Notice

Sugar for home canning will continue to be issued eligible applicants in the 71 counties of the Lubbock OPA District until Dec. 1, Food Rationing Officer Opal L. Wood has announced in reply to many inquiries.

"The second period for issuance of home canning sugar was designated to run through November because of late fall fruits in many parts of this district." The original plan is to be continued to provide sugar for canning fall fruits, she pointed out.

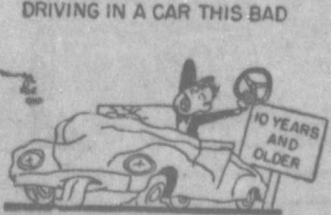

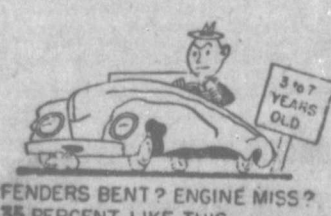

Many local boards have reported an influx of applications for home canning sugar following a recent report that October 31 was the application deadline in some districts in Texas.

Taxes

Render unto Caesar what are Caesar's" He meant, "A majority of people pay taxes, but all who do not, forego those who do pay to pay more in their taxes. We contend that failure to pay taxes is plain bad business for the State, and that those who do not pay more in their taxes should lose more in their property. They have no right to keep property repaired at self defense. Such persons are liable to Mr. Doe who won't pay taxes."

Delinquent taxes to the city council, the school board and the commissioners court. It is bad advertising for the town, county, and State. Let's be civic if not Christian. We should be both. Let's pay our taxes. Let's pay our rent so taxes won't be a loss to the landlord. Let's ask ourselves, "What kind of government would this government be if all tax payers were just like me." It is better to pay taxes than to buy bonds.

Even a homestead is not exempt from all taxation. See Tate vs. McGraw, S. W. (2d) p. 559 Civ. App. And delinquent tax on personal property can be sued upon the same as, see Art. 7263 to 7274. And the original owner of personal property cannot redeem it after it has been sold.

Public Opinion. Of course, Now! Campaign is better, according to the master General Walker said. Service can't be better, according to Mr. Crowder. The American people to mail packages so far in advance of the delivery date, it has to be. The job is a tremendous one, but we are confident that it will be done because we know the experience that given some of our American citizens cooperate magnificently.

Unprecedented shortages of man power and transportation facilities growing out of the war compel early mailing. The Postal Service has given 50,000 experienced employees to the armed forces and 300,000 railroad workers have gone to war. For serious is the fact that rail and other transport facilities are taxed to the limit with the great burden of war.

Cigarettes To Go Unrationed

The shortage of cigarettes experienced throughout the country reflects the bad distribution due to war time conditions and the fact that the armed forces are now smoking a fourth of the country's total production, but no rationing of them is contemplated, the Office of Price Administration states. The War Food Administration reports that the number of cigarettes being manufactured for civilian and soldier consumption is the greatest in the history of the tobacco industry. Only a negligible amount of tax-free cigarettes is sent abroad for consumption other than by our armed forces. Black market operations and hoarding are also being reported to be a serious problem.

BASKETBALL

The Hedley Owls met Claude on the Hedley floor on Tuesday night and were able to bring home their 5th victory of the season. The game was the first conference game of the season and meant more to Hedley winning than the other games already played.

Though the Owls were able to make the lead and keep it, the Claude squad gave them a hard fight. The first quarter ended in Hedley's favor of 10 to 6. A little misunderstanding among the players on the Owls kept them from playing as good ball as was expected. From the half on it was either team's game but Hedley was able to maintain their edge over Claude. The final score was 27 to 19 in favor of Hedley.

Hedley will play Carey on Friday at Hedley and we invite those who have not been out to come out and get some boys. We want to be going to you in February for the Champ Trophy.

Same with Carey will be the string of both schools and the B teams of both schools. The game time will be 8:00 P. M. Come out and cheer your favorite.

The starting lineup for the A team will be Arthell Gibson, Johnnie Ray Everett, Floyd Sims, Charles Neal Johnson, and Jerald Sims with Bucky Everett and T. E. Naylor substituting for the Owls.

Hedley has accepted the invitation of Claude to come to Claude Tournament on the 23rd and 24th of January.

Aren't the basketball boys slipping just a little?
I wonder if the flame really has gone out?

Some of the brilliant students in school have tried to reveal my identity but have failed. I think someone would get a big surprise. I plan to unmask myself at the school. I hope that there will be no blood shed before I am unmasked.

