Lions Club News

There will be no directors meeting of the Lions Club this week as the Lions will meet at the Legion Hall to help sort and pack the clothes collected in the old clothes drive.

At last week's meeting, to which the Lions wore old clothes and brought their contribution to the drive, a pick-up full of clothes was collected. Lion L. P. Trimble had the biggest bunch of old clothes with J. B. Masterson a close second. Lion Trimble was awarded a very suitable prize by Program Chairman Rains. Lion Ed Boiwer won over Clifford Johnson in being the slouchiest looking Lion present. He was awarded a very useful prize. The program arranged by Lion Alva Simmons and presented by Mrs. L. P. Trimble and Lion R. E. Drennan of Clarendon was the annual program of the 13. Laws and Constitution committee. All Lions should be acquainted with the by laws and constitution by which the club is governed.

However, the big program of the year will be at next week's meeting. Something the Lions have been waiting for all the year. It will be in charge of faultwiste. Otis Owens.

Quite a few Lions have been on the losing side in all contests and in the attendance contest were on the losing side by Leon Reeves which won. They state they will be satisfied with a five course banquet if given the third Thursday in the month, but intend to add another course to the banquet each week it is postponed.

Girls' Auxiliary

The Baptist Girls Auxiliary met Monday, April 30, in the Church basement for their first meeting after organization. The nominating committee's report was accepted as a whole and the following officers were elected: Anna Sue Nicke, president; Joy Blankenship, vice-president; and Vera Bain, secretary-treasurer.

Martha Nel Reid, Joy Blankenship, Bobbie Lee Hall and Vera Bain presented an interesting program on The Southern Baptist Family Tree.

Those present were Mrs. Thea McPherson, Letha and Vera Bain Elenor and Billie Tip-on, Lola Fay Owens, Bobbie Lee Hall, Mary Sue Scales, Joy Blankenship and Anna Sue McKee.

All girls above the age of thirteen are cordially invited to attend the next meeting of G. A. on Monday, May 7, at 5 o'clock in the Baptist Church basement.

Informer Rates

Please remember that the Informer rate is $1.50 per year in Donley county, and $2.00 per year elsewhere, except that service men get the $1.50 rate.

C. E. Johnson at the Hedley Telephone Co. will write your fire and hail insurance.

Senior Class Play time is only one week away now! Remember the date: Friday May 11. It is a hilarious comedy dealing with college life. Come see our home town folks at college. Sam Owens as the corn field boy, Bucky Everett as the errat member, Johnnie Everett, Gene Latimer, Floyd Sims and David Stotts as athletes! And the girls—well they're the co-eds mostly interested in—yes, you guessed it—the social life of the college.

Plenty of music and in-between-acts skits. A good evening's entertainment. Everybody invited.

Jews Of The Rationing Board

Effective May 1, 1945 all applicants for ration commodities will be required to fill out their own applications. Prior to this time the clerks in the local board have filled out these applications for gasoline, sugar, etc. This plan has been in operation in most counties in this district for some time but this board wanted to help the people of the county in this service as long as possible. Due to the shortage of office personnel and added office routine it will be impossible for the clerks to continue this service. Each applicant can call at the office for application blanks, fill them in and mail to this office.

COMPULSORY CHURCH ATTENDANCE

The following article was taken from the McMurray War Whoop, and contains a lesson which all church members might take to heart:

I am a student in McMurray College; and I'm plenty proud of it. Well—that is—most of the time I went to church Sunday morning; I even went to Sunday school. Were you there? Some of you weren't, for there was such a small group, only a handful.

Compulsory church attendance? No! This is a democratic country—even a democratic school. But greater than that it is a church school, as you might say a religious institution.

I question you there. Is it a religious school? Could it be when not half the student body attends church on Sunday; no—not even a third?

I've heard you say, "What a silly rule. My folks sent me off to school; if I hadn't been old enough to take care of myself I would have stayed at home." Yes! Your parents sent you off to school; at a great sacrifice in most instances. Sure they trusted you. Knew you'd do right and be what they had instilled in you. Have you betrayed a trust? Have you let some one down? I hope not.

