Edward C. Harris

The following was taken from The Rotan Advance:

Edward C. Harris died suddenly at 1:00 o'clock Thursday morning from a heart attack. He had been complaining only slightly, it is said, and had no previous heart trouble.

Funeral services were conducted from the Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock by Rev. Leroy Bron, Methodist pastor, and Rev. L. L. Treat, Baptist pastor. Weatherabee was in charge of arrangements.

Interment was made in the local cemetery.

Mr. Harris is survived by his widow, the former Ina Reeves, to whom he was married in 1917; five children, Mrs. A. G. Snapp of Rotan, Edward Harris of Dallas, Mrs. J. W. Arnold of Fort Worth, Leon and Joe Harris of Rotan. Also surviving are his parents, Mr and Mrs. Isaac Harris of Rotan, and one brother, Oliver Harris of Amarillo.

Mr. Harris was born March 28, 1894 at Morgan, Texas. The family came to Rotan in 1907, and he with his father and brother, was engaged in farming, ranching and the mercantile business many years.

He was a member of the Methodist church, the Shrine and American Legion. He was Commissioner of this precinct and was nominated without opposition for re-election in the July primary.

Family Reunion

A family reunion and dinner was enjoyed at the home of J. A. Bowling east of Hedley on Tuesday, Oct. 20. The occasion was in honor of the son, Woodrow W. Bowling who is on furlough from Ft. Bliss.

Those attending the reunion were Frank Heath, J. A. Ivey and family of Hedley; A. B. Ivey and family of Clarendon; W. H. Ivey of McKeight. All four children were present. Price Bowling of Hedley, Eugene Bowling and family of Turkey, Mrs. W. D. Jennings of San Antonio and the youngest son Woodrow Bowling, who is stationed at Ft. Bliss.

All assembled in the forenoon and after a round of greetings and games a well dinner was enjoyed by all. Everyone had a good time and a great spirit was shown by all present.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. H. W. Pitt of Lella Lake will preach at the Baptist Church Sunday night. At the morning hour a church conference will be held. Matters of importance will come up. All members are urged to be present.

Izzard to Speak at Clarendon

The Pathfinder Club of Clarendon is presenting Wes Izzard in a public address at the College auditorium there at 8:30 Friday evening, Oct. 23. Mr. Izzard will tell of his recent trip to Washington and his views on the war.

This is a public service feature and the people of Hedley are invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Warning

Tire thieves are active in this vicinity and Sheriff Guy Wright is asking all car owners to be sure to keep their cars in a garage or some place where tires can be watched.

Lions Club Meeting

The Lions club met last Thursday in regular session. The usual excellent meal was enjoyed and a good program was given under direction of Lion Bains.

We were glad to welcome one new member, Edd Yeager, and three visitors, Fred Cook and K. K. Day of Clarendon and Willard Knox of Lella Lake.

We started our projects by sponsoring the Scrap Drive. In the two efforts around 200,000 lbs of iron was collected. The School Children responded in a splendid way on the last effort, and any thing realized from the iron over the cost of the stamps etc. awarded the children will go for School Projects, such as buying glasses, etc.

We are also paying half of the expense of the school band director, and feel that a worthwhile project is well under way. We will have some project at all times for the betterment of the community. O. R. LeMond, Pub. Ch.

Billy Don Selvidge

Billy Don Selvidge, one day old son of Mr and Mrs Claude A. Selvidge of Borger died Wednesday, Oct. 14 in a hospital in Amarillo.

Funeral services were conducted from the Methodist Church here by Rev. O. R. LeMond. Burial was in Rowe Cemetery.

Survivors besides the parents include a brother, James Robert, 22 months old, and the grand parents Mr and Mrs J. E. Selvidge of Borger and Mr and Mrs. R. L. Lamberson of Memphis.

W. S. G. S.

The Women's Society of Christian Service met in weekly session Monday afternoon. The business of the meeting was principally a finishing up affair followed by plans of future work, including a program for National Prayer Week. This program will be carried out by a number of able leaders with special features. All are expected to bring a special offering at this time. This program will come at the next regular meeting and at the usual four o'clock hour.

