Lions Club News

At last week's Lions Club directors meeting the things discussed were cleaning up of the town, community war fund, Amateur Night contest and a city park for the town.

It was urged that we all clean up our premises and put the cans in the alleys where they can be picked up.

Lions C. L. Johnson and Earl Tollett were appointed to see the businesses and business men in regard to Community War Chest drive. The school will take care of the residential section.

Lion Chas. Rains reported that Max Graham and his band from Memphis would enter the Amateur Contest. Entrees are also expected from Clarendon, Lelia Lake and Lakeview, besides a good many from Hedley and the surrounding community. This should be a good entertainment. Friday night, October 13th is the time.

The City Park was discussed and L. N. R. Hunsucker was made park chairman. It was decided to have a landscape man lay off the park before work is commenced.

This week is regular meeting night of the Lions Club. The time is 8:30 P. M. and a good crowd is expected.

Baptist Intermediate Class

The Baptist Intermediate Sunday School class met Thursday afternoon, October 5 at Mrs. Blankenship's home. There were only six present at the meeting and four absent. Those present were Mary Sue Scales, Vera Bain, Bobbie Lee Hall, Joy Blankenship, Mrs. Blankenship and Martha Nell Reed.

The class elected officers for the class as follows: Bobbie Lee Hall, president; Mary Sue Scales, vice-president and second secretary; Vera Bain, secretary and treasurer; Martha Nell Reed, reporter; Doris Parks, third secretary.

Mrs. Blankenship served cookies and iced tea. We all enjoyed the meeting.

BASKETBALL

The Hedley basketball teams too, three games out of four at Lelia Lake last Friday night. The boys first and second strings both won their games while the girls second string won and the first string lost a hard fought game.

The Hedley boys will get a good test when they meet the strong Samnorwood team here Friday night Oct. 20th. Samnorwood had a good team last year and we understand they have most of the team back. If Hedley handles them using boll sacks to work out with, they should go somewhere this year.

Resolution of Respect

Since God in his infinite mercy has seen best to call from our midst our sister, Lelia Watt, it is with deep sorrow that we, the members of Hedley Chapter No. 413, bow to His will in the loss of this beloved member. For many years she was a living example of the beautiful traits exemplified by the heroines of our order, and for the past several years faithfully served as Warder of her Chapter. Her zeal for the cause of right and christianity, and her love for humanity, will long be remembered by her many friends and loved ones.

Be It Resolved; That we express our sympathy to the family, and our appreciation of her as a loyal member of our order.

Be It Further Resolved; That a copy of this resolution be recorded on our minutes, a copy sent to the family, and a copy furnished our local newspaper for publication.

Harmony Club

The Harmony Club met Oct. 5, at the Hunsucker home.

Each person present played a composition by Foster. Those present were Joy Blankenship, Bobbie Lee Hall, Gail Williams, Mrs. Williams, Joan Ray Moreman, Anita Bain, Sarah Ann Rains, Carolyn Reeves, Nancy, Mary Alice and Corky Hunsucker, and Mrs. Hunsucker. War Community Chest

The Community War Chest Fund Drive is coming on quite well according to C. L. Johnson, local chairman. However, Hedley lacks a good deal yet in reaching their quota of $350.00. If you haven't been contacted be sure and leave your contribution at the bank this week as this is a very needful fund, the biggest part of the money going to our boys in camps, on the battlefields and in concentration camps.

Hedley School News

A special meeting of the School Board was held last Friday morning and it was decided to dismiss school that afternoon for 6 weeks of cotton picking holidays. The children are badly needed to help gather the cotton crop on account of the shortage of labor.

Rev. A. B. Cockrell led the song service in the revival held at the Methodist Church in Memphis last week. The guest preacher was Dr. "Fighting Bob" Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church of Los Angeles, nationally-known evangelist. Many Hedley people were among the large crowds attending these services.

