

WHITTLIN'

BY DOLPH MOTEN

This week's rain was of the "million dollar" variety at least one area farmer believes and, no doubt, many others do, too.

Except for an area south of Bovina which almost, but not quite, missed out on the Monday morning shower, the rain was of a general nature. You occasionally hear opinions stated about how rains aren't general in nature now as they once were. That theory won't hold this time as there was evidently some moisture recorded throughout the West Texas-New Mexico area.

With bellyaching being as popular as it is, we would have expected to hear some complaining from farmers who were in the area which received from two to three inches of rain -- west of town!

They didn't do it, though. Seems that they unanimously felt that the moisture was of much more benefit than the excess water caused damage.

The word's out that this department has sold out to the Santa Fe . . . giving them all the credit for the railroad crossings in Bovina now being smoother. Texas Highway Department had a big share in making the crossings as nice as they are now by providing the additional paving up to, and between, the tracks.

We're sorry we overlooked, or failed to mention, the part that the local highway crew played in making Bovina railroad crossings more pleasant for the driving public. But the THD people continually do an outstanding job in all areas of their work and we, as do other people, just expect great performances from them.

Frankly, we weren't sure Santa Fe would ever come here and tend to its part of the railroad crossings. And when it did, we just kinda got carried away with giving the railroad boys all the credit.

One fellow was even heard to comment after the railroad crew had finished and before the highway department had done its part that the crossings were still so rough that "You couldn't fly a helicopter across them."

That, both you dear readers, is pretty dang rough!

Remember the community survey Bovina Jaycees conducted a few weeks back? They had folks tell their likes and dislikes about their community and evaluate the existing services and facilities.

The survey has been completed and tabulated.

Approximately a third of the people responded by filling out the blank. That's a pretty good return, too, when you consider that people weren't going to win any prizes for filling out the blank or obtain any direct benefit for their efforts.

We were disappointed, somewhat, because the consensus of the surveys rated nothing in Bovina as excellent. We don't understand that and heartily disagree.

Many things in Bovina are excellent and many people should rate them as such when given the opportunity.

Anyway, here are some things which received ratings of "good," the highest rating anything here received: water pressure, sewage disposal, garbage collection, gas pressure, electricity, and postal service.

Classified as "average" were storm water drainage, telephone service, news coverage by newspaper, fire protection, law enforcement, court services, parking in the business district, street layout and traffic signals and signs.

Considered below average by those filling out the survey blanks were zoning ordinances, welfare services, public transportation to other communities, maintenance and cleaning of streets and the sidewalks.

Recreational opportunities were considered below average to poor.

The schools received good and average grades throughout on

MONDAY MORNING --

'Good' Rain Falls Here

Rain, the one optimistic farmers knew was coming but were beginning to wonder when, came here Monday morning. Moisture fell throughout the area with the area west of Bovina, in the Pleasant Hill community, receiving up to three inches. The rain was lighter in areas south as a minimum of .2 of an inch was measured on farms there.

The total in Bovina was .6 of an inch. The amount increased west of town. Between Bovina and Pleasant Hill, for instance, the amount varied from an inch to two inches.

The moisture brought a blast of cold air with it. Temperatures hovered in the 40's throughout the day Monday. The rain began falling about 4 a.m. Monday.

High winds and sand blew here Saturday making outdoor activity near impossible.

Tornado-like winds accompanied the Monday morning rain across a small area east of Bovina.

Three farm houses east of Bovina on Dimmitt Highway received minor damages from a twister-type wind. The TV antenna was destroyed at the Walter Krieger house three miles east and one large tree, in a row of trees, was uprooted. At the Travis Dyer home two miles east, the wind damaged garage doors.

The moisture was considered beneficial to the area's wheat crop which is nearing maturity. This could have been that "one more rain" which will make the crop a highly successful one.

Fields for baseball and other outdoor sports received a mark of good. Graded below average were shopping facilities and service and repair facilities.

Junior Choir Rates Superior

Junior Choir of First Baptist Church of Bovina went recently to the First Baptist Church of Lubbock, to participate in the State Music Festival.

Before the Bovina choir could be invited to the State Festival they were required to attain a rating of Superior at the Association Music Festival. This the local choir did on March 19th at the First Baptist Church of Littlefield.

At Lubbock the junior choir sang two numbers for adjudication, "I Love Thee" from the Baptist Hymnal and the Anthem "O Saviour Sweet."

On both of these numbers the judges presented them with a rating of superior. The ratings were made even more meaningful to the local group since the 1965 choir is the first choir from Bovina to receive an invitation to the State meet.