The Sixth War Loan Drive began Monday, Nov. 20. Although the war on the battlefronts of the world is now going in our favor, it is not over by a long shot. DEMOS GAIN: F. D. R. Strengthened

In winning a fourth term, Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the Democratic party along with him in both the senate and house, where he now appears to be assured of a working majority on both international and domestic issues.

His own positions materially weakened by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's strong stand for an effective international organization to preserve world peace, staunch GOP nationalists were among the defeated, with the result that F.D.R.'s peace program should encounter easier sledding in the senate, where details will be worked out, and in the house where funds will be appropriated.

All of the so-called nationalists did not suffer defeat, but prominent among those that did were Senators Nye in North Dakota, Danaher in Connecticut and Davis in Pennsylvania, and Representatives Fish of New York and Day and Maas of Minnesota.

Although the Democrats failed to make any gains in the senate, they stand just short of a two-thirds majority necessary for ratifying foreign treaties, a margin they may make up by an alliance with GOP internationalists.

In the house, however, Democrats made big gains in their membership to 272, and the Republicans a fair reelection strategy.

Thus, although Roosevelt's winning margin in the election of 1940, the built around his lead.

the proportion of the population in successful conditions, a comparative comfort and ease of life. As usual, the President drew his greatest strength from the nation's large industrial centers, where efficient political machines like Ed Kelly's of Chicago, Tammany's of New York and Frank Hague's of Jersey City piled up tremendous pluralities which traditional Republican rural districts could not counter-balance. As it was, Governor Dewey did not run as strong in the country areas as was anticipated.

Much credit for getting the vote out in the big industrial centers went to Sidney Hillman's CIO Political Action committee, which undertook to impress union membership with the exercise of their power through the polls.

Around President Roosevelt's election was well hailed in Allied circles.

Said the London Evening Standard: "The result of the election... leaves the tasks of winning the war and the larger tasks of advancing Anglo-American-Soviet unity to win the peace in the strong, proven hands of Roosevelt."

MISCELLANY

Film actress Ann Sheridan, losing her wages on Governor Dewey, paraded down Hollywood boulevard in ragged costume and sheath on her face.

EUROPE: Things to Come

All along the 460 mile western front, fighting was confined to local actions, but the Germans, for one, brooked no misgivings on the comparative calm.

While the British were clearing a of southwestern Holland, and U. S. forces were improving position near Aachen in the north, the Germans in the center and the Vosges in the south, the Nazis that the Allies were still in stanch springboards for a push on the Reich, and only cent of their troops.

Though action in the local, it was bitter, with tough fighting below where doughboys through the fir and pine Hurlgen forest in Indian fashion on the road to the Rhineland.

As the Doughboys pushed through the splintered Hurlgen forest, both sides made free use of air and artillery bombardment for maintenance of open positions outside the wooded tract.

It was there, in little hamlets, that some of the bitterest fighting occurred, with tiny villages changing hands in close-quarter action.

Force fighting also took place in the foothills of the Vosges mountains where mixed U. S. and British units pounded forward to the great passes leading into southwestern Germany. As Allied troops worked forward, the Nazis poured reinforcements in an effort to check the advances.

Metz after a heavy artillery bombardment, U. S. troops improved their positions along a 55 mile front, encountering mainly small arms fire from Germans caught flat-footed. In developing their attack, tanks braved icy banks to establish a network for engineering across bridges.

With one of Japan's top strategists, General Yamashita, in command of the Japanese forces, the foe determination to put up a fight in the Philippines was well demonstrated in their stand on Leyte. Elements of four Jap divisions entrenched themselves in tangled terrain on the west coast to face the incoming Yanks.

As a first-class slugging match developed on the ground, air combat also increased in tempo, with U. S. carrier-based planes attacking enemy airbases and supply depots in an effort to weaken the enemy's air force, while Jap land-based craft conducted harassing raids on U. S. positions on Leyte.

DISEASE: 'Hold Line'

Although there has been no appreciable increase in the rate of venereal disease in the U. S. since the war, an increase among servicemen in recent months foretells a letdown in the vigorous campaign that has been waged against these diseases, officials said.

The spread of these untreated people throughout the postwar penetration and possible decline of moral standards.

at an all-time low in the war, infection among the U. S. has increased 100 per cent since 1942. The rate has taken a jump in the army since January, 1944, it was reported.

RAIN MARKETS: Election Spur

With reelection of President Roosevelt presaging the farm bloc's continued control over the administration's agricultural program, prices reacted favorably on grain markets, scoring fractional gains.

Of all grains, only corn failed to respond to election happenings, with the large volume of country offerings in the middle-west tempering prices.

