KING OF THE HIGHWAY

Above is a picture of the sixty-foot super bus, owned by the Continental Bns System, which stopped in Hedley last Wednesday for public inspection. It was en route to California from Dallas, where it had been on display at the State Fair. The articulated Luxury Liner, engineered by Kaiser, has been in service in California for some two years. It is powered by a Cummins 275 horsepower Diesel engine, has air foam rubber swivel seats, two lavatories, and unusual baggage capacity.

The bus could not be operated in Texas under present laws, since it exceeds the legal limit of length for such vehicles.

Langley-Clay

Soft candlelight from tall tapers in branched candelabra and an altar banked with palms formed the setting in the Methodist church in Quail, Sunday, November 28, when Miss Mildred Alveda Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clay of Hedley, became the bride of Loyd Curtis Langley, son of Jim Langley and the late Mrs. Langley of Quail.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. P. L. Arnold, uncle of the bride, of Elidr, N. Mex., assisted by Rev. E. J. Norman, cousin of the groom, of Wellington at six o'clock p. m.

Vows were exchanged before an archway entwined with fern accented by baskets of white chrysanthemums. Pews were marked by lighted tapers tied with white satin ribbons.

Candles were lighted by the groom's brother, Donald Ray Langley and the bride's cousin, Joyce June Burdine, who wore a dress of blue taffeta with a yellow ornament corsage.

As a musical prelude to the rites Miss Lamonte Leddy, wearing green net over taffeta with yellow carnations in her hair played appropriate music and accompanied Miss Rowena Burdine, cousin of the bride as she sang Always and Because. Miss Burdine was gowned in yellow net over taffeta with blue ornament corsage.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin, featuring a lace yoke and fitted bodice with tiny covered buttons down the front. Long fitted sleeves came to points over the hands and the flared skirt fell into a short train. Her fingertip length veil fell from a coronet fashioned of ivory satin hand-made roses dotted with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was of white mums with white satin leaves interlaced with silver and tied with white satin ribbon.

The bride's sister, Miss Avyrilla Clay was maid of honor, and wore a dress of blue taffeta with fitted bodice and tiers of ruffles forming the skirt. A gold braided belt and blue hand-made roses in her hair completed her costume.

Bridesmaids were Misses Faye Neeley of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and Bobbie Jean Harris of Wayland College, Plainview. They wore gowns of blue taffeta made with fitted bodice and full skirts. Gold bows accented scallops above a ruffled hemline. Misses Peggy Ruth Clay, sister of the bride, and Melba Langley, sister of the groom, were junior bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to those of the bride maids, and they, too, wore hand made roses in their hair. All carried white Bibles topped with blue carnations tied with gold ribbons.

Little Alvin and Alvie Neal Burdine, the year-old twin cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer. Iva Nell wore a dress of blue taffeta made like that of the maid of honor, with gold braided belt and tiny blue roses in her hair.

The groom was attended by his brother, Hoyt Langley, as best man. Ushers included Alvin Clay brother of the bride, J. W. Langley, brother of the groom, and Dennis, the groom's cousin, and Robert White.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Clay wrote the following: "The groom was attended by his brother, Hoyt Langley, as best man. Ushers included Alvin Clay brother of the bride, J. W. Langley, brother of the groom, and Dennis, the groom's cousin, and Robert White."

with a corsage of pink carnations.

At the reception following the ceremony, cake and punch were served from a lace covered table artistically decorated with a toy train, smoke from which spelled the words "Mildred and Loyd" in a mirror above the table.

A three-tiered cake which was decorated in pink and white was served by a miniature bride and groom standing under a chandelier hung with tiny wedding bells. Refreshments were served by Miss Joyce Burdine while Misses Louise and Marilyn Watkins assisted at the punch bowl.

Approximately 230 guests were registered by Mrs. J. W. French Jr., sister of the bride. Wedding gifts were on display in the reception room.

Both the bride and groom graduated from Quail High School in 1946. The bride attended Texas Tech at Lubbock and the groom attended Hardin College at Waco.

For travel the bride wore a dress of aqua gabardine with brown accessories and a corsage of autumn flowers.