Director of the junior choir, Jack Boggs, says, "I am well pleased with the efforts of the choir and think the rating of superior is not only a tribute to the choir members, but to their parents also."

Mrs. Julia Ann Moody served as accompanist for the choir.

Though the number traveling to Lubbock was 43, the choir has an enrollment of 54.

Church Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"Ordinarily I would hesitate to mention the pitiful state of our finances, but in accord with the President's call for open warfare on poverty..."

This Week's DEVOTIONAL
THE LORD'S DAY

"And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made." Gen. 2:3.
"Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy." Exodus 20:8.
What shall we do with the Lord's Day, how shall we use it or abuse it? It seems to me that God's Word is very clear in teaching that we should use it to worship God and refresh our souls. But man has ever tried to take over from God and prove himself wiser.
The Christian idea that one day in seven is holy has blessed mankind wherever it has been observed. On the other hand wherever the Lord's Day has been abused it has been lost and that to the eternal hurt of man.
So my friend let us not take the Lord's Day for our own, abuse it and lose it for if we do we shall regret it eternally.

Ralph Aday, Pastor

Baseballers Complete Season

Bovina Mustang baseballers closed the 1965 season with a pair of losses last week. Nazareth downed the Ponies here Tuesday, 6-2, while Lazbuddie was victorious in a tilt played there Thursday, 7-6. Lazbuddie scored six runs in the first inning and one in the last for the win. The Mustangs tied the score, six all, in the sixth inning only to see Lazbuddie push across the deciding tally in the seventh. Mustangs' season record was 0-10. However, only three members of the squad were seniors and Coach Gary Cox expects improvement in years to come. Bovina, Nazareth and Lazbuddie are the only three district teams participating in baseball. Nazareth was the district champion.

FINE SUGAR BEETS --- This 75 acre field of sugar beets owned by Marlon Inman, located five miles south east of Farwell, was planted on March 8. The beets have been watered twice; a mechanical weeder has been used twice and they have been cultivated once, according to Inman. While it is still too early to make any predictions on the yield of the crop, sugar beets experts are estimating that the yield will be approximately 25 to 30 tons. Inman and his father in law, Verney Towns, also have 75 acres of additional sugar beets in the Bovina and West Camp areas.

SCREWORM ERADICATION PROGRAM
 Eighteen screwworm cases reported in Texas during April brought the total for the year to 22. This compares with 36 cases for the same period a year ago. Every local cattle owner needs to be on the look out for worm cases. The 18 cases have been widely scattered over South and Central Texas. We want to emphasize that it could be possible for screwworm cases here in Parmer County because we learned last year how these flies can travel great distances to infest far removed areas. Samples from every case of worms needs to be collected so they can be positively identified as screwworms or non-screwworms. We received notice from a cattle owner last week that he had a case of worms but no sample was collected. This is not good enough to eradicate the screwworm. Samples of 10 or more worms need to be collected from every case of worms. If I was guessing, I would say that the case last week was not screwworms, but in this program (Continued on page 3)

Chemical Clearances
 Last week we received a notice that the clearance for the use of forage from fields treated with Propazine and Atrazine had been cancelled. Propazine and Atrazine are now cleared for use on sorghum for grain only. The USDA Plant Biology Department advises that it has been decided that further evaluation is needed before these materials can be released for use on sorghums for forage. We have notice of clearance for Treflan on several additional crops now which follow: Cotton, Soybeans, Southern

Committees Report On Plans And Activities
 The County Program Building Committee met April 29th at 7:30 p.m. in the First State Bank Community room in Friona with 18 members present. Committees reported on plans and programmed activities. County Judge Loyde Brewer was appointed a Chairman of the Study Committee on "Aging." His committee will study the County aging situation and report back at the next meeting. The need for a Junior College in this area was presented to the group by Alex Williams of Muleshoe. This created much discussion among the group. The multi-purpose dam committee reported their efforts on the multi-purpose dam project. Time is getting close as the main survey crew plans to start in Hale County on May 10 and work up Running Water Draw with the final survey results. Some members of the Program Building Committee had requested information on Vocational training, labor housing and other programs under the Economic Opportunity Act. The County Agent and FHA Supervisor discussed briefly various EOA programs and related activities to the group and answered the questions that committee members had. The Commodity Committee chairman, A.L. Hartzog, briefly outlined the proposed rules on County Cotton festivals for Counties in the State to promote cotton. The County Program Building Committee recommended that this project be turned over to the County Cotton Improvement Association to be further developed on our County level.

