Hedley Cleaning Up

Hedley has been undergoing a clean up this week to avoid a "polio" epidemic such as recently struck Paducah, Childress, Pampa and many other Texas towns. Alleys have been sprayed by the county sprayer, and all citizens have been asked to dispose of all garbage each day, keep garbage cans covered, drain all water pools, gather all cans, cut and burn all weeds, and pour lime in open toilets.

This is another case where a little prevention might be worth a whole lot of cure.

Security State Bank To Have Birthday

Mrs. J. M. Everett has evidence that she and Jim have been customers of the bank for a mighty long time. Last week she brought in checks given by herself and J. M. dated as far back as Jan. 8, 1914. One of the checks was given to the M&M Co., J. B. Master-son's store, and the other to R. B. Adams who was then the depot agent.

She also has several deposits dated as far back as Jan. 14, 1914, and one on which the date is dim that may be as far back as Oct. 14, 1913, less than two months after the bank was opened.

It looks like Mrs. Everett has a mighty good chance of getting the awards offered by the bank for these old checks and deposit slips. Monday, August 23rd, is the bank's 35th birthday and they want all their friends to visit them on that day.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: Our gas refrigerator has taken on a yellowish color. How can I restore it to its former whiteness?
ANSWER: Try washing the surface with mild soap and warm water. Rinse with a solution of Javelle water, using about three teaspoonfuls in a quart of water, and wipe dry.

QUESTION: What should I do about curled shingles on my house?
ANSWER: Sometimes a curled shingle can be split in two or three pieces and then nailed. If only a few of your shingles are curled, replace them with shingles of a better quality.

QUESTION: What can I do about hot water pipes that constantly cause the paint to peel off? I wish to repaint several rooms and would like this information.

ANSWER: You could use a radiator enamel, following the manufacturer's directions for application. But you should make some allowance for a slight darkening of the color under heat and choose a shade a little lighter than you otherwise would select. The pipes must be clean and cold for a good paint job and for thorough drying.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Congress Fights Truman Proposals; High Crop Goals Set, Wheat Cut; Atomic Tests Assure New Power

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONGRESS: Feudin' and Fightin'

Bitter recriminations resounded as the fight between President Truman and the GOP-controlled congress moved into a new round with convening of the extra session of the 80th congress.

In a dynamite-laden atmosphere, the President appeared before a joint session of the congress which he had labeled "one of the worst in history" to demand a sweeping anti-inflation economic program. The reception for both the President and his program was cool as Republicans launched their wrecking-crew tactics.

Defiant GOP leaders charged Mr. Truman with playing politics and prepared to play politics of their own. The net result, it appeared, would be a short special session.

Initial step in the GOP's program of obstruction was a decision that the extra session should consider only those recommendations made by Mr. Truman which could "pass a test." This test, established by the majority conference, set the qualifications for congressional action as follows:

Proposed legislation must be emergency in character. It must contain a problem of national importance. It must be a program which can be processed properly within the time available to an emergency session.

Face to face with the congress he had labeled "worst, save one," in history, President Truman was greeted by one of the coolest congressional receptions ever accorded a chief executive when he appeared before the special session. Only polite applause came occasionally from the galleries and from administration followers; Republicans kept their hands in their pockets.

A-BOMBS: New Force

The veil of secrecy which has shrouded most of the post-war atomic energy experiments was lifted, a tiny bit at least, for the American public in the fourth semi-annual report of the atomic energy commission and an accompanying statement by President Truman.

Justifying the secrecy, the President contended that until controls are established on the international level to prevent use of atomic energy for military purposes "we cannot, as a nation, afford to disclose these secrets which make this new force the most deadly form of military weapon." With that statement, the American people, anxiously eyeing war clouds on the horizon, are inclined to agree.

Some measure of reassurance was contained in both reports, stressing the fact that the nation has gained new power in atomic weapons. Both disclosed that the secret tests of new type bombs at the proving grounds on Eniwetok island early this year were highly successful.

The commission's report, the fourth semi-annual summary to congress as provided by law, indicated there were three bombs used at Eniwetok in the spring project known as "Operation Sandstone." Principal study was "on the generation of nuclear explosion itself" rather than "on the effects of the nuclear explosion," as was the case in the earlier Bikini tests.

The report stressed developments of atomic energy research in medicine, agriculture, metallurgy, other sciences and industry. Radioactive materials have been given 229 institutions and commercial agencies for experimentation.

