Do you know when to pick your sweet corn at its sweetest and juiciest? When your snap beans are snappiest? Your Swiss chard leaves most tender and the stems at their crispest?

Every vegetable in the Victory Garden has best stages for eating, before and after which their goodness is considerably less than one hundred per cent.

Snap beans should be picked before the seeds inside the pods have formed. If some of them get past that stage before you can use them, let the beans grow to full size and use them as green shells. Peas should be picked when the pods are plump and bright green. When pea pods are somewhat wrinkled and show streaks of white, the peas are too old for enjoyable eating.

Cut the outer leaves of Swiss chard when they are no more than ten or twelve inches long. Let the inner ones continue to grow, always cutting before they are grown to full size.

Be sure to cut sprouting broccoli while the buds are green and tightly closed. When they open and begin to show a hint of yellow, they have lost their fresh new goodness. Cauliflower, cousin to sprouting broccoli, should have heads that are firm and creamy white. Spongy looking heads are past their prime.

Too young sweet corn has neither flavor nor substance; too old, it is mealy and usually tough. It's exactly right when ears are well filled and kernels spurt milky juice at the prick of a thumb nail.

Cut kohlrabi bulbs when between one and three inches in diameter. Larger than that they are likely to be tough as shoe leather. Turnips are best at medium size, rutabagas when fully grown under cool moist conditions.

Let parsnips and salsify or vegetable oyster stay in the ground until late fall. Then the roots should be fully developed. Some of them can be dug for winter use, but plan to leave at least part of the crop in the ground over winter. Dig them in early spring for flavor unsurpassed.

Mexican Steak Adds Gay Touch to Meal

Glorify the stand-by pot- roast in a south-of-the-border way, advises the Country Cooking editor of Capper's Farmer. Juicy Mexican steak is lean round of beef braised in spicy tomato sauce.

"Surround it with oven-browned potatoes and serve with crisp relishes and fruit pie for dessert," she adds. "A bright-colored cloth on the table puts the whole meal in a gay mood."

Mexican Steak

4 lbs. round steak	1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
3/4 c. flour	1 green pepper, chopped
1/2 tsp. pepper	1 c. celery, chopped
2 tsp. salt	1 onion, sliced
3 tbsp. bacon drippings
2 1/2 c. tomatoes

Have steak cut 3 inches thick. Season flour with salt and pepper and pound it into meat. Brown steak on both sides in hot drippings. Add remaining ingredients. Cover. Bake at 300 F. for 3 hours. Serves 6.

How to Store Clothes

Best storage place for heavy clothes and furnishings in warm weather is a large closet of average temperature, declares the Home Editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

Cotton Sacks Make Smart Clothes for Family

COTTON sacks are doing double duty in these days of fabric shortages, the Home Editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer points out.

With a little ingenuity and various sizes of bags, one can make intriguing things for the home and smart pieces of clothing for the family.

"Applied cherries and red embroidered rickracks give accent to these chic mother-daughter outfits," this Capper's Farmer expert writes. "Rough-weave, bleached cotton sacks were used. When preparing the sacks for sewing, rip the stitching and remove any printing by soaking them overnight in thick soapsuds. In the morning wash them in warm, soapy water, rub printed parts between the hands. This does not remove all marks, boil for 10 minutes in soapy water. Rinse well, dry and press. If you wish, dye plain material to a preferred color.

"Pajamas for this six-year-old boy were made from two 100-pound sacks. The facings are print.

"Twin jumpers made from cotton sacks are another budget-saving costume for mothers and daughters. They can be dyed a bright blue and smartly decorated with rad felt apples. Other basic spring and summer outfits may be made from thrifty cotton sacks."

In addition to useful information on styles, wardrobe replenishment and sewing, women readers of Capper's Farmer regularly find interesting features in the magazine on cooking, child care, beauty, gardening and other topics.

Attendance was better at this week's American Legion meeting. Seven World War II veterans being present. They plan to get all ex-service men out for the July meeting at which time the new officers will be elected.

The Legion plans to send the boys baseball team as far as it can go in the American Legion Junior Baseball competition, and we should see some good boys baseball games here this summer.

Estimates are to be made on re-roofing the building and it is hoped that this can be done soon. Probably soon after the July meeting.

