Lions Club Membership Contest Closes

The membership contest for the fiscal year of the Lions International closed June 21st. The local club had 22 members at the beginning of the year and now have 68 members, a net gain of 46 members, more than a 200% increase. In other words the club is now over three times as large as it was a year ago. Besides the 68 active members the club has 2 members in service, Harry G. Womack and T. J. Hancard, both serving in the U. S. Navy. The Club won the Melvin Jones birthday contest in January of this year by increasing their membership 100% during the month and are now among the leaders in the contest for the year. Eleven members were added to the club this month and Lion President Ray Mereman says he is just waiting for a telegram stating that the club has won this contest.

At this week's luncheon the club will elect officers and a good attendance is expected. The program committee has a splendid program arranged for the meeting.

American Legion News

The first objective of the American Legion is to take care of our disabled and sick comrades. We now realize that our responsibility to our disabled comrades along the lines of rehabilitation is greater than ever before in the history of the American Legion.

A series of rehabilitation schools of instructions are now being conducted at each district convention of the American Legion throughout the state, in order to enlighten Post Service Officers and other members of the American Legion on the new veterans' regulations pertaining to World War II veterans and their dependents. The Department Rehabilitation Committee of The American Legion and the Veterans' State Service Office are supervising the rehabilitation school of instructions being conducted in different sections of the state.

The National Rehabilitation Committee of The American Legion is now working with the Veterans' Administration on a new proposed rating schedule, which will be beneficial to the new group of veterans and their dependents. The aim of the American Legion is to see that the returning disabled comrades are properly rehabilitated so they may assume their normal sphere in life as nearly as possible, and to find their proper place in society.

McKnight, Bray and Hedley Schools

Although I live in Quail I like to see all parties get a fair deal in school matters. I have lived in McKnight. I know many good people in all these districts.

The present is not the right time to make permanent changes. No one knows what changes this war will bring. If the people in McKnight and Bray unite with Hedley they might regret it. If they unite with Quail they are likely to regret it. Neither Hedley nor Quail have a perfect school set up by any means. Neither school has all the buses it needs, regardless of reports. The people of Hedley want these districts because they are neighbors and in the same county. Quail wants them to keep her school set up intact. Therefore neither of these sets of citizens should ever persuade Bray and McKnight. After the war is settled perhaps common sense will decide the matter. Neither should hotheads with personal axes to grind in either community settle the question.

The present head of schools at Hedley is strong on scholarship. The head of the Quail system believes in big units. Each perhaps goes too far in his way of thinking. So let the people of Bray and McKnight calmly consider whether they want to tie up forever with either district. Taxes, future developments, tires, gas, all these and much more are to be considered.

Hedley has been recommended by the State as a school center for East Donley County. Quail has been recommended as a grade school. Perhaps neither of these views is correct. So I would say, "Think before you leap." Hedley and Quail are both in fairly good financial condition now.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Chinese Army Steps Up Anti-Jap Drive; Pantelleria Victory Prepares Way for Allied Sweep of Entire Mediterranean; Farm Implement Output Will Be Doubled

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

France officially repaid some of its debt to America when Gen. Henri Grand (right) invested United Nations Commander-in-Chief Dwight Eisenhower with the grand cross of the Legion of Honor at a ceremony in Algiers.

MEDITERRANEAN: Pantelleria First Step

The Allied assault to reduce Italy's island buffer defenses preparatory to mainland operations had continued to give the Mediterranean area star billing over other theaters of war.

The capture of the island fortress of Pantelleria was significant not only because it was the first effective Allied milestone since the African victory, but it consolidated United Nations' control over east-west shipping in the Mediterranean as well.

The steady and methodically violent destruction of Pantelleria's defenses was regarded as a forerunner of what other Axis Mediterranean bases would have to suffer.

In the meantime British dispatches crediting Spanish sources reported that Marshal Erwin Rommel was speeding the completion of defenses along the French Mediterranean coast.

