38th Annual Bovina Jr. Livestock Show Results

THE THIRD WEEK of 1994 has definitely distinguished itself for severe acts of nature, from the deadly earthquake in California to the devastating storm that has stretched from the Midwest to the East Coast, and left a vast area reeling in its wake.

Scores of people are dead from both of the catastrophes of this week, and the tally goes up every time you turn to your news source. And to think: we thought we were in bad shape in Parmer County just because it's been a couple of months since we received any moisture, which is about to do a number on the area's wheat crop.

But at least our farmers will still have their farms. We haven't had our homes and businesses shaken to their very foundations. And we haven't seen motorists stranded in their vehicles, while a blizzard raged. Maybe just being in the midst of one of our semi-annual droughts isn't so bad after all.

Residents of Southern California used to consider that they were living in Paradise, but the events of the past two-plus years have somewhat changed the definition of that area.

The riots of 1992 following the Rodney King verdict produced some of the worst examples of human nature that we had seen in our nation's entire history.

Then, this past summer and fall, the fires in Southern California laid waste to hundreds of people's homes, most of which were very expensive. Again, charges of arsonists' work made you wonder what type of person would be capable of committing this sort of act.

Someone said this week that Mother Nature has been acting like one of those women who goes around losing her hairpins all over the place.

Where were the seismologists who are supposed to know when one of these big earthquakes is going to hit? All we ever hear from these guys is after the quake is over, and they can say "Yep, that was a 6.6 on the Richter Scale."

At least with tornadoes, we get a warning, and can take precautions.

Carol and I lived in California for the first year and one-half of our marriage. At that time, when people learned that we had moved there from Texas, we would hear remarks like "One of these days they're going to have to build a fence around California to keep us from becoming overcrowded." (That really made us feel welcome).

We have never regretted the fact that we moved back to our roots to settle and raise our family. And with the way things are going in California these days, the fence may be required to keep all of the California folks from bolting and running.

Trouble in Paradise: could it be that God is venting his wrath on an area that hasn't exactly lived up to His standards? Is Los Angeles becoming a modern-day Sodom or Gomorra?

OUR CHANCES for an all-Texas Super Bowl in 1994 went up in smoke last Sunday at the Astrodome in Houston, when Joe Montana led the Kansas City Chiefs to their come-from-behind win over the Oilers.

Poor Oilers! Last year they set an NFL record by blowing the biggest lead in history (35-3 in the third quarter) and then losing, in their playoff game at Buffalo.

They had set out to avenge that faux-pas, but missed out, one more time. We have stated before that it would be frustrating to be a regular Houston Oiler fan. These folks must really feel "burned."

Meantime, the Cowboys have got to get their act together this weekend, or they'll be watching the Super Bowl on television, like most of the rest of us!

UNCLE AUSTIN SAYS: Every argument has two sides and they're usually married to each other.

The 38th annual Bovina Junior Livestock Show, sponsored by the Bovina Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce, was held January 15 in the local show barn. Lowe's Pay-n-Save co-sponsored the show.

Billy Copeland, assistant county Extension agent from Seminole, served as the show judge.

The 47th annual Parmer County Junior Livestock Show will be held January 21-24 at the Community Center-Showbarn in Friona.

Judging will be held on Saturday, as in recent years, with the premium auction sale on Monday.

Weigh-in and classification for barrows will be held from 1-5 p.m. Friday, January 21. Sheep will be weighed and classified from 7-8:30 a.m. Saturday, January 22. Steers will be classified beginning at 7 a.m. Saturday.

The steer show will kick off the judging Saturday at 9 a.m., followed by the heifers. The lamb show begins at 11 a.m., and barrows will be judged starting at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Judges for the County Show will be Bert Williams for steers and heifers; Dirk Aaron for barrows; Jerry Franklin for lambs and Carl Wheeler for showmanship.

Exhibitors of grand champion animals in the 1993 show were Clay Hurst of Lazbuddie, steer; Jarah Redwine of Lazbuddie, heifer; Monty Schueler, Friona, lamb; and Dawn Weir of Lazbuddie, barrow.

Showmanship winners in the 1993 show were: beef, Clay Hurst, senior, and Jason Thomas, junior; lambs: Cody Simmons, senior, and Cade Morris, junior; and barrows: Jeremy Hardin, senior and Tyson Kerby, junior.

Miss Wier's winning barrow in 1993 was a cross-breed, which made the ninth time for a crossbred animal to win the county title. Hampshire breeds hold a wide lead in the overall history of the show with 16 titles. Durocs have won eight times; Polands have been tapped six times, Chester Whites four and Yorkshire once.

