The hlandolin's Popularity.

Perhaps the mandolin is stealing some of the popularity enjoyed by the banjo. At any mate, the former instrument is becoming a greater favorite in society, and shop windows show them much more frequently now than heretofore. Formerly all the mandolins used in this country were imported from Germany and Italy; now nearly all that are used here-and a great many are used are made in this country. In the past yearand a half or two years the mandolin has become very popular here, and its popularity shows no gigns of diminishing. The demand for mandolins comes from all over the country, and it is so great that v. holesale dealers in musical instruments are not always able to keep up with a promptly.
