VO

HEDLEY, DONLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, DEC. 8, 1944

Lions Club News

Lions Leon Carter and J. C. B. Bidge will have charge of the program for next week's Lions Club meeting which promises to be a good one. All are urged to attend. Last report on the attendance contest shows the teams of Lions Moffitt and Reeves tied with 13 each having perfect attendance.

The Lions will eat at 8:05 this time.

The Lions are working on the bond rally which will be held at the American Legion Hall next Wednesday night. This rally should put Hedley and other districts over the top in the Six War Loan drive. The prizes will be good and quite an inducement to buy bonds.

C. E. Johnson at the Hedley Telephone Co. will write your fire and hail insurance.

American Legion

Tuesday night, December 12th is the next meeting of the American Legion which will be a stag affair and held at the Legion Hall. The installation of gas in the hall will be completed this week and the building can now be used for all kinds of public gatherings in winter as well as summer.

The American Legion and the War Dads Club are working on the Hall to have a place for returning war veterans to meet and a community house for any worthwhile purpose.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the many friends who were so kind and sympathetic in the death of our loved one. Your many kind deeds will never be forgotten. May God bless every one of you.

Free Show & Bond Rally Report On PTA Carnival B. M. Davis

$75.00 in bonds are to be given away at the free show and bond rally to be held at the American Legion Hall next Wednesday night December 13th. Ask your local merchants for tickets. Also many prizes are to be auctioned to the highest bond bidders.

This rally sponsored by the local Lions Club and endorsed and aided by local merchants and other organizations is to aid Hedley and surrounding communities in raising their quotas in the War Loan Drive.

Well, it's all over but we had the fun. The Queen's race, the Bingo, ball throwing, doll rack, hole in the keg, pop corn, peanuts and candy, hamburgers, hot dogs, cold drinks, cake walk, all were successful, except the hole in the keg throwing. This activity went into bankruptcy before it was well started. That was not as planned. No one was supposed to win. That's how to keep it from being a gambler's game.

In the standings the 1st, 11th, 2nd, 7th, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 5th, 6th, 10th, 7th, 2nd, 8th, 8th, 9th, 3rd, 10th, 1st, 11th; and the 9th, 12th. The freshmen say that their money was poured into the wrong till, a part of it, but they have agreed not to take the case to court. There was a minor discount on the 6th grade, perhaps, but all of them say they had too much fun to contest the matter seriously. Next year each grade will have its official counter before the money goes to the main counter.

The entire income from the Carnival ran over $60 dollars, in spite of bad weather.

Bonnie Faye Everett, Senior, was the Queen. She was accompanied by the flower girls, the trunks, the princesses and princesses, various royal ladies, the coronation march, all united to make an occasion a memorial scene of majestic beauty. Bobby Everett said he forgot about money squares as he walked down the aisle with Charlotte Parks, Freshman queen candidate. David Stotts vows that any promenade with any queen would give him no more thrill than escorting Bonnie to the throne.

News From Our Men In Service

The following poem was written by Pvt. Noble C. Dunnagan and dedicated to "Hill One-twenty-two" It was sent to Mrs. Orval Tate by Sgt. Orval Tate, a comrade of Pvt. Dunnagan, somewhere in France.

Upon a lonely hillside
The Army name "One-twenty-two"

Now fly the flags of freedom
And our own Red, White and Blue.

'Twas here the enemies deadly weapons,
Entrenched with their blood thirst,
Parted the gateways of hell upon us.

And I saw war at its worst.
My gallant comrades fought with valor,
And shed their blood for freedom's sake.

I heard their hot-blooded battle cry,
"One-twenty-two we are going to take"

I dealt no one a taste of my sword,
We medics were on the side,
To help the suffering
With all our skill and pride.

While during those many puddles of blood
I had to recall my duty
Else I'd have quickly
It seemed the skies were raining death.

Here the Angel of Mercy had never flown
To console the suffering wounded
With only breath enough to moan.
I trust my prayers were heard in heaven,
Prayers for my comrades day and night.
At last the enemy began to weaken,
And our victory was in sight.

Let's consider ourselves fortunate,
After all that we have seen,
To still be left above the sod,
And not possess a coverlet of green.
10-day there's a lonely hillside,
Once the hottest spot anyone ever knew.
But now tucked under a safe wing,
Our own Red, White and Blue,

Another of Donley County's pioneers was laid to rest Sunday afternoon, when Uncle Ben Davis was buried following his sudden death at his home here Friday at 5:30 P. M.