The devotional was led by Mrs. Masterson. The third chapter of I Corinthians was selected. This fitted particularly well with the program which bore upon Christian service in Latin American countries.

The songs and prayer were a fitting close.

B. W. M. U.

The Baptist W. M. S. asks all Baptist ladies to bring in a hen to be sent to Buckner Orphan Home for Thanksgiving. Leave them at Mrs. Gaud Bain's as soon possible. Linens, towels and pillow slips and also clothes will be appreciated.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Time, Weather Change German Tactics As Hitler Seeks Strong Winter Line; Senate Approves 26 Billion Tax Bill; Tires for All Is Aim of OPA Program

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Ready for instant action is this marine corps gunner pictured behind a 50 caliber anti-aircraft gun at Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands. The Japs have been busy reinforcing their troops on Guadalcanal for an assault to wrest the airport from the marines.

RUSSIAN FRONT: 'Movement' to 'Position'

Military experts were describing the fighting on the Russian battlefield as "that in-between period" during which Adolf Hitler's forces were struggling against time and weather that will soon turn this fighting from a war of "movement" to a war of "position."
 Stalingrad had been a heap of rubble for days before the Nazis declared that frontal attacks on it had ended. There was still heavy street fighting, however, and the outskirts of the vital Volga river port were witnessing some of the severest losses ever afforded Nazi military might.

As they stood before Moscow a year ago and waited for the coming of the harsh Russian winter, so Joseph Stalin's army had made its stand within the city that bears his name. There were reports that because of this stand the main weight of the Nazi power in Russia was being shifted to the Caucasus.
 Though this shift appeared to be temporary, official Moscow sources were reporting local successes in crushing stubborn Axis resistance southeast of Novorossisk, an important locality. With the Grozny oil fields as their current objective, the Nazis continued to drive forward in that area.

In the Baltic sea, Russian warships sank five Nazi transports and Moscow sources claimed that the Soviet "marines" on the ships of the Volga had aided materially in the defense of Stalingrad.

CEILINGS: Up a Bit

From the Office of Price Administration came details of a new formula to raise somewhat the prices in 11 major groups of foods. Such action was declared to be necessary because of the difference between prices charged by various dealers at the time the original price ceilings were applied. Some inequalities between wholesale and retail prices were found to be working hardships on dealers.

Affected were prices on canned vegetables, canned fish, sugar, coffee, dried fruits, breakfast cereals, cooking and salad oils, rice, lard, hydrogenated shortening and other shortening. Use of the new ceiling is optional on all items except lard and dried fruits; on these it is compulsory.

PROTEST: From Chile

Chilean Ambassador to the United States, Rodolfo Michels, was not long in filing a formal protest to a statement by Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, which said that Axis agents were operating in Chile and Argentina.
 Michels and Welles later met with President Roosevelt. Following this, Michels emphasized that this conference was most cordial. If so, this was deemed highly favorable to continued good relations between the countries inasmuch as Chile's president, Juan Rios, was expected soon to arrive in Washington on a state visit.

On the eve of embattled China's national anniversary celebration, citizens of that country had something to cheer about besides the valiant efforts of their armies against the invading Japs. This was the announcement by Great Britain and the United States that these countries were taking prompt steps to abolish the system of extra-territorial rights enjoyed in China for almost a century.
 In the United States, this information was communicated to Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-Ming by the state department. Under the extra-territorial rights system, U. S. and British citizens enjoyed certain privileges, among them the right of their court for offenses committed in Chinese territory.
 Usually crimes and misdemeanors of foreigners in another country are tried under the courts and laws of the nation in which they occur.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

TOUGH: Roane Waring, newly elected commander of the American Legion, declared in a speech before the AFL convention in Toronto, Canada, that any person, employer or employee who slows up war production is a "criminal, a saboteur, a traitor" and ought to be shot by a firing squad. Considerable excited comment resulted from his statement at the meeting.

EXPULSED: Three leading members of San Francisco's Italian community and two other Italians were ordered by the army to leave the Pacific coast military zone.

LONG DISTANCE: Priority for long-distance telephone calls becomes effective November 1, with messages relating to the war effort and public safety getting preference over all other calls.