Maybe it's just a few more minutes in bed, or just a day when you don't want to dress. Maybe you don't feel like going anywhere I can tell you—you'd feel wonderful if you just got up and went—and you'd never know what it would mean to a friend.

There's a place just for you. Some times it looks terribly forsaken. A Sunday School teacher is very disappointed because no one seemed interested.

This is McMurry; the answer to your dream. You are McMurry. How would the world rate McMurry according to you?

Miss Estelle DeBusk Weds Billy C. Johnson

MRS. BILLY C. JOHNSON

At a double ring wedding ceremony read Saturday at 5:45 p. m. at the St. John's Methodist Church of Lubbock with Rev. Bill Fleeming reading the ceremony, Miss Estelle DeBusk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. DeBusk, of Idalou, Texas, became the bride of Billy Clifford Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Johnson of Hedley.

The church was decorated with baskets of white lilies and peach gladiolas with a background of palms and white candles in tall candelabra.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ice blue two piece dress with black accessories. She carried a white prayer book topped with two white gardenias and streamers. For something old she wore her grandmother's wedding band, for something borrowed she carried a handkerchief belonging to Miss Jerry Shaw and for something blue she wore a present given to her by the groom's mother.

Miss Lexiedene DeBusk, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a white dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Charles Neal Johnson, brother of the groom, was best man and Oliver Ramsey and John White of Lubbock were ushers.

Miss Doris Cornelius, former roommate of Mrs. Johnson at Texas Tech lighted the candles as Miss Betty Syler sang "Always." She was accompanied by Miss Barbara Byrd who played the professional and the D. F. D. and College Club songs were played through the ceremony.

The bride's mother wore a black dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with navy and white accessories and wore a corsage of orchids.

A reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Becknell of 2206-22nd. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over pink satin. A two tiered wedding cake on a large mirror which was bordered with daisies was topped with a bride and groom and flanked by double crystal candle holders with tall white tapers.

Mrs. Lester Rogers, aunt of the bride, assisted in serving the cake. Mrs. T. R. Easterling, aunt of the groom, assisted in serving the punch.

After a short trip the couple will be at home in Ft. Stockton, Texas where he is employed with the

The electric wiring, blowers, etc., are being installed in the Moreman Locker System. Work is going on early and late, and we hope soon to announce the formal opening.

Another thing we would like to announce soon is that the preliminary work on the highway has been completed. If we ever expect to get the highway completed, now is the time to be working on the preparatory steps.

We heard some rumors about salt on a certain piece of pie at the Lions Club meeting last Thursday night, but it seems one of the Lions likes salty pie.

Have you seen the Jap uniform and native pottery sent home by J. S. Hinds? They are on display in the window of Kendall's Shop.

Apparently Cupid is using a machine gun instead of a bow and arrow these days. Four Hedley boys from Camp Fannin were at home on furlough recently and three of them got married.

John Tims has been doing a good job of cleaning up some of the unsightly trash piles and tin cans around town.

It seems that Prince Albert is a good substitute for cigarettes, if you can get it.

We are glad to see Happy Boren and T. O. McFarland up and about again.

We hear rumors (mostly from Albert Johnson) that Clifford Johnson has hit a slump in his domino playing.

Kenneth Taylor has turned the Hedley Cafe back over to O. C. Sargent. We understand that O. C. intends to do some remodeling before opening up again.

We made at least one mistake in this issue. We promised Ralph Moreman to print two lines about him (and better!) visiting here, but we forgot and let the item take three lines instead of two.

Coyte Doherty is building up a nice little grocery stock in his cafe.

Among the publications commenting on the "Jitterbug" were the Memphis Democrat, Wichita Falls Record News, Texas Press Messenger, Panhandle Publisher, and Publishers' Auxiliary. A part of the Record News' comment was:

"The Jitterbug" supplement of The Hedley Informer appeals to us as one of the cleverest newspaper stunts in North Texas in many years. The edition, called the "second annual eruption," is sponsored by the Hedley American Legion and reverses the usual dignified traditions of the area's press. Claiming circulation of 10,000,000 (more or less), the paper is dedicated to the Hedley men and women in service.