Farmers' Opinion On Skip-Row Planting Invited

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is proposing a change in the rules for measuring cotton when planted in a skip-row pattern for compliance with acreage allotments. The change, if adopted, would become effective for the 1966 cotton crop, announces Prentice Mills, ASC office manager. In skip-row plantings, strips of cotton rows are generally alternated with strips of idle land. Under the present rule, all the idle land beyond 1/2 of a normal row is not counted as cotton when computing the acreage. This in effect spreads the allotment over more acreage. Under the change, a part of the idle land will be considered cotton acreage for allotment purposes. USDA officials say that studies of different skip-row planting patterns confirm that the cotton planted on the outside, or next to the idle space produces more than cotton planted in a normal row pattern. Under the proposed skip-row cotton rule, not only the land planted to cotton but also the 32 inches (an additional 12 inches over what is now counted) beyond the outside rows next to the idle land would be charged as cotton acreage under the allotment program. The following examples illustrates various skip-row patterns, the amount of the planted area counted as cotton under present rules and the amount which would be counted as cotton under the proposed rule. For example purposes, it is assumed that cotton row width is 40 inches. Any changes in row width would mean additional adjustments in acreage.

Pattern	Charged as cotton under present rule (per cent of area)	Charged as cotton under proposed rule	Percentage Increase (Col. 3 over Col. 2)
2 row cotton	66 2/3%	86 2/3%	30%
1 row skipped	50%	65%	30%
2 rows cotton	33 1/3%	43 1/3%	30%
2 rows cotton	66 2/3%	76 2/3%	15%
2 rows skipped	50%	57 1/2%	15%

The following example demonstrates how skip-row planting works: a farmer with a 50-acre cotton allotment using the skip-row pattern of 2 rows of cotton and two rows skipped. Under the present system the farmer would be considered to have half (50%) of the total area planted to cotton.

This would permit him to utilize 100 acres of land and still be considered as being in compliance with his 50-acre cotton allotment. Under the proposed new rules, 65 per cent of the land would be considered as planted to cotton. Therefore, he would be able to plant no more than 77 acres under the two and two pattern and still be considered as in compliance with his cotton acreage allotment. Cotton producers are invited to submit data, views and any recommendations they may have in writing to the Director, Farmer Programs Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Washington, D.C. 20250. To be eligible for consideration, comments must be postmarked no later than 30 days after April 22, 1965.

Beef Specials Vary According To Supermarket

No dramatic changes in the prices or supplies of meat items are to be found at most supermarkets this week, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist. Beef specials vary from store to store. Generally, there are good values in chuck and rib roasts, a variety of steaks and ground beef. Fryers are at about the same general price level of a week ago, with some indications of reduction. There are a few lower prices where poultry is featured. Turkeys are still available, but some prices are a bit higher. Egg prices continue to be attractive. Buy from a refrigerated case, and keep eggs refrigerated at home, suggests Mrs. Clyatt. Lower onion prices are resulting from liberal supplies and somewhat limited demand.

With the return of warm (almost hot) weather cotton planting in Farmer County is in full swing, with many farmers, who have been delayed by the recent cool weather, working long hours to get the crop into the ground within the next few days. Here Pete DeFries, workman on the John Christian farm, is planting 15 acre patch using Gregg cotton seed, at 40 pounds per acre. DJ-Syston for control of early crop insects is also being used.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

PRODUCERS PROTEST SKIP-ROW PROPOSAL

The Department of Agriculture's proposal to change its regulations on skip-row planting of cotton is bringing a storm of protest from virtually all sections of the cotton belt, including the High Plains.

Skip-row regulations in effect for the past three years have allowed producers to spread cotton allotments over more acreage by leaving blank rows, or rows planted to soil-building crops, between rows planted to cotton without having the blank rows count against their cotton allotment. Particularly in areas without or with a scarcity of irrigation water, this practice has been widely used as a soil and water conservation measure and to increase production from limited allotments. Farmers have found that plants in a skip-row pattern are able to utilize soil moisture and plant food from adjacent idle land, thus yielding more fruit than plants in a solid planted field.

In the Department's new proposal it is pointed out that: "The purpose of the proposed change is not to eliminate skip-row planting but to bring skip-row acreage for allotment determinations more nearly in line with production increases due to such plantings." The rule change, if put into effect, would charge 32 inches (as opposed to the present 20 inches) beyond the outside rows next to idle land as cotton acreage. If made final, the rule change would go into effect with the 1966 crop.

