Lions Club News

This week is Lions Club directors meeting at the bank. Come out about 8 o'clock. Several items of importance are to come up.

Next week the Lions will start eating at 7:15 p. m. and will be through with the meeting in time to attend the revival meeting at the First Baptist Church. Let's all try to be on hand at this meeting and make our plans to attend church afterwards.

Baseball News

Local baseball fans will get to see the Lions play at home for the next three Sundays. Next Sunday at 3 p. m. the locals will play Paducah here. Paducah is one of the strong teams of the Red River Valley League and we expect a hard game. Sunday week they play Turkey here. Turkey defeated the Lions there 21 to 17. Then the next Sunday they play Pantex here. Hedley defeated Pantex there 12 to 10, but Pantex says they will have their star left-hander ready to pitch and they may be hard to beat.

Effort is being made to put up the rest of the park fence before these games. Anyone wishing an ad on this fence see Carl Reid or Clifford Johnson.

History of The Security State Bank

In the early part of 1913 a group of citizens of the Hedley community headed by J. G. McDougal decided that they wanted a bank that would take care of the needs of this community. They applied for a state charter and received this charter on June 21, 1913. These men became the first stockholders of the Guaranty State Bank. They were besides Mr. McDougal, A. J. Akers, T. T. Harrison, S. S. Adamson, J. E. Dishman, Frank McClure, W. J. Greer, J. L. Bain, C. D. Akers, Bond W. Johnson, and W. B. Quigley and C. A. Crozier of Memphis.

WORLD NEWS ANALYSIS MOSCOW Talks Provide Peace Hope; Congress Eyes Inflation, Housing; Red Spy Scare Startles Country

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

MOSCOW: Conference

Practically all that anyone knew during the initial stages of the Moscow conference between Josef Stalin and the ambassadors of three western nations was that there was a conference.

The opacity of a thick censorship ban overlaid any details of what was happening. Nevertheless, the impression was of the desperation inherent in the Berlin crisis, might be the first step in easing off the strain between Russia and the western powers.

Some information that slipped through the secrecy wall indicated that both sides might be willing to make some concessions in order to further negotiations between Russia and the U. S., Great Britain and France.

The talks with Stalin and Molotov were reported to have produced at least one new suggestion—that prior to another Big Four conference there should be a meeting of the U. S., Russian, British and French deputy foreign ministers.

Such a conference would, theoretically, be accompanied by a gradual relaxation of the restrictions which the Soviets have clamped on the western areas of Berlin and which brought the East-West relations to their present boiling point.

Although it might be the height of optimism, Communist Russia being what it is, there was some faint hope that such a piecemeal lifting of the Berlin blockade might bring about a provisional meeting of minds on the subject of German currency and other irritating issues.

At the worst, such a discussion at least would tend to act as a brake against a drift-to war and provide a breathing space for talks with Moscow on more basic controversies.

There was, however, still another interpretation of the discussions between Stalin and the three western ambassadors: Russia, having carried its Berlin blockade virtually to the ultimate point short of war, might be thinking that it had brought the western powers to a position where they would have to accede to Soviet demands if they wished to avoid conflict.

CONGRESS: Unwilling

Probably the only accomplishment of the special summer session of congress called by President Truman was to provide both parties with a bigger and better supply of political ammunition for the election campaign.

Democrats would be able to say that the GOP congress simply sat back on its haunches and did nothing about the pressing problems of inflation, housing and other national issues.

Republicans could counter with the assertion that, within the bounds of their political beliefs and judgment of what is best for the nation, they did all they could under the circumstances. To that they probably would add the stock argument that the whole thing is the fault of the 16-year Democratic regime and that the ultimate solution must lie in the election of a Republican administration this November.

One result of the special session that might be classed as favorable was that it served to sharpen the rough edges of the wide cleavage between the two parties over domestic problems and give the voters a more clear-cut, definitive idea of what they will be deciding on November 2.

Despite President Truman's laborious diatribes against congress and his repeated warnings that controls alone will curb the now dangerous inflation, in the final analysis it remained foolish to believe that the GOP congress ever would take the action he recommended. Republicans simply do not approve of that method of handling the nation's economy.