The edition pokes fun at Hedley residents, at the neighboring cities, and Roosevelt, Santa Claus, the Japs and the world in general.

Peggy Zoe Stotts has returned from Dalhart, where she has been employed in the Loretta hospital for the past four months.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Die-Hard Nazi Defense Pockets Shape As Allies Split Reich; U. S. Plans Huge Postwar Fleet

Released by Western Newspaper Union. EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Deep in a salt mine near Merkers, Germany, G.I.s came upon this hidden cache of 100 million dollars of gold bullion packed in bags. Also discovered was German and foreign currency, and crates of art treasures.

EUROPE: Defense Pockets

Their front shattered by Allied breakthroughs, Nazi militarists envisioned the formation of numerous strong pockets of resistance for a last-ditch stand against the massed weight of U. S., British and Russian forces.

Discussed even as U. S. and British armies drove toward a link-up in the Berlin region, the object of the pockets would be to make the war so costly to the Allies as to induce a willingness to talk terms.

With U. S. and British forces spearheading across the Reich, and the Russians moving in from the east, most prominent German pockets shaped up along the North sea coasts and mountainous Bavaria.

Nazi plans for a die-hard stand shaped up as the great Russian drive surged on battered Berlin and U. S. forces moved toward a juncture with the Reds in Saxony.

With the Russians throwing over 2,000,000 men into the battle, and the Germans concentrating the bulk of their forces against the onslaught, the fight for Berlin became one of the bloodiest encounters of the whole war.

Further to the south, other Russian forces breached the Nazis' Neisse and Spree river lines to smash westward in Saxony for a juncture with the U. S. 1st and 3rd armies.

While the 1st and 3rd fought toward a juncture with the Russians, and the U. S. 9th built up strength along the Elbe for an eastward thrust to Berlin, the British and Canadian forces and the U. S. 7th army bore down on the potential German defensive pockets along the North sea and in Bavaria.

The British and Canadian task was no snap, what with the enemy concentrating large bodies of troops in small areas behind stout defenses. Included in the German holdout regions was the western portion of Holland below the Zuider Zee, and the great port areas of Emden, Wilhelmshaven, and Hamburg.

Having cleared the Nazi shrine city of Nuernberg, 7th army spearheads pointed toward Munich and the Bavarian mountain reaches, where enemy die-hards are expected to put up their stiffest last stand.

With Allied armies on the move in Germany itself, U. S. and British forces pushed forward in Italy also, threatening to spill into the Po valley.

CONGRESS: Tariff Battle

Even as the Republican's senate steering committee called upon Pres. Harry S. Truman to wish his administration well, a red hot legislative battle loomed in congress over the new chief's reciprocal trade treaty program, with GOP leaders heading the fight to defeat the measure.

First sponsored by Mr. Roosevelt, then adopted as his own by President Truman, the program calls for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade treaties, with permission to cut tariff rates 50 per cent under January, 1945, levels.

As former secretary of state and so-called "father" of the reciprocal trade program, Cordell Hull, called for passage of the act from the Bethesda, Md., naval hospital, Assistant Secretary of State William Clayton led the administration fight for adoption of the bill.

Disputing the administration's contention that passage of the measure was necessary to assist in the restoration of world prosperity and prevention of unsettled economic conditions leading to war, GOP congressmen, led by Rep. Harold Knutson (Minn.), declared that the program accomplished neither objective prior to the present conflict.

Army Strength at Peak

With a population of 13,479,142, New York led all other states in the number of men and women in the army with 906,563 as U. S. military strength totalled 8,050,011 as of December 31, the war department revealed.

To the original army strength of 513,410 in 1940, 9,444,283 have been added by induction, enlistment or appointment since then, with the normal release of 1,977,582 giving the net figure of 8,050,011, it was pointed out.