Net effect of the change, assuming 40 inch rows, would be that land planted to cotton in a two-in, one-out pattern would be considered as 86 2/3 per cent cotton instead of the present 66 2/3 per cent; two-in, two-out plantings would count 65 per cent instead of the current 50 per cent; two-in, four-out would count 43 1/3 per cent instead of 33 1/3 per cent; four-in, two-out would count 76 2/3 per cent cotton as opposed to 66 2/3 per cent, and four-in, four-out would be considered 57 1/2 per cent cotton instead of the present 50 per cent.

If cotton was planted to 38 inch rows or to some other width, these percentages would of course be different, and some people in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, which is responsible for allotment measurements seem to think there would be considerable difficulty in administering the proposal.

Differences in skip-row patterns, yield increase variations under different soil and water conditions and other factors make it impossible to calculate the extent to which production would be reduced under the new proposal. It is thought safe to assume, however, that production from cotton normally planted in skip-row fashion would be cut by at least 30 per cent, perhaps more. And cutting production on the 2.5 million acres planted to skip-row cotton in 1964 by 30 per cent would have reduced the U. S. crop by about 750,000 bales, assuming production of a bale per acre.

Opponents of the new ruling point out, on the other hand, that land formerly devoted to a farmer's cotton allotment would be planted to grain sorghums or other crops, aggravating their supply situation and that no significant overall advantage would be gained. In addition, they call attention to the inconsistency in ruling out a valuable per-unit cost-cutting tool and at the same time attempting to encourage producers to cut production costs.

Of the 2.5 million acres planted to skip-row in 1964, over 1.4 million were in Texas -- well over half the national total. It is difficult to determine just how much of the High Plains acreage utilizes skip-row systems, but best estimates place the percentage at between 25 and 30. According to Walter Wells, Office Manager for the Lubbock County ASCS office, a 1964 survey showed about 28 per cent of Lubbock County cotton in skip-row patterns, and it is thought that this may be fairly representative of the area, if so, some 630,000 acres on the High Plains were in skip-row cotton for 1964.

Much of this, if not a majority, was in areas with weak irrigation water or no irrigation at all, and instituting the new rules would amount to exactly the same thing as an acreage cut of about 30 per cent to these farmers. In such areas, skip-row planting has long been an accepted practice, and if continued under the new proposal each farmer's allotment would be planted on about 20 per cent less land. If discontinued, production would still suffer by reason of the reduced soil moisture and plant food available to each stalk. Either way, about 30 per cent of production would be lost, and in light of the current "put the money where it is needed most" philosophy in Washington, the new proposal is hard to justify.

Also, as has been pointed out, it would be just as sensible to penalize farmers who use fertilizers, irrigation water or other production aids to increase farm efficiency.

The proposed rule change has been published in the April 22 Federal Register, and producers or others who wish to comment have 30 days from that date to make themselves heard. Remarks should be addressed to: Director, Farmer Programs Division, ASCS, Washington D.C., 20250. It is to be hoped that the Department will receive enough vigorous protests that the matter will be dropped. Otherwise, public hearings may be scheduled in Washington at a later date.

Cotton Still In Trouble

A Texas A&M University agricultural economist sees few encouraging signs in his spring review of the outlook for cotton.

John G. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the carryover for U. S. upland cotton on August 1, 1965, is expected to reach 13.4 million bales, up 1.3 million bales from last year. And, he adds, this is the fourth consecutive year the carryover has increased. The record carryover of 14.4 million bales was set in 1956.

Despite a rise in domestic mill consumption, the total disappearance of upland cotton for the 1964-65 year is well below the production for 1964, the economist said. Exports, which play a very important role in total disappearance of cotton, have declined sharply this year, McHaney said.

The economist listed three major factors behind the expected 21 per cent drop in exports. They are the record production of cotton in foreign free-world countries; the reduced free-world trade with Communist countries because of their near record production and the working down of cotton stocks in importing countries. Foreign free-world consumption of cotton is expected to total a record 25 million bales. Production in these same countries also set a new record of 22.5 million bales for the 1964-65 year. The sharpest increases were in Central America and Africa, McHaney said.

In order to make U. S. cotton available for export and at competitive world prices, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the initial rate for payment is kind for the 1965-66 crop year under the Cotton Equalization Program will be approximately 5.75 cents per pound.

Texas cotton growers should continue to strive to produce cotton at the least possible cost per pound. This means the use of the latest findings from research and demonstration farms covering all phases of cotton production, says McHaney.

