Petersburg school district (in the Panhandle) is the "best" school district in Texas, with 100 percent of ninth grade students there passing statewide tests of minimum skills. San Elizario school district (near El Paso) is the "worst" school district in Texas, with 88 percent of the students failing the tests. These are the conclusions of Report Card on Texas Schools released by the National Center for Policy Analysis (NCPA), a research institute in Dallas.

The report identifies 52 Texas school districts as the "best" in Texas. These are school districts in which at least 85 percent of the ninth grade students passed the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) tests. The 37 "worst" school districts are the ones in which more than 60 percent of the students failed the tests. The TEAMS tests are administered each year to students in grades 1,3,5,7,9, and 11. All students must pass the eleven grade test in order to receive a high school diploma in Texas.

"Overall, Texas schools are doing a poor job," said NCPA president, John Goodman. "Four out of every ten ninth-grade students in Texas are failing to meet standards in reading, writing and mathematics."

Goodman said "minority students are the principle victims of the failure of the Texas public schools. The longer Black and Hispanic students stay in school, the worse they perform, relative to our expectations." According to the NCPA report,

•More than 70 percent of Black and Hispanic students pass the TEAMS tests in the first grade.

•By the time these students have spent nine years in the public schools, only 46 percent of Blacks and 49 percent of Hispanics pass the tests.

The report also addressed the issues of spending per student and the value of taxable property in school districts - two issues raised in Edgewood v. Kirby, the case in which the Texas Supreme Court declared the current system of financing education in Texas unconstitutional. According to the NCPA report,

•There is no relationship between the taxable wealth of school districts and student performance on the TEAMS tests.

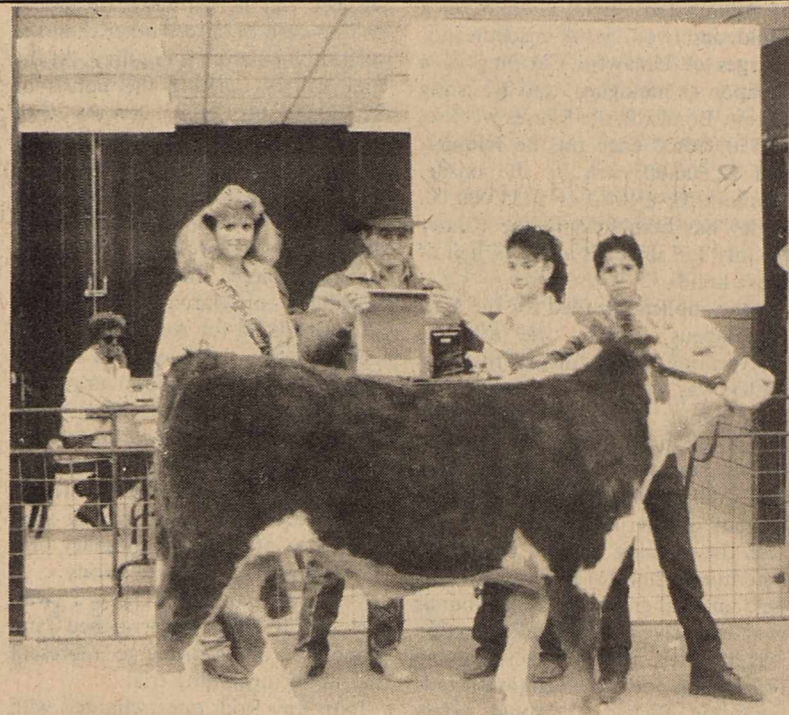

•There is also no relationship between the amount of spending per student and student performance on the TEAMS tests.

The National Center for Policy Analysis is a nonprofit, nonpartisan research institute. The NCPA originated the proposal for merit pay for school districts, a proposal subsequently adopted in Texas and South Carolina.

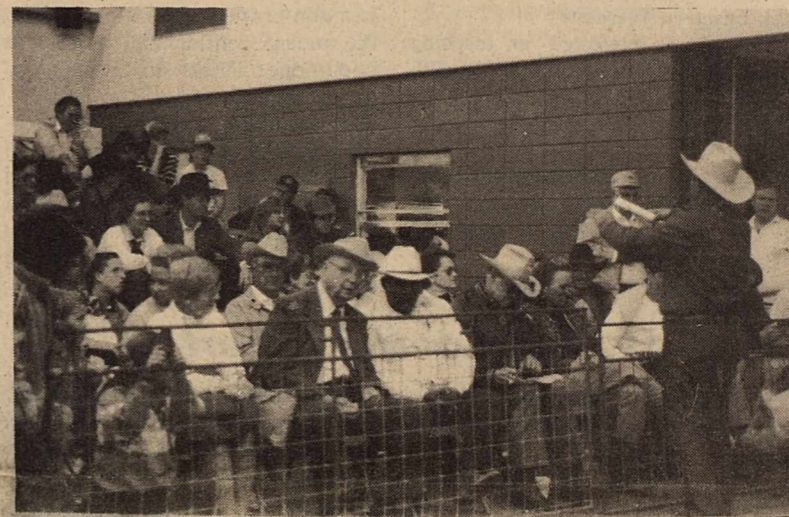

Of the 9th grade students tested throughout Texas, Petersburg ranked highest with a score of 100 percent.