WHEAT: Goal Cut

As clogged elevators and enforced embargoes once again mark the nation's harvest of another bumper wheat crop, the department of agriculture recommends a cut of 8 per cent in wheat acreage in its preliminary recommendations for the 1949 crop year.

Although continued high production of other major grain commodities is recommended, a slight decrease is suggested for wheat acreage, which has increased sharply in recent years in response to war and relief needs.

Looking forward in a move to conserve the country's soil resources, the department points out that "a better balance between soil-conserving and soil-depleting crops will actually assure higher productivity over a longer period of years."

Farmers also are urged to provide for sufficient summer fallow and, in marginal areas, to plant grass seed on land which is not suitable for sustained production of crops.

Also considered in arriving at the wheat goal were this year's increased carry-over, prospects that the 1948 crop will be second largest in history and possibility of smaller demand because of improved crops in importing countries.

The department recommended wheat plantings for 1949 of 71.5 million acres which, with an average yield of 15 bushels an acre, would mean production of nearly 1.1 billion bushels. July estimate of 1948 wheat production was 1,241,751,000 bushels.

In setting another farm goal, the department recommended a beef cattle breeding herd of 15.5 million cows next January 1, a decrease of about 500,000 head. Better management, improved feeding practices and thorough culling, it was suggested, will "put the cattle industry in better position to supply the meat requirements of the increased population."

The recommendations are submitted to state agricultural councils for consideration. State goals and final national goals are determined on the basis of state review and recommendations.

DRAFTEES: Old Pals

In an endeavor to make the upcoming draftees as happy as a khaki-colored lark, the army is removing its "petty annoyances" as it completes plans to process men inducted under the first peacetime draft in history.

On orders of Gen. Omar Bradley, chief of staff, to remove "the petty annoyances that sent many World War II veterans away hating the army," training officers prepared to greet the recruit like an old friend of the family.

Only the finest officers and non-coms will handle the draftee, training officers promised. The recruit will even be given a $5 advance on his $75 a month pay the first day in camp so he won't be broke. He won't even have to wait to "tell it to the chaplain," as he'll be taken to the chaplain during his orientation days and urged "to let his hair down."

All of this will take place at eight major training centers which have been set up to receive the draftees and give them their basic training. They are Fort Knox and Camp Breckenridge, Ky.; Fort Riley, Kans.; Camp Chaffee, Ark.; Camp Pickett, Va.; Fort Ord, Calif.; Fort Jackson, S. C. and Fort Dix, N. J.

The standard 13-week army training course has been condensed into eight "tough" weeks. Later draftees will be selected for specialist training or sent directly to duty. About half of the draftees will see overseas duty, probably in Korea, Japan, Germany, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii or Caribbean defense area.

It Might Have Been

Had there been no World War II, no abdication of the late King Victor Emmanuel and no dissolution of the House of Savoys by vote (taking King Humbert), then Victor Emmanuel, pictured here, third of the line, might have been fated one day to sit on the throne of Italy. Seemingly the least unhappy about the turn of affairs is handsome, blond Victor Emmanuel, now at Geneva, Switzerland.

GERMANY: Explosive

Germany remained an explosive issue in the strife-torn international picture.

As the titanic East-West struggle for Berlin continues, reports were current that four-power talks would be resumed in an attempt to settle the crisis there as well as to scan the entire European situation. The rumors circulated after top diplomats of the U. S., Britain and France were closeted in a series of conferences.

In the biggest air lift in history, U. S. and British planes continued to transport food and fuel to the beleaguered city. The big planes averaged 4,500 tons of essential goods daily in their effort to break the Russian blockade.

Violence broke out in the Russian sector of the capital city as thousands of Germans jammed banks to exchange their money for new Soviet-sponsored currency.

Although she looks like a prim schoolmarm, Berlin's woman mayor, Socialist Louise Schroeder, courageously defied Russia's order to dismiss the anti-Communist deputy police chief.

AROUND THE HOUSE

To keep sandwiches fresh, wrap them in waxed paper; but before you fold the paper over, run a warm iron along the double edges. The wax will melt and the edges will fuse.

To scrape the bottom of a pot, use a wooden spoon or the sharp end of a wooden clothespin. This minimizes noise as well as damage to the pot.

Be sure the cloth or potholder you use to handle hot pots and pans is dry. If it's wet, the moisture will form steam and burn your hand.