With the draft equalizing state inductions on the basis of population, Pennsylvania with 9,900,150 persons and Illinois with 7,897,241 ranked second and third in the number of men and women in the army, with 663,666 and 507,233 respectively.

PLANE OUTPUT: Big Cut

In line with the army air force's cut in aircraft production for the rest of 1945, the huge $100,000,000 Ford-operated factory at Willow Run outside Detroit, Mich., will wind up manufacture of B-24 bombers by next August.

Decision to terminate production of the B-24s was predicated upon the collapse of the German luftwaffe and the need for heavier, faster bombers like the B-29s for the Pacific war, it was said. The overall cut in output of other planes also will permit concentration on manufacture of aircraft more vitally needed against the Japs, including the new jet-propelled ships.

Capable of turning out 462 planes a month at the peak of its operations, the Willow Run factory is owned by the government's Defense Plant corporation. Henry Ford has eyed purchase of the property for production of tractors and other kinds of farm tools after the war.

WATER TREATY: Neighborly Act

In what President Truman hailed as a constructive, business-like proposal undertaken in a neighborly spirit, the U. S. senate ratified the controversial treaty dividing waters of the Colorado and Rio Grande rivers between this country and Mexico.

Under provisions of the treaty, the U. S. guarantees Mexico 1,500,000 acre feet of water annually from the Colorado river, except in times of extraordinary drought when the supply may be cut, and also agrees to divide waters in the Rio Grande below Fort Quitman, Texas, about equally. In addition, the two nations will make a study of problems arising from the flow of the Tijuana river from Mexico into southern California, including flood control and conservation.

Though California and Nevada congressmen attacked the treaty as harmful to domestic users of the Colorado river waters, other western senators acclaimed it as necessary for orderly development of both the Colorado and Rio Grande basins.

BRIEFS...

Of the nearly 130,000 persons who died of cancer in the United States last year, approximately 3,500 were between the ages of 20 and 25. It is true that cancer reaps its highest death toll in the age groups over 40, but it may afflict a person in any age group with equally tragic results—even infants have been known to die from cancer. If treated in the early stages, however, the disease is curable, authorities point out.

The Thunderer

The accepted version of the way in which the London Times got the name of the Thunderer is that Captain Sterline, one of the staff, once wrote a story of apology in reference to a mistaken assertion and used the phrase "We thundered out."

"Maybe it will look right if I stand on my head," said Alice

Alice couldn't seem to understand.

The Mock Turtle sighed deeply, drew one flipper across his eyes, and began again.

"This line is the cost of living going up—and that line is the cost of electricity coming down. Now do you see?"

"No," said Alice, doubtfully, "why don't they go together? One of them must be upside down."

Cobs suddenly choked the Mock Turtle.

Alice was eager to please. "Maybe it will look right," she said, "if I stand on my head!"

There is an Alice-in-Wonderland flavor to the simple facts about electricity.

The average price of household electricity has actually come DOWN since war began—while the cost of most other things was going UP.

There has been no shortage of electricity—the basic raw material of all war production—though most other important war materials have necessarily been scarce or rationed.

That record is the result of careful planning and hard work by America's business-managed electric companies. And it is your assurance of plenty of cheap electricity for peace-time job production—and for all the new electric conveniences you'll enjoy after the war.

Raise Some Vegetables You Can't Buy

The only way you can be sure of having certain delicious vegetables for your table is to raise them in your own garden.

Take Swiss chard, for example. These appetizing greens have been widely grown in Victory Gardens these war years. The reason you don't see them in the markets is because the delicate foliage wilts quickly after picking. To enjoy Swiss chard at its best, you should use it shortly after cutting. The same planting will furnish many a "mess of greens" over a long period if only the outside stalks are cut each time, allowing the center leaves to go on growing. (See illustration).

Savoy is a type of cabbage not at all improved by being hauled from place to place . . . the crinkly brittle leaves bruise so easily. By growing a few heads in the garden, you can have this tender, delicately flavored, nearly odorless variety at its finest. It takes no more exertion and care than raising plain cabbage. Chieftain is the variety which has become a universal favorite.