Republican congressmen agreed only to string along with legislation serving to reimpose consumer credit controls, with some limitation on bank credits, and to speed action on a watered-down housing program which does little except ease credit terms for home builders.

The anti-poll tax measure, blocked for a week by a droning filibuster by southern Democrats, finally withered and blew away in dust.

TAXATION: 125 Billion

By the end of this year individual taxpayers in the U. S. will have paid nearly 125 billion dollars in direct personal taxes, according to a survey entitled "Domestic Consumer Markets" prepared by the National Industrial Conference board.

'Then There Was...'

Whittaker Chambers, a senior editor of Time magazine and an admitted former member of the Communist party, got a load off his chest when he told the house un-American activities committee the names of a few more higher echelon government officials who had participated in the notorious Washington spy ring of a decade ago. His testimony included the names of Alger Hiss, former state department official; Nathan Witt, former attorney for NLRB, and Lee Pressman, former CIO general counsel.

ESPIONAGE: Dragon Seed

The dragon seeds of international espionage sown during the war suddenly had begun to bloom with a vengeance and the nation's capital seemed to be overgrown with spies and rumors of spies.

First stone was cast by Miss Elizabeth Bentley, self-confessed courier for Soviet agents, who revealed that much of her information had come from sources in official government positions.

She showed no hesitancy in naming names, among which were those of Nathan G. Silvermaster, board of economic warfare and war assets administration official; William W. Remington, former commerce department official, and Alger Hiss, former state department official active in the establishment of the United Nations.

There was no visible proof that any of the persons she implicated ever had furnished information to the Soviet espionage ring, although some had Communist backgrounds. As a matter of fact, the FBI reported that it had spent more than three million dollars in an investigation of the same matter months prior to the current excitement. The G-men finally gave it up because of lack of documentary proof.

But congressional investigations were under way in both the senate and house. Testimony included the usual flamboyant accusations and re-accusations but failed to produce any concrete evidence.

Rep. Karl Mundt (Rep., S. D.), chairman of the house un-American activities committee, added to the national impact of the affair by asserting that there is "good reason to believe a Communist spy ring is operating in Washington right now." His committee was investigating, he said, although the public hearings so far had dealt only with the testimony that a Red espionage system was at work in the U. S. during the war.

COTTON: Mechanized

Last of the great American farm commodities to remain essentially a man-mule crop, cotton finally is becoming mechanized, thus eliminating the necessity of maintaining vast armies of laborers to meet the two peak labor periods of the crop cycle.

Mechanization is one of the major steps in the effort of cotton people from Virginia to California to achieve lower production costs. To the 12½ million people in 18 states who derive all or a substantial part of their income from cotton it is of paramount importance that they keep their crop competitive cost-wise.

The answer lies, to a great extent, in mechanization. Thinning and weeding equipment and harvesting machines are revamping the farm picture in the South.

The mechanical cotton picker is capable of performing the work of 40 to 50 human pickers, varying with weather conditions, land surface, and other factors.

Typical result of mechanization was the experience of a Mississippi farmer who used a flame cultivator to control weeds at a cost of 50 cents an acre at the same time human choppers were costing $5.

Of course, complete mechanization of cotton will not materialize overnight. National Cotton council, representing the entire industry, reports that in 1947 less than 3 per cent of the crop could be classed as entirely mechanized. A considerable portion of the remaining crop, however, was in various stages of mechanization.

World Court

"To justify the ways of God to man" was John Milton's expressed purpose for writing his monolithic epic poem of the Reformation, "Paradise Lost."

Academically Milton succeeded in providing that justification for his own and an unknowable number of future generations of Christians. But since the 16th century days of Milton human society has turned an increasingly cold cheek to the spiritual values preached by every great Christian since Paul.

Particularly since the outset of the 20th century man's attention has been claimed more and more by the dramatic power of materialism which has been brought into full play as a result of this technological economy with its assembly lines, power politics and repetitive wars.

Thus, the problem now is not so much how to justify God's ways to man as it is how to justify man's society in the eyes of God. And if, as many churchmen believe, no such justification is possible, then how to work a reasonable and beneficial change in the society which men have wrought.