Roy L. Mullins Writes

Roy L. Mullins, seaman first wrote the following letter to his mother, Mrs. J. R. Webb of Amarillo, upon learning of the death of his brother J. K. Mullins, MP, who was killed in a mine explosion in England July 26. He is the grandson of Mrs. J. N. Welch of Memphis and the great-nephew of Mrs. G. F. Frost of Hedley.

Somewhere in the Pacific

Dear Mother:

I am so terribly upset, but am glad you let me know. That is something we all have to face sometime or other. We know that he loved us and in return we loved him very much, but we will all pray that it is a mistake and we will go ahead and pray for him. I will keep my chin up and Mother, don't look at it like he is gone. He will always be with us. He has just left us and has gone to a more wonderful place, so Mother, please don't worry, but keep your chin up, and I will do the same. We hope that the war will be over soon and then I can come home to you all, so again, don't worry.

Tell Granny and all I said for them to write me when they can. Tell Pat and Gene I think of them all the time and that I love them.

So bye for now. Will write again tomorrow. Love to all.

As ever,

WEEKLY NEWS 4 SIS

Germans Counterattack to Slow Allies' Smash Into Rhineland; OWI Warns of Hard Pacific War

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

As Holland became a flaming battleground, civilians are shown fleeing from battle zone near Kerkrade to safety.

EUROPE: 'Greatest Battles'

In what the Germans said was "... the greatest battle of material in the world's history..." with 2,500,000 men facing each other on a 400-mile front, Allied forces moved slowly on the Siegfried line against stubborn enemy resistance.

All along the curving battle-line the Germans launched extensive counterattacks, throwing in large numbers of tanks to stem the Allied drive on their all important industrial belt along the Rhine.

Bearing the brunt of the enemy's aggressiveness were Lieut. Gen. Miles Dempsey's British Second Army driving northward in Holland and Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's American Third Army lunging for the coal-laden Saar basin beyond Metz and Nancy.

Gen. Dempsey

In Holland, strong German counterattacks were aimed at thwarting General Dempsey's Tommies from pressing past the northern anchor of the Siegfried line at Kleve, and of throwing an arm to the great water basin of the Zuider Zee to the northwest to cut off an estimated 200,000 Nazi still engaged in the lower extremity of the country.

In addition to employing masses of tanks against General Patton's men before the Saar, the enemy also made good use of the hilly and wooded terrain in the sector to reduce the valiant doughboys' advances to yards.

As the fighting raged to the north and south, Lieut. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First American Army launched a heavy attack between those two sectors east of Aachen, fighting its way through thick woods to draw up within 27 miles of the great industrial center of Cologne.

Having smashed through the upper reaches of the Germans' vaunted "Gothic line" in northern Italy, Allied troops fought toward the leveling plains of the great Po valley, cradling the majority of the country's population, and its most highly developed resources.

Despite desperate German attempts to stem their drive, the Allies pushed on, with Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's American Fifth Army threatening to close an escape route for stubborn enemy troops ringed between it and the British Eighth Army to the east.

As the remnants of Germany's Baltic armies pulled out of Latvia, the spotlight on the eastern front swung back to East Prussia in the south and Hungary on the south, where the Reds pushed offensives to crack these anchors of the Nazis' eastern front.

While the Germans could fall back on swampy, wooded lake country in East Prussia to slow the Russian drive, they had no such advantage in Hungary, where the Reds pressed for the broad open plains to the southeast of Budapest.

Having landed on the western coast of Yugoslavia, strong Allied forces worked inland to cut off the retreat of an estimated 200,000 Germans moving northward from the lower Balkans.

PRICE CONTROL: Must Stay—Byrnes

Until total victory is achieved in the Pacific, price and wage control must be maintained to prevent an under supply of goods and overly stuffed pocketbooks to set off a dangerous inflationary cycle, War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes declared.

Stating that figures of the bureau of labor statistics showed only an increase of 25 per cent since January, 1941, Byrnes said that farm income rose 81 per cent and the average weekly pay of workers 51 per cent during the same period.

