Rationing Board News

West Texas farmers and others living at a distance from their local War Price and Rationing Boards may renew their "A" gasoline coupon books by mail. The District OPA office pointed out today, in an effort to save gasoline and prevent loss of hours from work. This plan will go into effect on June 22. Local Boards will publicize the names of filling stations at which the forms can be secured, the OPA said.

Due to the fact that "A" rations expire on July 31, applications should start coming in immediately after June 22 in order that the boards will have time to process them and mail them back before expiration date.

Red Cross Notes

Our Work Room is open in a new location next door to Sargent's Cafe due to Mr. Dishman's renting his building. We appreciate the use of the Dishman building for a year.

Our work is now all for our soldiers. The hospital work will go to Amarillo Veterans Hospital. Soldier Kits will go to every boy in service. We are asking donations to equip these kits. Only $1 fully equips a kit. Why not honor some soldier by filling a kit? We will have an Honor Roll in our window and all who donate a kit may place a name on Honor Roll or as many as you care to equip a kit for. We are asking also for books for our kits. 1943 Readers Digests and 25c detective and western books.

We wish to thank Mesdames W. I. Rains and Leland Pierce for instructing the work Saturday in absence of both chairmen. We also wish to thank J. W. Noel, O. L. Johnson for some 20 books, all these who helped move to our new room. Mrs. McKee for material, and Mrs. Joan Edwards of Amarillo for a box of scraps. Mrs. Edwards does work in Amarillo but said she heard how much we were doing and she wanted a part in her old home town.

We especially thank the Lions Club for the help they have rendered and will render our Red Cross.

Show your color by honoring our home boys—Fill a kit. We meet Thursdays and Saturdays 3:30 p. m. to 6 p. m.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

French Unity Speeds Victory Plans; Mediterranean Under Heavy Attack by Allied Naval and Air Concentrations; Chinese Crush Jap Yangtze Offensive

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. army air force, delivers a diploma to his son, Cadet William Bruce Arnold, a member of the 1943 graduating class at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

FRENCH UNITY: Worth Waiting for

Although General Giraud and General DeGaulle at first could not agree any better at close range in Algiers than they had at long range between Africa and London, Allied leaders were confident that factional gulfs would be hurdled and long-hoped-for French unity would be consummated. This optimistic view was justified when a "French committee of national liberation," headed jointly by Generals De Gaulle and Giraud, was formally established to "pursue the war at the side of the Allies until total victory over the enemy powers."

Comprising a seven-man group which eventually will be expanded to nine, the new liberation committee will direct the French war effort until France is freed and able to elect its own government. In addition to the co-presidents, Giraud and DeGaulle, the committee includes Gen. Alphonse George and Jean Monnet, named by Giraud; Rene Massigli and Andre Philip, appointed by DeGaulle; and Gen. Georges Catroux, designated by both presidents. That the new committee meant business was immediately apparent by personnel replacements that eliminated French-African officials with former Vichy ties.

COAL: WLB Sustained

When President Roosevelt, acting as commander-in-chief, tersely ordered the 500,000 striking mine workers back to work after a 30-day truce had been ended by another walkout, he had left the next move squarely up to mine union chief John L. Lewis.

In his brief statement the President did not consider the possibility that his order might be ignored. But measures of a stern and effective nature were open to him and the force of public opinion was marshaled overwhelmingly behind him—in the event of continued mine work stoppage.

The President's order had completely supported the War Labor board which Mr. Lewis and his United Mine Workers had defied, setting forth plainly that "Just as soon as the miners return to work, the disposition of the dispute... will forthwith proceed under the jurisdiction of the War Labor board."

ARGENTINA: Neutrality at Stake?

While close censorship had veiled early reports of the "military movement" in Argentina, observers were confident that it concerned the course of the nation's future international policy—whether the government would pursue its trend of benevolent neutrality toward the Axis, or would follow the rest of South America in breaking with the Axis.

The military reaction gained added significance, coming as it did on the eve of the Conservative party's national convention preceding the Presidential elections. For this convention had been scheduled to proclaim Senate President Robustiano Patron Costas as its candidate. Costas had been endorsed by "neutrality-minded" President Ramon Castillo.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

BONDS: The average American family should invest 25 cents of every dollar of income in war bonds, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau declared.

COAL: Stocks of all anthracite coal in Canada were ordered frozen according to an order issued by J. McG. Stewart, coal controller of the war munitions department.

CHINA: Japs Lose 30,000

As Chinese forces had continued to press back the Jap invaders in the middle Yangtze valley, a report from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters disclosed that the drive in Central China toward Chungking had cost the enemy more than 30,000 casualties in a two-week period.

The Tokyo radio admitted the reverses in a report announcing that the Jap invasion forces had retired to previously prepared positions. Principal theater of Chinese gains was the Yangtze river in southern Hupeh province and northern Hunan. Here General Chiang's forces wiped out encircled enemy units and seized huge stocks of supplies and equipment, a communique said. As a first step in the recapture of strategic Ichang, the Chinese had regained possession of all points around Changyang, strongly held "doorway" to Ichang.

MEDITERRANEAN: Mussolini at Bay

Mussolini's defenses at sea had been no more impressive than in the air when Allied forces struck at the island approaches to the "soft underbelly" of Italy.

Target of the first assaults was the island of Pantelleria, closest of Italy's Mediterranean outposts to Africa. Here Allied warships made heavy bombardments that were unopposed. The Italian fleet that had been reported on the alert had made no effort to come out and fight for Pantelleria which already had been shaken by Allied bombers. In none of the attacks did the Allied fleet units suffer casualties. The only resistance offered was from the ineffective Italian shore batteries.