Friends who come to dinner will exclaim over edible pod peas from your garden vines. This is a type of pea which is cooked and eaten like snap beans; pod and all, when the young peas have barely begun to form. The liking for this mouth-watering dish may have originated in France or Holland. Folks of Dutch ancestry are the ones most familiar with edible pod peas in our own land. Once grown in anyone's garden, they are likely to be on the repeater list year after year.

Do you know that odd shaped vegetable, kohl rabi? Plant a row of it and give the family something out of the ordinary. Although related to cabbage, it is milder and more delicate in flavor. It looks like a turnip growing above ground. Kohl rabi matures quite rapidly and should be eaten when about two inches in diameter. Anybody can have common cucumber pickles. You can add that extra touch to your list of appetizers by raising West India gherkins. The prickly little oval fruits, picked when fairly small, make unusually good sweet pickles . . . nearly impossible to get these days for love or money.

New Shoe Stamp August 1st

A new shoe ration stamp will be validated August 1, according to the Rationing Division of the District Office of Price Administration. Airplane stamps 1, 2 and 3 in Book III, all valid now, will continue to be good indefinitely along with the new coupon. The number of the new stamp will be announced later.

Rationing officials pointed out that this announcement is being made well in advance so that consumers may budget their remaining stamps to fit their own and their families' needs now and in the future.

Legionnaires To Meet At Memphis May 5-6

Several of the Hedley Legionnaires plan to attend the Spring War Conference of the 18th District of the American Legion to be held in Memphis Saturday and Sunday, May 5th and 6th.

This meeting is being allowed to be held because it is important to the war effort and all ex-service men should attend. Saturday's activities will be in charge of the Forty and Eight and Sunday the American Legion will have their services and business.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluids, excess acids and other waste matter that clogs the system in the blood without injury to the body there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, cramping, frequent urination sometimes with pain, that something is wrong. You may get nagging headaches, backache, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.
Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's Pills regulate the functions of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today, with confidence. At all drug stores.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB
of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

No matter how good a big, thick, juicy steak may be or how hungry you are for such a treat, you still want some side dishes of vegetables, a glass or two of milk and a chunk of apple pie or a dish of ice cream.

So, too, regardless of how hungry your cows are for fresh green forage, they want some side dishes also, consisting of grain supplement. They need grain for two reasons—to keep them in top condition and to maintain milk production at high levels.

The amount of grain a cow should get while on pasture depends largely on the amount of milk produced. Each cow should be fed on a basis of its production. Grain feeding is particularly important in late summer, when pastures may go down.

A good guide on this subject is publication B-69, Extension Service, Texas A. & M. College, College Station, Tex. It says a good cow should get about three pounds of grain daily per gallon of milk produced while the cow is on good pasture, and offers some suggestions for grain mixtures.

The information in this bulletin will help you figure out how much of each kind of grain you'll need to carry your herd through the summer at highest production level.

A mix seeded to orchard grass and Ladino clover proved the best in that region. It produced 5,996 lbs. of milk per acre, with a production value of $142 per acre, after deducting cost of fertilizer, grain supplement, mowing cost, etc.

The point is simply this—maybe there is a better mixture of grasses than the one now in your permanent pasture, which will bring more milk per acre. I suggest you look into this, by a visit with your county agent. He can tell you what mixtures have proved best in your county.

The best way to handle an accident or a fire or something of the sort, is to prevent it before it happens. And the best way to control flies is not after they start pestering, but before they hatch.

Sprays may make more comfort for you and the cows at milking time, but Wisconsin points out in Extension Folder 88 that most sprays have very little to do with actual control of the number of flies around the barn.

Fly control starts in the places where flies breed. Houseflies and stable flies breed in manure and moist, rotting bedding material. The best thing to do, particularly at this time of year and on through summer, is to get manure applied to your land as soon and as often as possible.