Mr. Davis was one of Hedley's most loved citizens, having lived here for 27 years and in the county nearly 38 years. He was one who numbered his friends by the hundreds, and always he had a pleasant word and a genial smile for those he came in contact with. His life was an example. He carried his banner of faith and truth to the end, and when evening shadows began to fall he laid his burdens down, and with a cheery smile and a wave of the hand he has wandered to the Heavenly Land.

To the family, who yearns so wildly for the old time step, think of him faring on, as dear in the love there as he was in their love here. He has gone, but in the lives and memory of his children he will continue to be an example of the Believer.

B. M. Davis was born in Jacksonville, Texas Oct. 25, 1859, and passed away Dec. 1, 1944. Funeral services were held Sunday at the Methodist Church by F. Gaede and Rev. H. T.

Survived by two sons, Ross Adamson, Raymond Everett, Hobart Moffitt, Alva Simmons and Honorary pallbearers were Bill Scales, Roscoe E. Johnson, E. H. Watt, F. Watt, R. E. Darnell, W. I. C. R. Hunsucker, Hermy Schler, M. L. S. Milt M. J. B. Pickett, E. Glass and E. Alewine.

Survived by two sons, Amarillo and E. B. of da, two daughters, Miller and Miss Jessie Hedley, one brother, A. Hedley, 24 grandchildren and 31 great grandchildren.

On Thursday night Dec. 7 will be a War Dads Rally at Hedley. At this meeting the officers for 1945 will be installed. Plans made for the year. All members and persons eligible for membership are asked to be present and bring a covered dish of some kind. There will be some wire to give us a hot shot to give us.

I am opening Bill Johnson's collection. I will give grades, Wills and ties and $2.00 for writing 16p Hedley,

PACIFIC:
Hit Jap Heart

As U. S. troops punched forward on Leyte island in the Philippines, with a driving rainstorm slapping them in the face, huge B-29 superfortresses blasted the great industrial district in Tokyo feeding enemy armies all along the far-flung Pacific front.

Flying from newly established bases in the recently conquered Marianas, 1,500 miles to the south-east, the B-29s took the first crack at Tokyo since Lieutenant General Doolittle's carrier-based medium bombers raided the Japanese capital in the spring of 1942. Successful development of the B-29 attacks would imperil the major portion of enemy industry, concentrated in the Tokyo district.

Speaking of the operation, U. S. air chief, General H. H. Arnold, declared: "The battle for Japan has been joined... (it) will be carried on relentlessly... until the day of sea invasion..."

Although enemy resistance on Leyte continued stiff, our forces continued their advances, with General Arthur Stuebel's artillery and infantry cutting deeply into the strength, which had been reinforced in the hold up the Yank... U. S. tanks, the enemy was unable to concentrate his forces on Leyte for counter-attacks. General MacArthur said, rather compelled to throw in his towel and there in an effort to the U. S. offensive.

STABILIZATION
To Hold Prices, W

With living costs already at 30 per cent above 1941 levels, OPA Administrator Bowles moved to small price increases, especially clothing and textiles. Vigorous action to advance was seen as the government's indicated of retaining the disputed "little steel" wage formula, under which pay boosts have been kept at 15 per cent of January, 1941, level. Because of the permitted 30 per cent wage raise, workers felt that workers' week-end pay had balanced price increases. But with further rises in living costs threatening that balance, the government was expected to press hard to maintain present price levels.

Although the National War Labor board's recent findings that living costs have gone up 30 per cent since January, 1941, was expected to bolster the CIO and AFL's campaign for wage increases over the 15 per cent limit of the "Little Steel" formula, the government has shown no inclination to give in to their demands.

On the other hand, it has been suggested, with the President's favor, that as long as overtime earnings are being paid, current wage rates be retained. With a trim-off to the 40-hour week, however, it has been proposed that wages be boosted to allow workers to "take home" the same average income as they now do.

