Fire Prevention Week

From Oct. 4th through the 9th is Fire Prevention Week. Our Fire Department is doing all it can to prevent fires and asks your help. Last year's fires caused a 10% increase in fire insurance in Hedley. Let's don't let this occur again.

Be fire-sighted about fire hazards this fall. Cooler weather brings a hotter time in many an American home. Just to be sure that the firemen won't arrive too late, burn trash and leaves in a wire mesh container, and be sure the fire is out before you go to bed at night.

Bernadotte's Murder Dramatizes Question of Palestine Before U.N.; East-West Crisis Hits Final Peak

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

HOLY LAND: Murder The sullen-faced, uniformed men in the jeep didn't say a word after they had stopped the procession of United Nations cars that was winding through the Katamon section of Jerusalem.

Carrying a machine gun, one of them walked up to the automobile in which Count Folke Bernadotte and Col. Andre Pierre Serrot were sitting, looked inside and started shooting. The two killers fled, leaving Serrot dead and Bernadotte mortally wounded. The U. N. Palestine mediator died as he was being carried into Hadassah hospital on a stretcher.

For Bernadotte, head of the Swedish Red Cross, nephew of the king of Sweden, diplomat and humanitarian, it was a wretched, futile end. His death was mourned not only by governments but by millions of ordinary citizens, yet he died not knowing when or if ever his assiduous and sincere efforts to organize peace in the Holy Land would be fulfilled.

Bernadotte's assassination brought Jerusalem—and all of Palestine, for that matter—perilously close to the brink of general violence. There was danger, too, that the uneasy Arab-Jewish truce might fall to pieces under the circumstances.

For the time being, Bernadotte's killers remained unidentified. The Israeli government called it the work of Stern gang terrorists and issued an edict outlawing that extremist group. In Oslo, Norway, U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie added his panegyric to the praise that was being heaped on the martyred Bernadotte.

“He burned with eagerness to bring about an understanding between Arabs and Jews. He thought always of justice and peace.”

FINAL REPORT: 'End It Now'

As the United Nations general assembly convened for its fateful 1948-49 session in the Palais de Chaillot the member nations took time out to pay somber tribute to Count Folke Bernadotte, their representative in Palestine who had died while trying to implement the peace of which they were supposed to be the architects.

Then they began consideration of the plan for an enforced Palestine settlement that Bernadotte had submitted before his death. THE SWEDISH COUNT'S final 35,000-word report recommended that the Arab-Jewish war should be “pronounced formally ended.” If the Arabs and Jews refuse to make peace, the U. N. should do so itself, the report said.

It calls for changes in the boundaries of the U. N. partition plan adopted in November, 1947, proposing that the Negeb desert be given to the Arabs and that the Jews should receive all of Galilee instead of only the eastern part.

Other recommendations include: 1. INTERNATIONALIZATION of Jerusalem by placing it under U. N. control.

2. ESTABLISHMENT of a technical boundaries commission to delimit the new frontiers. 3. CREATION of a Palestine conciliation commission to deal with population exchanges and supervise other parts of U. N. decisions.

4. SETTLEMENT of the problem of 360,000 Arab refugees by giving them the right to return to their homes in Jewish territory or to receive compensation if they choose not to return.

It was a good plan, the United States thought, and Secretary of State Marshall announced that this nation would back it to the fullest extent. Said Marshall:

“THE UNITED STATES considers that the conclusions contained in the final report of Count Bernadotte offer a generally fair basis for settlement of the Palestine question.”

He called it “the best possible basis for bringing peace to a distracted land,” adding that “No plan could be proposed which would be entirely satisfactory in all respects to every interested party.”

THERE'S NO EXCUSE America's Rural Fire Loss Can Be Cut

Although fire prevention week is over for this year, the danger of farm fires is not over and possibly never will be. But that seeming inevitability is no excuse. As a matter of fact, fire protection experts say, there is no longer any excuse for America's 100-million-dollar annual farm fire loss. The means to reduce it are available to almost any community that wants to make the effort.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Get The Truth!

Called on my good friend "Cappy" Miller, who edits the County Bee, the other day. And hanging up on the wall of Cappy's office is this slogan for his paper:

"Remember there are two sides to every question. Get both sides. Be truthful."

A good slogan... not just for a newspaper—for people, too. Because there'll always be two sides to every question: the side of those who vote one way, and those who vote another—the side of those who enjoy a temperate beverage like beer or ale, and of those who swear by nothing but cider.

And from where I sit, once you've got both sides—and faced them truthfully, you realize that these differences of opinion are a precious part of what we call Democracy—the right of the individual to vote as he believes, to speak his mind, to choose his own beverage of moderation, whether beer or cider.