Only 45 miles from the tip of Tunisia's Cap Bon peninsula, Pantelleria was an easily reached target for Allied air forces. As wave after wave of bombers swept over the island blowing up port facilities, other Allied planes kept up a damaging series of forays against Sicily and Sardinia.

The extent to which the Mediterranean was becoming an Allied lake was indicated by a report announcing that the Allied destroyers had sunk two merchant vessels and an escorting torpedo boat and driven a burning Italian destroyer ashore.

TRADE PACTS: Two Years More

Final approval by the senate of President Roosevelt's reciprocal trade agreements program came after administration supporters, aided by some Republicans, defeated five amendments that would have restricted the President's authority. The house had previously voted favorably.

The President had originally asked for a three-year extension. But because this would throw the policy into the next presidential administration for more than a year, both house and senate measures cut it to two years. The senate's action, however, meant that members of the United Nations could be assured that this government's present trade policy would be continued until June 12, 1945, or nearly five months after the next presidential inauguration.

DRAFT CROP: The draft called Sherman Jenkins' sons one at a time until it took all 12, the Clarksdale, Miss., farmer disclosed. The boys range in age from 19 to 39.

PRIVATEES: Seventy-two oil industry executives donned fatigue outfits and spent a day living with soldiers at Fort Belvoir, Va., who are fighting a war powered by oil.

Long Trousers Adopted During French Revolution

War-time services of many kinds undertaken by women account for the fact that there are more wearing trousers today than ever before. It was during a period of great national stress that men adopted the fashion of wearing long trousers.

Before the days of the French Revolution well-dressed men favored knee breeches, while the poorer people wore blue linen pantaloons. When the French monarchy fell, anyone whose dress suggested that he might be an aristocrat went in danger of his life. Consequently, men of all classes began to wear long trousers.

In 1812 Cambridge university decreed that students attending hall or chapel in long trousers should be considered absent.

Due to an unusually large demand and current war conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

ON COLUMBIA'S "Appointment in Berlin" set: George Sanders, pretending to be a traitor for his country's sake, is under arrest; the bit player charged with handcuffing him bursts through a door and tries to wrap the steel bracelets around Sanders' wrists. Tries again and again and can't get them to clasp. "You're not putting mittens on a baby!" Director Al Green cries at last. "You act as if you were afraid of hurting Mr. Sanders." The bit player looks sheepish, and Sanders pulls his sleeves back from his bruised and bleeding wrists. "Really, you're being a bit hard on the fellow," says he. "He has tried it the other way, you know."

Claire Trevor scored in radio on the "Big Town" series with Edward G. Robinson several years ago, thereby giving her screen career a boost. Now she's a radio regular again, on the "Mayor of the Town" series Wednesday nights with Lionel Barrymore.

Two ex-choir singers kept the set of Paramount's "True to Life" filled with music. They were Mary Martin and Dick Powell, both of whom began their musical careers singing hymns in the home-town church. They sang in their dressing rooms and on the set; just couldn't seem to stop. When they weren't singing the music written for the picture they were rehearsing songs for their radio shows. The tunes for the picture were written by Johnny Mercer and Hoky Carmichael; no wonder the stars couldn't stop singing!

Looks as if Zasu Pitts is making a swell comeback in "Let's Face It," after concluding her run in her play, "Her First Murder." Zasu deserves a good picture, after working in the lamentable one called "Fish."

George Reeves spent four years struggling through small roles in big pictures, hoping for the break that would boost him to the top. He got it, opposite Claudette Colbert in "So Proudly We Hail"—and was inducted into the army when the picture was finished.

Way, way back Universal decided to follow its hilarious "My Man Godfrey" with "My Girl Godfrey," with Carole Lombard in the title role. Now it's scheduled again, with Deanna Durbin starring, along with Franchot Tone and Pat O'Brien.

You'll have to see "Stars in the Service" if you yearn to see what your favorite movie heroes are up to in the armed forces. It will be the first release of the 23rd year of Columbia's "Screen Snapshots," and will present virtually every male star and featured player who is in uniform. It was made by Ralph Staub—it's the 565th short he's produced, directed and photographed.

Ray Noble, of the Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy air show, is excited over the announcement that Warner Bros. will produce a picture named for Ray's tune, "The Very Thought of You"; he wrote it in 1934, and it's still popular. It will be spotted in the same manner as "As Time Goes By" was spotlighted so successfully in "Casablanca."

The Andrews Sisters will return to radio on June 30, when they will be guest stars on Morton Gould's Carnival over CBS. Having finished the Hollywood chore for Universal—which they didn't want to do—they're glad to be coming back, even though they've made so much money already this year that they'll have to give their radio salaries right back to Uncle Sam!

ODDS AND ENDS—The horse appearing as the birthplace of the hero in "The Story of Dr. Fassel" is really the old barn where C. E. De Mille filmed his first picture three decades ago. John Nesbit revises his "The Passing Parade" on the air June 29, filling in for 13 weeks for Fibber McGee and Molly. Jean Parker offered her St. Bernard to the Army as a war dog, but he was turned down unless he weighs 215 pounds. It will be a working occasion for Jackie (Homer) Kelt of "The Aldrich Family" when the serial takes a vacation from Hollywood to

Uncle Phil Says:

THE average man doesn't cast his bread upon the waters until it has become quite stale.

If a man is enjoying life, sleep seems an infringement.

Silence isn't necessarily golden—sometimes it's just "yellow."

Decent people hate a pessimist as much as he hates himself.

A man who loses his temper sometimes offers the only remedy there is for impudence.