After a wedding trip to various points in Texas, Old Mexico and New Mexico, the couple will be at home at Quail, where the groom is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Burdine and children, Mrs. Belle Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. French Jr. of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

President Hints Controls on Way As Cost of Living Drops Slightly; Western Mutual Aid Pact Prepared

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

DILEMMA: Sharp-Horned

Perched uncomfortably astride a dilemma having the sharpest horns ever to plague a sitter, President Truman ponders ways and means of getting off. The situation is as clearly defined as it is bothersome. IN SHORT, the president must work the seemingly impossible miracle of knocking prices down while keeping wages and farm prices up.

No less a personage than Henry Ford II has sharpened one of the horns. The industrialist touched off the "fourth round" of wage increases, with consequent high-prices maintenance, when he announced a wage hike for all his workers. Then, Mr. Ford delivered himself of the observation that wages generally must go up and that prices must do likewise.

THE PATTERN is clear. Industry raises wages and the cost of its products goes up. Wages must increase if these products are to be purchased. Labor comes in to ask for more money in order to buy these products. And so the circle continues.

Meanwhile, it is obvious that Americans expect the President and congress to do something about getting the cost of living within reasonable bounds—and to do it quick. On the other hand, labor, which backed Mr. Truman at the polls, and farmers, who generally supported him, are expecting action as swift on legislation favorable to them.

As administration leaders sought a course of action to "satisfy all groups, congress said little for public consumption. Methods of price control, if any have been conceived, have not been discussed.

ONE THING, however, is clear. The situation poses the major test of how effective in solving the problem will be the cooperation of congress and the President.

From Capitol Hill came persistent whispering that Mr. Truman's thumping victory did not necessarily arm him with the equivalent of a magic wand which he might wave over congress to bring about legislation in any form he may desire.

Solution?

Then there was a break on the inflation front. Americans who had come to accept the inevitability of the high cost of living raised their eyes with surprise over the development—although it amounted to only the merest chink in the price barricade.

TWO THINGS happened "almost simultaneously": President Truman ordered administration agencies to work out a "definite" anti-inflation program to be presented to the Democratic congress in January, and the bureau of labor statistics reported a dip of one-half of 1 per cent in its cost-of-living index for October.

The significance of Mr. Truman's proposal for anti-inflation legislation was established; it was something to look forward to. But how much real importance should be attached to the almost infinitesimal break in the price line would remain to be seen.

FOR ONE thing, the price dip—unless it grew to miraculous proportions—would not cancel out any anti-inflation measures, such as "standby" price control and rationing, which might be imposed.

Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's council of economic advisors, opined that a lowering of prices, washing out the need for drastic controls, would be "swell." But he didn't predict it would happen.

Another top fiscal official said he believed inflationary forces still had the upper hand. And Chester Bowles, one-time OPA boss, stated that congress "unquestionably" would act against inflation.

The precise nature of the program President Truman will lay before congress in January was not yet known—probably not yet determined. Its general outline probably will be made public when he delivers his "State of the Union" message in January.

But there was little doubt that a return to more or less stringent economic controls was in the cards for 1949.

Atlantis Debunked

If you take the word of Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia university, everyone who's been waiting around for the fabled "lost continent" of Atlantis to show up may now relax. Dr. Ewing says he has mapped, photographed, probed, sounded and visited "the ocean floor since 1935, and there just isn't any evidence of the mysterious continent. Atlantis was believed to be a lost continent.

Global Christmas

People of the nations of the earth are going to see Christmas from an American viewpoint this year through the medium of typical American Christmas greeting cards being sent by the state department to U. S. embassies and consulates throughout the world. Here Miss Frances Kane, state department employee, sits below an enlarged photograph of the cards.

TREATY: Mutual Aid

The cold freeze being turned on Russia by the western nations plummeted several more degrees when Great Britain, France and the three Benelux nations, after long negotiations, agreed on a 17-point mutual assistance pact.

THAT THE U. S. is involved in the agreement goes almost without saying, for without American sanction and at least an implied willingness to help out militarily in the event of aggression no western Atlantic treaty would be worth a "whereas" or even a "hereinafter."

Primary proposal in the plan calls for a pledge of mutual armed assistance by the U. S., Canada and the five western European nations in case one or more of them should be attacked.