First "call" for fall!

Don't fiddle around any longer with dirty old summer motor oil. Swing your car into the nearest Conoco station and change to winter-grade Nth Motor Oil. Lighter winter-grade Nth gives you faster starts. Saves you wear on the battery when you step on the starter.

What's more, a change to Conoco Nth Motor Oil gives you the extra protection of OIL-PLATING. For Nth contains a special, added ingredient that actually OIL-PLATES your engine's working parts... fastens an extra film of lubricant to cylinder walls... protects you from "dry" friction starts... from sludge and carbon due to wear.

So for better winter driving, call on your Conoco Mileage Merchant...

Play Safe and Call Veterinarian When Your Pet Is Sick

Prompt Advice by "Dog's Best Friend" Can Save Much Misery

The dog is "man's best friend" but the dog's best friend is his veterinarian and the best advice that can be given to the owner of a sick or injured dog is to "run, don't walk" to the veterinarian, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

According to the Center, thousands of dogs live out their lives in misery or die needlessly because their misguided though well-meaning owners either ignore symptoms of disease in their pets or else through the use of home remedies and treatments, put off obtaining the advice of a veterinarian until it is too late.

One of the commonest mistakes dog owners make is to attempt to worm a puppy at home. Some of the very sickest dogs veterinarians see are puppies which the owner has attempted to worm himself with drug-store remedies. Worm medicines are of necessity composed of toxic and potent drugs and are definitely unsafe in the hands of the average dog owner. Aside from the danger involved in home worm treatments, many dog owners do not realize that there is more than one type of worm with which a dog may be infested and that different remedies are required to be effective against the several types of worms.

Canine ear, eye and tooth troubles should receive prompt professional attention, too. Running or sore eyes, if unattended, can lead to ulceration and eventual blindness. Ear troubles which are usually indicated by the dog's continually shaking his head, scratching at the ear or showing unwillingness to have his head touched, can bring on deafness if not treated correctly. One of the most foolish things for a dog owner to do is to go probing in his pet's ears with an instrument, as the dog's eardrum is easily perforated. Dental troubles in dogs are fairly frequent. A decayed or ulcerated tooth can give a dog a good deal of pain and can cause toxemia and other illnesses. Having a veterinarian periodically remove the tartar from a dog's teeth and examine them with a view to the removal of any abscessed molars is good dog health insurance.

Delay may cost his life

Distemper or may mean that the dog has swallowed some sharp object such as a splintered bone which has lodged in the intestines. Gastroenteritis, an inflammation of the mucous lining of the stomach and intestines, is a common illness in dogs and always manifests itself by a digestive upset. This is a dangerous disease that usually runs a rapid course and diagnosis and treatment by a veterinarian should be obtained without delay.

Neglected or wrongly-treated canine skin conditions can cause the dog unceasing misery and leave permanent scars and bald patches in the coat.

Distemper is the most dreaded scourge of dogdom and no right minded dog owner should attempt to deal with this deadly virus disease without the aid of a veterinarian. High fever, listlessness, runny nose, and coughing are all symptomatic of distemper and should never be ignored or dismissed. By prompt dosage with a specific serum and the use of the newer antibiotics distemper can usually be licked. The dog-owner who suspects distemper and disregards the danger signals, thinking, "Maybe Fido will feel better tomorrow," is living in a fool's paradise—the chances are that Fido will be worse by tomorrow and a delay of 24 hours in the treatment of distemper can make the difference between a recovery and a sad end for Fido.

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste. Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—all to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Women Beat Men In Farm Safety

Are farm women more safety conscious than their husbands? A recent farm safety survey conducted in Illinois seems to indicate they are.

According to W. W. Whitlock, safety director of the Illinois agricultural association, 217 farm people in Illinois lost their lives in farm and home work accidents last year. Of these, only 12 were women.

Of course, the men folks are exposed to more hazards in field work, but Whitlock says that national statistics show that the home also is the scene of many accidents. Because of the results of the survey, Whitlock is starting a campaign among women to make their husbands more safety conscious.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Seasonings, Sauces Make Savory Vegetables (See recipes below)

Let's Eat Vegetables

A NEIGHBOR OF MINE recently had a dinner party for which she engaged a caterer. When I asked her how the party turned out, she replied, "Oh wonderful! Of course we had a fancy dessert and everything on the platters was fixed nicely, but the thing that impressed me most was how good the vegetables were. We have the same vegetables that she served but mine never taste so good, yet there wasn't anything particularly hard about the way she prepared them."

