************* O. K., lucky people, come Sunday morning you can get back on that Daylight Savings Time. This will cost you an hour's sleep Saturday night and months and months of frustration during the remainder of the Spring, all of the Summer and part of the Fall because you won't know what time to do what, Then about the time you get accustomed to the DST business, it'll be October again, or whenever it is, and it'll be changed back to a more sensible time, but will still be confusing because by then you've made the difficult adjustment to this ridiculous change in watch setting.

This time change thing is kinda like the weather as far as we're concerned in that we don't do anything about it except complain about it in this apace once or twice a year. But, we're firmly convinced there's no reason for it. If the people in the industrial and metropolitan areas want an extra hour in the afternoons to play golf, walk the dog, hoe the dandelions or whatever those people do, that's fine with us. We want them to have that extra time.

But, why, why, why can't they just go to work at seven a.m. instead of eight and not bother the clock for those of us who are more interested in working by the job than by the hour. By beginning their work day at seven, they could be off by four, have their eight hour day in, still have time for 18 holes before dark and those of us out here in the country would be bragging on them for their sensibility instead of complaining about their stupidity which is affecting us.

The time change definitely gets you up an hour earlier in the morning and had a tendency to get you to bed later at night. Bedtime for many of us in based on some time period after it gets dark.

And that, with Daylight Saving Time, can be pretty late. Couple that late bedtime with a'rising an hour earlier in the a.m. and you have a sleepy group to reckon with.

And some of those sleepy ones will be aggravated, too, along with being in need of additional shut-eye.

We hope that our opposition to the time change idea isn't brought on by our advanced age and an arbitray resistance to changes, be they good or bad. Anyway, we don't like it, don't see the need for it, and don't appreciated the people who figured it out in the first place.

Some time ago, we wrote in this space about a conversation we'd had with O. W. Rhinehart about the availability of irrigation water in this area from "red bed" or some deeper source than the Ogallala formation from which we are now getting our irrigation water.

Frank Rayner, engineer with the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, spoke on the subject at a meeting here last week of the Parmer County committeemen of the HPUWCD and their wives.

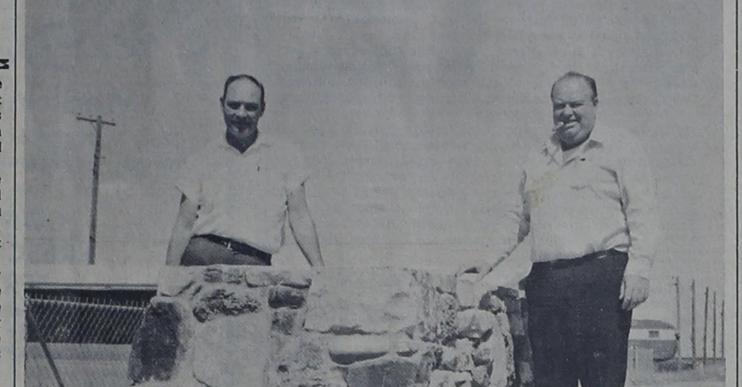

Rayner pointed out there is a possibility of water from this formation which we referred to as "Triassic," especially in the northwestern section of the country. According to his information, the Triassic formation doesn't seem to be prominent in this more central part of Parmer. And the formation, even at its best, offers no potential like the Ogallala formation, anyway. Some farmers in Deaf Smith County are effectively using the deep water.

He pointed out that spacing of wells which are pumping from the Triassic formation is further ---- almost a mile apart. This is about as close together as it is practical to put these wells, he explained, because of the lack of ability of the formation to yield water. Any closer than that, the technical information says, and you're not apt to get any more water than you would from proper spacing,

While the entineer's information didn't offer an abundance of hope in this immediate area, it was interesting and water from this formation might come to be important to other nearby areas. Rayner, who evidently has tremendous interest in his business, lovingly referred to the Ogallala as a "Cinderella" formation because of its great ability to yield water. And besides that, isn't Rayner a great name for a water conservation district engineer? The fact that he got his formal training at Texas A&M didn't influence us. We would have tried to be just as interested if he had been a graduate of Texas Teach!

Grace Paul Division Chartered, Organized

Opportunity Plan, Inc. was chartered and five committeemen were elected at dedication ceremonies held in Bovina Schools auditorium Tuesday had gone to college and vocanight of last week.

Welcome was extended by Mrs. Arnold Hromas, president of Bovina Woman's Study Club, which is sponsoring the plan here. Among those attending were sisters of the late Miss Grace Paul, Miss Greta Paul and Mrs. Jay Shaw of Hereford. Milton (Buff) Morris, executive vice president of Opportunity Plan, Inc., was introduced by Mrs. Ann Corn.