SOUTH PACIFIC: An Inspection

The Japs had retreated swiftly through the Owen Stanley mountain range of New Guinea and the United Nations forces were on the constant alert for a trap as they pursued him over the rough terrain. Gen. Douglas MacArthur went in for a look around. With him on an inspection tour that carried them deep into the mountain country was Lieut. Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of the Australian forces.
 Before the trip into the mountains, the official party inspected Port Moresby's docks and airfields. MacArthur praised the work of an American engineers unit in building these airfields.

Traveling by jeep, General MacArthur had a first-hand view of the difficulties encountered in fighting a war in this area. He talked to supply officers moving food, munitions and equipment over the steep trails. His general impression of progress of the fighting was reported to have been "favorable."

Meanwhile reports from Guadalcanal in the Solomons told of some successful air warfare by U. S. marine and navy fighting planes. In one three-day period the score in this area was set at: Jap losses—27 bombers and 14 Zero fighting planes; U. S. losses—two planes. In one day U. S. forces at Guadalcanal shot down 23 out of 25 bombers in a Jap attack force. Also five of 20 Zero fighters accompanying this bombing raid were destroyed. Thus the toll of Jap planes continued to run extremely high in proportion to U. S. losses in the Pacific.

LABOR PARLEY: 'Keep Lewis Out'

Speaking at a press conference in Toronto, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said that there is "no place" for John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers in negotiations for labor peace and unity with the CIO.
 "I don't want Lewis participating in the conference in any way,"

WILLIAM GREEN
 "I don't want Lewis . . ."

Green said. "That would only widen the breach between the AFL and the CIO."

Asked to comment on a Lewis statement that a general peace conference of all labor groups, called by President Roosevelt, would be constructive, Green said:
 "Such a conference would only inject into the peace negotiations new difficulties. I think that we can have labor peace without Lewis." He said Lewis "seems to be a creator with a faculty of destroying the things he creates."

SHADES: Of Gangdom Days

Shades of Chicago's sizzling gangdom fell over that city again as Roger ("Terrible") Touhy and six other convicts shot their way out of the Illinois Stateville prison in one of the most daring and brazen escapes in crime annals. With Touhy was his old gangland aid, Basil ("The Owl") Banghart, an extremely dangerous criminal. The pair had been in prison since 1933 when they were convicted for the kidnaping of John ("Jake the Barber") Factor. During gangland's hey-day, the Touhy gang was often in conflict with Al Capone's famous mob.
 State officials began an immediate investigation of the break to determine the manner in which the convicts had been aided from the outside. Early in the inquiry Governor Dwight Green of Illinois issued a statement to the effect that: "There is no doubt that guns were smuggled in from the outside."
 As a "kill or capture" hunt was launched on an intensive scale throughout the Midwest, some details of the break were made public. It was revealed that Touhy and the others grabbed a prison garbage truck, drove across the prison yard, threw a rope ladder across the wall, shot and wounded a tower guard. Then they seized his car keys, fled down the tower's stairs to the outside and sped away in the guard's car.
 The wounded guard was the first to be questioned by officials after the break and was subjected to a lie-detector test.
 Later the escape car was discovered in Villa Park, a Chicago suburb, but reports from various points in the Midwest indicated that possibly the convicts had split up and made for other sections of the country.
 During the first three days following the break the convicts were reported seen at points in at least six states—Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Before rubber plantation programs, one large rubber manufacturing company made close to 35,000 separate rubber items. The weights of these items run from fractions of an ounce to hundreds of pounds.
 Supported by old inner tubes that have been bleached, natives of Sumatra, India, stay in the waters of the Holy Ganges river for weeks at a stretch.
 Rubber shortage was so worry when the first roads were constructed in the Empire of Assyria and Babylon in 1900 B.C. or when the Romans built their military roads in 502-298 B.C.
 In 1941 89% of the rubber consumed in the U. S. came from lands that are now in the hands of the enemy or cut off from U. S. ships.
 Two-thirds of all the natural rubber in the U. S. is in the tires and tubes on American cars.

 FIRST IN RUBBER

IT IS not necessary to make our economies so dull and dreary that they depress every one. Let's make them so gay and attractive that they give us a lift and a bit of a challenge too. This old rocker is an example.