If your scouring powder comes in cardboard containers which go to pieces before the powder is used up, make your own permanent container by using an empty mayonnaise jar in the top of which you have punched holes. To keep this glass "powder shaker" from slipping out of your wet soapy hands, put some strips of adhesive tape around the sides of the jar.

Most common types of shoe polish can be removed with cleaning fluid. Or, on washable whites, let the polish dry and then brush most of it off. After that, wet it and let it dry again so you can brush it again.

In an emergency, when you haven't time to change from your best shoes to your house ones for some last-minute cooking or dish washing, protect the shoes by slipping paper bags over your feet and secure them at the ankles with rubber bands.

To avoid steaming up the bathroom when you draw your bath, run cold water first and then add hot water to it until you get the desired mixture. After a shower, turn on the cold water for a few minutes to clear up the steam.

When you empty a hot-water bottle, blow air into it and then screw the stopper in.

When raisins get stale and hard, they can be freshened and used if you put them in a strainer and set the strainer with a cover on it over a pot of boiling water for about 15 minutes.

The gummy residue left by adhesive tape on your skin or on any other surface is easily removed with nail polish remover or cleaning fluid.

When an uncolored photograph (not glossy) needs cleaning, wipe it with a damp cloth; then place it face down on a smooth dry cloth until it's dry.

Effective Method to Break
 Dog of Chewing Habit Given

Associating Practice With Something Unpleasant Will Soon Bring a Stop

One of the most frequent questions from dog-owners is, "How can I teach my dog not to chew things?" The following suggestions by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City, represent recommended methods for training a dog to refrain from exercising his teeth on shoes, furniture and other household articles. Almost all puppies go through a chewing period—particularly when they are cutting their second teeth—and even older dogs seem to have a strong urge to gnaw on things. Dogs that are lonely or bored through confinement or inactivity are especially prone to this habit. One of the first things to do in curing the chewing habit is to give the dog something of his own that he can chew on. A large raw knuckle or shin bone with the meat well scraped off should be kept where the dog can reach it at any time. Encouraging the dog to play with and chew on the bone will help to keep him from turning his attention to the rugs or furniture. Poultry, steak or chop bones should not be used for this purpose as they splinter easily and can cause serious injury to the dog. Dogs should never be given old should be used every time the dog is to stop what he's doing. It is useless to say "No" one time and "Bad dog" or "Stop that" the next—the dog won't know what is meant. If a dog is not apprehended until after he has already chewed something, he should be taken by the collar, led to the damaged object and scolded sharply. If a chewed article is not discovered until long after the chewing took place, it won't do any good to scold or punish, as a dog's memory is short. At times a dog will develop a fondness for gnawing some one particular object such as a rug, or a chair leg. The best remedy for this is to sprinkle red hot cayenne pepper on the article. Just one taste of the hot pepper is generally sufficient to make Mr. Fido lose interest once and for all in that article. Until a dog is absolutely trustworthy, he should not be allowed to roam at large through the house. If it is necessary that he be left alone, he should be confined where he can do no damage and given his shin or knuckle bone to chew. In most cases, dogs get over the chewing habit as they mature, but while Fido is still in the destructive stage, the above suggestions will keep damage to a minimum, the Gaines Dog Research Center states.

Caught in the act

gloves, socks or shoes as toys. All shoes, socks and gloves look alike to a dog and he won't know the difference between the old ones and the newest and best in the house. The quickest and best way to break any bad habit in a dog is to make him associate that habit with something unpleasant happening to him. If the dog starts to use his teeth on some forbidden object he should be whacked on the rump and told in a stern voice, "No!" or "Stop that!" Initially, whatever phrase is used to tell the dog desist from any disapproved activity, the same phrase

HOTEL DIRECTORY FOR DOG-OWNERS PUBLISHED

Traveling with a dog should be a great deal easier in the future for vacationists and other wayfarers, who find it necessary to take the family pet along on their journeys. The Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y., has recently completed a nationwide survey of hotels and motor courts to determine those which accept guests with dogs and has compiled and published its findings in the form of a directory available to dog-owners without charge. A preface to the directory gives helpful suggestions for simplifying the problem of feeding Towser while on the road. It is a plea for dog-owners to let other hotel guests know that their pets do not cause damage to furniture or rugs.

LITTLE ILLS

MAKE BIG BILLS!

True, that "little ill-ness" you've been mentioning in an offhand way, may not seem to amount to much—just a few faint symptoms. But, neglected, these "little ill-nesses" can lead to big bills for doctors, medicines, etc; not to mention needless suffering and loss of precious time. Consult a Doctor now—you'll save by it in the end. And, of course, we hope you'll bring his prescription to us for careful compounding.

