NO. 19

Lions Club News

Business at last week's directors meeting, was in regard to the City Park. Lion Hunsucker's plans of the park were accepted and he was given full authority to go ahead and carry them out. A donation of $5.00 to the Red Cross was voted and the old clothes drive was carried over so that the club could cooperate with the American Legion and other organizations who are also interested in the drive.

This week is regular Lions Club meeting and an effort is being made to get all Lions out to this meeting as much work is needed to be done. Program Chairman Rains will have a good program.

Next week is the regular fifth Thursday Ladies Night meeting which will be at the regular meeting place at 8:30 P. M. This is a special meeting and it will be 75¢ per plate to Lions, ladies and guests. Come and bring a lady as this will be one of the big meetings of the year.

Mrs. Stackpole Writes

Dear Ed:

Just a few lines to you this afternoon. Well, this leaves my husband and I in our new home, and are we proud of it.

I want you to send the Hedley Informer to 1025 Columbine St., Wenatchee, Wash.

We are having some cool days although the sun is shining. We still have snow on the ground. We can see snow on the mountain from here. We sure do have a lovely view.

I got my paper yesterday and sure was glad to get it. How is everyone in Hedley? How is your locker coming on? It sure will be nice when you get it finished. George and I have a locker full of beef, pork and chicken. We didn't get it in time to put fruit in it.

We'll Ed, I have some other letters to write. Be sure to change the paper to our new address. Tell everyone hello. I would love to see everyone of my old friends.

If you see Mother, Tony and Dad say hello for me.

As ever your friend,
Mrs. Vashti Stackpole

Mrs. C. L. Lindsey of Lubbock is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. L. Hickey.

B. W. M. U.

The W. M. U. met Monday in the home of Mrs. Mike Harris in a Royal Service program with Mrs. M. W. Mosley leader. Following is the program:

Song, America
Prayer, Mrs. J. L. Ratcliff
Devotional, Leader
Song, Revive Us Again
Peace for Tomorrow, Mrs. R. W. Alewine
Things That Make for War, Mrs. John Blankenship
Things That Make for Peace, Mrs. Charles Rains
Peace Within, Mrs. Mike Harris

Song, We Praise Thee O God
Benediction, Mrs. M. L. Sims
The meeting was then turned back to the president, Mrs. Sims. It was voted to organize a Sunbeam, with Mrs. Cecil Williams and Mrs. J. M. Rice as leaders.

Lovely refreshments were served to the ten members present.

Look For The Litterbug

Next week's issue of the Informer will have an eight page supplement, the second "Jitter edition." This edition is dedicated to the boys in service and sponsored by the Hedley Post of the American Legion, Clifford Johnson is editor, Orville Doherty and Obe Holland are reporters and D. E. Boliver, publisher. They say if there are any cows in Texas it will be full of jokes and laughs. A copy will come out with each Informer and additional copies may be obtained at the Informer office.

Locker System

Work is progressing as rapidly as possible on the Moreman Locker System. The cork was unloaded Tuesday, and equipment is being installed every day. The vault crew is expected to arrive at any time, and Hedley will soon have a complete, modern locker system ready to serve the people of this community and surrounding territory.

Egg Drive for Orphans Home

The Baptist are sponsoring an "egg drive" for the Buckner Orphans Home beginning now. Won't you please take your eggs to the home of Mrs. John Blankenship.

News From Our Men In Service

Sgt. Yates Writes Mother

The following is a portion of a letter written by Sgt. James B. Yates, who is stationed in Agra, India, to his mother, Mrs. Ida Yates:

Mom, would you like to hear about my visit into one of the Indian homes? Well, last night one of the rich Indians invited 7 of us fellows and 2 officers, one was our chaplain, into his home. We were introduced to all his family and all his other guests. Most all his guests were school teachers from the two colleges at Agra. We played Indian games for an hour or more. Then we were paired off in twos and threes and were served Indian sweets and tea. The Indian sweets were very good, also very rich. I couldn't begin to eat some of everything that was served. I wish you could have eaten some of the food, it was beautifully decorated.

I was paired off with Mr. Phillips brother. I enjoyed our conversation very much.