A saw and a wood chisel were used for removing projections and rockers. An old quilt was found for padding and the feathers from an old bolster were packed into a thick seat cushion to raise the seat which has been lowered by removing the rockers. This required a yard and a quarter of ticking. Four and one-half yards of inexpensive chintz in a bold, modern pattern did the rest. Total cost for an up-to-date chair less than two dollars, that will serve well for the duration.

NOTE: This remodeled chair is from BOOK 5 of the series of booklets that are offered with these articles. In this book an old-fashioned couch is modernized; end tables from spools; new uses are found for a camp stool; other types

It Appears the Little Chap Was Just Having Sun Fun!

The father, who had made a practice of helping his young son with his arithmetic problems from school, took the little fellow to church with him on a Sunday.
 They arrived a trifle late, the minister having already announced the opening song to be sung by the congregation. They found their seats and hurriedly sat down, as the clergyman said: "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand. Two hundred and twenty-two. Everybody!"
 The little lad seemed puzzled for a moment, then nudged his father.
 "Dad," he whispered, "do we have to work out this one, too?"

Here's a "devil" that does GOOD

Here is a "devil" that is worth while. The "go-devil" is a scraper device that cleans the interior of pipe lines. It is forced through the pipe by pressure of the Gas. The "go-devil" must be sturdy enough to withstand many miles of operation at high and low speeds, but must be flexible enough to go around the bends.

Building such a piece of equipment for Gas line cleaning was no easy job. But it is only one of the many daily tasks performed by United Gas workmen, so that your Gas service shall continue to be dependable. With the winning of the war as our No. 1 job, our responsibilities have increased many fold. And the "go-devil" is helping because by maintaining efficiency it is contributing greatly to the war effort. Dependable Natural Gas Service will continue to work for Victory.

Our Soldiers in Ireland By Beverly Smith

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with American Magazine)

To find out how our soldiers were behaving in Ireland, I spent a few days in the small town of Ballynank, where several companies of Americans had lately moved in, after passing some months in a muddy but strategically located forest.

They took up quarters in an abandoned textile mill, in a noble mansion, and the outbuildings of a huge estate, in refurbished stables, in Nissen huts. When I arrived, I found the soldiers puzzled by the attitude of the townspeople. The one main street remained almost deserted. Few children were to be seen. Older people hurried furtively along the streets.

"What's wrong with us?" asked disconsolate soldiers. "You'd think we were lepers."

Hillbilly Band Warm Up

On Saturday evening the outfit's hillbilly band decided to go into action. With portable amplifiers, they marched into town, took up a position in the deserted square, and tuned their weird variety of instruments, many of them homemade. Then they swung into "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

The square was still vacant, but soon I noticed little faces peeping out through doorways. The hillbilly boys warmed up, tooting mightily as they went into "Elmer's Tune."

Now the children were out of the houses, creeping closer, timidly but irresistibly drawn. Soon the square seemed to be full of children crowding about, and the older Irish folk were moving in, too, still aloof, but hypnotized by the strange music.

Then Private Vernon Clausen, a big farm boy from Gilmore City, "Ioway," gave his famous "Old Sow Song," with elaborate sound effects of grunting and squealing. Soon bearded Irish farmers in the crowd who know their hogs, began to smile, chuckle and snort with glee.

Now the party was really going. The hillbillies sang "She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain," and the crowd and the children encored it again and again.

At this point the master of ceremonies, Private Sam Cicerale, a hillbilly from the Bronx, New York, pulled a stroke of genius. Noticing that a six-year-old towhead in the crowd had caught the words and was joining in, he suddenly silenced the band and held the microphone close by the little boy. Amplified and alone, the child's voice rang out shrill, clear and in tune over the square, "She'll Be Drivin' Six White Horses When She Comes." That brought down the house, the square, the town and the barriers.

Why People Were Suspicious of Americans.

I dropped in at the local station house a few days later to talk things over with a veteran sergeant of the Royal Irish Constabulary, who handles police matters. I asked him why people were so suspicious when the Americans first arrived.

"Well," he said, "a lot of strange rumors got about. Your boys were supposed to be mostly savages and desperadoes from the Wild West."

