Baseball News

The Lions had one bad inning and Washburn took last Sunday's game by the score of 13 to 6. Red To... had the honor of putting the first ball over the new fence with a homer in the first inning. The boys plan to have the score board finished, the fence painted and some more fence erected before the next home game. Anyone wanting adds on the fence see Carl Reid or Clifford Johnson.

The boys will play Vega at Vega next Sunday and Wellington next Tuesday night. Then they will open a three weeks home stand playing Pantex, St. Francis and Amarillo in the order named.

Swing of SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Cotton prices fell at the first of the week but gained later on to just about reach the level of a week ago. Dallas and Houston quoted spot middling 15 16 inch Friday at 36.90 cents a pound, with Galveston at 37.65, and New Orleans 37.95.

Mixed strength and weakness visited southwest cattle markets this week, with prices varying by class and grade from around a dollar higher to a dollar lower at the different terminals. Common and medium slaughter steers and yearlings brought $21 to $25 at Houston, and medium and good grades drew $25 to $31 at Fort Worth. San Antonio moved medium grade at $28.50. Kansas graded high and choice steers 3 to $34, and Denver took medium choice at $27.15 to $33.

Morris Approves Ellis Plan

After making a complete inspection of the Texas State Penitentiary at Huntsville, Carl B. Morris, political aspirant from this district to the Texas Legislature, is convinced of the soundness, practicability, and necessity of O. B. Ellis', manager of the Texas Prison System, improvement program.

The inspection party Saturday was composed of seven legislative hopefuls including Rex Sullivan of Quannah and Morris of Clarendon who is a second year law student at the University of Texas. Following the tour of the prison buildings in the morning, the group met with Ellis and French Robertson of Abilene, one of the directors of the Texas Prison Board.

Morris said he was shocked at the need for new buildings at the Huntsville prison. "One building still in constant use was erected in 1849 and another one being used was built at the turn of the century for a temporary structure."

Besides seeing the prisoners' cells, the group also visited the food lines, ships, psychiatric wards, hospitals and death row. Morris said the food looked appetizing and there was a choice of five vegetables. Worst conditions noticeable on such a short visit, Morris thought were the tanks in which prisoners are barricaded.

Ellis' plan of segregating the worst 10 per cent of the criminals is favored by Morris, although he admits the whole problem will not be solved by that alone.

None of the prison farms were visited, but Morris plans to make a visit to one of them soon. He is also interested in meeting with groups throughout the district and discussing with them the problems and solutions to a better prison system.

New Pastor Here

REV. FRANK STORY

A reception was held Wednesday night in the Methodist Church basement to bid farewell to Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Coston and to welcome the new pastor, Rev. Frank Story, and family. A social gathering and delicious refreshments were much enjoyed by everyone present.

The Costons left Thursday morning for Spade, ten miles east of Littlefield, where Rev. Coston will take up his new work.

Rev. and Mrs. Story and two sons arrived Wednesday and are settled in the parsonage. His last pastorate was at McAdoo, but he is well known to a number of Hedleyans, having been pastor of the Lakeview church three years. He is a nephew of Rev. J. W. Story, who was presiding elder of this district a number of years ago.

While regretting to lose the Costons, we are glad to welcome the new pastor and his family to this community.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Palestine Jews Proclaim New State Of Israel, Attacked by Arab Armies; U.S. Victim of Russian Propaganda

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Impulse to Zion

Arnold Toynbee, British historian, terms the Jews as a fossilized remnant of an extinct civilization.

He meant that because of their single-minded, faultless devotion to the religion of Moses and their strict adherence to ancestral customs, the Jews, descending through history as a compact group, have retained most of the original characteristics which marked them when first they emerged as part of the Syrian civilization thousands of years before Christ.

They are recognized today as being in but not of the societies in which they appear on every portion of the globe. They almost invariably form a minority group, and as such they have been targets for endless persecution.

Socially, world Jewry has been of two minds concerning the most desirable end it could achieve for itself. Those two conflicting trains of thought are represented by the "zionists" and the "dispersionists."

The dispersionists have advocated that Jews should mingle freely with whatever people they have chosen to live among and gradually be assimilated by that people. Zionists, of course, favor establishment of a national homeland — an indestructible ideal ever since Moses led the exodus to Canaan.

Since the war, with Nazi attempts to obliterate German Jews completely and subsequent displacement of millions of European Jews, zionism has been given a tremendous impetus.

That impulse to Zion has been distilled into what the world has come to know as the "Palestine problem." More recently it crystallized even further in the actual establishment of a Jewish state — called Israel — in Palestine, ancient homeland of the pre-Christian era Jews.

ISRAEL: In Palestine

Events moved with the swiftness of time itself in the Holy Land.

