Red Cross Notes

Since there is some misunderstanding about how our Red Cross is handled I would like to take this means of telling what I know about our work.

Why don't we help some of our local people with the quilts we have made? The national Red Cross treasurer buys these materials with national funds. All garments and quilts made from this material must be shipped to national headquarters for distribution. Our Donley county fund is what we use to help our local people. Up to date three families have been helped from Hedley.

The question has been asked, Why does Clarendon give Hedley and surrounding communities second grade stuff? This is a misunderstanding. Clarendon has not offered anything but the best to Hedley. They have cooperated 100% from every standpoint. They give your local chairman privilege of buying all materials in Hedley whenever possible to obtain them.

Why doesn't Hedley have a chapter? The Hedley Chapter was discontinued by a higher Red Cross official than Donley county officials, so please don't blame our Donley county officials for that. I can't explain why we do not have more than one chapter in a county as small as Donley, but I will refer anyone to our Donley Co. Red Cross Board for this information.

We have a Donley Co. emergency chest. From this we receive quilts, blankets and clothing for emergency needs whenever that need arises. All you have to do is get in touch with your Hedley Red Cross chairman. They will be investigated and taken care of.

I hope we have explained sufficiently for no one feel that the Red Cross is neglecting or mistreating anyone.

One of our Hedley boys in Service told his mother, "Work for the Red Cross. Help all you can for they really help where help is needed."

Another service of the Red Cross is through the Home Service Dept. You may secure help in locating, in sickness or death, the boys in service by wiring through this department.

May we dismiss these ramers and all work for the good we may do.

Bring your thimble Saturday. We will have work to do in the Work Room. Make the Work Room headquarters when in town on Saturday.

Shower

The Wifadoes Club sponsored a lovely shower last Saturday evening in the home of Misses Ois and Bula Oerd, honoring Mrs. Olyde Thomas, a recent bride.

Each one gave the honoree a thought for her future married life, which made a very interesting program, after which a large number of lovely and useful gifts were presented to Mrs. Thomas.

Punch and cookies, prepared by Mrs. J. H. Keeninger and Lucille, were served to about 25 members and guests.

METHODIST CHURCH

John Deaver, Dist. Attorney, will be the Layman Speaker for the morning hour at the Methodist Church Sunday. Sunday evening the services will be in charge of local folk. These services will be helpful to you.

We are starting Choir Practice on Wednesday evenings in connection with mid-week Bible Study. You are invited to meet with us in both services. The meetings last from 8:30 to 10:00 p. m.

The attendance was good at both services Sunday. There is a place for all at some church each Sunday. You ought to fill yours. I have never heard of anyone being hurt by going to Church, but I know many who are helped to a better way of life by going. Friend, consider the matter seriously.

C. R. LeMond, pastor

Chaplain Rex Kendall, who has just returned from a months training at Harvard Chaplain School, has received a double promotion. He is now Captain Rex Kendall and the permanent Protestant Chaplain at the Ft. Hill, new Post Chapel.

Captain Kendall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kendall and was pastor of the Methodist Church at Vega before becoming a chaplain in the army.

Donley County Singers

Due to the present conditions, the singers of Donley county have decided to have a singing convention at night. It will be Friday night, Feb. 26 at the Methodist Church, Hedley at 8 o'clock. Rev. E. F. Cook and other singers of Amarillo have promised to be there. Everyone is invited. Come.

To My Friends and Former Customers

The Sinclair Service Station formerly operated by Adamson & Kirkpatrick was closed in November, 1942, for reasons well known to the trade in this community.

In this public statement I wish to announce that I have made arrangements to open for business in same location Monday March 1st, at which time I hope to begin serving you as in the past. I solicit your business both wholesale and retail. Conditions in the handling of Petroleum Products have changed materially in the last few months, from the standpoint of both rationing and delivery.

Considering these conditions I promise the best service possible and hope our business relations will prove both pleasant and profitable to all.

Thanks

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

OES Opposes Increase in Farm Parity; Showdown in North Africa Prelude to United Nations Invasion of Europe; Reds Continue Ground-Gaining Drive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

How momentous have been the results of the Russian winter offensive against the Nazis may be seen in the changes pictured on the above map. From the beginning of the Red drive last fall, through the relief of Stalingrad and the sweep of the Russian momentum westward and south...

TUNISIA: Ready for Zero Hour

Only a continuance of the traditional African rainy season and the necessity of waiting until stores of supplies were sufficient, had prevented the long-awaited Allied offensive for final control of Tunisia.

Spies and portents had pointed unmistakably toward an early showdown. The elevation of Dwight D. Eisenhower to the full rank of general and his appointment as supreme commander in Africa had indicated a centralization of command preparatory to decisive action.