But that's all over now, and the local folk are ashamed of it.

I asked the old sergeant how the constabulary reports showed American boys had been behaving. He said: "I've never, in 40 years, seen sojers better behaved."

He went on to particularize: "Of course, sojers will be sojers, especially on payday. Sometimes a lad gets a bit too much, sometimes there's a bit of a rumpus. But not often, not much. As an old sojer myself, I like the discipline of your fellows. I don't show so much on the surface, but it's there underneath when it's needed."

A couple of years ago, I wrote an article for the American magazine about the formation of our first American armored divisions under the leadership of the late hard-bitten General Adna Chaffee. Now, 4,000 miles away, I have been riding with units of the tankers again.

The cub has grown into a bear cat. There are tanks in Ireland that were just a designer's dream two years ago, and better ones are coming along.

Nor is the change just in equipment. The armored units have developed powerful teamwork, ruggedness, esprit de corps. The men have invented new things, methods and techniques which they have reason to be proud of.

If General Chaffee were alive and here today, he would be pleased with much that he saw. That's praise enough for any man in armored forces.

Inventiveness runs all through this man's army. It is the fastest learning, most ingenious army in all the history of the world.

ANNA NEAGLE really ought to get a medal because of what she's done for women in uniform. The British star has been dashing about New York in her trim CDVO togs, looking so lovely in them that girls who've shied at joining up promptly decided to do it. Miss Neagle's new picture, "Wings and the Women," based on the air exploits of Amy Johnson, was filmed under blitz conditions in London, and was made with full co-operation of British authorities. It has recently been released, by RKO.

she's been singing and dancing ever since. So it's not surprising that now, at 17, she's landed an important role in "This Land Is Mine."

America's new hollow-blade airplane propeller will come to the screen under the arm of Joel McCrea, in "Merry-Go-Round"; he carries a half-scale model of it in his opening scene, when, as an aeronautical engineer, he goes to Washington to get a patent, and meets Jean Arthur. The propeller is so new that none is available; the studio had to make its own sample.

Two years after their marriage William R. Anderson saw his wife, Jeff Donnell, in a wedding gown—Jeff wears it in "City Without Men," and it was such a contrast to the daytime frock in which she was really married that her husband, who's a dialogue director at Columbia, persuaded her to be photographed with him.

If you think some of the amazing incidents in "The Aldrich Family" scripts are implausible, you should know the three Goldsmith boys, sons of the man who writes the show. When the family recently visited New York the boys decided to do their own laundry; they washed quite a batch of shirts and shorts, and hung them from a window to dry—in the swankiest section of Fifth Avenue!

Marguerite Chapman and Mona Barrie were inspecting the amazing-bushy eyebrows of Fred Kelsey, Hollywood's perennial detective, on the set of "One Dangerous Night." "What do they remind you of?" asked Mona. "A Victory Garden," said Marguerite.

The war department has okayed Ginny Simms as "The Sweetheart of America's Armed Forces." That's quite a stunt of hers on "Johnny Presents"—bringing one soldier, one sailor and one marine to the mike each Tuesday night and letting them have a free phone call to anybody they select in the U.S.A. Ginny's first lead in pictures is in RKO's "Grand Canyon."

"Don Winslow of the Navy" must be one of the best known characters in the country; he's the hero of a motion picture serial, a comic strip and a radio serial; about 30,000,000 people hear, see or read about him every week. Raymond Edward Johnson, hero of the radio program, was born in Kenosha, Wis., birthplace of Frederic March, Don Ameche and Orson Welles.

ODDS AND ENDS—Benny Goodman's written the story of his life, with the idea of selling himself, his band and the story to Hollywood... Butch Duddy, 5, son of Doris and grandson of Bette Duddy, dramatic critic, is acting in "The Hansen Comedy," new Mickey Rooney picture... The premiere of "The Navy Comes Through" will be held in the Navy Theater, San Francisco... Errol Flynn's new contract with Warner Bros. calls for four pictures a year, one of which he will produce; he is now working in "Edge of Darkness"... After more than 10 years in radio, Announcer Bill Goodwin says he still gets mike fright!
