Bull Town Bulletins

WITHIN A MONTH, our country has lost a pair of leading political figures from the 1950s-60s era, the latest being the passing of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis.

The Kennedy administration was the first one with which we felt a kinship, it being my first opportunity, in 1960, to cast my first vote in a presidential election. And while we mentioned a month ago that we had voted twice for Nixon in winning races, we're still proud of the fact that in 1960, we voted for JFK in his win over Nixon.

In fact, I had to drive 25 or 30 miles to the courthouse in Palo Alto, California in order to vote in the election, since Carol and I had moved to California during the election year.

definitely had an appeal to us as younger voters, and the sight of Jackie on his arm didn't hurt one bit. As the writers have pointed out this week, Kennedy knew what made him look good--perhaps reinforced by his father, Joseph Kennedy, who was said to have considered Jackie "about perfect."

We always felt a sort of tie to the Kennedys after our firstborn, Laura, was born on the same day that John F. Kennedy, Jr. was born. We have enjoyed seeing photos and articles about John, Jr., down through the years, remembering that on that day John-John got the biggest headline, although we were proud of Laura's one-column story in the San Mateo Times, for which Bill was a sportswriter. The Times didn't ordinarily run birth announcements at all.

Along with the rest of the nation, we suffered as Jackie saw her husband snuffed out during the parade in Dallas. We watched as she bore the grief following the assassination with uncommon grace, never shedding a tear in public.

The picture of young John-John saluting his dead father's coffin, shown again on TV and in the press this week, is indelibly a part of our mind's eye when we remember the pictures of JFK's funeral.

We had not realized at the time that in spite of her grief, Jackie had quickly arranged all of the details of JFK's funeral, including the riderless horse that followed the coffin in the parade, and the burial of Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery, beneath an eternal flame. To Ye Editor, that seemed like class, with a capital "C." She was thrust into the public eye as first lady at the tender age of 31. Compare that with the ages of your children, or those you know, and it sort of makes you gasp. She was the first president's wife in quite some time--and only one during our lifetime--to have a baby while living in the White House.

As Carol could no doubt better relate to you, Jackie also set the fashion trend for her generation of young ladies during the short time she served as first lady. The story we enjoyed this week was about the time she had to grab her pillboxstyled hat quickly when she was going to the inauguration, due to a gust of wind, and the top of the hat became indented.

inauguration with the indentation in and her husband co-owned and her hat, everyone, including her fashion designer, Oleg Cassini, decided that this was the new trend-which it quickly became.

had the White House restored in 1961 she located antique furnishings from the James Monroe era, and that walls which had been painted in seasick green were covered over in 19th-century wallpaper carefully (and at great expense) stripped from old farmhouses!

Are you making the most of 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/3 cup bread crumbs your microwave?" This question was the lead sentence in a feature article in a recent ladies magazine. 1 inch boiling water, which has

My answer would have to be in the negative. However, very often I eat a microwave dish someone else prepared and tell myself, "I must learn to prepare this one and to use my microwave more often."

The most recent incident of this type was when I ate Mother's Day lunch with a granddaughter, Heather Osborn, who lives in Abernathy.

I immediately asked for and received the recipe and filed it along with a lot of other "must dos" and haven't tried it yet.

SLICED BAKED POTATOES

For four servings you will need: 4 medium even potatoes 1 teaspoon salt

2 to 3 tablespoons melted butter 2 to 3 tablespoons chopped fresh herbs such as parsley, chives, thyme or sage or 2 to 3 teaspoons dried herb of your choice 4 tablespoons grated cheddar cheese 1-1/2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese

Preparation: peel the potatoes if the skin is tough, otherwise, just rinse and pat dry. Cut potatoes into thin slices but not all the way through. Use a handle of a spoon to prevent knife from cutting all the way. Place potatoes in a microsafe dish or pan. Sprinkle with melted butter and chopped parsley, chives

Microwave at high power 10 minutes, rearranging the potatoes after five minutes. Let rest five minutes. Sprinkle with grated cheddar and Parmesan cheese. Microwave for another four to six minutes at high power until cheeses are melted and potatoes are soft. Sprinkle with salt. Serve potatoes as a side dish or as a main dish with just a salad.