Here again, it's the little things that make the difference between everyday eating and special entertaining. But as my neighbor told me, the tricks were simple ones. Carrots were scraped shiny and bright, left whole and dusted with parsley and butter before serving. The cauliflower had a cheese sauce, and the tomatoes, dusted with bread crumbs and broiled, were really delicious. Little mounds of green peas were still green when served, and they just had some butter, salt and a few mushroom caps among them.

All the vegetables were placed on a large platter with the cauliflower in the center. And the vegetables made as big a hit as the dessert! Vegetable tricks are simple ones. The first caution to observe is not to overcook, thus destroying color, texture and vitamins—even though you can't see the latter.

IF APPETITES are a little jaded, use clever seasoning tricks on vegetables to enhance their natural flavors. There are many interesting seasonings that can be tucked into vegetables to add interest as well as appetite appeal. Horseradish can be used with beets, cauliflower or green beans.

A dusting of nutmeg lifts spinach out of the ordinary class. Onions go well in many things such as potatoes, peas, green beans or beets. Other combinations that may strike your fancy include cheese, chives, mustard, parsley or curry.

DON'T SEASON every vegetable you serve with high seasonings especially if you are serving a combination. For example, if your vegetable platter consist of string beans, carrots and potatoes, leave the potatoes completely natural. Boil in their jackets to be served with butter, salt and pepper.

Carrots can be parsley buttered, and green beans can be served with a smooth creamy horseradish sauce, as follows:

- *Creamy Horseradish Sauce (Serves 6)
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 3 to 4 tablespoons drained horseradish

Melt butter, add flour and seasonings; blend smooth. Gradually add milk while stirring, and cook until smooth and thick. Stir in drained horseradish. This makes enough sauce for one and one-half pounds of green beans.

LYNN SAYS: Vary Basic Recipes With New Flavors

Why not add chopped apples and raisins to the bread stuffing you use for bread dressing in pork chops or fowl? Families will cheer the change. Add a cup of cranberries to your favorite white flour muffin recipe along with a bit of extra sugar for a colorful hot bread. Cream butter with a bit of lemon juice when you make sandwich-bread—they'll taste fresh!

WANT TO DO something special with potatoes? Here's a company-mannered potato dish which can be served with a roast:

- Broiled Potato Puff (Serves 6)
- 8 or 9 medium potatoes, peeled
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 to 1 cup scalded milk
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup thick cream, whipped
- 1/2 cup grated American cheese

Cook potatoes until tender, drain and mash thoroughly. Add butter and gradually beat in milk. Beat until light and fluffy. Add salt and pepper and blend. Pile potatoes into a shallow casserole. Top with whipped cream and grated cheese. Slip into a slow to moderate (325 degree) oven for 10 to 12 minutes to heat through the potatoes and melt the cheese.

If Dad is away for dinner, you and the kiddies can make a meal out of this delectable dish:

- Asparagus Mimosa (Serves 6)
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms, if desired
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon curry powder
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 hard-cooked eggs
- 2 cups diced, cooked or canned asparagus

Melt butter in top of double boiler; add celery and mushrooms. Cook until vegetables are soft; blend in flour, add milk and cook until thickened. Add salt and curry powder. Mix with asparagus and hard-cooked eggs, and heat through. Serve, dusted with paprika.

- Braised Red Cabbage (Serves 6)
- 2 tablespoons bacon drippings
- 1 medium-sized head red cabbage
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 3 tablespoons honey or corn syrup
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice

Slice red cabbage fine. Add half the cabbage to the drippings in a heavy sauce pan. Sprinkle with half the vinegar; add remaining cabbage and vinegar. Pour on water, cover and cook slowly until cabbage can be pierced with a fork. Season with salt, pepper and cloves. Add honey and lemon juice, mix thoroughly and serve hot.

Baked pears are a delicious dessert when baked in brown sugar and served chilled with cream and a sprinkling of nutmeg. Did you know that you could layer sliced apples in a casserole, buttered, of course, with peanut brittle, butter and lemon juice and bake them all for a delicious dessert?

For kabobs that are delicious, try sausage balls put on the same stick with apples and onions. Broil until well browned and thoroughly cooked.

Household Hints

Do not leave your camera in the glove compartment of your car. The heat has ruined many feet of good film.

Did you know that when evaporated milk is mixed with an equal amount of water it has the same food value as bottled milk and may be used in the same way?

Mending should be attended to before clothes are washed. Unchecked rips and tears grow bigger and shaggier during the washing process.

Cut a circle from a piece of waxed paper, making it one inch smaller than the plate on which you frost a cake. This will keep the plate clean while frosting.

A jar of soap jelly made from scraps melted in hot water will do more than save soap. It makes it easier to wash as you go when baking, because you can just dip a brush into the jelly and clean up odd pieces without bothering to get out the dishpan.