Mr. Phillips used to be the Commissioner of the Agra police. He is retired now. Mr. Phillips wanted to know what our first impression of India was. Well I kept my mouth shut on that subject. I changed the subject as soon as I could without being rude. Then one of the youngest daughters sang a song and in English too. Mr. Phillips and all his family speak good English and are well educated. They are also Christians.

I wish you could have seen the beautiful flowers they had. There were rugs spread on the ground with chairs all around them, facing the center. The ladies were beautifully dressed, not like our American ladies, but the dresses were beautifully draped around them.

I guess you are wondering where our host got an American name. Well, when the family became Christians they wanted to change their name into something easy to pronounce. They wanted an American name, so they chose Phillips, which simplified matters, because Indian names are very hard to pronounce, also hard for Americans to remember.

Mom, I'll always be glad I visited an Indian home. I nearly backed out. I was afraid I wouldn't know how to act, but they made me feel welcome and at ease. I enjoyed talking to them.

The Indians are very nice people. Of course these Indians were the higher class of people. They are very rich. I wouldn't think about visiting in some of the homes. If you could see them you would understand, Mom. I know we're very poor, but we have so much more than these poor Indians. You ought to see their homes, some of them aren't as nice as our chicken house. Their homes are mostly made of mud. The sides are mud and they use grass for the tops. During our monsoon season the houses melt down. I should say wash down because of so much rain. The poor class of people don't waste anything, not even small pieces of paper. They wouldn't think about throwing out a piece of dry bread.

The Christian Indian can take any kind of job. But if he is a Hindu or Mohammedan he has to stay in his cast. He can't better himself. We have one Indian in our mess hall who is a sweeper and one of the best workers on the job. We want to make a K. P. or lookout of him, but we can't because he is a Hindu and his cast won't let him change jobs. While if he were a Christian he could change jobs and nothing would be said. He is a sweeper, his children will be sweepers, also his children's children. The missionaries are trying to get rid of the cast system but I'm afraid it's impossible. They may succeed, but it will take several generations. There are several missionaries around Agra and hundreds of Indians have accepted Christ.

Desk That Matches Unit Book Shelves

IF YOU can saw straight and drive a nail you can make this useful desk. Combined with curved end units it becomes an important piece of furniture to fill a wide wall space, or it may be shown with other matching units as shown. Its sleek modern lines also make it perfect for a boy's or girl's room.

Those nicely planned compartments are as easy to make as a box slipped in place and secured from the back. The pattern also shows how to make shelves and compartments underneath for storing files and records.

NOTE—Pattern 272 gives large diagrams and illustrated step-by-step directions for this desk. A list of all materials required is included. Unit E in the upper sketch is also made with this pattern. Units A and B with Pattern 270. Unit C with Pattern 271. Patterns are 15 cents each postpaid. Address requests for patterns to:

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS: Allies Storm River Barriers To Mount Twin Drives on Reich; Thousands Homeless From Floods

Released by Western Newspaper Union. EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Flood waters spilling over the banks of the Ohio river and its tributaries again made thousands homeless and threatened war production. Aerial view shows Newton, Ohio, with a population of 2,000, isolated by the inundation.

EUROPE: Span Barriers

From the west and from the east the great battle for Germany was begun, with a sorely pressed Nazi command, which once marshalled its legions in triumph, desperately attempting to stem the Allied tide.

Most significant of the Allied moves was the U. S. crossing of the Rhine in pursuit of a disorganized enemy, who had broken off the battle to the west of the river and attempted to flee to supposed security behind its broad span, previously uncrossed since Napoleon's time.

Smashing quickly through enemy rear-guard, who tried to slow up the U. S. and British advance and give the main body of their troops a chance to escape across the Rhine, Allied spearheads not only reached the historic river in short time but also spanned it with the intention of affording the disorganized enemy no opportunity to reform his ranks for a stiff defense of the waterway.

To Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' 1st American army went the honor of being the first Allied unit to jump the Rhine below Cologne. Crossing where the river measured a quar-

PACIFIC: Stubborn Foe

Despite the loss of over 225,000 men in the Philippine and Iwo Jima campaigns, the Japs continued to offer stiff resistance to American clean-ups in these sectors.