Hurst's winning steer was an exotic cross-breed, and was the 15th time for an exotic cross to win the county steer title.

Stock show boosters and buyers are urged to attend the premium auction sale on Monday, January 24, beginning with pre-sale announcements at 6:30 and the sale at 7 p.m.

For the second year, the premiums paid by the bidders will be so much per head, rather than per pound, and there will be no "floor price." What the bidder bids is what he pays in premiums for the animal.

Technology Helps Irrigation Records

By Joe Fohn
Day by dry weather day, the Edwards Aquifer continues to supply the water demands of municipal, industrial and farm users.

With new state legislation to manage the aquifer still under federal review, it's uncertain exactly when, how or by whom actual management may begin.

But armed with new technology from Texas A&M University, some area irrigation farmers may be able to build a better case for their share of water.

One aspect of aquifer management involves irrigators' historical water use. Without a water meter to refer to, one way to document usage is through energy consumption used to pump the water.

However, the Edwards Aquifer being the unique resource it is, there can be some complications in proving up water usage that way.

One factor is the aquifer's volatility, and the prospect that the same pump may draw water from different depths--and consequently at different fuel-efficiency levels--in different years or even in different seasons of the same year.

Another problem (and only to a bookkeeper would this be a problem) is that some Edwards wells are artesian; that is, those wells sometimes flow even without the pump being turned on.

A pump and engine-efficiency test program underway in Bexar and several other area counties helps farmers gain data that may help compensate for some of the Edwards' unique qualities.

The two-year project, carried out by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been used not just over the Edwards Aquifer but in other irrigation regions, Guy Fipps, extension agricultural engineer and project director, said last week in a telephone interview from College Station.

The tests measure fuel efficiency by comparing pump engine horsepower to fuel consumption while pumping. Meanwhile, a portable ultrasound instrument determines the volume and pressure of water being pumped from the well. With the resulting data, a technician can calculate fuel efficiency for the pump and engine working as a unit. And with that, a farmer may calculate a relationship between fuel usage and water usage.

The tests can address the effect on pump performance from changes in aquifer levels, he said.

For artesian wells, Fipps said the equipment can read the volume and pressure of well flow.

During a test last week on one Bexar County well, Byron Neal, an agricultural engineer involved with the project, determined that artesian flow was 2,000 gallons per minute with the valve open but the pump turned off. With the pump engine running, the well produced 3,200 gallons per minute, at a fuel flow of 6.6 gallons of diesel per hour.

As might be expected, it appears that the Edwards Aquifer may prove to be more complicated than the planners were expecting.

Sooner or later, whatever regional, state or federal agency ends up in charge, they're going to discover that.

Neal is the son of Tony and Dottie Neal of Bovina. He is now living at College Station and graduated a year ago in December from Texas Tech University, Lubbock, with a degree in agricultural engineering.

Pantex Tours Are Available

When the U.S. Department of Energy's Pantex Plant began offering public tours last year, the overwhelming response caused such a backlog of participants that some people had to wait months before they could be accommodated. This is no longer true.

To help eliminate the problem, Mason & Hanger-Silas Mason Co., which operates and manages the Pantex Plant for the DOE, began running two tours each Wednesday instead of just one. Now, a year later, over 3,000 area citizens have visited the plant and the backlog is clearing up.

Tour participants can now be scheduled in a reasonable amount of time and, unless there is a major influx of visitors, the second tour each week is not necessary. There is no cost for the tour, but reservations must be made in advance to secure available openings. Tours are limited to 40 people and seats are filled and confirmed on a first come, first served basis.

Participants must be U.S. citizens, must be at least 16 years old and must have a valid form of photo identification in their possession during the tour. Any citizen who wishes to make the Pantex Plant tour or desires more information on the program, can call Chris Harkins at (806) 477-5777.

WTRT Is Installing New Cable In Parmer County

When an ongoing project to install some 40 miles of underground cable is wrapped up soon, West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative will have completed an ambitious project linking its central offices in Parmer, Deaf Smith and Castro counties via fiber-optic cable.

The latest round of fiber installation projects for the cooperative began with a route from the Frio central office to the Summerfield central office in Castro County.

Laying of cable along routes from the Oklahoma Lane central office to the Tharp central office, and the Parmer central office to the Tharp central office in Parmer County is currently in progress. Brooks Construction Company of Shawnee, Oklahoma, a firm which specializes in cable installation for utilities, and which has performed extensive work for WTRT, is the contractor burying the 40 miles of eight-fiber cable to a depth of five feet.

The Brooks Construction crew will face the daunting task of installing cable along a route passing through the City of Bovina. That portion of the project is expected to be slow work. Brooks Construction has extensive experience in laying cable in urban surroundings, having done work in downtown Lubbock and El Paso.