RED RESURGENCE: Regains Lost Ground

Prophecies of Rostov's fall had been the Russians' capture of Novocherkassk, for in war past and present any army that took the gateway town of Novocherkassk had always succeeded in taking Rostov.

How far the Nazis' fortunes had needed since their peak at Stalingrad last autumn might be seen in the spectacular gains in territory recorded by the Russians.

One of the surprising phenomena of the Russian offensive was its lightning effect on Axis military morale. From a victorious invading host, the Nazis and their satellite allies had been reduced in many places to chaffallen detachments ready to surrender.

HIGHLIGHTS... in the week's news

LOS ANGELES: Laying aside his movie hero roles for the more hazardous fortunes of war, Robert Taylor has entered the naval air forces as a lieutenant, junior grade.

FARM PRICES: Parity Battle Brisk

Even as the administration threw down its battle gauntlet against further advances in farm prices, the senate agriculture committee laid the ground for such price increases by voting to report a measure sponsored by Senator Bankhead of Alabama designed to revise the parity formula upward.

U-BOAT REPORT: Better Than Expected

Out of the "hush-hush" and into the limelight came the subject of German submarines—a subject that has painfully worried many an Allied leader.

Outrunking in interest his prediction of an Allied invasion of Europe within nine months and his report that 500,000 British and American troops are now in Africa, was his survey of the submarine situation in a report to the parliament.

SENATE PROBE: To Study Food

As the threat of a possible food shortage loomed more ominously, the senate agriculture committee ordered an investigation into the production, transportation and distribution of foodstuffs.

DIES COMMITTEE: New Lease on Life

The American people indicated clearly that they wanted the work of the Dies committee continued, even though some of them did not always agree with its methods of investigating un-American activities.

LOS ANGELES: Laying aside his movie hero roles for the more hazardous fortunes of war, Robert Taylor has entered the naval air forces as a lieutenant, junior grade.

JAP REVERSES: Spur U. S. Offensive

With Guadalcanal completely cleared of Japs, U. S. forces in the southwest Pacific had prepared for new offensive action.

How costly had been the Nipponese effort to hold this key island and their foothold in the Buna-Gona area of New Guinea was disclosed in estimates of enemy casualties. These estimates indicated that Japan had lost 90,000 men killed, 200 ships sunk or damaged and 2,000 planes destroyed in these defeats.

Allied air raid activity, strafed Jap-held positions on Kolombangara and Munda. Meanwhile in New Guinea American and Australian troops opened up a long-awaited drive on Salamaua.

DEFERRED DRAFTEES: Face Early Summons

As plans moved forward swiftly for enlarging the size of Uncle Sam's fighting forces, selective service made public estimates that 1,000,000 single men of draft age are now deferred on occupational grounds.

That many of these men would soon land in the army or navy was indicated by instructions to local boards to review deferments within six months after granting them and eliminate unnecessary ones so that their industrial places could be taken by women or other men.

Of the draft age deferrees, 370,000 are in class 2-A which covers occupants of essential civilian jobs; 570,000 are in class 2-B covering those holding essential industrial jobs; and 150,000 are in class 2-C, necessary men in agricultural pursuits.

PACIFIC BASES: For Peace Insurance

Victory over Japan in the Pacific would not solve the problem of future aggression. Some other insurance was needed. And it became increasingly clear that such insurance must be the acquisition and maintenance by the United States of a chain of air and naval bases across the Pacific.

Immediate steps to implement this movement were taken when the house naval affairs committee appointed a subcommittee to investigate ways and means of acquiring these bases. Secretary of Navy Knox had previously recommended such a program, indicating that lend-lease aid might be the basis for negotiations for the bases.

COAL & RAIL PAY: OES Dooms Raises

Rejection of demands by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers for a $2-a-day raise for bituminous coal miners; of demands by the railroad brotherhoods for 30 per cent pay increases for rail workers and all other wage requests beyond the Little Steel formula of 15 per cent ceiling was clearly indicated in an anti-inflation statement by Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes.

Japanese Women Trained and Ready

More than in any other nation at war—with the single exception of Soviet Russia—the women of Japan are today carrying the main burden of fighting on the home front.

The war work of Japanese women has released at least 2,000,000 able-bodied men for military service. Probably another 2,000,000 men have been made available for vital war production jobs because women have replaced them in nonessential positions.

Not only are Japanese women hit harder than the women of other nations by government demands for sacrifices in the standard of living; they are also more active in "front line combat duty." That is the way the Japanese government describes their work in civilian fire-fighting squads which combat incendiary bombs such as those dropped on Tokyo by Jimmy Doolittle's raiders last year.

Hundreds of thousands of Japanese women are working in munitions plants, road construction crews and auxiliary police work. Thousands of others work on trains and streetcars. Some work as stevedores on the same docks where American prisoners of war have been put to work.