When Your Back Hurts

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood. You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Women's World Simple Tricks With Buttons Or Ribbons Will Alter Dress

By Etta Haley

ECONOMY and style are both on our minds when we want to do something to a dress to change its manners, its general outlook. Being women, nothing pleases us more than being able, with a simple trick or two, to do something magic to a dress and thus lead our friends to think that we have a brand new addition to the wardrobe.

Classic style dresses are easiest to change because their good tailoring can take all sorts of trimming tricks. Do you have a classic button-down-the-front style dress that needs a bit of something? Remove the self color buttons and add dash with gold or metal ones.

What's to be done when you have a classic style with a full skirt that has no trimming? This dress can be relieved with touches of white. Use bias tape or rick-rack, lacing several rows of this around the lower part of the full skirt, and adding a few bands of the same trim to the sleeves or collar or both, depending upon the size of sleeves and collar.

Plaid Trimmings Are Popular If you have a wardrobe which is primarily dark and have grown rather tired of it, why not brighten the situation with bits of plaid trimming? Simple black cottons and navy blues take nicely to this treatment.

If you have a cardigan neckline on a dress, the whole of it can be outlined with a lively plaid. You might even make cuffs on the sleeves of the plaid.

When it's too complicated to add the plaid trimming to the neckline, you might change the belt on the dress by making that in plaid, simply adding cuffs to the sleeves and perhaps inserting a band or two of the plaid around the bottom of the skirt.

It's very easy to introduce plaid into a simple solid black, blue, brown or gray dress by changing the belt to plaid and making quaint pointed pockets of the same material. If you have a dress or suit in plaid, the appearance of the whole thing can be changed by using white pique trimming at collars and cuffs. Or, if you prefer something different, select one of the colors in the plaid, purchase a solid material in that and use this for trimming collars

Be Smart! Sheers belong to any season, especially when they're black or navy.

The design sketched holds a rich promise of future fashion, too, in its magnificent development of back fullness. The unusual effect achieved by the apron is maximized in a bow to accent the shoulder. The simplicity of fall is the possible fall and cuffs and for a band at the bottom of the skirt, if desired. Eyelet is very popular for trimmings, too. Since it is rather expensive you might satisfy your need for change simply with a bit of ruffled eyelet edging the collar and cuffs of the dress. If it has a button-down-the-front, edge this with eyelet.

Padded Pillbox

This padded pillbox by Mme. Reine shows the trend toward the lower, rounder hat this season. This model comes in gay red felt with an upstanding, fancy feather of black and white at the back. The large dotted veil adds a touch of softness to the small but smart hat.

What to Do With Buttons Buttons on washable dresses usually find themselves in a weary corner as the season draws to a close.

Button treatments also are used on the sleeves to add interest. Simply run five or six buttons down the sleeve, beginning at the shoulder if you want to add above the waist interest on a tailored dress or blouse.

Another effective way of using buttons is in a diagonal treatment, either outlining pockets or simulating them.

For best effect, the buttons chosen should, in themselves, be interesting catching. When you want to point up interest in them, select a contrasting color instead of a matching one. Also, remember that buttons show up better on solids than on prints.

Buttons as well as bows are being used to gather up a part of a wide full skirt in some cases. Bands and Bows Will Do Wonders Have you ever thought of how effective a band trimming can be especially when it is used on a print dress or suit?

Many band trimming effects can be relieved with bows made out of the trimming. These are especially effective for the youthful fashions. The jacket of a summer dress for a girl in her teens may carry three or four widely spaced rows of banding for trimming. Bows can come at the closing of the bodice to hide snaps or buttons.

If you prefer, only the skirt may be band trimmed. Use one large bow on the highest band as a trimming. It's important not to overdo the bow part of the trimming, especially on the skirts, for their fullness is, in a sense, a lot of trimming.

If you have contrast material attached to the pockets of the dress for mere interest

Pretty Frocks Want a pretty frock that will win applause? Then make pattern 8303 with a crisp white eyelet top and white or pastel dress. Trim ruffling edged the brief sleeves and yoke. A honey of an outfit.

Two Piecer The ever-popular two piecer shown here with slanted lines for accent. Buttons in threes are an eye-catching detail—the paneled skirt is especially flattering. Short or three quarter sleeves are provided.
