Bills Fassed at Auslin.

Austin, Texas, April 6 .- While the Twenty-fourth Legislature has a well-earned reputation for doing a wondrous amount of talking, a glance at the list of bills which has become laws with and without Gov. Culberson's executive approval will demonstrate the fact that the solons have not been altogether idls when they were not speechifying. An investigation of the matter elicits the information that thirty bills have been passed and are now in the hands of Capt. Thornton, assistant Secretary of State. 'Uf this number eighteen bear the stamp of the Governor's approbation, while twelve have become laws without his signature. This is a good record for signing bills as compared to that of his predecessor, though it might have heen better still. Of course the Legislature has passed bills which have been vetoed, to say nothing of the long list of measures which have decapitated in the two houses and other work, but the thirty acts referred to stand for the down right results of its deliberations. The bills and concurrent resolutions which have been signed by Gov. Culberson are as follows:

Act changing the statute relative o municipal elections so all qualified voters may vote for all the aldermen.

Act amending the law of limits. ion so that it will run against married women over 21 years of

The foreign demand for norses keeps remarkably good. In fact! the competition from this source has been the backbone of the trade for some time and prices have held up very well even with unprecedented receipts. There seems to be more horses in the country than any other class of stock as compared with former years and the foreign outlet is certainly better than it ever was before. A large part of the horses snipped to Europe are used for street service in buses and cabs. It is

The lack of feed in Nebraska has driven sheep feeders from that section entirely, and outside of Colorado not many sheep are being fed in the West by old-time feeders. Sheepmen in Oregon and Washington have decided to try the experiment of fattening their own sheep and shipping direct to Chicago. They have an abundance of wheat and barley, and they see ino reason why it can't be done with profit. 9 Heretofore they have sold their sheep as stockers to midd'emes, who have fed them in Colorado, ter have lost so heavily during the past two years that the business has dwindled to very small pro portions .- Drover Journal