Yield on this 30 acre field of New Mexico variety barley is expected to be at least 90 bushels per acre, with some estimating that the yield will reach 100 bushels per acre. However, John Christian, owner of the crop says he will be "mighty happy" if it makes the estimated 90 bushel yield. "The crop," located some two and one half miles east of Farwell alongside of FM road 145, "will be ready for harvest by the middle of June or shortly thereafter, with cooperation from the elements," said Christian. Pete DeFries, workman on the Christian farm shows the height of the crop and the length of the heads. "Best barley I ever saw" he stated.

AMMO NOTES

By W. F. "Bill" Bennett
Agronomist

Western Ammonia Corporation

Previous Ammo-Notes columns have dealt with the role of sulphur in plant nutrition and reactions of sulphur in the soil. I would like to discuss in this column the various sources of sulphur which are available to be used.

Active sulphate sources commonly used are ammonium sulphate, ammonium thiosulphate and sulphuric acid. Some ammonium phosphates, such as liquid 11-20-0-11S and dry 16-20-0, also contain active sulphate form. The superphosphate 0-20-0 contains sulphate in the form of calcium sulphate. Elemental sulphur is available as prilled or flaked sulphur.

Ammonium thiosulphate is one of the newest sources of sulphur on the High Plains. This material is in the liquid form and contains 12% nitrogen and 26% sulphur. After application, approximately 50% of the sulphur is in the sulphate form and approximately 50% is in the elemental sulphur form. The elemental sulphur is in a finely divided colloidal state, hence, it will probably oxidize within the season. It is in the liquid form and is being used in the area to mix with liquid ammonium phosphate fertilizers.

Another sulphate source is ammonium sulphate. This is a dry fertilizer and is commonly used as a topdressing for wheat. Sulphur in this material is an active sulphate form. It contains 21% nitrogen and 24% sulphur.

Another sulphur source is sulphuric acid. This sulphur is in the sulphate form. Since it is an acid, it is in a highly reactive state and will react readily in the soil.

The calcium phosphate, 0-20-0, is another sulphate source. This source, however, would be used only as a plant nutrient and would not be effective in the reduction of the alkalinity of the soil. The sulphate present in 0-20-0 is present as a calcium sulphate which means that it has already reacted with the calcium form and consequently would have little or no effect on the alkalinity of the soil.

Elemental sulphur is a source of sulphur readily available in the High Plains. The big advantage of elemental sulphur is that it is the cheapest form of sulphur that can be used. It is usually sold as either prilled sulphur or flaked sulphur. The prilled sulphur has been designed primarily for broadcast application and mixing with fertilizer blends. Elemental sulphur is slow to oxidize. The sulphur oxidation process was described in a previous column. If an individual is interested in neutralizing or decreasing the alkalinity in the entire soil mass, the best and cheapest route in the long run would be to apply elemental sulphur. This, however, is a long term, 2 to 5 year program.

gram we cannot guess, we must have positive identification of every worm case. The County Agent's office has sample containers and if you have questions give us a call.

The County Screwworm Eradication committee needs about $50 in donations to reach the County goal of $584 for the statewide fund raising campaign by livestock producers. Send your contributions to Joe Jones, Farwell or Jack McCracken, Bovina.

SORGHUM RIDGE MANAGEMENT

Even though Sorghum Ridge damage was very light last year, we found out in 1963 how ridge damage can hurt.

We have found that grain sorghum that blooms no later than the first week in August will usually escape serious ridge damage.

Sorghum producers who haven't already planted should make sure, through their seed dealer, that they have the right combination of variety and planting date for peak blooming by early August.

ADULT LEADER FORUM

Several local adult leaders will be accompanied by the Extension Agents next Monday for a trip to Amarillo. We will be attending a District 4-H Adult Leaders Forum there.

4-H Leaders who attended the State Forum have made plans for this event to share information and inspiration they gained in the State Forum. We believe this will be a very informative meeting and if any leader would like to go, give the County Agents office a call because we might still have room to take you.

COTTON SEEDLING DISEASE

We are anxious to see how our fungicide demonstrations on cotton seedling disease are going to show up after this spell of cool, wet weather. If any farmers haven't planted their cotton or have to replant you might check with the County Agent about trying out some of these new fungicide materials. We have a little material left over so far and would like to see it get out and put to use here in the County.

What I have left is a granular material and can be put out with DJ-Syston application equipment. If you want to try some call the County Agent's office in Farwell.