SECONDLY, it provides that the pact be left open to membership of certain other nations. It calls, also, for the setting up of military and political boards—immediately after the pact's signature and ratification—to make the treaty operate.

Containing 17 points in all, the program of "agreed opinions" has been presented to the U. S. and Canada for consideration. There was no immediate reaction from the two governments on the matter, but it seemed logical to presume that the idea for such a treaty had received their prior blessings.

Although the pact in its present form refrains from designating a fixed period of years for its life, it does recommend "a long duration." Actually, the five European governments have been thinking in terms of a 50-year period, but the decision on that is being left to the last stage of negotiations.

RUSSIA as a nation—peaceful or belligerent—is scrupulously ignored in the document. Nowhere is any mention made of the Soviet Union. Nevertheless, the treaty itself offers grim proof of the fact that the western democratic nations have seen fit to construct the nucleus of a great regional defensive alliance against Russia and the spread of communism.

PEACEABLE: Party Line The official "line" of the Communist party has gone off on a new tangent in a tactic described as a "peace offensive" by U. S. intelligence authorities who reported the switch.

WORD IS that the Kremlin has ordered peace propaganda and demonstrations of various kinds as the official party line for all Communist parties, organs and front organizations. The intelligence boys claimed that this ostensible about-face would become apparent in the near future.

Soviet rulers are supposed to be setting the stage for a world-wide "peace" maneuver as part of their cold war strategy to embarrass the United States and its western allies in the clash over the Berlin situation.

How much will this spurious peace offensive mean? Literally nothing as far as any genuine desire or effort for peace is concerned. The Russians haven't undergone a change of heart; their aims are the same as always.

KEEP DIGGING: No Tax Cut All hope for an income tax cut in January may as well be ruled out now. This is on the authority of Sen. Walter F. George (D., Ga.) who is returning to chairmanship of the senate finance committee. He has said that increased aid to Europe and additional funds for national defense would bar any reduction of taxes.

You Can't Monkey with Texans!

Joe Stalin can tell the Russians what to think. But if anybody tried that in Texas they'd ship the body back home.

These Texans get their facts from their newspapers. They do their own deciding. And, they'll pull a shootin' iron to protect the other fellow's right to disagree.

Welding a connection to drain electric currents from a gas line.

MOTHER NATURE

Eats Metal...

Nature wages a continuous battle against metal structures buried underground. Chemicals and electric currents in the soil tend to break the metal down into rust. Rust spots on natural gas pipe lines soon become leaks, resulting in lost gas, lowered pressures or interruption of service. All of this can be minimized or prevented with "cathodic protection" or other proper corrosion control.

With over 6,000 miles of transmission lines, United Gas is one of the leaders in this field. This is one of many functions of the United Gas organization...all of which have the ultimate purpose of assuring a more dependable supply of natural gas to our customers.

Cathodic protection is used to combat an oddity of Nature—the corrosive effect of natural electric currents traveling between the soil and any buried metal structure.

Corrosion comes on where these currents flow into metal, but does occur where they flow out of metal.

Cathodic protection cuts off natural gas pipe lines from a flow of direct current through the soil to the line, thus preventing the movement of stray currents out of the metal. They are drained off through a conductor where they can do no harm.

WHY IS A FEDERAL LAND BANK LOAN POPULAR WITH FARMERS AND RANCHERS?

THERE ARE MANY REASONS

One very important one is the advantage of having:

1. Abstracts and insurance policies are kept in the loan office.
2. Subordinations handled by local loan committee.
3. Full time office personnel to render any needed service the member borrowers.

From where I sit... by Joe M.

Yes Sir, Insomnia's Contagious!

When Bud Swanson had trouble sleeping nights, and tried to get over it by turning up the radio full blast, he started an epidemic of insomnia all down the block!

Folks finally dropped a hint to Bud that he close the windows or turn the radio a little lower. Bud did—and that was the quickest cure for other folks' insomnia I've ever heard of!

Not that any of us object to the radio, or swing bands, or anything else that helps another person relax of an evening. (Myself, I like a glass of beer with a bit of ch before I go to bed. I can't do for you.)

From where I sit, good neighborliness means nothing more simply respecting the other person's tastes and forcing your own tastes or down his throat. And that goes for Bud's radio, my glass of beer whatever temperate pleasures happen to enjoy.