It is that problem which the World Council of Churches, composed of 148 Protestant and Orthodox churches from 40 nations, will endeavor to meet squarely at its first world assembly in Amsterdam August 22 to September 4.

Four hundred and fifty church leaders — laymen and clergymen alike — are determined, among other things, "to assess the strengths and weaknesses of present-day Christendom" and "to define a basis of common principle upon which Christians can cooperate for world order."

Under the conference theme, "Man's Disorder and God's Design," the delegates will attack such questions as: How to infuse more spirituality into our mechanized society without advocating the destruction of all mechanization? What action can the church take among its members to aid in establishment of world order and what is the church's answer to the amoral power politics of the present day?

If these are tough questions, the World Council of Churches is likely to prove itself spiritually tough and realistic enough to go a long way toward providing some of the answers.

Heave Ho

Despite the impression you might have received from reading newspaper accounts of the Olympics, American athletes were not the only ones who took part in the games. This straining gentleman, for instance, is Emory Nemeth of Hungary who won the hammer throw with a heave of 183 feet, 11½ inches.

HOLY LAND: Optimism

Although the July 18 truce in Palestine put at least a temporary end to the military bloodshed between Jews and Arabs, the struggle for rights and power continues behind the diplomatic scenes in the Near East.

However, there is some reason to believe now that many of the troubles in the troubled spot may be smoothed out when Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. mediator, proposes his next peace plan in September.

One of the reasons for such optimism is the attitude of King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan, most powerful of the Arab league states. Abdullah has asked for full and careful consideration of any future proposal for permanent peace in Palestine.

And, he said, his "Arab nation does not exclude any possible compromise that secures justice and prevents unnecessary bloodshed."

"We would like that the efforts of Count Bernadotte in the refugee problem be successful, and afterwards that any new proposals which he will make should not be rejected outright, but be fully discussed before they are put in final form."

That Old Oil

Oil is being consumed in the U. S. today at a rate exceeding the total world consumption of only 10 years ago, according to an article in a recent issue of "Business Comment," bulletin of the Northern Trust company in Chicago.

Demand for all oils in the first quarter of 1948 averaged 6.3 million barrels daily, an increase of 7 per cent over the corresponding period of 1947.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Mineral oil makes a good lubricant for egg beaters and will not ruin food if it drops into it

Onions are probably the most dangerous vegetable to slice thin because they have a way of slipping out of the knife's way and leaving your fingers there to take the rap. Avoid this by setting the onion on a flat metal grater while you slice it. The grater won't allow the onion to slip out from under at the crucial moment.

With chromium-plated copper pans, there's no need to beware of bare spots. You will have to keep after them diligently with steel wool and scouring powder every time the vessel is used, though, because the bare spots will stain easily.

Try making dish towels out of worn-out bedsheets. Run an embroidered hem around the edges of the pieces of sheet.

Baking soda will clean the glass door on the oven when it starts to get black.

Put a few drops of oil of wintergreen in the back corner of your refrigerator to absorb food odors.

Dropping a few dried prunes into the jar in which you keep brown sugar is a good idea. It insures keep the sugar from turning hard.

Rub your breadbox gently with emery cloth if it gets rusty. Use a coat of lard to keep it clean.

Scientific tests have shown that four times a year is an adequate number of times to turn an inner-spring mattress.

35th Birthday Greetings

TO THE

SECURITY STATE BANK

We too saw the "Horse and Buggy Days," and we are proud to have had a part in the building of this community.

We have been furnishing Hedley with lumber, paints and all kinds of building material since the yard was opened under the J. C. Woodridge name in 1908.

HEDLEY LUMBER CO.

YES, WE'RE OLD FASHIONED

At least, old fashioned enough to want to please our customers and to want them to feel at home here.

And old fashioned enough to offer a sincere birthday greeting to the Security State Bank, and to wish them many more of the same.

When the Security State Bank was founded, people liked to look at pictures even then. But it is a far cry from the old stereoscope to the sound movie of today. Progress in entertainment, too, has kept pace with the years.

Back in 1913, and long before, farmers of this area planted cotton for their cash crop. And cotton has held its place through the years, bringing Donley County nearly one million dollars in 1946.