IMPLEMENTATIONS: Output Doubled

Relief for farmers harassed by a shortage of machinery will be forthcoming as a result of WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson's announcement that the production of farm implements for the year beginning July 1 will be doubled.

Mr. Nelson's announcement said that allotments of steel and other materials will be sufficient to boost farm equipment production to 80 per cent of the 1940 level.

Meanwhile farm equipment manufacturers were authorized by the War Production board to place orders for materials for the new program.

ARGENTINA: Axis Radio Curbed

Action of the new Argentine government in cancelling radio facilities which enabled Axis embassies or nationals to transmit code messages to their capitals was regarded as a step in the direction of bettering Argentina's relations with its South American neighbors.

The government said it took this step in compliance with the resolution adopted at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, by American foreign ministers against Axis espionage in January, 1942. While the order cancelled radio code facilities for all nations, it struck at the Axis powers since they have no cable connections with Argentina, whereas the Allies are linked directly to Argentina by cable.

WAR PROFITS: 'Recapture' Scanned

Whether the year-old renegotiation law by which the government recaptures "excessive war profits" from industry would be retained or eliminated was a matter that would be largely determined by the public hearings which the house naval committee had ordered.

As the committee applied close scrutiny into the operations of the law, witnesses representing big and little industry described its effect on war production.

Decision to undertake the investigation came with two measures pending before the house ways and means committee. One was to repeal the statute altogether and the other was to limit its use to contracts above $500,000 rather than the present $100,000 limitation.

RUSSIA: Aerial Prelude

Air forays had continued to be the prelude to general 1943 land offensives on the Russian front as the lull that began with spring thaws still had persisted.

From one end of the line to the other reports indicated increasingly vigorous air battles as Nazi and Soviet planes fought it out for supremacy. Activity was reported especially pronounced in the Don river valley and northward in the vicinity of Leningrad.

Meanwhile the Russians continued their attacks on eastern German airdromes. In one foray the Reds reported destroying 160 German planes compared to a loss of 28 Russian aircraft.

ANTI-STRIKE: Penalties Promised

As the house had undertaken consideration of the compromise anti-strike bill, its sponsors declared that it would keep war plants and mines running uninterrupted by walkouts.

Composing differences in bills previously passed by both house and senate, the revised measure was aimed particularly at the coal wage dispute. It authorized the government to seize strike-bound mines or plants, outlawed strikes in these facilities and imposed a 30-day "cooling off" period before walkouts could be called in privately operated war industries.

Penalties ranging from civil damage suits to a year's imprisonment and $5,000 fine could be imposed on those who fail to carry out the measure's regulations in labor disputes or who instigate or conspire with others to aid a strike in a government-operated plant.

RIGHT HAND: Baruch for Byrnes

Official and unofficial Washington was cheered by the news that James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, had drafted Bernard L. Baruch to serve as his right-hand man.

Mr. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries board in the first World War and long an informal consultant of President Roosevelt, will serve Mr. Byrnes in an advisory capacity and will have a "more formal connection with the government" than when he headed the President's special rubber-investigating committee.

The key role which Baruch's mobilization of national resources played in winning the last war, plus his respect and popularity among members of congress were cited by observers as reasons for his choice by Mr. Byrnes. The fact that the two will be working together was viewed as a harbinger of closer cooperation between the government's legislative and executive branches and more thorough-going efficiency in the home front effort.

FOOD: U. S. to Ship 25%

At least 25 per cent of American food production this year will have to be shipped abroad, Roy F. Hendrickson, food distribution director of the War Food Administration, disclosed, adding that the proportion may have to be still greater.

Hendrickson told the war council of the American Retail federation that "as we move into Italy and Greece, France, Norway and the rest of Europe we must give those half-starved people the strength to be actively on our side."

The food distribution chief declared that the personnel of America's military forces eats an average of about 5 1/4 pounds of food daily, whereas civilians average between three and four pounds.

WHEAT LOANS: WFA Grants $1.22

Loans to eligible farmers on 1943-grown wheat at rates averaging nationally $1.22 per bushel at the farm were announced by the War Food Administration.