Some new sprays may be available to farmers soon, using DDT, which will be a big help in controlling flies. Meantime, I know you'll find some interesting ideas in Folder 88, which you can get by writing the Extension Service, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.*

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state, but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

CAMPBELL HOSKINS

Notes of a Newspaperman:

Letter to Woodrow Wilson from Franklin D. Roosevelt: "My dear Mr. President: I entirely forgot on Sunday evening to speak to you of a personal matter which might come up during my absence—the question of my nomination for the Governorship of New York."

"I sincerely hope the matter will not come up. I have made my position entirely clear that my duty lies in my present work—not only my duty to you and the country, but to myself. If I were at any time to leave the Assistant Secretaryship it could only be for active service."

Regardless of what you have heard and read, FDR never wanted 3rd Term. . . . A few months before his 2nd Term was about to end, Mrs. Roosevelt invited kin of Ed Flynn to spend a night in the White House.

After a press conference in his White House office a reporter told the President of a story that had come in the mail. Did he mind its publication? . . . "It was at the Gridiron Dinner," said FDR. "You'd better clear it with some of the boys who were there."

Another of the favorite FDR stories deals with the White House visitor who remarked: "Mr. President, how in the world did you acquire such patience—with all the bores you meet in a day?"

Men who were trusted by President Roosevelt were never frisked when they were admitted to FDR's office. The Secret Servicemen knew his friends, of course. . . . One newly appointed agent, however, took no chances. . . . A newspaper man he had never seen before (and who hadn't held his White House pass high enough for the agent to see) was suddenly jerked out of the crowd swiftly marching in for the press confab.

Among one reporter's thrills was hearing him guffaw. When the gag was funny he would howl. The vaudeville comics would call it "a belly laugh."

This Republic is governed by the will of the people. That expressed will has been interrupted by the will of God, in the passing of President Roosevelt.

Ernie Pyle in the Pacific:

U. S. Builds Up Strength For Knockout in Pacific Okinawa Landing Like Putting Foot in Enemy's Kitchen Door

By Ernie Pyle

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—Ernie Pyle's columns will continue to appear in this newspaper for a few weeks. Dispatches for these releases have been cleared by the censors and some may be en route from the island where the famous war correspondent met his death.)

OKINAWA.—Our war with Japan has gone well in the last few weeks. We are firmly on Okinawa, which is like having your foot in the kitchen door.

Our wonderful carrier pilots have whittled down the Jap air force daily. Our anti-aircraft from ships and from shore batteries has plugged Jap fliers for the highest ratio I've ever known from attack.

Ernie Pyle

Our task forces have absolutely butchered the only Jap task force to put to sea in many months. B-29s are hitting Jap airfields and are springing up on Okinawa. We all say we are glad we are not in the Japs' shoes.

One main question asked over here now is, "How long will the Japs hold out?" There are all kinds of opinions, but actually nobody knows. We don't know, because no one in his right mind can pretend to understand the Oriental manner of thinking. They are unpredictable. They are inconsistent. As one officer said, "They are uncannily smart one day, and dumb as hell the next."

Their values are so different from ours. The news broadcasts from Tokyo and Shanghai are an example. These broadcasts are utterly ridiculous. During our first week on Okinawa they constantly told of savage counterattacks when there weren't any.

On D-Day plus four, they broadcast that despite their counterattacks we finally succeeded in landing 6,000 troops. The truth is that by sunset of the first evening we had an incredible number of scores of thousands of Americans on Okinawa!

The crippled Jap air force cannot do us anything but spasmodic harm from now on. And their navy needs't ever be considered. If you could see the colossal naval power we have here you could hardly believe your eyes. It's one of the most impressive things I've seen in this war.

We have plenty of troops in reserve, and new convoys of supplies have already begun to arrive just as we finished unloading the original massive supply fleet.

Converting Island Into Big Base

On Okinawa the majority of the Japs are on the southern tip, and in considerable strength. The northern area is being combed and a few scattered ones mopped up.