Indicative of the tenacity of the enemy was his withdrawal to the hulks of battered ships in Manila Bay to continue the fight with small arms fire after having been driven out of Manila itself. Although they already had lost over 212,000 men on both Leyte and Luzon, an estimated 60,000 Japs fought on from natural strongpoints against Yank attempts to compress them in the mountains lying to the east of Manila.

With more than 12,000 Japs already killed on Iwo Jima, marines still were forced to inch forward on the northern part of the tiny island to flush enemy remnants from the rocky hill positions. Because the Japs could retire to underground shelters during heavy aerial or artillery bombardment, the Leathernecks were compelled to root them out in close-in fighting.

FLOODS: Thousands Homeless

Familiar but tragic scenes were reenacted again as the Ohio river and tributaries rose over their banks to flood surrounding lowlands and send thousands of homeless refugees scurrying to safety.

Operations of war industries in the rivers' paths were seriously affected as the waters rose, and residents of the great cities of Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Portsmouth and Louisville anxiously viewed the broadening crests, which threatened to spill over and flood their environs.

Of all the big cities, Portsmouth, with its 40,000 people, was most seriously endangered, with rising waters lapping at the 63-foot flood wall while state troopers and volunteers struggled to reinforce it with a sandbag levee.

With rain-swollen rivers flooding acres of low-lying farm land in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi, thousands of residents of these areas also were forced to move to the uplands.

MANPOWER: Showdown Near

With the senate still strongly opposed to compulsory labor, "work or fight" legislation headed for a showdown in conferences with the house, with sentiment strong for the grant of additional power to the War Manpower commission to continue to exert pressure toward the channeling of workers into needed industry.

At the same time, congress moved to draft unmarried nurses to provide the 20,000 needed to attend the growing battle casualties. Under legislation considered, nurses would be given the right to appeal induction, would be offered commissions even if drafted, and would be eligible for benefits under the G.I. bill of rights.

Vigorously opposed to the house's "work or fight" measure providing for army induction or fine and jail for failure of 18 to 45 year-old men to accept war essential employment, the senate pushed a substitute bill under which the WMC would set the limit on the number of employees any establishment could have, and regulate the hiring of people.

Wounded Pet Revives Stricken Master

This is the story of "Skippy," a Boston terrier that shared in the heroism attending the saving of an American freighter bombed off Leyte.

Though fired amidst by Jap explosives, with 14 members of the armed guard casualties, the vessel was saved by the crew's quick control of the flames and the merchant seamen's manning of the

CIVIL AVIATION: On Upgrade

Reflecting the nation's increasing air-consciousness, and the prospects for greatly expanded civil aviation after the war, no less than 51,000 student pilot certificates were issued during 1944 as compared with 35,000 the year previously, the Civil Aeronautics board revealed.

Interested in aviation because of some relation's service in the air forces or because increased income has permitted training, women represent 15 to 35 per cent of the new students, the CAA said. Most youths from 16 to 21 years of age intend to enter the air forces later while the majority of men over 30 plan to use their planes for business travel.

As a further indication of the future employment of the airplane in American life, CAA said, country doctors and priests have become interested in aviation as a means of serving larger areas and thus overcoming the limits of vehicular travel.

CLOTHING: More for Kiddies

In addition to cotton fabric previously allotted for low and medium-priced children's clothing, additional yardage has been allocated for the manufacture of about 6 1/2 million more kiddies' garments, the War Production board revealed.

Cutting flannel, print cloths, broadcloths, poplins, lawns and chambrays will be among the material allotted for the extra children's dresses, overalls, coveralls, toddlers' dresses, jacket type pajamas, one piece pajamas, two piece button-on pajamas, infants' gertudes, infants' kimonos, infants' gowns, creepers, rompers and crawlers.

WPB's allocation of the cotton fabric was part of its program to increase the output of cheaper clothing and thus help cut rising apparel costs, which OPAdministrator Chester Bowles called one of the most dangerous wartime inflationary threats.

These Gifts Are Different!