"The stabilization program has hurt neither the farmer nor the worker," Byrnes asserted. "The white collar workers and the people with small fixed incomes have fared less well during the war, but the only way to help them is to continue to hold the line against inflation."

Seek Higher Wages

Even while Byrnes spoke, organized labor pressed for revision of the government's stabilization program, urging that the formula for limiting wage increases to 15 per cent over January, 1941, levels be junked.

In appearing before the War Labor board, CIO Chief Philip Murray argued that public members of a WLB panel had found living costs increased almost 30 per cent since January, 1941, rather than 25 per cent as claimed by the bureau of labor statistics.

Declaring that both labor and management were entitled to a quick settlement of the wage question so as to be able to solve immediate and reconversion problems. AFL leaders joined the CIO in the assault upon present wage stabilization.

Early Start

To beaming parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walls of Los Angeles, Calif., tiny six-week-old Evelyn is a constant delight. Pictures proves parents' boast little Evelyn can stand up. In addition, she can raise herself while lying on her tummy and take three steps while holding her mother's hand.

RADIO TUBES: Small Surplus

With such scarce radio tubes as the 12SA7 and 12A8 commanding as much as $10 in black markets, army release of 1,000,000 surplus tubes for civilian use will tend to only slightly ease the tight supply situation.

To be returned to manufacturers for testing and packing before distribution to customers on an "equitable basis," the 1,000,000 tubes will not even approximate the production of 1,754,000 in July, which met only a fraction of the demand.

Because of the services' extensive use of radio equipment for communications between units on the fighting fronts, trade circles saw little hope for increased civilian supplies until Germany's defeat permitted a cutback in military orders.

FOOD STOCKS: Orderly Disposal

With the War Food Administration already feeding the government's excess stocks of food to civilian outlets without disrupting the markets, U. S. officials will make every effort to maintain orderly disposal of surpluses with the war's end, WFA distribution director Lee Marshall said.

"We must maintain specified war reserves no matter how favorable the war may be going," he said, "but I, for one, don't think it necessary to build a separate stockpile of the same foods for postwar relief feeding."

In disposing of surpluses, Marshall said, salable goods would first be offered to companies which furnished the government with the products. Others in the same business would be given second choice.

WOMEN WORKERS

Tasting well the fruits of boom-time employment, with many adjusting themselves to industry since 1941, seven out of ten women war workers intend to stay at work after hostilities cease, a survey by the Northwestern National Life Insurance company revealed.

Nearly two-thirds of the married women were "four-fifths" women workers, according to the survey.

ng Partition Between the Rooms

HAVE you ever thought of removing the partition between your living and dining room but feared the ceiling would sag if supports were removed? Or, perhaps you have considered the idea and decided that after all it might not always be convenient to have the two rooms in one? Here is an answer to both of these questions. The sketch shows the partition removed to give a greater feeling of space but the main supports have been left in. A balustrade between the two rooms makes a division without spoiling the light airy effect and a draw curtain matching the living room draperies make it possible to shut the dining room off when desired.

NOTE—Here is news for homemakers. A sketch is from a new booklet by Spears called MAKE YOUR OWN CURTAINS. This 32-page book is full of new curtain and drapery ideas with step-by-step directions for cutting, making and hanging them from the simplest sash curtain to the most complicated lined, over-curtain or stiffened valance. Whatever curtain problem here is the answer. Get your book by name and enclose 15 cents. Address:

MRS. RUTH WYETH SPEARS, Bedford Hills, New York. Enclose 15 cents for book "Make your Own Curtains."

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

John L. Collier, president of the S. F. Goodrich Co., believes that it will be all out two years after the first recapture of Far East rubber-producing territories before normal operations can be restored. Meanwhile, synthetic and the constantly decreasing amount of natural rubber in the U. S. will have to take care of our requirements.

Every time an escort of 1,000 fighter planes goes into action on the battle front or on a bombing raid, some 50 tons of rubber are being carried into the air. The U. S. War Department figures show that the average fighter plane has 105 pounds of rubber somewhere in its construction.