Work is being rushed to completion on the Moreman Locker System as rapidly as possible. The new floor has been laid, most of the painting is finished, and the individual lockers are being installed. Mr. Moreman hopes to announce the opening date very shortly.

Quite a bit of interest was shown in the free motion picture last Thursday on the preparation of foods for freezing. The show was put on in the American Legion Hall and was sponsored by the Moreman Locker System and the West Texas Utilities Co.

Mitford Dennis is leasing Roxie's Cafe, and hopes to open for business sometime next week.

The following appeared in "Deck's Didactics" in the Wellington Leader:

Stories do change when passed from mouth to ear. Monday morning there was a report that someone had phoned Parsons Drug from Hedley and said that a tornado had hit there and was heading toward Wellington. When I started tracking it down, Sandy said no they didn't phone him but that Dewey Ellis had called to tell him. Dewey said no they didn't phone him—L. O. Ruby told him. Phoned the grocery store and learned that the tornado was not at Hedley. It was at Erick, Oklahoma. Later read the Wichita Falls Record News and there was no report of a tornado at Erick.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB
of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

Maybe it looks like that guy in the picture at the top of this column today is good material for a padded cell, but he really isn't. He's pretty smart.

Instead of making hay while the sun shines, he's making grass silage in the rain. You don't have to worry about the weather if you make silage out of the various crops which the scientific folks call "casses."

Most of the things you grow for hay or pasture can be made into silage. These include alfalfa, lespedeza, the clover, Johnson grass, bluegrass, soybeans, Sudan, Orchard grass, timothy, barley, oats and wheat.

Aside from the weather angle, making grass silage has a lot of other advantages. You need not worry about leaf shatter, unbleach and similar things. You can store up some excellent food for winter use by this process.

Storage space is cut down, since a cubic foot of grass silage will weigh eight or nine times as much as a cubic foot of loose hay.

For helpful hints on making grass silage, I suggest you get either Circular 234, Extension Service, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. or Circular 299, Extension Service, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.* The Missouri bulletin will tell you how to check the moisture content—an important point in making grass silage.

If your cows are not getting all the water they need, you are not getting as fat a milk check each month as you might have. How to provide water on farms where water is a problem, is the subject of an interesting article in the May-June Kraftman. If you do not receive the Kraftman regularly, write: Uncle Bob, 509 Peshtigo Court, Chicago 90, Ill., and I'll mail a copy.

None of the farmers I've visited in recent weeks has had much time to spend entering a foot race. But right now you may be entering on a race with bacteria, if you are not cooling your milk promptly and rapidly.

The bacteria, instead of the boys and girls in the armed forces, will get the milk and you'll have less cash to buy War Bonds if you don't get that temperature smart.

Bacteria multiply fast in warm milk, and milk with a high bacteria count just can't be used to make cheese or any other good dairy product. And as I've said many times before, the best way to cool milk is with water tank of some kind.

Cold air does not do the job well enough or fast enough. If you do not have a cooling tank into which your cans of milk can be set, then I suggest a barrel cooler. They have proved their worth on many farms and are very simple to construct.

Ask your county agent or your plant fieldman how to build one. If by any chance they cannot give you help, write Uncle Bob and I'll tell you.

A fellow who works hard all day long, day after day, sort of enjoys a bit of night life now and then. I wouldn't recommend setting up any night clubs for cows, but being penned up in a barnyard at night with a good pasture not far away, isn't the kind of treatment a cow likes.

During hot weather, cows will do a better job of grazing in the nighttime, in many cases. And of course since pasture is the best and least expensive way to get milk produced, it seems a better idea than ever to let your cows out to pasture after the nightly milking.

It takes forage of one kind or another to produce the maximum amount of milk per cow and meet the 120 billion pound milk goal which is needed this year. If you've been holding your cows in the barn lot, turn them into the pasture at night and watch your milk volume gain.

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state, but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

OPENING FRUIT JARS EASY WHEN YOU KNOW HOW

So you can't get 'em open? Well maybe you thought that circular with the jars was advertising matter and threw it away without reading. Don't worry, we will tell you about opening jars and sealing them too, because chances are that part of the trouble with opening is due to failure to follow instructions for sealing. Surely you know about sterilizing everything, leaving plenty of head space, and having the rubbers wet. So we will skip that part.