Yai-san, cook in my Tokyo home, headed one of the thousands of neighborhood firefighting squads which the authorities hope will save them from being burned out when Japan's enemies carry out mass incendiary bomb attacks against Japan.

At least one woman in every household has been trained to fight incendiaries and administer first aid to the wounded. And the training has gone far beyond theory. For four years millions of Japanese women have actually been tackling real bombs, tossed into the streets from army trucks during highly realistic maneuvers.

They are taught to operate and repair emergency water pumps, scale high walls without ladders, climb ropes up the walls of four and five-story buildings. They are trained to carry wounded down fire-truck ladders from smoke-filled buildings. Among these women are many experts in handling the high explosives with which they intend to blast out anti-air lanes around burning areas to prevent fires from spreading.

All of us who saw the Doolittle raid on Tokyo were impressed by the fact that the dozen incendiary bomb fires which broke out before our eyes in the capital were brought under control within a few hours. The job was done largely by these predominantly female fire-fighting units. Because it wasn't a mass bombing attack, the Doolittle raid was by no means the final test. But whenever it comes, these women are trained and ready.

To conserve manpower, transportation and marketing facilities, the Japanese today eat about one-third as much as they ate 10 years ago.

At first glance you might expect this to simplify the task of home-making for Japanese women. But they have even less time to themselves now.

Jap Rationing.

Today they must spend from two to four hours daily standing in queues in front of their local food shops, hoping to be able to cash in their ration tickets before the meager stocks are exhausted.

For two years the authorities have prohibited the sale of any materials containing cotton, wool, rayon, linen or silk. The wearing of prewar kimonos by women also has been outlawed, on the theory that their riotous colors are out of keeping with the grim times. Consequently Japanese women today clothe themselves in the only material available to them—artificial cloth made from wood pulp. They soon discovered, to their chagrin, that this material disintegrates when washed, won't hold a press and is a haven for every species of wood-boring insect.

In order to simplify production of ready-made clothes for women, manufacturers now are limited to one standard pattern and only three sizes—small, medium and large, into which every figure has to be fitted.

Japanese women once were among the world's heaviest users of cosmetics but today extremely few Japanese women appear in public with painted faces. Most of them probably would like to use a bit of powder, rouge and lipstick but these can no longer be purchased in Japan.

The generation of Japanese girls growing up during the war may not miss their permanents and lipsticks because they can no longer see western beauty standards in American motion pictures. But something more vital was lost when Tokyo banned the showing of American films.

THE March of Time's "One Day of War—Russia, 1943" is probably the best documentary film that has come out of this war. That was the opinion of Walter Graebner, their war correspondent, when he saw it in Moscow. His adventures in getting it to the MOT's New York office would make an exciting mystery film. Once, when he looked for the cans of film, they had disappeared! He waited in Teheran for a duplicate print to be flown to him, and the plane was forced down on the way. The African offensive broke, and he had to cover it. When the film finally reached Cairo the Egyptian customs refused to pass it, till he talked them over.

John Garfield isn't finding his midget automobile so cramped since he worked in Warner Bros. "Air Force"—he spent most of his time in an improvised tail gun position in the Flying Fortress Mary Ann. Mary Ann is the heroine of the picture.

Monty Wooley, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," became the man who came to Al Jolson's air program, "Life Begins at 8:30," and remained to co-star. After two guest performances the combination of Jolson and Wooley was seen to be so satisfactory that it was made a permanent one. Now it's known as the Al Jolson-Monty Wooley program, at the insistence of the former.

Marcy McGuire, RKU's 17-year-old find, is likely to become the pet of the music publishers. Making her screen bow in "Seven Days' Leave" she sang "Touch of Texas" and "I Get the Neck of the Chicken" straight into the Hit Parade. And her performance won her a top role in her company's forthcoming Kay Kyser-Edgar Bergen comedy, "Keep 'Em Singing."

Gig Young put his heart and soul into his portrayal of the co-pilot of "Air Force's" Mary Ann, which depicts the air war against the Japs from the days of Pearl Harbor. His father-in-law and close friend is a prisoner of the Japanese.

The "Town Hall Club" of Boston bestowed scrolls on Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, calling their NBC humor "earthy," and hailing it as having "helped to unify Americans in our war effort by supplying democratic laughter with which to form a bond of wellbeing among our people." Quite a tribute to two comedians who just started out being funny as a way of earning a living!

Ever wonder what's happened to the kids of "Our Gang"? Farina's now a soldier, serving in Australia; "Fatty" Joe Cobb's a defense worker. Mary Kornman is happily married. Jackie Davis is Dr. John Davis, USN. Freckle-faced "Mickie" Daniels works in an aircraft factory, Johnny Downs alternates between stage and screen, Harry Spear's a bank accountant. Jackie Condon is in service. J. R. Smith is a successful salesman, and blonde Jean Darling has become a very popular night-club singer.