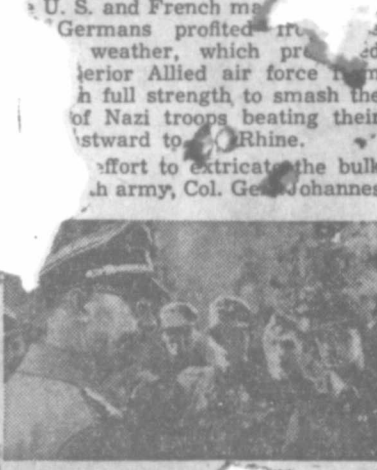

Under such a plan, workers would get about a 30 per cent raise in pay, thus assuring a continued high purchasing power with a resultant stimulation of employment.

As part of its program to maintain the present cost level, OPA was expected to take a firmer stand on manufacturers' requests for higher prices.

EUROPE
Big

First German lines to crumble during the Allies' big fall offensive along a 400-mile front in the west were on the southern end, where the Nazi 19th army, under steady U. S. and French pressure, was told to abandon equipment, break into small groups and beat it back, as best it could, to the Reich border.

Indicative of the crack in the enemy's lines was the French 1st army's break through the Belfort Gap, and its swing northward up the Rhine in a maneuver designed to trap some 70,000 Germans who had been holding the Vosges. The rapid French dash followed by the U. S. 7th army through the Saverne pass, Vosges 50 miles to the north, which had the effect of forming a pincer-cracker squeeze on enemy forces caught between the two pincers. Only enemy rear guards were U. S. and French me... Germans profited from weather, which prevented superior Allied air force from full strength to smash the Nazi troops beating their wayward to the Rhine. Effort to extricate the bulk army, Col. Gen. Johannes Heinrich Himmler inspects tactical SS troops.

Patton's 3rd Army, the coal-banded Metz, and the British 2nd Army's defenses east of Aachen. Even though the Allies' throwing masses of men and material at them all along the 400-mile front, the Germans expected still another drive, this one in northeastern Holland, where they said the British planned to drive around the anchor of the Siegfried line at Kleve down into the Ruhr valley.

Best description of the Thanksgiving report of the front: "For Lieutenant General 1st and Lieutenant son's 9th and armies, knee-deep in battles, this day at the hard and bitter yard."

German plan to slow up the big Allied drive down U. S. and British, and toward this end, the repeated counter-attacks with his new King Tiger advanced, they found Nazi forward defense positions of quality, the German plan appearing to be to save their best for a last desperate fight along the main line.

In the east, bad weather interfered with the Russians drive on Budapest, and the broad plains leading to the Austria.

MEAT:
1945 Prospects

More veal, about the same amount of beef, but 15 per cent less pork—that's the meat prospect for 1945, the War Food administration revealed.

The continued stringency in beef will continue because 31 per cent of the supply will go to the armed forces, it was said.

Increased supplies of better grade beef were in prospect for domestic consumers, with reports that midwestern farmers were aggressive buyers of stockers for fattening, what with feed stocks at high levels. Much of the beef on sale this year was of the utility type coming from grass-fed range cattle.

Meanwhile, cattle slaughter remained heavy during October, with an all-time record of 1,450,572 beef animals put on the block, along with 919,599 calves. The total of 4,223,255 hogs butchered was 1 per cent below the 5 year average.

Farm Income

U. S. farm income has continued its rise in 1944, with the department of agriculture now figuring that the total return for the year will run to over 20 1/2 billion dollars for the nation's 6,000,000 operators.

USDA's estimates were based on same 14 1/2 billion... of... dollar... Con... tion, plan... the so... furth... posit...

One 12-year-old was caught with $150 worth of sweaters, hosiery and bracelets. A 17-year-old said she had stolen $700 worth of goods in seven months for her mother's sweetheart. Sobbed one tearful culprit: "I guess it is stealing, only I didn't think of it that way. It was an adventure sort of. The other girls were doing it."

CHINA:
Japs' Progress

Even as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek shook up his government to revitalize the Chinese war effort, and Donald Nelson arrived in Chungking with a group of steel and alcohol experts to build up war production, the Japanese tightened their hold on the whole eastern coastal section of the country.

Object of the Japanese drive, which covered 750 miles in six months, was to eliminate the bases of the 14th American air force, whose planes had harried enemy ground forces, shot up communications and ranged a-sea to blast coast-shipping.

The shift in Chiang's government showed the row over giving Gen. Stilwell command of Chinese troops to stimulate their prosecution of the war after it was hinted that the Generalissimo was using much of the army for the preservation of his own political party.