Ritualizing the expiration of Great Britain's 30-year mandate rule over Palestine, Sir Alan Cunningham, British high commissioner, hauled down his personal flag in Jerusalem and flew to Haifa where he boarded a cruiser.

That was that. Britannia no longer ruled the Palestinians. Then the Jews, who had been denied a legally partitioned state, proclaimed the existence of a new, independent republic in Palestine which was to be called Israel.

Before Israel was 20 minutes old it had received formal diplomatic recognition from the United States, first nation to extend such recognition.

And while Israel was yet only hours old it was already at war. The newborn state was invaded from the north by regular army forces of Lebanon and Syria and from the south by Egyptian troops. It was shelled from the east by Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion and bombed and machine-gunned from the air by Arab planes.

Haganah, the principal Jewish fighting force, rushed troops, seasoned by months of guerilla warfare to all fronts and the fighting settled down to the pattern with which every adult in the world has become familiar.

During the initial furor, Israel's provisional council of state managed to find time to elect Dr. Chaim Weizmann, a scientist and elder statesman of zionism, first president of the nation.

Most momentous news connected with establishment of Israel was the agonizingly prompt U. S. diplomatic recognition of the state.

CRISIS: Supersonic

There is a "crisis" developing in military aviation, says Cmdr. Lynn S. Beale, Jr., navy doctor, because it is not yet known how to keep human beings healthy when they fly faster than sound.

Main trouble is from vertical vibration — the up-and-down motion that comes as a plane reaches the speed of sound. This vibration is that it equals five to six pull of

WINDFALL: Propaganda

In Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's formal and completely routine statement to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, the Russians thought they had a propaganda bonanza.

It was cleverly done. Smith's otherwise tough statement, which simply repeated the basic U. S. foreign policy with regard to Russia, contained one sentence that Moscow took as a loophole: "As far as the United States is concerned, the door is always wide open for full discussion and the composing of our differences."

Molotov seized upon that sentence and the announcement was broadcast to the world that Russia accepted the American "offer" to negotiate.

It looked like a propaganda victory of major proportions for the Soviets. Briefly, it put them in the position of being able to point with pride to their manifest willingness to settle the bitter differences which have kept the world unnerfed for so long.

If the U. S. refused to talk, that would be fine with the Russians who would capitalize on that fact with a vengeance. If a peace conference did develop as a result of the original trick, the old and familiar Soviet obstructionist tactics would be brought into play to do the usual job of sabotage.

That was about the way it stacked up to the high officials in Washington. Both President Truman and Secretary of State George Marshall made it clear that there would be no conference, that there was no logical basis for one and that such a conference could not possibly succeed at this time because neither the U. S. nor Russia had altered or modified its position in any way.

In addition to the propaganda value of the Russian move, it might also have been calculated to throw some sand into the gears of the incipient U. S. defense program.

If the Soviets, suddenly assuming a peaceful mien, were able to hypnotize the American people into feeling falsely secure, congress in an election year might be coerced into wasting a lot of time in preparing such items of the defense program as the 70-group air force bill and the draft bill. That wasted time could, in the light of possible future events, turn out to be incalculably precious.

Sequel

Second episode of the affair of the Russian piece overture was a Stalin-to-Wallace pass that went over the head of the U. S. government.

The Russian premier took advantage of an "open letter" which Henry Wallace had addressed to him demanding an open showdown between the two nations. Wallace's proposals, as summarized by Stalin, included:

1. General reduction of armaments and prohibition of atomic weapons.
2. Conclusion of peace treaties with Germany and Japan.
3. Evacuation of troops from China and Korea.
4. Respect for the sovereignty of individual countries and non-interference in their domestic affairs.
5. World development of international trade.

"I don't know whether the United States government approves Mr. Wallace's program . . ." Stalin said, making it stacky clear that he was talking, not to the government, but to the American people.

He applauded the Wallace letter as "the most important document of recent times," and declared, "As far as the government of the USSR is concerned, it considers that Mr. Wallace's program could serve as a good and fruitful basis for an agreement."

Apparently a Russian attempt to bring about a showdown in the East-West struggle before an audience of world public opinion, Stalin's bombshell statement renewed the question of whether the new Soviet tactics are merely propaganda or a genuine effort for peace.

Either way the U. S. was in a difficult position. If the Russian appeal is taken at face value it cuts the ground from under the tough American cold war strategy. If it is propaganda it undoubtedly will serve to put the U. S. in a bad light.

Well, Not Exactly

A. C. Hudson of Portsmouth, N. H., head of a committee of fire protection experts who examined the White House recently, said he wouldn't exactly call the President's home a firetrap, but still and all there are plenty of hazards existing at the Pennsylvania avenue edifice.

There is nothing wrong with the White House that a lot of fire-proofing won't fix, he said, but it needs a lot of money.