WTRT began installing fiber-optic cable in 1987-88 at a time when several of its central offices were being converted to digital switching.

Central offices at Westway, Milo Center and Dawn, in Deaf Smith County, Summerfield in Castro County, and Hub and Tharp in Parmer County, have been connected via fiber-optic cable for some years. WTRT management planned from the start to complete a total fiber link of central offices as resources allowed.

Tom Hyer, WTRT general manager, says that completing the fiber link will mean greatly expanded carrying capacity for the telephone network serving WTRT customer/members.

Fiber-optic technology sends signals streaking at the speed of light via glass filaments that are the size of a human hair. One pair of fibers can carry 32,256 messages simultaneously, without overloading the system. Traditional copper telephone wire, carrying digital signals in radio waves, handles a maximum of only 24 conversations on a pair of copper lines.

Signals carried via fiber have greatly reduced interference from outside noise and static, providing much clearer sound and expanded ability for sending information.

The technology allows making use of two-way interactive video for educational and medical applications, and could also open the way for delivery of cable television programming to rural residents via telephone cables. The technology works with data, alarm and monitoring systems.

"Completing this fiber link will mean more and better service to our members. Improved service could even include video, if the time comes," says Hyer.

Thousands Of Cattle Sold On Television

Bob Bradley, Clovis, New Mexico, and Ronnie Mahaley and Royce Collins of Amarillo, were extremely busy during 1993. In fact, their hard work resulted in more than 228,133 head of cattle from New Mexico and Texico appearing on television.

They are local representatives for Superior Livestock Auction, the nation's leading satellite video auction company headquartered in Fort Worth, Texas and Brush, Colorado. Superior representatives work with local cattle producers at marketing time to offer their cattle to a nationwide buyer base via satellite.

These individuals, plus 300 other representatives across the United States and Canada, worked with producers to offer more than 900,000 head of cattle by satellite video auction during 1993. These numbers make Superior Livestock Auction the largest cattle auction in the United States.

While selling cattle by satellite auction is not exactly new technology anymore (Superior held its first sale in 1987), it's still new to a lot of folks. However, these representatives are convinced that for the producer who can sell in load lots or several producers who can pool their cattle, Superior's way to sell. The main reasons for this conviction are numerous--the buyers get to see the cattle in their natural environment; there's less stress and shrink on the cattle because they are videotaped at home; they are not rounded up, loaded and unloaded before a buyer gets to see them; and the seller's cattle are seen by buyers from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico creating more potential bidders.

Last year, Superior held a satellite video auction every two weeks on the average. However, due to demand, the every other Saturday sale schedule has been expanded to include every Wednesday as well.

According to Jim Odle, Superior Livestock Auction's general manager, "Our local representatives are the sole source of our success. They represent the seller's cattle all the way through the marketing process from videotaping and describing the cattle, to delivery to the new owners, and writing the check for payment in full."

INSTALL CABLE....Crew members from Brooks Construction Company, contractor for a cable-laying project for West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, are shown at work on installation of a stretch of cable that's part of the 40 miles of fiber-optic cable being buried by the cooperative in an ambitious upgrading project in Parmer, Deaf Smith and Castro counties. Upon completion of the project, all of WTRT's central offices in Parmer, Deaf Smith and Castro counties will be linked by fiber-optic cable. (WTRT Photos)

By JUNE FLOYD

What comes to your mind when you hear the word "Casserole"?

My Webster's Dictionary defines the word as follows: (a) a saucepan; (b) a deep round porcelain dish with a handle, used for heating substances; and (c) a mold of boiled rice, mashed potatoes or paste baked and filled with vegetables and meat.

One of my brothers defined it this way: "any combination of meat and vegetables a woman can think of."

When I first became acquainted with the word, it was used to describe the utensil in which something was cooked, but at the present time, it is rarely used that way.

Regardless of the meaning, hearing the word always brings to my mind a tasty combination of meat and vegetables which our grandmothers would have served as "hash" or "goulash."

Our first casserole recipe this week comes from the collection of Karen Kirkpatrick, who was named Bovina's "Woman of the Year" in 1977. Here's the recipe:

MEXICAN CASSEROLE
 2 pounds hamburger
 1 can pinto beans
 1 onion
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon chili powder
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 3 small cans tomato sauce
 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
 1 can chopped green chilies
 1 bag Doritos
 6 slices American cheese

Brown meat in skillet and drain. Saute onion in skillet. Add browned meat and all other ingredients except Doritos and cheese. Simmer for one hour. Pour mixture over crushed Doritos and top with the cheese. Heat in oven until cheese is melted.