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, prominent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wise. That's why Dr. J. C. Doan's Pills, Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Plan Your Christmas Goodies Now
(See Recipes Below.)

Holiday Sweets

CHRISTMAS is the time when the larder is constantly raided and homemakers have to plan more than enough to take care of snack ideas the family comes up with—at a moment's notice.

Christmas is a time when goodies are in demand. Have several jars or tins of cookies ready if you want to keep the sweet tooth satisfied. With the gala recipes I'm giving you today, everyone is certain to be satisfied!

It isn't enough just to have several kinds of delectable cookies on hand. You'll need candies, too, and probably some festive popcorn balls to place on the tree.

THE FIRST of the recipes in this parade of holiday sweets is a chewy type that keeps well and is extra good eating. Make one recipe or two, but I guarantee that even that won't be enough as soon as the word gets around how really good Party Chews are:

Party Chews
(Makes 40 1 1/2-inch squares)
1/2 cup butter or substitute
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 cup sifted flour
2 EGGS
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded coconut
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal
1 cup chopped nut meats

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly. Add flour and mix. Press mixture on bottom of a shallow baking pan (9 x 13 inches). Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven about 15 minutes or until a delicate brown. Beat eggs well. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add flavoring, salt and coconut. Blend in rice cereal and nut meats. Mix well and spread on baked crust. Bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes. Remove from oven and cut into squares while warm.

Pecan Molasses Brownies
1/2 cup flour (1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup pecan meats
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup pure dark molasses
1 egg

Sift flour, measure and sift twice with salt. Lightly mix in broken pecan meats, reserving a few whole ones for decoration. Cream butter and sugar thoroughly. Blend in molasses and well-beaten egg. Add dry ingredients and mix well. Place dough into a square pan (eight-inch) and arrange pecans on top of dough. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 20 minutes. Cut into small squares.

Pecan Cakes
(Makes 24 2-inch squares)
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar

LYNN SAYS:
Here are Short Ideas, Long on Taste Appeal

Mushroom soup is a good braising liquid to use for veal steaks. When the steaks are tender, thicken the liquid and serve as gravy.

Have you ever tried cooking short ribs with tomato pulp, green pepper and a bit of garlic? The flavor's worth it!

If you have any small baskets left, these are excellent containers for popcorn balls, cookies or jellies and preserves.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

Baked Ham and Sweet Potatoes
Waldorf Salad Hot Rolls
Succotash Beverage
Pineapple Chiffon Pie

1 egg, separated
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
4 cups pecans, chopped

Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolk, then flour sifted with cinnamon; blend in pecans. Spread thin on a buttered flat tin. Beat egg white stiff and spread on top. Bake in a hot (375-degree) oven for eight to ten minutes, then cut in squares while still warm.

Maple Creams
1 cup maple brown sugar
1 cup light brown sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
Walnut meats

Cook the sugars and water to the soft ball stage (240-degrees); add almond extract. Cool to lukewarm, then beat until creamy but firm. Knead until smooth, form into small balls and press a walnut meat into each ball.

Chocolate Taffy
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
4 ounces chocolate, melted
1 tablespoon vanilla

Combine first six ingredients. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Cook to (290-degrees) the soft-crack stage. Pour into a buttered pan and then pour chocolate over candy and as edges cool, fold in the center. Add vanilla and use folding until vanilla is enough to pull. Pull until cold and cut into pieces.

HERE IS a cookie which is very much like the praline for which the South is so famous.

Brazil Nut Patties
(Makes 36 patties 1 1/2-inches in diameter)
2 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped Brazil nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Place two cups sugar and the milk in a saucepan. Have over low heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. While sugar syrup is cooking place remainder of sugar in a heavy saucepan and stir constantly over low heat until a light brown syrup is formed. Add to sugar syrup slowly and cook to 236 degrees or when a soft ball is formed when some of the syrup is dropped in cold water.

Remove from heat; add butter and beat until mixture thickens and begins to lose its gloss; add Brazil nuts and vanilla. Drop from tablespoon on heavy waxed paper. If candy gets too firm, add a tablespoon of water and place over heat, mixing until candy melts, then continue dropping from spoon.