Under a similar loan program in 1942, loans averaged $1.14 at the farm. Eligible for loans will be farmers who complied with the 1943 AAA farm program relating to wheat and war crops. Loan rates vary according to grade, quality and location of storage.

WAR ON ALL FRONTS A SERIES OF SPECIAL ARTICLES BY THE LEADING WAR CORRESPONDENTS

Japan Is Satisfied By Clark Lee

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly)

Having accomplished every one of her major objectives, Japan is satisfied that she has won the war in the Pacific. All that remains, as she sees it, is to complete the unassailable wall of land, sea and air defenses she is building around her huge, rich new empire.

All she needs is time—just a little more time, please. Some public leaders in America have stressed the great historic menace that faces us in the Pacific. Few, however, have dared to state the whole startling truth. The truth is that Japan has already won her war.

With the exception of Midway island and despite her defeats in the Solomons and New Guinea, Japan has captured every important objective she set out to take.

All she needs. Japan has seized all the territory and all the resources she needs. Japan now rules 300,000,000 people. We have not yet started in earnest to fight our war—the war to retake the great areas Japan has captured.

That will be a new war, and because Japan will not be caught unprepared, it will be incredibly more costly than the lightning campaigns by which Hirohito's army and navy took over the great wealth and territory the United Nations had left virtually undefended in the Far East.

Unless we start to fight Japan soon, with every weapon at our command, and unless we keep China in the war on our side, we may find this second war impossible to win. Japan, embarked on a deliberate program of world conquest, sees this struggle as a racial war which may last a century, and in which, backed by the limitless manpower and resources of the Orient, she will win the final victory.

All that Japan needs to make her the world's greatest power is time—time to exploit and develop her new empire and to unite the people of Asia under her leadership.

Until today, Japan has had that time. Japan is under no real military pressure from the United States. Behind a solid network of defenses which we have not yet begun to generate, Japan is using her time wisely and efficiently to achieve her immediate objective—the military, economic and political consolidation of the Orient.

Having under-estimated Japan's skill, preparedness and determination before the war, we should not make the same mistake again in assessing her ability to carry out her present program.

Japan today is highly vulnerable to air attack. Most of her heavy industry is still concentrated in four areas located along a 400-mile strip of coast extending south and west from Tokyo. More than 30,000,000 people live and work in the great seaport cities of Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe, Osaka, Shimonoseki and Moji. If these cities were heavily bombed now, Japan would be severely crippled.

Six months from today, however, that may no longer be the case. For Japan is becoming a continental power, through a program of dispersal of heavy industry.

Japan's fundamental aim is to scatter key industries over so wide an area that many thousands of airplanes would be needed to inflict vital damage.

With the secure of Tientsin, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Manila and Singapore, Japan came into possession of tremendous American and British industrial facilities.

The economic resources of the conquered territories are being exploited under a plan which Japan has been perfecting for the past decade—a master plan for control of labor, transportation, shipping, public works, agriculture, finance, industry and all other functions of captured areas.

From the Philippines, Japan is getting chrome and copper. Malaya is contributing tin and rubber. Coal is coming from the Selangor mines. The Sumatra oil fields are producing great amounts of petroleum.

In Borneo the Japanese report finding large supplies of mercury and cinnabar. From the Andaman islands come lumber and fish. French Indo-China gives rice and coal. Java contributes rubber, quinine and petroleum. In Shansi province of North China is all the iron ore that Japan can ever use. Coal is found nearby.

Battle of the Atlantic

A sinking smokestack, a great air bubble, an empty lifeboat, all that is visible of a torpedoed tanker, all that is evident of the hard work, the savings we put into War Bonds to build this tanker, to load it with 50,000 gallons of high octane gas.

Our money is still safe but the tanker is lost forever. Another and another must be built to take its place. The men who sail the seas are giving their lives to win the Battle of the Atlantic. We are asked only to lend our money.

"... SO I TOLD JOE, WE'LL NEVER WIN THIS WAR FEELING THAT WAY"

"It burns me up! To hear some people talk, you'd think this war is something 'not for us'.