A technicolor musical called "New Orleans" is being made ready for Alice Faye, so it looks as if she's to lose no time now that she is working again. Meanwhile, she'll be co-starred with Carmen Miranda in "The Girls He Left Behind."

"Navy Hotel," a story of the WAVES and the SPARS, will be one of those super-super musicals, set against the background of a Miami hotel; Charles R. Rodgers wants Benny Goodman and his orchestra for both acting and musical parts in the United Artists production.

ODDS AND ENDS—Bette Davis' first film on her return from her vacation, several months hence, will be "Mrs. Skeffington" . . . In the making of "One Day of War—Russia, 1943" 30 out of 100 cameramen were killed in action . . . The Aldrich Family series won't lose Jimmy Lydon after all; the army rejected him . . . The title of the picture co-starring Gracie Fields and Monty Wooley has been changed from "Buried Alive" to "Holy Matrimony" . . . Dame May Whitty is in her 77th year, but the distinguished actress recently signed a new long-term contract with Metro; the first picture will be "Madame Curie"

SNAPPY FACTS

In Zambesi, Africa, carts used by the natives have tires made of elephant hide, which serve the purpose of rubber.

In Bulgaria native paint pictures of their enemies on their tires so they can be regularly splattered with mud, as a gesture of contempt!

Cure acid trouble for transportation account for 50 per cent of the Army's rubber requirements.

Cord tire construction, the type common today, first made rapid inroads on the cord-woven fabric tire in 1915. Low pressure balloon tires made their appearance in 1924.

Cryptostegia is a new word for the rubber lexicon. To Florida it is the technical name for the Mexican morning glory, which has been recognized as one of the most promising rubber-producing plants.

One thing a soldier is afraid of is a display of emotion. That's why his slang so often sounds derogatory. For example, he refers to the silver eagles on his colonel's shoulder straps as "buzzards." But when he speaks of his favorite cigarette, he says: "Camels." They're first with men in the Army as well as with Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen. (According to actual sales records in service men's stores.) A gift of a carton of Camels is always well received. Local tobacco dealers are featuring Camel cartons to send to any member of our armed forces. Hint for the day: Send "him" a carton of Camels.—Adv.

FAMOUS NO-SUGAR ALL-BRAN MUFFINS EASY! DELICIOUS!

They really are the most delicious muffins that ever melted a pat of butter. Made with crisp, toasted shreds of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, they have a unique and flavor that have made them famous all over America.

Kellogg's All-Bran Muffins

2 tablespoons	3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup All-Bran	1 cup flour
1/2 cup corn syrup	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg	2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

cream shortening and corn syrup thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Add All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Add flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

W. S. G. S.

The W.S.G.S. met Monday afternoon at the Church. The business meeting was called to order by the president. Old and new business was discussed, planned and dispensed with. A neat sum was realized from the Father Son Banquet. The new chairs purchased by the Society and the Church were enjoyed on this occasion.

The study period was an interesting affair conducted by the leader and assistants chosen by her. Latin America was the topic and many interesting features were discussed. A splendid map of the Western Hemisphere was put up and used to good advantage. The business and importance of these neighbors of ours and the work of the Church among them was discussed.

Song and prayer closed the service. A topic of much interest for next meeting was chosen and leaders and literature were selected that promises to make the next meeting even better than ever.

NOTICE

The Tax Collectors office states that a new ruling has been made requiring all car owners to have a certificate of title before 1942 license plates can be issued. Last year models of 1935 and earlier were not required to have the certificates but this year ALL cars must have them. If you do not have certificate, please apply for one at once, and be sure to bring all your old car papers with you when you come to the office.

... and how's YOUR sense of balance?

This is a balancing chair—used to test the equilibrium of Army Air Corps candidates.

- Relatively few West Texans will ever try the balancing chair—but every last one of us is having our sense of balance tested under the mad whirl of wartime bureaucracy.
- It's a test of our ability to do our daily job, buy bonds, pay taxes, donate blood, serve in Civilian Defense and Texas Defense Guards—and still keep an even keel under the barrage of bureaucratic rulings and threats.
- It's a test of individuals, and institutions, and industries.
- And it raises this question: Why are bureaucrats and crack-pot socialists, who never raised a chicken, a hog, a cow, who never produced an article by manual labor or generated a kilowatt of energy, and who never maintained a payroll or sold a pound of beefsteak... why are they holding vital posts when the Nation is fighting for survival?
- Why, in time of national emergency, haven't they been replaced by well-balanced men... practical men with training and experience in production and distribution problems?

- Brains and know-how must come to the top in domestic affairs as they have in military affairs.
- Of course we're proud that our industry has met the test—and maintained its balance. Service is still good. There has been no increase in cost. And no rationing of electricity!
- These are the accomplishments of experienced men and women under well-balanced business management—the system that made America great.