There is tough fighting in the south and it will remain tough to the end. I've heard some officers say the south end of Okinawa may turn into another Iwo Jima. That will mean heavy casualties on our side, but the end of Okinawa is inevitable.

And while the army's 24th corps of infantry is doing that job, the rest of the island apparently is wide open for us to develop and we are doing it with our usual speed. This island has everything we could want in such an island. There is plenty of room for more airfields, room for roads and vast supply dumps and anchorages for ships. And the civilians from whom we had expected trouble are docile and harmless.

Of course, Japan's vast land armies are still almost intact. But if it does come to the great mass land warfare of continental Europe, we now are able to build up strength for that warfare right on the scene. There is a fighting spirit among us. People are conjecturing about the possibility of the Pacific war ending sooner than we had ever allowed ourselves to think.

For years it looked endless, but now you hear people talk about being home by Christmas. Some really believe they will. Others have their fingers crossed, but they are more hopeful than ever before.

Instead of a war weariness, there seems to be a new eagerness among our forces to sweep on and on, and wind the thing up in a hurry.

The bulk of the battle of Okinawa is being fought by the army—my old friends, the doughfoots. This time the marines had it easy, and by the turn of circumstance the army is the one that has the job to do.

But my self-assignment on the Okinawa blitz was to write about the marines and that's what I continue to do. I landed with the marines, crossed the island with them, and have been living with them amidst fleas, mosquitoes, goats and a few Japs, hiding under bushes. So naturally I want to tell you about them.

Marine corps blitzes out here have all been so bitter and the marines have performed so magnificently that I had conjured up a mental picture of a marine that bore a close resemblance to a man from Mars. I was almost afraid of them myself.

Finds Marines Human, After All

I did find the marines confident, but neither cocky nor smart-alecky. I found they have fears, and qualms, and hatred for war the same as anybody else. They want to go home just as badly as any soldiers I've ever met. I found them good, human Americans.

They are proud to be marines. They wouldn't be in any other branch of the service. Yet they are not arrogant about it. And I found they have a healthy respect for the infantry.

One day we were sitting on a hillside talking about the infantry. One marine spoke of a certain army division—a division they had fought beside—and was singing its praises. "It's as good as any marine division," he said.

"What was that you said?" a listener cut in.

The marine repeated it and emphasized it a little. Another marine stood up and called out, loudly: "Did you hear what he said? This guy says there's an army division as good as any marine division. He must be crazy. Ha, ha, ha!"

And yet other boys chimed in, arguing very soberly, and sided with the one who had praised the army division.

Before I came into the field, several marine officers asked me to try to sense just what the marine spirit is, just what causes it, and keeps it alive.

In peacetime when the marine corps was a small outfit, with its campaigns highlighted, and everybody was a volunteer, you could understand why marines felt so superior.

But since the war the marine corps has grown into hundreds of thousands of men. It has been diluted, so to speak. Today it is an outfit of ordinary people—some big, some little, some even draftees. It has changed, in fact, until marines look exactly like a company of soldiers in Europe.

Yet that marine corps spirit still remains. I never did find out what perpetuates it. They're not necessarily better trained. They're no better equipped and often not as well supplied as other troops. But a marine still considers himself a better soldier than anybody else, even though nine-tenths of them don't want to be soldiers at all.

The marines are very cognizant of the terrible casualties they've taken in this Pacific war. They're even proud of that, too, in a way. Any argument among marine units is settled by which has had the greatest casualties.

Many of them even envisioned the end of the marine corps at Okinawa. If the marine divisions had been beaten up here as they were on Iwo Jima, the boys felt it would have been difficult to find enough men of marine corps caliber to reconstitute all the divisions.

They even had a sadly sardonic song about their approach to Okinawa, the theme of which was, "Good-by, Marines!"

Look Hard for Snakes on Okinawa

I've mentioned before about our fear of snakes before we got here. All the booklets and literature given us ahead of time about Okinawa dwelt at length on snakes. They told us there were three kinds of poisonous adders.

Well, I've kept a close watch and made a lot of inquiries. And the result is that in the central part of Okinawa where we've been there