With the President himself not permitted to receive gifts from foreigners without congressional approval, Mrs. Roosevelt has been the recipient of a wide variety of such presents.

Already the recipient of a jewel-encrusted gold crown and a harem costume, Mrs. Roosevelt lately was given an $8,000 mink coat from the Quebec Fur Breeders association—the only one of the presents she planned to use, she told newsmen.

Speaking of the gold crown, which she received from an African potentate following the Casablanca conference, Mrs. Roosevelt declared: "It's the most terrific thing you ever saw. No body could wear it. It's too heavy."

FARM DEBT: Cut Sharply

At its peak in 1923 when it totaled over 10 1/2 billion dollars, the nation's farm debt dropped to $4 billion dollars by January, 1945, with a 20 per cent reduction taking place within the last 5 years.

As a result of the war-stimulated economy, farmers have enjoyed high income, as reflected in the big increase of both realty and plant value. Since 1940, worth of livestock was nearly doubled, machinery and equipment was up one-third, and land values rose about 25 per cent. In addition, farmers' holdings of currency, bank deposits and war bonds increased nearly 8 billion dollars during that time.

In reviewing the farm mortgage picture, the Federal Reserve bank showed that federal land banks and other agencies substantially increased their investments during the 1930s while those of individuals declined. The proportion of farm mortgages held by life insurance companies has risen slightly while commercial banks have experienced only a slight drop.

U. S. INVESTMENTS: Foreign Holdings

American investments in foreign countries totaled over 13 billion dollars in 1941 while foreign holdings in the U. S. approximated 8 1/2 billion dollars, the National Foreign Trade council reported in an exhaustive analysis based upon treasury department testimony at recent congressional hearings.

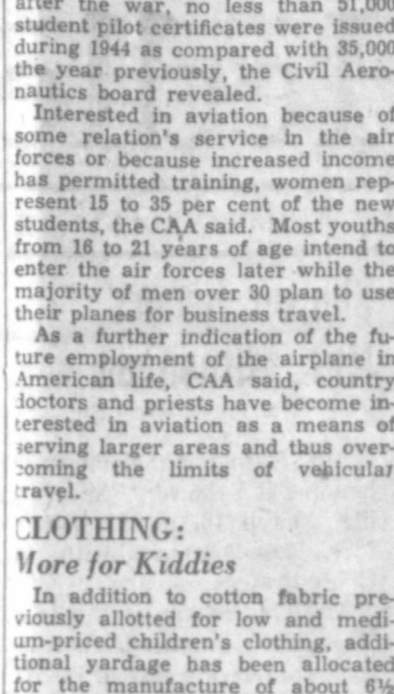

Of the American investments, almost two-thirds were divided between Europe and Canada. Of the 4 billion in Europe, 1 1/2 billion were in Germany, and over 1 billion in Britain.

Besides the 4 billion dollars in Canada and Newfoundland, U. S. investors put more than 1 1/2 billion in South America and more than 1/2 billion in Asia. Of the amount in Asia, 170 million dollars were in the Philippines, 165 million in China and Manchuria and 90 million in Japan, it was revealed.

The largest U. S. treasury checks ever written in connection with federal timber sales, forage, water power and other uses on national forest lands, are accounted for almost entirely by the unprecedented wartime demands for lumber and by the use of rangelands for food production.

CATAMOUNT TAVERN

The Second Continental Congress met at Philadelphia on May 10, 1775. That day Ethan Allen and his Green Mountain boys demanded the surrender of Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y. They were not going to let any overseas dictators tax or rule them, and neither are Americans today. That is one reason why we buy War Bonds. The preparations for that '76 against the Lake Champlain stronghold were made secretly at a night meeting at little old Catamount Tavern at Bennington, Vt. The catamount monument shown above now stands on the site. U. S. Treasury Department

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"When you think of the sacrifices our fighting men are making in this war, it's hard to figure out how we'll ever repay them, isn't it, Judge?"

"Yes, it really is, Tom. There are only certain things we can do. Such as... write them cheerful letters often. Send them favorite gifts from time to time. Work harder than ever to provide them with everything they need to finish their job quickly. Buy more and more War Bonds... especially during the current drive... to pay for the ammunition and fighting equipment they must have."