It will not be very long until summer vegetables are available. If your family enjoys eating slaw, the two following recipes should be filed and used for preserving a winter supply.

CANNED COLE SLAW 12 pounds cabbage-shredded and put in a crock

Add 1 cup coarse salt and 2 gallons boiling water. Stir and let set overnight.

10 large onions, shredded into another container

3 red sweet peppers and a green sweet pepper shredded into a third

Add 1 teaspoon salt to each container. Mix well and let set overnight.

Next morning: wash contents of each container in cold water. Drain and squeeze water out with hands. Mix all three together well.

Mix 3 cups sugar, 3 cups vinegar and 1 cup water in a saucepan and bring to a boil then pour over mixture. Add 3 cups Mazola oil and thoroughly mix together. Fill pint or quart size canning jars and seal. Place in pressure cooker. Process five minutes at 5 pounds pressure. Let cooker cool before removing jars. All jars should be sealed.

Slaw is ready to eat any time and keeps real well.

FROZEN CABBAGE SALAD 1 head cabbage

1 green pepper 1/4 cup water 3 cups sugar

Shred cabbage and pepper in saucepan. Add 1 teaspoon salt and let set awhile. Bring to a boil and let cool. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over cabbagepepper mixture. Freeze. Keeps

The Bovina area received seventenths of an inch of rain on Sunday night and lots of rumbling thunder and lightning. Some places near Farwell received almost four inches of rain. We're glad to get what we did. Perhaps more this week....

Congratulations to Benji Mitard who had a third place finish at the state track meet in Austin and Brooke Charles, who had two 5th place finishes. Benji belongs to Tiny and Pearly Chisom and Brooke to Billy Jay and Barbara

We were saddened by the death of Gene Lowe. He was injured in a one vehicle accident about a year ago and has been paralyzed since. He has been in and out of the hospital for all this time and passed away at his home in Lubbock on Wednesday, May 18.

We express our sympathies to his wife, Barbara, and their four children and grandchildren.

We attended church that morning with daughter Tami and family and it was sweet to hear granddaughter Gina sing a special in the morning service. She will be graduating into high school this week...time

Amy is the daughter of Lowell and Kathy Boozer, former residents. She graduated in the top 10 of 175 students in her class with honors. Her mom told me she would get the information and a picture when I called her, and we'll get it in the paper next week if possible.

Amy's sister, Misty Black, and her husband were there from Manhattan, Kansas. Carlene said they will soon be moving to Denver, Colorado.

Family members celebated Arlene Hance's birthday. She is the daughter of Jack and Alma Clayton.

SMILE:

A marble tournament was in full swing. Little Johnny missed an easy shot and in a loud voice uttered a real cuss word. A preacher who Sami teaches Art at Fort Elliott was among the spectators called to him, "Johnny, what happens to little boys who swear?"

Replied little Johnny, "They grow up to be golfers."

For an additional cost of $2,15 more per acre, our musti-level crop-hail policy can pay you $5.00 more per acre on an insured loss by hall,

MULTI-GUADO sold exclusively by McCallum Ins. Agency will pay you $5.00 more per acre on a covered loss than the ten percent deductible standard crop policy for only $2.15 more per acre in premium cost.

If you purchased $250 per acre of multi-level insurance at a cost of $27.15 per acre versus the standard crop-hail cost of $25.00 per acre for 10% deductible on 19% loss for 120 acres of corn, the standard policy will only pay $22.50 per acre for a total loss pay ment of $2,700.00 versus the $27.50 per acre paid by the multi-level policy for a loss payment of $3,300.00.

1) you purchased $250.08 per acre of multi level at a cost of form by hall would almost double to 85,100.00 for the same 120 acres of corn.

With the higher crop hail insurance rates this year, it is more important than ever to get your money's worth.