"Take Joe, for instance. 'Course, his boy Clem's too young for the service, and he doesn't have any kinfolks to keep him posted on what our boys are doing 'over there'. But when he told me he couldn't see what we, at home, could do toward winning the war, I told him exactly how I felt.

"I told him that if very many people thought as he did, this war could last months longer, and more of our boys would be killed . . . that we might even lose this war, and with defeat would go all the freedoms we love so dearly.

"Well, that seemed to start him thinking . . . so I told him a few of the ways he could help . . . how his investing in even a $25 War Bond would help some American soldier get the equipment he needs . . . how the old iron and scrap metal around his place would make a couple of machine guns . . . and how important it is to save grease and fats, and grow his own garden so more canned goods can be sent to our armies. 'We've gotta make sacrifices . . . sacrifice until it hurts,' I said, 'if we back up those men at the front who are giving up their lives for us.' Well, maybe I blew off a little steam, but that's the way I feel. And now, I'm sure Joe agrees with me."

GLASS JARS FOR VICTORY CANNING

Plan to can every extra vegetable from your Victory garden and don't worry if your dealer hasn't jars with the kinds of caps you have been accustomed to using. Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company, tells us that very few of the all-time favorite zinc caps are left on the home front because zinc is needed on the battle front, but all Mason jars (any brand) with smooth even top edges can be sealed with glass top seal or two-piece metal vacuum seal closures.

Glass top seals consist of glass lid, rubber ring, and metal screw band. The rubber is placed around the projection on the bottom of the lid, then lid with rubber is placed so that the rubber rests on top of the jar. The bands are screwed down tight, then loosened slightly before the jars are put into a canner for processing and screwed tight immediately after the jars are removed from the canner. After the jars have stood twelve or fifteen hours, the bands are removed and used to seal more jars with glass lids and rubbers, thus making a little metal go a long way. That's one reason Government officials smile upon home canners who use glass top seals.

Another good top seal for Mason jars is the two-piece metal cap, called vacuum seal. The lid is slightly dome shaped, lined with white enamel and has a rubber sealing compound around the outer edge to take the place of a regular jar ring—(don't let anybody fool you—all sealing compounds contain rubber). If one is using old-fashioned open kettle (never use this method for canning vegetables), the lids are boiled a few minutes to sterilize, but need only to be dropped into boiling water and kept hot if the jars of food are to be placed in a canner for processing. After the lid is placed on the jar, the metal band is screwed tight once for all. Retightening the band after the jars are taken out of the canner is likely to prevent sealing. The bands are removed from the jars twelve or fifteen hours after the canning is done and used to seal more lids on other jars. Jars sealed with two-piece metal caps are suitable for all types of canning except oven—a tightly sealed jar is likely to break when subjected to the dry heat of an oven. Bands for glass top seal and vacuum seal caps are not interchangeable because a deeper band is needed for the glass lids, but the two have one thing in common. Neither is rust-proof. That's because of the zinc shortage, but a quick wiping after each use with a cloth moistened with paraffin will prevent serious rusting. It will save time and trouble too, if a cloth is prepared ahead of time and kept in one of those glass jars that can't be used for home-canning. Then when the cloth is needed, set the jar in a pan of warm water until the paraffin softens.

The "lightning" jar (so called because it is quickest to seal) requires very little metal and not too much rubber for sealing. Several manufacturers make this type jar. It seals with a glass lid and rubber held in place with wire balls. The wires used on one nationally known brand are of heat-treated, high-tension, stretch-proof, spring steel. This is the ideal jar for home canning any year because it is so easy to seal. The rubber is placed on the sealing surface or shoulder, the lid comes next, then the upper ball wire is pushed up until it rests in the groove in the top of the lid. Pay no attention to the lower wire, it takes care of itself until after the jars are removed from the canner—then it is pushed down against the side of the jar and that's all there is to sealing it.

When buying jars, choose pints for peas, corn, and shelled beans—and quarts for all other vegetables. Half pint sizes aren't being made, and half-gallons are unsuitable for canning vegetables because it takes too long for heat to reach the center of the jar.