They immediately started a bank building and with a platform of safety for depositors money, service to the community, respect for confidences, friendliness and courtesy the Bank was founded. The officers were J. G. McDougal, President, W. B. Quigley, Vice President, T. T. Harrison, Cashier and C. D. Akers, Assistant Cashier. The first directors were Bond W. Johnson, Frank McClure, J. L. Bain, J. G. McDougal and W. B. Quigley.

August 23, 1913 was opening day. Mr. Harrison states that either J. G. McDougal or Bond W. Johnson made the first deposit but many more came in with their deposits or well wishes. He stated that opening a new bank was no easy task; expenses could not be made the first months and he bought cotton as well as handling his job as cashier. The bank had a steady growth and was soon over these early growing pains.

J. G. McDougal served as President until his death in 1938 and was succeeded by J. W. Noel. The bank has had only two Presidents. W. B. Quigley served as vice president until his death in 1935. Other Vice Presidents were T. R. Moreman, J. W. Noel and the present vice president J. B. Masterson. J. D. Swift succeeded T. T. Harrison as cashier, then J. W. Noel and C. L. Johnson the present cashier. Mr. Noel and Mr. Johnson both have been with the bank 29 years. Jerald Sims the present Assistant Cashier at the bank is starting on his third year.

Mrs. Leon Reeves, who is the present bookkeeper, has been with the bank 20 years, taking time of to raise a family and help run a lumber yard.

Through the bank records of 35 years besides the employees mentioned above we find the names of H. C. Cooper, Travis Lively, G. E. Kinslow, Era Johnson, now Mrs. A. T. Curran, Robert Reed, Ethel Whittington, now Mrs. G. E. Kinslow, Lola Baker, now Mrs. M. L. Acord, Alice Grimsley, now Mrs. Hugh Crawford, Alice Bishop Juanita Ivie, now Mrs. T. R. Bennett, Willie Mae Greer, now Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Peggy Nell Everett, now Mrs. W. D. Benham, Louise Moss, now Mrs. Roy Beyers, and Darrel Proctor.

The original capital of the bank was $15,000.00. In 1919 with good crops and good prices the town was growing fast and the bank raised its capital to $25,000. to meet the needs of the community. In 1927 the name of the bank was changed to the Security State Bank. In 1929 they purchased the assets of the First State Bank of Hedley and merged the two institutions under the name of the Security State Bank. The capital was then raised to $35,000.00.

On June 30th of this year the bank raised its surplus to $35,000.00 equal with the capital. The present capital is $35,000.00, surplus $35,000.00, profits and reserves approximately $15,000.00 which gives the bank capital structure of $85,000.00 ample to take care of the needs of the community. The present directors are F. A. Finch, J. B. Masterson, Sam J. Hamilton, J. W. Noel and C. L. Johnson. Of the original stockholders only Mrs. Nova Mc-

35 YEARS OF SERVICE

In 1913 the Security State Bank opened for business. Since that time much water has gone over the dam. As we look back over the pages of time, what interesting years they have been, packed full of romance and adventure.

We have sent our sons to serve in two World Wars. We have enriched our land with prosperous farms which contribute cattle, poultry, hogs and wheat to a hungry world. Our compact little community has never enjoyed greater prosperity. The atomic age has begun to unfold before our eyes.

Working side by side we have battled panics and depressions. We have grown together until our bank stands as a pillar of conservatism yet progressive and considerate of the needs of its customers.

And so today after thirty-five years of continuous service among the best friends and neighbors in the world, we re-affirm our faith in the community and with the same spirit of friendly cooperation as when our bank opened in 1913, rededicate ourselves with a resolute purpose.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

"Living Costs UP 74.1% Over 1939,"
Says U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"Electric Service, in West Texas, DOWN 17%," Says Reddy Kilowatt.

YES, IN WEST TEXAS, the average cost per kilowatt-hour of electric service to residential users is 17% LESS than in 1939!

And it's getting tough, very tough, for me to keep the cost of your electric service low! I'm paying more for fuel, labor, materials, and taxes than ever before.

With my fellow employees at the West Texas Utilities Company, I am using every scientific skill, every technical advance, the "know-how" of experienced management, and every economy to keep your electric service the biggest bargain in your family budget.