His job will be ready...WHEN HE IS!

We remember when he first came to work for us... this smiling kid we now call G.I. Joe. He did a good job here, showing the initiative that was his American birthright. He made a place for himself with us, and we were regretfully proud when he answered the call to the colors...

Now he's back from the fighting... banged-up a little, but with the same gay smile on his lips that we used to like to see. He's looking forward to going back to the job he left when he went on leave to join our armed forces. You can bet his job with our Company will be waiting and ready when he is!

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

But the talk he's hearing now has him baffled.

You, too? ... Well, it's simply the everyday speech of the line crews who keep your home and community supplied with electricity—come what may.

A "shoo-fly," for example, is a temporary line built around a tree fall, washout or construction job.*

These men don't coin curious words just for the fun of it. They use them, as a kind of oral shorthand—to speed their work and help bring you better electric service.

Lots of folks take the linemen's work for granted. But they are an essential part of the industry which—under experienced business management—has met every war demand for electricity—without shortage or rationing—at low prewar prices.

That's an accomplishment in any man's lan-

 "Snoble goble" is anything

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"We can't argue with the Judge on that point, can we Mabel? It's not fair to penalize the many for the actions of the few."

"That, folks, is exactly what we would be doing in this country if we ever voted for prohibition again. Authorities who have made a careful study of the problem, report that only about 5% of those who drink abuse the privilege occasionally... 95% drink sensibly. Probably doesn't compare with the number of folks who overeat and do other things to excess. Prohibition certainly isn't the answer. It's not that simple. We had nearly 14 years proof of that, didn't we?"

"The real answer is education and better control. In fact, the responsible members of the distilling industry are working constantly toward that end. They don't want anybody to abuse the use of their product any more than the three of us do."

"If everybody would take that sensible attitude, Judge, and cooperate as more and more are now doing, we'd be a lot better off a lot quicker."

With Ernie Pyle at the Front:

British Flier Hero Wins Hard Fight Against Death

Rescued by Americans, He Finally Ends in Army Hospital in England

By Ernie Pyle

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While on his way back to the United States for a much needed rest, Ernie Pyle interrupted his vacation to bring readers this special story from London, England.)

LONDON.—The story about the RAF pilot who was trapped in his wrecked plane for eight days had a happy ending. He is alive, and doing nicely. And even though he has a long hospital ordeal ahead, he is happy and grateful and the sun shines for him again.

When I returned to London from France on my way to America I began tracing the pilot's whereabouts. It took almost a week to find him. Finally I located his hospital, and I traveled halfway across England to see him.

Ernie Pyle

My friend, Bill Strand of the Chicago Tribune, made the long trip with me just for company. An RAF station wagon, driven by a WAAF, met us at the station and took us to a hospital out in the country. The lieutenant had been informed we were coming. We were ushered into a small, sunny ward, and the lieutenant began smiling as we walked through the door. He held out his left hand, for the right one was still tender from bullet wounds.

Eventually he should have 90 per cent use of his leg. That means he will probably walk with a limp, but he will walk.

As his wife wrote me, in a beautiful letter: "We have our fingers crossed to get him home for Christmas. After that I guess he and Clare Margaret can teach each other to walk."

Clare Margaret is their baby, now nine months old. At the hospital the RAF pilot and I enjoyed living over again the climax to those eight days of imprisonment in his wrecked plane in France.

When we rescued him that day I had not wanted to badger him with trivial questions, so there were some things I didn't get straight, and other things I had straight which he was mixed up on.

I thought his leg had been wounded while he was still in the air. But he told me it didn't happen until about three hours after he had crashed, when there was shelling and shooting all around him. He said that whatever kind of shell it was made a terrific racket when it came through the plane and struck him.

The little hole in the side of the plane through which he had thrust his hand—we thought that had been torn when the plane crashed. But actually the pilot had made it himself during those eight days, trying to tear a hole big enough to get out.

He worked at it off and on with a little crowbar he had in the cockpit. He asked me if I thought he could ever have made the hole big enough by himself. I told him there wasn't a chance.