"All that still seems kind of small compared with what they're doing for us, Judge."

"True, but it's about all we older folks back home can do, Tom. Except one more thing. And that is to be sure our fighting men come home to the same kind of country they left behind. The kind of country their letters tell us they want. Nothing changed that they don't want changed while they're away and unable to express their wishes."

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

If your pasture came through the winter with a sort of run down and sagging-in-the-middle look, now is the time to give it a "shot in the arm" . . . a good dose of fertilizer.

I told you about a farmer who spent $36.00 on ammonium nitrate and who got back more than $270 in increased milk volume. Now I want to give some other examples of what fertilizing has done.

The extension departments have proved conclusively the value of using lime, phosphate and nitrogen on pastures. Their tests leave no room for argument as to why it is worthwhile.

In Minnesota, an unimproved bluegrass pasture was giving 75 to 80 pasture days. It was limed, fertilized, renovated and seeded. The first year after this treatment it gave 138 pasture days. The next year it provided 217 pasture days.

Missouri found that application of lime and phosphate to a lespedeza plot increased the amount of protein 144.6 pounds per acre. The protein in alfalfa went up 60 per cent after lime and phosphate were put into the soil.

Use of phosphate on a pasture in Mississippi virtually doubled the amount of feed value contained in the grass, compared to the amount of actual food before it was treated.

I rather imagine that somewhere in or near your own county there is a good example of how sharply the value of the land and the crop on it was increased when plant food was put back into the soil.

This year when human food goals again have been raised, use of fertilizer is one of the simplest and best ways to increase your production.

You can imagine how out of place one of those bathing beauty gals would look posing alongside a mud puddle. At that, she would not be as much out of place as a mud puddle intended for drinking water for cows.

Clean, fresh water is just as important in your cows' diet as it is in your own. Lack of plenty of fresh water can reduce your milk volume. Stagnant water has been known to make milkropy.

Cows will produce more milk if they have free access to good water at all times, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1470 from the USDA. Tests showed that cows which could drink whenever they wanted to, produced more milk than when they were given water only once or twice a day.

If you do not have a fresh stream or clear pond, a tank into which fresh water can be pumped is the best means of supply.

I believe farmers are a couple of jumps ahead of scientists. The scientist takes soybeans and makes them into plastics, synthetic rubber and other things. A farmer, without laboratory equipment, takes soybean hay and makes it into milk. He just feeds it to his cows.

Soybeans have become popular in many states as a hay crop. Feeding trials show that good quality soybean hay is nearly equal in food value to good quality alfalfa.

Soybeans will grow on land not suitable to alfalfa or clover, because of lack of lime, poor drainage or some other reason. Dairymen who cannot grow alfalfa have found soybeans an answer to their need for a hay crop rich in food value.

A soy variety which will reach the hay stage in late summer, before the fall rains start, is best for hay purposes, Purdue says. You'll find a variety recommended for your area, which your county agent can tell you about.

It would be a good idea to get copies of Bulletins 231 and 346 from the Extension Service, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., for some interesting information on soybeans.

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state; but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

A TOUGH JOB WELL DONE...
It may be something new under the sun for a newspaper to praise a utility, and it may of a surprise to them, but we feel that the United Gas company and its affiliated firm, United Gas Pipeline, and its personnel, who assisted in a emergency here Saturday, are entitled to special commendation.
It is a tradition in the theatre that "the show must go on". In the newspaper business, it becomes, "the presses must roll". In the gas business, they evidently have a similar creed, for during a period of 30 to 40 hours the men who represent the gas business in this section displayed a do-or-die spirit that seemed to say, "the public must be served".
First, we think a word of thanks is in order for those men who managed to keep gas in the lines serving us here, and the other towns. We know they did the best they could, and it is a matter of regret that they were unable to "save" all the towns on their line. Considerable ingenuity and plenty of resourcefulness was necessary to keep the lines open, and it meant staying right by the pressure gauges and valves at a number of points for hours on a stretch.
Second, we think the crew that repaired the break, in foul weather, in mud and slush, working 39 hours on a stretch, eating hamburgers and drinking coffee but staying right on the job, are entitled to a great deal of credit. The same to those who placed the all-important blocks on the line above and below the break, so that service could be resumed through other channels until the break could be mended. They worked fast and well.
We are all so used to turning on the gas and enjoying its warmth and other important uses that we never stop to think of the men who keep up the lines, protect our source of supply, read our meters, and otherwise serve us. It takes a real emergency to discover what a dependable breed of men they really are, and we are proud of the loyalty they show for their jobs and their deep sense of responsibility for those they serve.