There are two types of home canning jars, and all have a trade name lettered in the side. The ones with screw-thread necks are Masons. Those with glass lids held in place with wire balls are lightning type or Ideals.

Mason jars are used with one-piece zinc caps and rubber rings, or with two-piece metal vacuum seals, or with glass top seal caps. The glass top seal is sometimes called a three-piece cap because it is made up of glass lid, rubber ring and metal band.

When sealing a Mason jar with zinc cap, place a rubber flat on the sealing surface (you may call it shoulder or ledge), screw the zinc cap down tight, then turn it back about half an inch. This is done to prevent steam forcing the rubber out of place or causing the cap to bulge. The cap is screwed tight as soon as the jar is taken out of the canner.

Use Pliers to Open Jar

The easiest way to get the jar open is to use pliers to pull the rubber out. Small dime store pliers are best for this because friend husband won't be tempted to borrow them when he has to fix the fence. If you have no pliers, the next best way is to run the sharp point of a knife under (not over) the rubber, wiggle the knife sidewise (not up and down), then unscrew the cap. If you can't manage this, turn the jar upside down in hot water for five minutes before unscrewing.

When sealing Mason jars with Glass Top Seal Caps, put the rubber flat around the rim on the under side (top side has the name on it) of the lid, then place the lid so the rubber lies flat between the top of the jar and the lid. Screw the metal band tight and then loosen by turning it back one-fourth turn. This band must be loose while the jars are in the canner. (Failure to keep this in mind has caused a lot of painful burns.) They are tightened after processing. The metal bands should be taken off the jars the next day after the canning is done. Yes, if the manufacturer's instructions are followed, the jars will stay sealed without the bands. When ready to open, run the sharp point of a knife between the top of the jar and the rubber. Move knife sidewise as moving it up and down is likely to damage both jar and lid.

Opening Vacuum Seals

When using Mason jars with vacuum seals, place the lid white side down so that the sealing compound rests on top of the jar. Screw the metal band tight as it will go with ordinary hand pressure and leave it that way until the next day. Then take it off and leave it off. No, you don't tighten the band again after processing. Metal lids, especially those which are slightly rounded or domed, are flexible. The compound is softer than a jar rubber. The flexible lid and soft compound permit steam and air to creep out during processing. That's why the bands are tightened before processing and need not be tightened again.

When ready to open the jar, flip the lid off with a bottle opener, or punch a hole in it and pry it off. The hole is all right because vacuum seal lids should never be used a second time.

When using a lightning type or Ideal jar, put the rubber flat on the sealing surface. Keep the lip out of the way of the wires. Place the lid so that it rests on the rubber. Then pull or push the long wire up until it fits in the groove on top of the lid. Leave the short wire up while the jar is in the canner. Push it down against the side of the jar just as soon as you take the jar out of the canner.

When ready to open, push the lower ball up and the upper ball down, then pull the rubber out with pliers or rub the sharp point of a knife under the rubber, but remember moving the knife up and down may chip the jar or lid.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging headaches, persistent headaches, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, starchy or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wise in such cases. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

STICK ON THE JOB!

...the War is yet to be WON!

Hitler and his gang are crushed! Europe is free of the Nazi!

All honor to our victorious troops and gallant Allies for beating the vicious Nazi into surrender... and so freeing conquered millions... keeping high the standards of liberty, freedom and justice.

But in the Pacific, in China, Burma and the islands of Japan we are still faced by a powerful enemy—the treacherous enemy that struck us without warning at Pearl Harbor—killed our captured airmen—committed the Hong-kong horror.

Yes, there is still a war to be won!

In the midst of rejoicing over our German conquest—and let it be heartfelt—Americans must not forget that our boys will still be fighting that the terror in the Pacific may be ended—forever.

Yes, there is still a war to be won!

Very early in the steel industry in this country, mills arose at Joliet, Ill., which produced rods, rails and wire, important to the agricultural West. Everybody has an answer to this question but our best advice is not to base your bond buying on whether you think it will take weeks or years to win in the Pacific. The best war conduct is always to be on an all-out war effort basis.
General Douglas C. MacArthur gave you the tipoff on what to expect before your relatives and friends take over a wrecked Tokyo. In the Philippine campaign only 185 Japanese surrendered in a slaughter which cost them 308,194 men.