EVER SEE

A King Size DOODLEBUG?

The first "doodlebugs" were forks from the willow or peach tree, whose "magic" was used to locate likely spots for water wells. In the early boom days of petroleum, the doodlebug gave way to the "divining rod," which supposedly had mystic powers for locating oil. Now, however, the doodlebug and divining rod have been replaced by seismograph crews, which have the tough and technical job of finding buried formations favorable for the presence of oil or gas.

Each year, a substantial part of our budget for construction and development is earmarked for the acquisition of leases, for geophysical exploration and exploratory drilling. This is one of many functions of the UNITED GAS organization... all with the ultimate purpose of assuring a continued dependable supply of natural gas for our customers.

UNITED GAS ...

Serving the Gulf South

Ages ago, when water covered the earth, fish and vegetable matter settled to the ocean floor, building layer on layer until it was thousands of feet thick.

In some sections oil or gas collected in scattered pools far under the surface of the earth. Seismograph crews explore with special instruments for indications of these petroleum deposits.

Sound waves from an explosion penetrate the earth, then rebound from various strata to indicate the structures most favorable for oil or gas.

Lawn
Maintenance

MAKE your porch, terrace or lawn an outdoor living room... turn your backyard into a picnic ground. You'll be agreeably surprised to see what fun dining out can be. Food takes on an added zest when flavored with the thrill of a picnic.

You can build wonderful pieces of lawn furniture at very low cost.

The set illustrated above was built from patterns. These patterns take all the mystery out of woodworking. Each shows the full size, shape and length for cutting each part. Wherever two parts are fastened together, the exact location is indicated on the pattern. Step by step directions explain every part of construction in easy to understand language.

Making a home is traditionally American. The strength of the country rests on the people who have built a home for themselves and their families. Building lawn furniture or any other home equipment is not difficult. You can do it if you try. Each pattern is designed so that no special tools or skill are required. Build this lawn set for immediate use.

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

PAINTING HOUSE
by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: What can I use to wash my furniture?

ANSWER: Clear turpentine is often used to clean the woodwork of furniture followed by polishing with a coat of paste wax applied thinly and well rubbed, when dry.

QUESTION: We have to put a new floor down in our basement. Which is better, plank or concrete?

ANSWER: Do not use boards because they will rot in time. Have a good waterproof, concrete floor laid by a mason contractor.

QUESTION: Please tell me how to remove old paint from "white lined oak" finish on a dining set.

ANSWER: Soften the old paint with paint remover, then take it off with a hand scraper and steel wool. Carefully avoid scratching or gouging the wood. Follow by cleaning off every trace of remover with benzine or turpentine. If the color of the wood is what you wish, you can refinish with quick-drying varnish or in some other way.

QUESTION: What can I do in the way of refinishing a brass bed?

ANSWER: If you wish to paint the bed, go all over the metal with sandpaper to roughen it slightly, wipe it with turpentine and then apply one or two coats of enamel undercoater. Finish with a coat of enamel.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Cook in Cool Morning To Avoid Sweltering Over Stove at Dinner

ARE YOU the homemaker who's sweltering over a hot stove preparing the evening meal, somewhat on the grumpy side, short with the family and generally discontented? Or are you the cool and neat homemaker who simply opens her refrigerator door and swishes food on the table with neat flourishes?

If you aren't the latter, then do something about it now. Plan several menus for each week that have most of the food prepared early in the morning so they may be served chilled for dinner.

Some women always will object to this plan because, they say, the food is so light that husbands are not fully satisfied. The dishes I'm giving you today are on the hearty side even though they are served cold.

It's a good idea to serve some hot food with a cool meal, but this food

Egg and cheese loaf is an ideal supper dish because it has a high protein content. It can be made on the cool morning of a hot day and served for supper because of its welcome coolness.

may take the form of things that really cook within a short time.

Good hot foods to serve are vegetables, soups, biscuits or fruit or berry cobblers or other puddings.

IF YOU LIKE good solid meat on the table, as most men do, it can be served cold with just as much relish as a sizzling roast. Why not try one of these?