Then he yells—
'BOMBS AWAY!'

What boy wouldn't like to just sit in a flying fortress! And to fly it... well, this pilot ranks with Superman! One look at the instrument panel and you feel the same way. It's hard to believe that ordinary mortals could ever master the maze of dials, buttons, levers and switches required to fly and fight a 30-ton bomber.

But a lot of West Texas boys are doing it with deadly efficiency. (Ask Adolf, Benito or Tojo.) And they don't learn their jobs just by reading a book. It takes intensive training and practical experience to produce the bomber teams who risk their lives together.

The electric business is like that. You can't make kilowatt-hours with theories. You've got to learn how—the hard way.

That's the way most of the men and women with us got their start. It's the American way. Do a better job—and you get better jobs to do.

It's the system of free enterprise. It's simple—but it works.

It works so well that America's big peacetime industries became great war machines overnight.

It works so well that America's electric companies, under business management, were able to supply war plants with far more electric power than any nation has ever known before in addition to normal peacetime needs.

They're doing the job without rationing—and without increased cost to you!

It works so well that we're winning the war in spite of socialistic bureaucracies. But to hasten the day of victory, the bureaucrats must concentrate on the war and desist from their plans to permanently change our system of government by which America stands to lose its freedom at home.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE

MARY ASTOR certainly started something when she signed up as master of ceremonies for that new Thursday night air show, in which she is starred with Charles Ruggles and Mischa Auer. Within a week sponsors were being deluged with plans for programs on which girls would act as emcees. And just ask John Charles Thomas if the ladies are taking over! He's a placid, composed individual, but he nearly lost his calm recently, at one of his Sunday afternoon broadcasts, when he saw six new girl members of the orchestra.

Penny ("Blondie") Singleton is a very proud young woman. She now answers to the name of Mrs. Major Sparks—her husband was recently promoted, after performing distinguished service as a captain. Penny's more elevated than he is!

If it's brighter that Capt. Clark Gable will appear at your local movie house in a new picture, "Wings Up," don't expect to see a great deal of him in it. The film's an Office of War Information short subject, and it's certainly worth seeing, but Gable isn't on the screen much of the time. He acts as narrator, and makes an appearance only in the concluding scenes.

Now you'll have to add another Ameche to your list. He's Jim Jr., son of Jim Sr. of the Sunday "Here's to Romance" broadcasts, nephew of Don. The five-year-old appears on CBS in the "Big Sister" serial.

To make the cloud effects for the Heaven scenes in "A Guy Named Joe," starring Spencer Tracy and Irene Dunne, the air must be undisturbed and the temperature even. So an air lock system is being used on the heavy double studio doors, and a watchman's been installed to see that the outer one's closed before the inner one's opened. Of course the east has nicknamed him Gabriel.

Among the congratulatory wires Bill Stern received when he switched to a Friday night spot on NBC was one signed by George Raft, Betty Grable and Tommy Dorsey. He's slated to make a movie with them some time next fall.

They put Marie McDonald into a wig, for the first time in her life, for scenes in "Tornado," since her own blonde hair was too short. So when she lighted a gas heater in her dressing room, gas which had escaped during the night exploded in a burst of flame, which caught the long ends of the wig. The wig was ruined; Marie would have been badly burned if she hadn't thought fast and snatched it off.

Signe Hasso, of "Assignment in Brittany," has been signed to contract by Metro, and around the studio they are predicting that she will be one of the biggest stars in Hollywood after two or three roles in top pictures.

Anne Shirley, the romantic interest of "Bombardier," has the largest collection of service men's flying wings of any Hollywood star—42. But Donna Reed has a set of flying reports taken from a Jay flier shot down at Guadalcanal, a bomb fragment from London, and walrus tusk sewing needles from Iceland, all sent her by soldier admirers.

Susan Peters and her fiancé, Richard Quine, had a bad spill the other day. They were showing off before some friends with a bit of trick double riding, on Susan's new motor bike—it went down and so did they, but hurt nothing but their pride.