Revival of talk that beverage alcohol manufacturers again would be allowed a temporary holiday from war distillation for civilian production, added to election optimism, resulted in an upswing in rye.

ARMY SURPLUS

Surplus serviceable property varying from noncombatable aircraft to snowshoes, is being reported by the war department to government agencies charged with disposal of surplus goods.

Examples of types of surplus property available for civilian use, include:

French Doors

HOW to make French door curtains harmonize with the window treatment in a room is a question that always arises. Frequently, over-drapes are omitted for the doors even though they are used for windows. The same glass curtain material is then used as for the windows but a heading and rod is used both top and bottom. However, over-drapes add dignity.

Either a wooden or a metal rod extending well beyond the sides of the door frame may be hooked in place as shown here in the dia-

This permits the doors to open without interfering with draperies.

It is not necessary to repeat window valances over doors though it may be done if desired by using a valance shelf or a cornice box placed high enough for the bottom of the valance to be just above doors that open in.

NOTE—This sketch is from a new booklet by Mrs. Spears called MAKE YOUR OWN CURTAINS. This 32-page book is full of smart new curtain and drapery ideas with illustrated step-by-step directions for measuring, cutting, making and hanging all types from the simplest sash curtain to the most complicated lined over-drapery or stiffened valance. Whatever your curtain problem here is the answer. Order book by name and enclose 15 cents Address:

Household Hints

A little skim milk rubbed over leather chairs several times a year will keep the leather soft and prevent cracking.

In order not to scorch milk, rinse the pan with water for several minutes before heating the milk.

When sending a book through the mails, cut the corners from several heavy envelopes and place over the four corners of the book to protect them.

Wax your book shelves. This will permit books to slide in and out easier and cause less wear on them.

If there is a suggestion of rust on your refrigerator shelves, wash them with a mild scouring powder and hot water, dry well with a soft clean cloth, and apply a thin coating of hot melted paraffin.

To clean under the piano, place an old sock moistened with polish over a yardstick.

Never use a big unsightly knot when sewing. Even a tiny knot should be hidden on the wrong side. Most dressmakers do not use a knot at all in the ends of bastings threads because in removing bastings the knot may catch in the threads of the fabric and pull them. Three or four fastening stitches at the beginning and end of bastings will hold it securely.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Nearly 2,000 rubber tires daily were required in North Africa to replace tires which had been worn out or destroyed in action.

As a result of the diversion of the petroleum by-product to aviation gasoline, about 50 per cent of the butadiene produced for synthetic rubber processing so far in 1944 came from alcohol plants.

MORNING NEWS IS NOT of One Man's Service!

The shortage of newsprint paper has caused a curtailment of the supply of copies of the Dallas Morning News to our readers in this county. Only a small part of our regular shipments is possible until we are permitted by Government Authority to increase our consumption of newsprint.

Distribution for the present will be made from drug stores and newsstands, unless your agent can arrange otherwise.

We realize, with deep regret, that some of our old-time readers are not able to get copies of The News. We trust they will understand and bear with us while we're making every effort to restore service.

In the meantime, although many patrons will not have The News delivered to them temporarily, their names are still on the Dallas News' list and we look forward to serving them again.

Thank you.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the organs of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess and other impurities from the blood. You may suffer from headaches, dizziness, leg pains, swelling, tired, nervous, all work of kidney or bladder. Sometimes burning, scanty urination. Try Doan's Pills. They help the kidneys to ease off their burden. They have had a century of public approval, recommended by grateful users. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

Of it forgot was the spare

But now 'days it gets air

W forced closest attention to every ring detail. And this fine habit of lightfulness has grown on car owners.

Not only be testing human kindness by changing to a flat spare and setting out for the next air hose where a forgetful man actually tries it, a good Samaritan generally drives up alongside, pointing a helpful warning. America has become as thoughtful as all that toward her indispensable cars. And all the examples of car-care the greatest single one you can follow is to have your engine OIL-PLATED. That way—by changing to Conoco Nth Motor Oil for Winter—by changing to this patented OIL-PLATES—you'll give your engine's insides the nth degree of protection from acid corrosion.

All engine combustion creates corrosive acids. Had enough even when "exhaled" fairly from the engine on they won't be! Winter's cold operation mean acids. Conoco Nth oil, however pioneer research—brings the close magnet-like effect of fine inner finish, to cope with as closely as protective chrome. Internal OIL-PLATING keeps up hindrance to direct contact with engine parts... Then down go chances of corrosion, just as soon as you change popular-priced Nth oil for Winter, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company.