Swiss Salad. (Serves 4)

- 2 cups cubed cold lamb or pork roast
- 1 cup cooked peas
- 1/2 cup walnut meats, broken
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 6 stuffed olives
- Lettuce
- French dressing
- Mayonnaise
- Paprika

Marinate meat and peas in French dressing and chill. Add nuts and arrange on lettuce leaves. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with mayonnaise. Cut eggs into slices and remove yolks. Arrange the white rings around the salad. Cut olives into rings and place one inside each egg white. Press egg yolks through a sieve and sprinkle over salad.

Beef-Cheese Plate. (Serves 6)

- 6 slices cold roast beef or corned beef
- 6 slices Swiss cheese
- 6 deviled eggs
- 6 tomatoes
- 1 cup cole slaw
- Green and ripe olives
- Potato chips

Place tomatoes stuffed with cole slaw in center of platter. Bank with green and ripe olives. Alternate slices of cold meat with cheese and place around platter. Garnish with potato chips.

Egg and Cheese Salad Loaf. (Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 cups real mayonnaise
- 8 hard-cooked eggs
- 4 cups grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 4 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Radish roses
- Carrot curls

Soak gelatin in cold water; dissolve with the beef cubes in boiling water and add to pot roast gravy. Fill a mold with a layer of aspic and place in refrigerator to congeal. Put the cooked meat in the center and place small cooked carrots and onions around it. Cover with remaining gelatin mixture. Place in refrigerator to jell.

Plums and pears make a good combination for a fruit cobbler or a molded salad. You also can add cherries if you like.

- Cherry Cobbler
- Beverage
- *Recipe Given

Softened gelatin in cold water and dissolved over hot water. Cool and add real mayonnaise; mix well. Dice hard-cooked eggs, reserve a few slices for garnish. Add chopped eggs with cheese, celery, salt, green pepper, pimiento and lemon juice to mayonnaise mixture; mix well. Pack firmly into a loaf pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm or chill overnight. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with radish roses, carrot curls and watercress. Decorate top with green pepper rings and egg slices.

*Salmon Supper Salad. (Serves 6)

- 1 head iceberg lettuce
- 3 green onions, diced
- 2 cans canned peas
- 2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
- 1 tall can salmon
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 1/2 cup French dressing
- 1/2 cup real mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1 clove garlic

Cut lettuce into cubes and place in salad bowl or platter. Sprinkle with diced onion and canned peas. Arrange tomato sections on lettuce. Place large pieces of salmon in center and surround with slices of egg. Blend French dressing and real mayonnaise, add green pepper, pimiento and garlic. Just before serving, remove garlic. Serve with salad.

COOK THE MEAT in this recipe on a cool day, then make an aspic for it and you'll have an excellent dinner, fit for company.

Pot Roast in Aspic. (Serves 12)

- 4 to 5 pound rump roast of beef
- 1 large chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, grated
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Salt, pepper and paprika
- 1 1/2 pints boiling water
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 cup tomato pulp
- 1 tablespoon flour

Brown onion and garlic in butter and add well seasoned meat and season quickly on all sides. Add boiling water and bay leaves. Cover and simmer for two and one-half hours.

If you're one of those people who like salmon in its natural state, serve it in nice chunks with these delightful accompaniments such as lettuce wedges, sliced eggs, canned peas and tomatoes. This makes a pretty and welcome cool platter for Sunday night supper or lunch.

Add tomato and more water if necessary; continue cooking meat until tender. Thicken gravy with flour mixed with a tablespoon of cold water.

Aspic.

- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 2 beef cubes
- 1 cup boiling water
- 3 cups strained pot roast gravy

Soak gelatin in cold water; dissolve with the beef cubes in boiling water and add to pot roast gravy. Fill a mold with a layer of aspic and place in refrigerator to congeal. Put the cooked meat in the center and place small cooked carrots and onions around it. Cover with remaining gelatin mixture. Place in refrigerator to jell.

Did you ever try rice with mushrooms sauteed in butter? Try molding the mixture in a ring and serving green peas in the center if you want a dish that has a flavor thrill in it.

True, that "little ill-ness" you've been mentioning in an offhand way, may not seem to amount to much—just a few faint symptoms.