WE PROUDLY ACKNOWLEDGE...

It is always a proud moment when somebody tells you that you have done a good job at whatever you are doing.
The men of our organization are no exception. The editorial in the February 6 issue of the New Iberia, La., Weekly Iberian is sincerely appreciated, the more so because it was spontaneous and ably presented.
The fact is, such emergencies do happen in the Natural Gas business. They are handled as promptly and efficiently as trained workmen can handle them. It is a part of the Natural Gas man's code that, as the editorial says, "The public must be served."
As to the unselfish devotion of these men to such hard work and trying conditions, there was nothing unusual about that to them... for they are pipeliners, and proud of it!

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Overloading has been responsible for much lost tire mileage on commercial and farm motor trucks. Loading of a truck or trailer so the weight is evenly distributed to all load-carrying wheels will prove an important rubber conservation measure. It pays to check loads.

If the average rubber consumption in China, Russia and India were brought up to American rubber consumption standards, they would require 4,500,000 tons of rubber a year, nearly twice as much as the anticipated world supply of natural and synthetic rubber after the war, R. When Your Back Hurts

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer aching backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling, sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning in urination when the kidneys are wrong with other signs that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won comparative approval than on something not favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

Ernie Pyle With the Navy:

B-29 Superforts Answer To a Crewman's Prayer

Big Bombers Afford Yanks Many Comforts on Journeys

By Ernie Pyle

IN THE MARIANAS ISLANDS.—The B-29 is unquestionably a wonderful airplane. Outside of the famous old Douglas DC-3 workhorse, I've never heard pilots so unanimous in their praise of an airplane.

I took my first ride in one the other day. No, I didn't go on a mission to Japan. We've been through all that before. I don't believe in people going on missions unless they have to. And as before, the pilots here all agreed with me.

But I went along on a little practice bombing trip of an hour and a half. The pilot was Maj. Gerald Robinson, who lives in our hut. His wife, incidentally, lives at 123 South Girard street, Albuquerque, N. M., on the very same street as our white house.

Ernie Pyle

I sat on a box between the pilots both on the takeoff and for the landing, and as much as I've flown, that was still a thrill. These islands are all relatively small, and you're no sooner off the ground than you're out over water, and that feels funny.

If the air is a little rough, it gives you a very odd sensation sitting way up there in the nose. For the B-29 is so big that, instead of bumping or dropping, the nose has a "willowy" motion, sort of like sitting out on the end of a green limb when it's swaying around.

The B-29 carries a crew of 11. Some of them sit up in the cockpit and the compartment just behind it. Some others sit in a compartment near the tail. The tail gunner sits all alone, way back there in the lonely tail turret.

The body of the B-29 is so taken up with gas tanks and bomb racks that there's normally no way to get from front to rear compartments. So the manufacturers solved that by building a tunnel into the plane, right along the rooftop.

Big Tunnel Links Crewmen

The tunnel is round, just big enough to crawl in on your hands and knees, and is padded with blue cloth. It's more than 30 feet long, and the crew members crawl back and forth through it all the time. Maj. Russ Cheever reported that he accomplished the impossible the other day by turning around in the tunnel.

On missions, some of the crew get back in this tunnel and sleep for an hour or so. But a lot of them can't stand to do that. I've heard combat crewmen bring up the subject a half dozen times. They say they get claustrophobia in the tunnel.

There used to be some sleeping bunks on the B-29, but they've been taken out, and now there's hardly even room to lie down on the floor.

A fellow does get sleepy on a 14-hour mission. Most of the pilots take naps in their seats. One pilot I know turned the plane over to his copilot and went back to the tunnel for "a little nap," and didn't return for six hours, just before they hit the coast of Japan. They laughingly say he goes to sleep before he gets his wheels up.