Instead of sewing shoulder pads on dresses, attach them with small snaps. Sew top half of snap to shoulder seams, lower half on pads. Snap out at laundry or cleaning time; one pair will do for several dresses and blouses, too.

Custom Work on Farms

Two reasons account, in large measure, for the heavy demand for custom work with farm machinery during the past few years. In the first place, the amount of machinery available on most farms simply is not sufficient to meet the demand resulting from the shortages of labor and increased purchasing power in the hands of farmers. Secondly, numerous farms are now and always have been too small to make effective and economical utilization of many types of farm equipment. The only way the operator of a small farm can have economical access to certain types of machinery is either to hire a custom operator to do the work for him, or, if he elects to own the machines himself, to do sufficient custom work for others to provide for economical utilization of his machinery.

Battle of Coral Sea Termed First Big Defeat for Japan

In the battle of that island-studded ocean known as the Coral sea, which is near the Solomon Islands and about 1,000 miles northeast of Australia, America's first real victory of the war with Japan was scored. The action occurred on May 4, 1942, and called for deeds of valor as thrilling as any in all American history.

The Coral sea battle was the first great naval defeat ever dealt the imperial Japanese fleets. And yet this battle was fought entirely in the air, by the planes of opposing aircraft carriers.

The ships engaged in this battle never got sight of each other. They slugged it out without firing a single gun at another ship—the first engagement of its kind in history. In this first great victory for the U. S. in this global war the Japs lost more than 15 ships sunk and at least 20 others severely damaged. The action perhaps saved Australia from invasion.

However, America paid a high price for her victory in the sultry Coral sea. In this engagement the aircraft carrier, Lexington, famed ship that laid the foundation of our modern navy's aircraft carrier operations, went to the bottom. This happened on May 7.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, stinging or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging back-ache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.
Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and helps them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Serve Your Own Home-Canned Tomato Juice

For a party drink, cocktail, or any-hour health drink, tomato juice is always appetizing and satisfying. It rates high in Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) which we must have to maintain good health. When making tomato juice it is important to cook the tomatoes always below the boiling point in order to preserve vitamin content as well as flavor and the luscious red color which gives this juice added appeal. Cooking below the boiling point is a rule to follow in the making of all fruit juices, according to the Ball Blue Book, famous home canning guide.

In giving instructions for making tomato juice, the Ball Blue Book points out that the juice may be put up unsalted if it is to be used in infant feeding. Otherwise, salt may be added to season. You can season your tomato juice according to the way your family likes it, including celery salt, Worcestershire sauce, pepper, minced onion, lemon juice, one or all as you desire, either when putting up the juice or opening it, to make a "fancy" tomato juice cocktail.

Use firm, red-ripe, freshly picked tomatoes, discarding any which are bruised or specked with decay or fungus. Wash carefully. Leave whole and bake in an oven; or steam; or cut into small pieces and cook until soft. A higher percentage of vitamins is retained, some authorities maintain, when the tomatoes are baked or steamed.

Press the hot tomatoes through a fine, preferably cone-shaped, sieve. Reheat to simmering (195-205 degrees F.). Pour into hot Ball Jars. Process 20 minutes in hot-water bath at simmering.

ANNOUNCES PLATFORM FOR

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

I wish for the people to know that I stand for election on these points:

1. Rural Roads—primarily School Bus Roads.
2. Prison System Reform—Under the O. B. Ellis Plan.
3. Teachers Pay—with emphasis on lower bracket.
4. Soil Conservation—a vital problem that must be solved now.

I will appreciate an opportunity to discuss these and other problems with any persons or group.

Donley County is the smallest county in the district in number of votes. There has never been a representative from Donley County, so I appeal to all fair minded citizens of this district to elect me as your representative and pass the favor to Donley County this term.

I, my wife and Nancy will be circulating throughout the district during the next few weeks and hope to have the opportunity of meeting each of you personally.

Three Mighty Important Ideas

Maybe you read, where a great encyclopedia has sorted all basic ideas into a few select groups. Under the letter "T" they have:

Temperance - Truth - Tyranny.

Sounds like a funny combination. And to philosophize a little, notice that Truth is in the center—between Tyranny and Temperance.

Now and then you hear folks criticize temperate people who enjoy a moderate glass of beer... who talk about "two beers" getting some one into trouble, and claim: "There ought to be a law!"

Then Truth steps in between, and points out that two beers never got anybody into trouble—and that somebody's trying to distort the facts. No, there shouldn't be a law—there should be Truth.

From where I sit, those ideas are arranged just right. Temperance on one side, Tyranny on the other—and Truth in the middle—seeing that Tyranny never encroaches upon Temperance.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

QUESTION: My hot-water tank is not a year old and I have rusty water coming out of my hot-water faucets. Can you give me any suggestions on the subject?