Even though the Allies' throwing masses of men and material at them all along the 400-mile front, the Germans expected still another drive, this one in northeastern Holland, where they said the British planned to drive around the anchor of the Siegfried line at Kleve down into the Ruhr valley.

TON EXPORTS

With cotton exports down to an average of 1,235,000 bales for the four crop seasons from 1941 to 1944, the trade looked to the recently invoked War Food administration export subsidy program for possible increase.

Household Hints

To prevent the gloss from coming off white paint, wash with milk and very little soap.

If water is spilled on the page of a favorite book, place a blotter on each side of the page and press with a hot iron. This should remove all moisture without damage to the book.

Place a handful of starch in the water when washing tile floors. It will leave a nice shine.

If you have had trouble in making your whitewash stick to trees, fences or basement walls try using sour milk or buttermilk instead of water to mix the lime. The casein in the milk acts as a glue with the lime.

Boil the wick of a kerosene lamp in vinegar before using to keep it from smoking.

Chimney soot can be kept down by throwing dry salt on a bed of hot coals, once or twice a week. Dry fuel and good draft helps to check soot and creosote in pipes and chimneys.

Here's a curious critter

If you met this longhorn out on the plains, you'd yell for Mr. Ripley! When one horn curves up, you just naturally expect the other to turn up, too.

Same way, when war sent prices sweeping up, people expected all prices to follow suit. But at least one price didn't—the price of electricity.

In fact, like this longhorn, the price of electricity actually curved down the other way. The same government statistics which measure the increased cost-of-living also show that the average price of electricity has declined 3.2% since war began!

That's news—even more than a steer with two-way horns! . . . You can be sure that the far-sighted planning and sound business management which kept electricity dependable and cheap in wartime, will supply even better service to your electric post-war home.

When Your Back Hurts—

... and Your Energy Is Low
Energy is the key to a successful life. It is the power that drives you to do things, to overcome obstacles, to win. When your back hurts, your energy is low. You feel tired, weak, and unable to do things. You feel like you are carrying a heavy burden. This is because your back is the support of your body. If it is not working properly, your energy is low. You should see a doctor if you have back pain, headaches, dizziness, or any other symptoms. It is better to see a doctor now than to wait until it is too late. There are many things you can do to relieve your back pain. You can use heat, cold, or massage. You can also try some exercises. But the best way to relieve your back pain is to see a doctor. They can give you the best advice for your situation. Don't let your back pain stop you from living your life. See a doctor today.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The size of the country's synthetic rubber production may depend not only upon technical progress, but also upon policies adopted for disposal of government-owned plants, in the opinion of John L. Collyer, president of The B. F. Goodrich Company and a pioneer in synthetic development.

Authorities expect that about 32,500 tons of natural rubber will reach the U. S. from the Amazonian region this year. Our synthetic program is now geared to produce 836,000 long tons a year of this substitute for crude.

How War Is Conducted From Forward Command Post

Informal and Unexcited Officers and Men Carry On Under Heavy Fire

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note): Pyle retells some of his experiences while he was with the 4th during the Tunisian campaign. He is now taking a long-needed rest in New Mexico.

AT THE FRONT LINE IN TUNISIA.—We drove our jeep under a tree, camouflaged it by covering it with limbs, and then walked up the side of a hill for about 500 yards.

Half a mile to the south of us the battle for Ousseltia Pass in central Tunisia was going on.

We stopped in what is known as a forward command post, from which a battle is directed. This one consisted of a tent 20 feet square, well hidden under a tree. However, the whole tent had been dropped down and simply lay like a tarpaulin covering the officers' beds, rolls and bags.

There were no papers in the tent. The only thing that was left behind was a box of bombs.

The rocky hillside was covered with little bushes and small fir trees. The sun was out and the day was rather warm. There were no papers or desks or anything—just three or four officers standing and sitting on a hillside near two telephones on the ground. One officer had a large map case. That's all the paraphernalia there was for directing the battle.

Our troops were on top of a ridge about a quarter of a mile above us. The enemy was in the valley beyond, and on a parallel ridge a mile farther on. We could walk up and look over, but we couldn't see anything. Both sides were well hidden in the brush.

