might not be needed.

2. Intensive efforts to produce and get war material to Britain should be increased and speeded up.

3. Britain had noted a fall-off in ship sinkings, and believed the American neutrality patrol was having an effect.

4. Britain believed itself close to, if not in actual possession of supremacy of the air over the channel. upshot of the matter was that he was himself to be sent to colonial Africa with orders from Darlan to defend that part of the French empire, also the Middle East part, against all aggression - pointedly meaning British.

Weygand listened, apparently agreeing to everything, but, sensationally, just as he was safely on a plane bound for Algiers, a statement purporting to come from him announced that he "could not answer for the French colonial troops eagaging in battle with DeGaulle's Free French."

Weygand, in other words, knew that the British, while fronting in whatever resistance might be offered to Nazi infiltration of France's colonial empire, was hand in glove with DeGaulle, and that where the British fought Frenchmen, Frenchmen also would be fighting French-

Weygand, apparently, could not see a fight of that kind, where French could be "blackmailed" into fighting their own flesh and blood, in spite of the fact that DeGaulle's forces were technically deserters. Yet, despite the Weygand story, comforting enough to British supporters, it seemed that France had gone a long way toward realizing Hitler's dream of having Frenchmen shooting at Britishers and vice versa while German soldiers stood quietly by and let the former allies exterminate each other.

A distant prospect of this back in 1939-but close to a bitter fact at the present.

STARNES: Sees 'Reds'

Congressman Starnes, acting head of the Dies committee, dug down into his files while studying the defense strike situation, and found Communists everywhere at the head of the individual unions in the standout strikes.

One, he said, headed North American Aviation's CIO union, and another was the head of the "loggers group" which defied the mediation board, and so on down the line.

This drew public opinion and at-tention along a different line with regard to defense strikes, and frequent demands were heard on the street that the government take steps to "stamp out" the subversive leadership of such unions.

This movement gained ground when it became known that Philip Murray, head of the CIO, and Richard T. Frankensteen, head of the UAW aircraft division, striking at North American Aviation, both took stands opposing a continuation of the

The battle of Crete was still the most exciting news event of the whole war because of the peculiarity of the conditions, paralleling, in a way, the expected invasion attempt against Britain.

The Dies committee, having failed to rouse a ripple of newspaper enthusiasm over his projected revealing of Communist infiltration into governmental circles, hit the front pages with a bang when it made public three documents purporting to reveal the secret rules of the Nazi Bund in this country.

Dies said that they were seized from the effects of Bund Fuehrer Kunze, now in prison. He said that they

"Attest to the ruthless efficiency of the military setup which characterizes Hitler's machine in Germany; anticipate violence, and express fealty to the totalitarian form of government."

Having thus placed the stamp of subversiveness on the Bund, and also the stigma of "fifth columnists," the committee report said the Bund had 25,000 active members and 100,000 sympathizers outside its membership rolls.

Dies said the documents reveal a planned countrywide organization, with Fuehrer, Gauleiters (district leaders) down even to "block leaders" according to an exact imitation of the Nazi set-up.

A party message, according to the Bund organization, could theoretically be spread over the entire na, tion within five hours.

WHEN Ida Lupino and Louis Hayward (Mr. and Mrs.) found that they were to be costarred in Columbia's "Ladies in Retirement" they gave three rousing cheers; they thought that they'd be answering work calls together. So-the first week, they actually had one day together on the set. The second, she worked every day and he didn't work at all. Not until the third were they in line for simultaneous calls. And they're cast as bitter enemies!

'We saw more of each other when we were working in studios that were miles apart than we do now!" wailed Mrs. Hayward. Incidentally, this

Ida Lupino looks like a good picture; it's made from a stage hit, Charles Vidor is directing, and the cast includes three top-notch actresses-Elsa Lanchester, Edith Barrett and Isobel Elsom.

Se many people wanted to know how the Walt Disney pictures are made that he was practically forced to make his new full-length RKO release, "The Reluctant Dragon." In it he uses both live actors and his usual brand, and we'll actually see how the characters and production are created.

EVERYTHING FOR HER NEW KITCHEN (See Recipes Below)

REALLY PRACTICAL!

Whether the bride-to-be is bound for a six-room "dream house" or for a one-room kitchenette apartment, you can't go wrong if you give her a kitchen shower . . . one that's practical, of course!

And, knowing that some of you are anxious for new, clever, unusual ways to entertain, I'm ready with plans for a kitchen shower that's really different!

In Chicago's huge Merchandise Mart, where buyers from all over the country come

To make the party practically all play and no work for the hostess, I decided to place the gifts on the table (see picture at top of celumn). When luncheon is over, everything is hers!

The tablecleth is of a fancy newtype eilcloth, and the place mats and napkins are none other than dish cloths.

The date is all set, invitations mailed, your dress, white and simply beautiful, is hanging in the closet . . well, then the rest is easy. But, in case you're perplexed about the after-ceremony refreshments, whether they be in the form of a breakfast, garden reception or dinner, please read next week's column. Lynn will tell you how to entertain your wedding guests correctly, yet inexpensively . . . Watch for "After The 'I Do's' " . . .

SO YOU'RE TO BE MARRIED!

LYNN SAYS:

There'll be lots to talk about at your party, and conversation, plus opening of shower presents may well fill up the allotted party time, but just in case . . . here's a clever game that suits a bridal shower to a "T."

To each guest pass a slip of paper titled "Things Found in the Bride's Home." 'Neath the title are these words (1) engar, (2) gothorphrpa, (3) elmiunol, (4) fubfet, (5) hicra, (6) rifhifcoen, (7) pavndorte, (8) blaet, (9) nurcaef, (10) pardyer, (11) kccol, and (12) pocarbud.

Ask each person to rearrange the letters in each of these 12 words to make them spell an article of furniture that would be likely to appear in the bride's new home.

The answers are (1) range, (2) photograph, (3) linoleum, (4) buffet, (5) chair, (6) chiffonier, (7) davenport, (8) table, (9) furnace, (10) drapery, (11) clock, and (12) cupboard.

To make the game more interesting, you might set a definite time limit. Collecting all papers after, perhaps, five minutes, Lollipops or some similar original, inexpensive gift may be awarded as first prize.

Going back to entertaining the bride-to-be, had you ever considered er? A new idea comes to mind why not serve a luncheon at which every dish, from the appetizer to the coffee, is prepared according to some favorite and tested recipe of one of the guests. Have each recipe written on the back of a place card, collect these, put them into a file box (gift of the hostess) and present them to the bride-to-be. . . . A shower that calls for an almost negligible outlay of money on the part of those who buy the gifts, but which will help the young bride to do some real housekeeping, is a "dime" shower. The five-and-dime stores are bristling with simple little things the bride will use every day without being aware of them. If you'll contribute two ten-cent items, you'll be doing her a real service. Matches, gummed labels, paste and waterproof cement (to repair the china she's bound to break sometime or another), playing cards and score pads, plenty of tissue cleansers, electric light bulbs, little wire flower - holders, assorted pads of paper for shopping lists or addresses -- they're all so inexpensive

when purchased separately, but how they do mount up in cost if the bride has to go out and buy the whole batch at one time! (Released by Weste