Another of Karen's recipes which any cook would be fortunate to have in her collection is:

SEVEN-UP POUND CAKE
 1/2 cup Crisco
 3 cups sugar
 3 cups flour
 2 sticks oleo
 5 eggs

Dash of salt
 1-10 oz. bottle of 7-Up
 1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla
 2 teaspoons lemon flavoring
 Cream Crisco, sugar and oleo.
 Add eggs one at a time; sift and measure flour and salt. Add flour and salt mixture alternately with 7-Up. Bake 1/2 hour at 350 degrees.

A casserole recipe Lorene Outland shared with friends and neighbors a few years ago that is very tasty is:

RICE CASSEROLE
 1 cup raw rice (not pre-cooked)
 2 cans beef consommé
 1 medium onion-chopped
 1 stick oleo
 Place raw rice in casserole. Pour undiluted consommé over rice. Add chopped onion. Slice oleo over mixture. Place in preheated 350 degree oven. Bake about 40 minutes. Do not let get too dry.

Jacquelyn Magness Franklin, who grew up here and is now living in Tulsa, Oklahoma, makes a delicious squash casserole.

2-1/2 cups chopped yellow squash
 1 cup diced celery
 1 cup diced onion
 2/3 cup oleo margarine
 1-1/2 cups water

Combine ingredients and boil 5 minutes. Then mix:
 2 cups cracker crumbs
 1 cup grated cheese
 1 can mushroom soup
 Salt and pepper to taste

Stir two mixtures together and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Kay Hinton's recipe for Lasagna Casserole is one most cooks will want to use when they need to prepare food for a large number ahead of serving time.

Fry 1 pound ground beef in 3 tablespoons olive oil and cool. Boil 2 eggs, then chop fine. Bring large lot of water to boil.

Add:
 2 tablespoons salt
 1 tablespoon olive oil
 Large bag of white egg noodles
 Boil about 15 minutes.

Set out:
 2 packages shredded Mozzarella cheese
 1 package shredded mild cheddar cheese
 1 cup Ricotta cheese
 Mix in small dish:
 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese
 1 teaspoon pepper

In two large baking dishes, place ingredients in this order: cover bottom with lasagna sauce, layer of noodles, which have been drained, Mozzarella cheese, cheddar cheese, ground beef, chopped egg, Parmesan cheese and lasagna sauce. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Use the following recipe for Lasagna Sauce. Combine:
 1/4 cup olive oil
 1/2 cup onion
 1 pound cubed browned roast beef
 56 ounces tomatoes
 Tablespoon salt
 1 bay leaf

Cover and simmer 2-1/2 hours. Add one six ounce can tomato paste

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HOW THE LORD TOOK CARE OF ISRAEL IN THE WILDERNESS...
 AS MOSES HAD EXPLAINED TO THE ISRAELITES THE LORD WOULD FEED THEM WITH FLESH TO EAT IN THE EVENING--SO, IN THE MORNING, WOULD HE FEED THEM WITH BREAD....

AND, SURE ENOUGH, IN THE LIGHT OF MORNING, THE GROUND CAN BE SEEN TO BE COVERED WITH LITTLE, ROUND, OBJECTS...

...AS THE PEOPLE GATHER THE FOOD, MOSES INSTRUCTS THEM THAT THIS SHALL BE THEIR BREAD FOR A LONG TIME TO COME, AND THAT THEY MUST GATHER IT EVERY MORNING, ENOUGH FOR EACH PERSON TO LAST OUT THE DAY! AND NOW THE PEOPLE NAME THIS FOOD "MANNA".

...SO ONCE AGAIN ALL THE PEOPLE HAVE BEEN CARED FOR BY THE LORD IN THE TRYING DAYS OF THE WILDERNESS. ALL OF WHICH HAS BEEN RECORDED IN EXODUS 16.

Louise Hutchins returned home Monday night from Brownwood where she spent time with her sister, Mirlie Corker, who is a patient in the hospital there. Louise drove to Lubbock a week ago Tuesday to the home of her cousins, Lowell and Billie Chapman, who accompanied her to

Brownwood. ***** Tom and Nannie Rhodes, former residents, who have lived in Canyon for the past several years, moved to Prairie Acres in Friona on Friday of last week. They are the parents of Thomas Rhodes and are such sweet people. If you are over

Judy said it was necessary to drain three quarts of fluid from his lungs and that he is much better since then. He is in Room 571 in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. We hope all continues to go well for Sonny. *****

The couple has a son, Josh, who is twenty-two months old. Cathy and Mike are lab technicians at Lubbock Methodist Hospital. *****