He said the worst thing in those eight days was the thirst. After the first couple of days he wasn't hungry at all, but the thirst was torturing. He said that for hours and days he visualized creeks full of water, and all the pubs where he had left a little beer in the bottom of glasses.

He had seen the columns I wrote about his rescue, and he was modestly pleased about them. He laughed at one thing I had said—that his eyes, as he rolled them there in his imprisonment, were like "big brown tennis balls."

Actually his eyes did seem like that. But in the hospital that effect had gone, and his eyes seemed of normal size. His face had filled out and his color was fine. He smoked and laughed, and his discontent was only because the hospital wouldn't let him out on leave immediately.

The lieutenant has strong leanings toward America. He didn't tell us on that day of the rescue, but he had his flight training in the states. He trained at Clewiston, Fla., and was in America from October of 1941 till April of '42.

He had been flying in combat for two years, and although his plane had often been hit, this was the first time he had been shot down. He remarked over and over again how lucky he was to be alive.

He was regretful that his wound would take so long to heal that the war would undoubtedly be over before he was well again. As he said, he would "like one more crack at those Jerries."

The lieutenant was smoking Lucky Strikes when we visited him, and he said, "You can see I've been in an American hospital." I took him a Zippo lighter as a gift, and he was very proud of it. As soon as he can use a pen he is going to write notes of thanks to the two American soldiers who discovered him.

During those eight days of anguished imprisonment he never gave up hope that he would get out. It was even stronger than hope, for he said he was positive all the way through that he would get out.

He is Flight Lieut. Robert Gordon Falls Lee, of Selbourne, Orchard road, Shalford, Surrey.

When we got him out of his plane that day almost a month ago we knew that in a very few days he would either be dead or over the hump toward recovery, because his burned back was gangrenous, and gangrene works fast.

Well, he was first taken to a clearing station of the American 30th division. He was very drowsy from morphine. When he began to come to, all he could hear was a lot of chatter in German, with voices answering to Hans, Herman, etc.

The drowsy lieutenant figured that he must be in German hands after all. But it turned out that he was hearing wounded German prisoners talking to each other.

The lieutenant's back responded to treatment. The gangrene was cut away, and it was seen that he would pull through. He was moved next day to another field hospital, and then three days later he was evacuated to England by air.

You may remember that when we got him out of his wrecked plane he asked the date and said his wedding anniversary was only three days away and he hoped to make it back to England for that. He was nearer right than we had thought. He arrived in England one day after the anniversary.

After that he was in an American general hospital for 16 days. As his wife says, he was treated like "my lord." He was their prize patient. And then he was removed to the RAF hospital where he is now and will be for a long time to come. His wife and baby come to see him twice a week.

His present condition is this: His back is still painful but is healing excellently. Unfortunately he has to lie on it, because of his shattered leg being in a rack.

His right hand, on which a bullet had cut the fingers to the bone, is out of the bandage now but is still very tender.

His right leg, which was not wounded at all, is giving him trouble. Because of lying for eight days in one position, with the leg bent and pressure on certain nerves, he has lost control over his foot. He can move the leg all right, but the foot just flops around. The doctors think it will eventually be all right.

His left leg is the worst problem. As you may recall, his left foot was pinned under the rudder bar all that time, and the calf of his leg had a shell hole in it. We couldn't tell just how bad the wound was when we got him out.

Well, the wound was apparently caused by a 20-millimeter shell which exploded inside his leg. It completely destroyed about an inch of both bones in the leg. There was simply a cap there, with no bone whatever.

He has already had three operations on this leg, and he will have many more. They will have to graft in new bone and then give it months to grow and strengthen. The doctors say it will be 10 months to a year before he can walk, but that put his head down on the litter and closed his eyes. The morphine finally was making him groggy, but it never did put him out. The cigaret burned up almost to his fingers. An officer said, "It's going to burn him," and started to pull it from between his fingers. But the pilot heard and