ANSWER: One reason may be that you're heating the water too much. A temperature of 130 to 140 degrees is hot enough for domestic hot water. When water is heated more than that, sediment is stirred up that is carried along in the water supply. You could prevent overheating by installing an automatic control. Also, your water supply may contain a great deal of sediment, which could be controlled by a water filter.

QUESTION: We are planning to put up a frame cottage of five rooms next summer. Regarding cement blocks for foundation, people have cautioned me against buying blocks that are made during the winter. Is there any reason for this?

ANSWER: It is true that cement work should not be allowed to freeze during the process of manufacture or construction. Reputable cement block manufacturers do not allow this to happen, however, even during the winter.

FARM PLAN: Truman's

To shore up his sinking political prestige in his campaign for re-nomination, President Truman proposed to congress a four-point farm program which he claimed is "essential" to a productive, prosperous agriculture in the U. S.

Burden of his message were these recommendations:

1. A permanent system of "flexible price supports for agricultural commodities."
2. "Full support to the continuance and expansion of our program of soil conservation."
3. Legislation by congress to "continue and strengthen programs to assure adequate consumption of agricultural products."
4. "We need to consider other means for assisting farmers to meet their special problems. For example, we must support and protect farm cooperatives. We must continue to work toward a sound system of crop insurance."

There was nothing very startling about the proposals, and they carried the unmistakable ring of a campaign year bid for the farmers' favorable attention.

ITALY: Vox Pop

Luigi Einaudi, 74, a banker, is to be president of the Italian republic for the next seven years.

He was elected at a joint session of both houses of parliament on the fourth ballot after the Communists, who had been supporting Enrico de Nicola, threw their votes to him. On three previous ballots none of the presidential prospects had been able to command the required majority because of the Communist bloc.

An opponent of communism, Einaudi also was a foe of Mussolini's brand of fascism. He is an internationally known writer on public finance and economic history. Einaudi's first task as president of the republic was to designate a premier and instruct him to form a cabinet. There was no doubt that he would name Alcide de Gasperi, premier of the provisional government, to continue in that capacity on a permanent basis.

DISPLACED: Bill Pending
Although the desperate problem of Europe's displaced persons has not been attracting much headline attention lately, congress has been busy working out legislation to admit quotas of DPs into the U. S. Latest report was that an informal poll showed that a majority of the senate would vote for a bill to admit 200,000 displaced persons into this country during the next two years.

The actual bill being considered by the senate judiciary committee sets the figure at 100,000 DP immigrants for the next two years, but several senators have introduced amendments to raise that total to 200,000 and to remove some restrictions imposed by the committee. One senate source said the poll indicated that at least 55 senators were ready to vote for the less restrictive version. The house judiciary committee already has approved a similar measure to admit 200,000 DPs in the next two years.

ATOM RACE: Official
Governments of the world never have been farther from outlawing the use of atomic weapons. In fact, the atomic armament race is just settling down to a long, straight-away dash.

It is a contest involving astronomical costs, with horrible disaster if not ultimate destruction possibly lurking just beyond the horizon. So far the U. S. is well in the lead, as indicated by the recent announcement of the development and successful testing of three new atomic weapons which are said to supersede the original atom bombs in destructive power.

The United Nations atomic energy commission made the race official when, after two years of fruitless effort to work out some kind of international atomic control, it finally voted to suspend negotiations.

Other developments followed swiftly to prove that the U. S. is deadly serious about developing a powerful and diversified atomic arsenal: David E. Lillenthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission, reported that the "present stage of the commission's tests of atomic weapons is concluded."

President Truman then authorized the commission to take "steps... at once for further development based on information gained from the tests."

What Russia was doing about atomic weapons remained pretty much of a mystery, at least as far as the American public was concerned. It was an accepted fact that the Russians knew how to make an atom bomb. Whether they had the industrial facilities to do so still remained a matter of considerable conjecture.

Future Prosperity of U. S. Depends on Sound Planning

Historically, America's economy had its beginnings in farms and in small towns. As more goods were produced and as farms multiplied, more towns came into being and some of them grew into large cities.

The importance of prosperity in rural America to the rest of the economy is indicated by the fact that approximately 70 cents of the farm dollar goes into the purchase of things which have to be manufactured. The farmer's prosperity, other fourth, living in small towns and to some extent in the cities, depend on farm trade in one form or another for a livelihood. These two groups represent at least one-half our population.

Therefore, making a maximum contribution toward the creation of pay-able jobs. Sound postwar planning should result not only in more jobs in your community but in permanent advances for the United States. In a democracy, progressive community action is essential to social and economic progress. — From "Postwar Jobs and Growth in Small Communities," Committee for Economic Development handbook.