ODDS AND ENDS—Humphrey Bogart and Robert Young have made more free appearances for the Screen Guild Players than anybody else—seven broadcasts apiece for the charity. . . "A Date With Judy," another serial about an American family, will replace Eddie Cantor's "Time to Smile" program for the summer. . . The day after Phillips Lord blasted the stealers on "Gang Busters" he started for Maine—and somebody stole the tires of his roadster. . . George Louthan, writer-narrator-producer of "Supernatural," says he's never had a fright because he spent three years as cheer leader at New Haven high school, megaphone in hand.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Several strands of wire placed from end to end lengthwise over the poultry feed trough will prevent chickens from getting into the trough with their feet and wasting and contaminating the feed.

Gift frames can be cleaned by dipping a soft cloth in milk and rubbing gently over the soiled spots. Repeat several times if necessary.

So that they will not appear spotted, iron shantungs and pongees dry.

To clean water bottles fill rather more than half full with hot soapy water and add some torn-up pieces of used blotting paper or brown paper. Let the bottles stand for two or three hours, shake up well, and rinse thoroughly with clean cold water. After they have drained, polish them gently with a fine glass cloth.

No job is so important that you cannot take time to do it safely.

Baked ham is glorified by pouring honey over the ham before browning. It gives a delicate brown color and a delicious flavor.

No one particularly likes to iron curtain ruffles. Why not dip the curtains into cleaning fluid, two gallons for six pairs of curtains? If they are hung in the air to dry, and care is exercised, they will not require pressing.

A cushion or pad underneath a rug not only makes it feel softer and warmer but will also make the rug last longer.

Never, never put electrical appliances into water to clean them. A damp cloth and a mild abrasive are sufficient in most cases. Guard wires against dampness.

When drying a sweater or sweat shirt, use a wire coat hanger and bend the ends almost together while putting the garment on the hanger or removing it. This prevents stretching the neck of the garment.

ON THE HOME FRONT with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

EARLY American wall pockets cut out of light weight pine or scraps of half inch material may have many modern uses. In the kitchen they are just the thing for ration books and a pad for the grocery list. Just inside the front door one will lend a decorative note and make a convenient place for driving gloves and keys.

Originally these pockets were made in a great variety of designs and were used for letter boxes. They are still useful for this purpose or for a leave-a-note pad and pencil. If you enjoy working with wood you may want to cut these pockets out by hand with a coping saw as shown here. If you have a jig saw it is much faster, or you may mark your design and take it to a woodworking shop to be cut out for a few cents.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has made patterns in actual size for three of these Early American letter boxes. The patterns are on one sheet with complete directions for making and finishing. Request Pattern No. 261, enclosing 15 cents. Address:

Farming Under Difficulty

Farming in England has been most difficult since the outbreak of the war. To prevent planes from landing in planted plots, many farmers have erected posts every few feet across their fields. In some instances the military has dug trenches or tank traps from one end of the farm to the other. Grain cannot be stacked in large piles, and cattle cannot be kept in large herds for fear of their being destroyed by mass bombings. In spite of these and other ills, the United Kingdom has produced approximately 65 per cent of her own food requirements.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

From 1907 to 1912, guayule rubber from Mexico represented about 7 per cent of the world's rubber supply. In 1941, it was less than 1 per cent.

More than 86,000,000 motor vehicles have been produced in the United States since 1900, with an average of five tires per vehicle. That gives you an idea of the number of tires that have been made to maintain motor transportation!

A Spanish historian back in 1519 described a ball made of the gum of a tree that grows in "hot countries." He was referring to what we now call rubber.

Battle Wagons

When Japan attacked at Pearl Harbor we had 17 battleships in service and 15 building. We were making preparations but the war did not wait. These 32 battle wagons cost American taxpayers three billion dollars for a two ocean navy. The war seemed far away then.

Now fifty million Americans have a personal stake in the war. It has been brought home to them. That's why everyone is increasing purchases of War Bonds.