He explained the plan is not a scholarship program, but a revolving fund that mixes money with young people who have a desire to do something. Students who are on the plan work up a budget as to how much they will need for the year. After the budget is approved by the committee, they may draw checks as needed up to the amount set.

Named to the Bovina committee were Mrs. Corn. Mrs. Earl Stevenson, Mike Barraza, Mrs. Ben Rejino and Wendol Christian. The committee will accept applications, screen them and make decisions as to who will receive educational aid in this way. If the students attend West Texas State University, Opportunity Plan, Inc. will manage them and their finances there. #### Grace Paul Fund --

Last year, 1700 students at West Texas State were aided by the plan.

Morris said, however, "We can't help those who won't try." The plan is interested in students who are good citizens, have a sincere desire to receive an education.

The plan is divided into divisions, such as the Grace Paul Division. The largest contains funds of $75,000.

Opportunity Plan, Inc. has become a $400,000 corporation, and is audited by an Amarino firm. No interest is charged the student receiving help, only requirement for repayment is

About $114,000 is invested with the interest from that amount paying the overhead of the corporation.

He also pointed out that the corporation is not a part of West Texas State University. The university only furnishes the office space. Opportunity Plan, Inc. is governed by its own board of directors.

Grace Paul Division now has about $500 on deposit, Mrs. Corn said this week. This amount rose from $250 in the past few days.

Those wishing to add to the fund may do so as memorials, outright donations, etc. at First State Bank of Bovina, Anyone giving $30 or more each year becomes a voting member of Opportunity Plan, Inc.

When amounts are deposited, the donor will receive a receipt. A card will also be sent the family in case the amount is a memorial.

Approximately 30 people attended the Bovina meeting.

coopin By Pat Jacobs

Got a request from Congressman James M. Collins of Texas 3rd District for any comments printed in this newspaper concerning bussing of students.

Since there has been none, there's no time like the present --- especially since he, quote, intends to offer an amendment to clear up the whole issue of bussing this week.

There has never been a practical purpose served by bussing students from one side of a city to another side -simply for the sake of integration. Of course, it has provided employment for bus drivers, maintenance repair men, and added to the school gasoline bills.

Out here in rural West Texas, it is difficult to understand the situation. However, furor arose when suggestions were made to consolidate this county's four school districts. One of the reasons was increased transportation of students.

Now, supposing Parmer County's four districts are consolidated. That will require additional bussing. Then, suppose the four communities do not have equal division of races. For the sake of understanding the city schools' problems. pretend the majority of Negro students live in Bovina and Farwell, the majority of Latin American students live in Friona, and the majority of white students live at Lazbuddie. When each community has adequate teachers and facilities, how stupid would it be--To transport half the Negro children from Bovina and Farwell to Friona and Lazbuddie? To transport three-fourths the Latin American children from Friona to Bovina, Farwell and Lazbuddie--equally? And transport three-fourths of the white children, equally, from Lazbuddie to Bovina, Farwell and Friona?

Can't see for the life of me how that makes anyone happy-except the leaders of these movements whose children are probably grown anyway.

It certainly wouldn't make the children any happier --- or better educated.

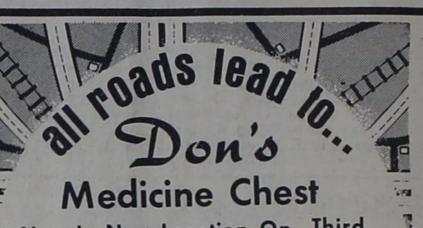

By the way, speaking of television trash, Tommy Smothers said in his own words on the Joey Bishop Show --- the place to complain is the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D.C.

So, what are we waiting for?

Bovina Area Churches Welcome You

Chuckles by CARTWRIGHT

"Dear, remember how you are always stressing the importance of Eternal Truths and the utter unimportance of material things?"

Follow Me

Jesus said unto him, Follow Me. And he grose and followed

This was the invitation and call of Jesus to Levi, who changed his name to Matthew. Matthew was a Jew who was a publican, or Roman tax collector. He probably had a good income from his work.

We do not know if there were other words which Jesus spoke to him that day. We have no record of any oral response on the part of Matthew. We do know that Jesus said: "Follow Me." And we have the record of Matthew's answer in his action: "And he arose and followed Him." This is the greatest invitation and call which can come to any person. This is the most important answer we can ever give.

Discipleship is never easy. Following Jesus will call for sacrifices and discipline. Disciples should be men and women who live and walk under the discipline and love of God and His Word.

This is the invitation of a new year. "Follow Me," Jesus says. Follow Me this year in all that you do. It was not easy for Matthew to give up his profitable income as a tax collector and to follow Jesus. It may not be easy for us to give up certain things and follow Jesus. But it is the best way and the only way for us to be sure of our salvation won for us by Jesus on the cross of Calvary.