When Your Back Hurts

And Your Strength and Energy is Below Par
It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.
You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with swelling and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wise. That's why Dr. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are better than any other medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

Wounded Fight to Return Early to Battle Fronts

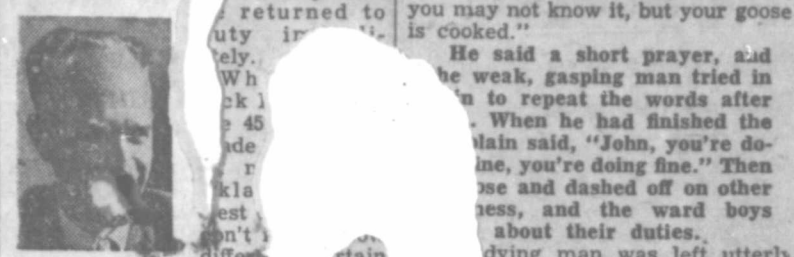

Exhausted and Wounded GIs Carry On Beyond All Human Endurance

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note: Ernie Pyle tells some of his experiences while he was with the Doughboys during the Sicily campaign. He is now taking a long-needed rest in New Mexico.)

SOMEWHERE IN SICILY.—It was flabbergasting to lie among a tangle of wounded soldiers recently and hear them cuss and beg to be sent back into the fight.

Of course not all of them do. It depends on the severity of their wounds, and on their individual personalities. But I still say that at least a third of the wounded men returned to duty in one way or another. Some of them were just lying there on the ground, lying in an aisle, because the tent was full. Of course it wouldn't be otherwise, but the awfulness of that man as he went through the last few minutes of his life was what tormented me. I felt as though he were dying over and over again while he died, but it would be out of order and I didn't know how to do it.

Ernie Pyle
He said a short prayer, and the weak, gasping man tried in vain to repeat the words after me. When he had finished the prayer, he said, "John, you're doing fine." Then he dashed off on other business, and the ward boys came about their duties. The dying man was left utterly just lying there on his litter on the ground, lying in an aisle, because the tent was full. Of course it wouldn't be otherwise, but the awfulness of that man as he went through the last few minutes of his life was what tormented me. I felt as though he were dying over and over again while he died, but it would be out of order and I didn't know how to do it.

occasional peaks of heavy casualties during military operation, I find a terrible weariness comes over every man. I become exhausted in my soul as well as physically. They acquire a weariness that is mixed up with boredom and lack of all gaiety. To lump them all together, you just get damn sick of it all.

The infantry reaches a stage of exhaustion that is incomprehensible to you folks back home. The men in the First division, for instance, were in the lines 28 days—walking and fighting all that time, day and night.

After a few days of such activity, soldiers pass the point of known human weariness. From then on they go into a sort of second-wind daze. They keep going largely because the other fellow does and because you can't really do anything else.

Have you ever in your life worked so hard and so long that you don't remember how many days it was since you ate last? I didn't recognize your friends when you saw them? I never have either, but in the First division, during this long, hard fight around Troina, a company runner came slogging up to a certain captain and said, excitedly, "I've got to find Captain Blank right away. I'm looking for you."

The captain said, "But I'm not here. Don't you recognize me?" And the runner said, "I've found Captain Blank. He's over there. He went dashing off to catch up with the other fellows."

One big blond Oklahoman I met in the back of his neck. He had a patch on his upper lip which he vented his moving it, and made a talk in a grave, straight-faced manner that was comical. I've never seen anybody so mad in my life. He went from one doctor to another, trying to get somebody to sign his card returning him to duty.

The doctors explained patiently that if he returned to the front his wounds would get infected and he would be a burden on his company. They tried to entice him by telling him there would be nurses back in the hospital. But he said, "To hell with the nurses, I want to get back to fighting!"

Dying men were brought into our tent, men whose death rattle silenced the conversation and made all the rest of us grave.

When a man was almost gone the surgeons would put a piece of gauze over his face. He could breathe through it but we couldn't see his face well.

Twice within five minutes chaplains came running. One of these occasions haunted me for hours. The man was still semi-conscious. The chaplain knelt down beside him and two ward boys squatted alongside. The chaplain said: "John, I'm going to say a prayer for you."

Correspondents Work Like Slaves

That statement may lay me open to wisecracks, but however it may seem to you, writing is an exhausting and tiring thing. Most of the correspondents work like slaves. They have been with me for more than a year, and they've mentally drained themselves. They've been through more than a year of hell, and they're still here. They've been through more than a year of hell, and they're still here.