Every minute or two our nearby artillery would fire, and then half a minute or so later we could hear faintly the explosion of the shells far away.

"Nobody's doing much damage right now," an officer said, "but at least we're getting in ten shots to their one."

Now and then a louder and much nearer blast interrupted us. When I asked what size gun this was, an officer said it wasn't a gun—it was enemy mortar shells exploding. I supposed they were three or four miles away, but he said they were falling only 800 yards from us.

Once in a while we could hear machine gun fire in the distance. A young second lieutenant stood near the phones and did all the talking over them. In fact he appeared to be making all the decisions. And he impressed me as knowing his business remarkably well.

Lieutenant Gives Orders.
The highest officer around was a lieutenant colonel, but he seemed to leave everything to the lieutenant, and at every signal of approaching planes he ran to a nearby foxhole and stayed there till the planes had gone.

The phone rang every few minutes. Other command posts would be calling in to report or to ask instructions. Now and then the chief post, some 15 miles back, would call and ask how things were going.

Officers and enlisted men kept appearing from down below or over the hill asking about things. One sergeant came to inquire where a certain post was, saying he had two jeep tires and a tire for an anti-tank gun that he was supposed to deliver.

Another sergeant, wearing an overcoat, came up the hill, saluted formally, and reported that a certain battery setup was ready to fire. They told him to go ahead.

A phone rang. The captain of an ack-ack battery said the enemy had his range and asked permission to move. He was told to go ahead. All the conversation was informal and unexcited.

A phone rang again. An officer at another command post was asking for a decision on whether to move forward. The young lieutenant, apparently not wishing to give direct orders to a higher officer, solved the problem by putting his words in the form of advice, sprinkling two or three "sirs" in every sentence. I thought he handled it beautifully.

Now and then the lieutenant would phone some other post. All the posts have code terms such as "hat-rack" and "Monsoon" and "Chicago." I've just made those up as examples, since naturally I can't print the real code names.

Once the lieutenant phoned to a rear command post and told them to send some trucks to a town where two tanks had been disabled that morning. Several times he phoned other posts to check up on a colonel who was wandering around the battle area in a jeep. You could tell they were very fond of the colonel, and that he apparently paid little attention to danger.

There were no papers in the tent. The only thing that was left behind was a box of bombs.

So we came out. The planes fled for about ten minutes hunting for the correct spot in the bush-covered mountainside. They seemed to take their time at it, to make sure, and then finally they started peeling off one at a time and came diving down at a hillside a mile away.

They'd dive and then wheel back high into the sky and dive again. Apparently there was no enemy attack, for there were no black puffs around the planes. We could hear their machine guns, and their cannon shells bursting.

They kept on diving and shooting for about 15 minutes. Pretty soon an officer came running up the hill and said:

"Do you see that? Those damned Germans are mixed up and straggling hell out of the Italians!"

When we told him they were our planes he said "Oh!" and went back down the hill.

The afternoon sun went over the hill and the evening chill began to come down. We were sitting on a bushy hillside—just a small bunch of American officers forming what is called a forward command post.

Officers who had been in the battle for Ousseltia Pass all day began wandering in through the brush on foot, to report. They were dirty, and tired. But the day had gone well, and they were cheerful in a quiet and unexpressed way.

Hit Red Cross Truck.
A medical corps major came up the hill and said:

"Those blankety-blank balances knocked out two of the ambulances that were supposed to get the wounded back a lot of a red cross them!"

Nobody said anything, but the major went back down the hill mad as a hornet.

The officers kept talking and three fellow officers were killed during the day. One who was missing.

Lead men apparently special favorite. An officer who had been beside him when it happened came up with blood on his clothes.

"We hit the ground together," he said. "But when I got up, he couldn't. It took him right in the head. He felt no pain."

"Raise up that tent and pack his stuff," an officer told an enlisted man.

Another one said: "The hell of it is his wife's due to have a baby any time now."

Just then a sergeant walked up. He had left the post that morning with the officer who was now missing.

"Where's Captain So-and-so they all asked.

Sergeant Captured and Escapes

The sergeant said he didn't know. Then he said he himself had been captured.

"Captured?" the officers asked. "Yes," he said. "The Italians captured me and then turned me loose."

The sergeant was Vernon G. South Bend, Ind. He is a young man, and was a lawyer before the war. He is a young an-