The B-29 is a very stable plane and hardly anybody ever gets sick even in rough weather. The boys smoke in the plane, and the mess hall gives them a small lunch of sandwiches and oranges and cookies to eat on the way.

On mission days all flying crewmen, even those not going on the mission, get all the fried eggs they want for breakfast. That's the only day they have eggs.

The crewmen wear their regular clothes on missions, usually coveralls. They don't have to wear heavy fleecelined clothes and all that bulky gear, because the cabin is heated. They do slip on their heavy steel "flak vests" as they approach the target.

They don't have to wear oxygen masks except when they're over the target, for the cabin is sealed and "pressurized"—stimulating a constant altitude of 8,000 feet.

Once in a great while one of the plexiglass "blisters" where the gunners sit will blow out from the strong pressure inside, and then everybody better grab his oxygen mask over the target, because a shell through the plane "depressurizes" the cabin instantly, and they'd pass out.

The boys speak frequently of the unbelievably high winds they hit at high altitudes over Japan. It's nothing unusual to have a 150-mile-an-hour wind, and my nephew, Jack Bales, said that one day his plane hit a wind of 250 miles an hour.

There are five officers and six enlisted men on the crew of a B-29. All the enlisted men of a crew stay in the same hut, because that's the way the boys want it. Thus there are usually three crews of six men each in a Quonset hut.

"My" crew is a grand bunch of boys, as I suppose most of them are. They have trouble sleeping the night before a mission, and they're tense before the takeoff. As one of them laughingly said at the plane just before takeoff one morning "How do you get rid of that empty feeling in your chest?"

But they relax and expand and practically float away with good feeling once they get back and have another one safely under their belts.

The six enlisted men of "my" crew are Sigs. Joe Corcoran of Woodhaven, L. I.; Faund Smith of Des Moines, N. M. (near Raton); Joe McQuade of Gallup, N. M.; John Devaney of Columbus, Ohio; Norbert Springman of Wilmont, Minn.; and Eugene Florio of Chicago.

Springman and Florio are radio men, and all the others are gunners. Sergeant Corcoran is the oldest of the crew. The first time I walked into their hut he called from his cot, "Hi Ernie, the last time I saw you was in the Stork club."

"But I've never been in the Stork club in my life," I said.

So we puzzled over that a while, and finally decided it must have been two other guys, or else I'm living a double life which I don't know about.

'Sarge' Continues To Ply Trade

Sergeant Corcoran was a chiropractor before the war, and still gives the boys amateur treatments. He practiced for three years at Jamaica, L. I., and had a fine business worked up. I asked him how a chiropractor ever wound up to be a side-gunner on a B-29, and he said damned if he knew.

It's unusual to find two men from thinly populated New Mexico on the same crew. Smith and McQuade never knew each other until they met on this crew, and then it turned out they had joined the army the very same day. Now they are great buddies.

McQuade was a fireman on the Santa Fe, and Smith owned a grocery store, but finally had to sell it. They'd just had letters saying it was below zero back home, and they were at least thankful to be away from that.

Both the boys have had experiences. McQuade made two trips to the Aleutians as a gunner on a ship. And Smith is serving his second tour of aerial combat overseas.

Smith was in the South Pacific in the early days, and flew 53 missions as gunner on B-17s. He has all his missions painted on the back of his leather flying-jacket—yellow bombs for the South Pacific, and red ones for Japan. He says he's only got room for 27 more missions on his jacket, and then he'll just have to quit.

I asked Sergeant Smith if he hated to come back overseas as badly as I did.

"Twice as bad," he said. "You couldn't." "Well, as bad then," he said. "But I haven't griped so much about it since we got here. It's not near as bad as I expected. In fact we're living as good here as we did in America."

Sergeant Smith's odd first name—Faund—is Syrian. He is growing a funny little rectangular goatee, black as coal. I asked him how long he was going to keep it. He said, "Probably only until the colonel happens to notice it."

Smith and Corcoran are the only two sergeants on the crew who are married. Both their wives are living temporarily in California.