Schools reaching the lowest averages were Blooming Grove, Keene, La Joya, La Villa, Lytle, Quilan and Raymondville with 39 percent passing.

The south west region surrounding Kinney County ranked as follows; Brackettville 49, Eagle Pass 40, Nueces Canyon 72, Rocksprings 79, Hondo 51, San Felipe Del Rio 47 and Uvalde 54.

Buyers crowd the stands at the Kinney County Livestock show anxious to bid on the breed of their choice.

Survey Identifies Needs

AUSTIN-A survey to help identify the health and human services needs of Texas residents has been completed by the Texas Department of Human Services (DHS).

The 1989 Special Texas Census, mailed to more than 38,000 Texas households, will provide DHS with basic demographic information on the age, race and sex of respondents. The approximately 23,000 households that responded also answered questions about their income, health, insurance coverage, employment status, child-care needs and physical disabilities. Data from the survey will be available during the summer of 1990.

"This information will help DHS staff prepare the agency's request for funds from the Texas Legislature," said Paul Root of the DHS forecasting and demographics section. "We'll be better able to document the needs for health and human services, thanks to the people who responded to the survey."

He added that it is important for all Texans to participate in the upcoming 1990 U.S. Census to begin in March. Information from the U.S. Census, gathered from all households in the state will be used to determine the number of legislators who will represent Texas in the U.S. Congress. It will also help determine the amount of federal money for state and local programs in education, health, housing, highway construction and economic development.

For more information about the 1990 U.S. Census, contact the local U.S. Census Bureau offices.

Late Bulletin

Around 10:15 Wednesday night, the town of Brackettville experienced what it would be like living without electricity through a full scale black-out. Central Power & Light (CP&L) had reports of Ora's Drive-In and Stop-N-Shop having no power. The company's solution for this problem was to shut down temporarily. All electricity was off for about 30 minutes, causing some concern, but proving to be really harmless. It was first thought that a power surge had caused the havoc, but with the quickness of the company, power was fully restored and all was back to normal.

Lashawn Wardlaw at the Winter Visitor Party in Del Rio.

Ft. Clark Represented

by Lashawn Wardlaw

In early December, I attended the Winter Visitor Party in Del Rio and then more recently, I represented Fort Clark at the Harlingen and Brownsville Winter Texan Show, January 16th & 17th.

Working with Winter Texans is wonderful. This is the time when they get to see what our great state of Texas is all about. Even better, it is a chance to educate them on our great little Southwest Texas spot!

From surveys, interviews, and conversations, I would like to share some great things about Winter Texans. Winter Texans seek a peaceful escape from the cold, not too far from home, with folks like themselves, in a hospitable, uncrowded, modestly priced location, with the type of amenities they require--RV and mobile home parks and campgrounds; parts and service sources; cafeterias and modestly priced food and shopping; a full calendar of diverse activities to occupy their time.

Even though the majority of Winter

Texans come from Minnesota, others come from Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri and Canada. Most Winter Texans enter at Gainsville, Texas, then at Texarkana, Texas. When a survey was taken on their occupational background, 32 percent were involved with the Managerial/Professional field and 18 percent were involved Agriculturally.

Why do they say they come to Texas? Climate (98 percent) Friendliness of the people, family/friends, and low living cost are reasons why they also come to the Lone Star State.

It is word of mouth that turns them on to Texas. This means that we are the ones to share the good news about our area.

I know that we certainly appreciate all those that do spend their winters here with us. And, I hope that these Winter Texans will also share the good word of our area to enhance our winning location in Texas!

Star Lunker Program's First Entry for 1990

TYLER - A 13-pound, six-ounce largemouth bass caught at Choke Canyon Reservoir on New Year's Day is the Operation Share a Lone Star Lunker program's first entry for 1990.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said Fred Washington of Ingram hauled the fish to the Heart O' the Hills Research Station on Jan. 2, and a department crew transported it to the Tyler Fish Hatchery Jan. 3.

Washington said he caught the 25-inch-long fish on a spinner in about eight feet of water.

The lunker program allows anglers to loan 13-pound-plus largemouths to the department for spawning or research. Donors receive fiberglass replicas of their catch, and the fish usually are released alive after the spawning period.

David Campbell, manager of the Tyler Hatchery, said Washington's fish is the first official entry for the year, but it's not the only huge bass at the hatchery. The fish caught by Troy Johnson of Austin two years ago from Gibbons Creek Reservoir near Bryan is still healthy, and is probably one of the largest in captivity, Campbell said.

"Johnson's bass weighed 16 pounds, two ounces when he donated it in January 1988, and it weighed 18.83 pounds on Jan. 15, 1989," Campbell said. "I don't plan to weigh her this year, at least not until after the spawning period is over."

Campbell said the Gibbons Creek bass spawned the first year she was in the program, but did not last spring. "We don't know if stress caused by weighing was a factor in her failure to spawn last year, but we're not going to take the chance this time," he said.

Campbell said the fish's appetite declined during the past spring and summer, but now she is consuming large numbers of live goldfish and shad and appears to be gaining weight.

Firefighters rush to the scene of the Gomez home to extinguish the reported fire.

Two Alarm Fire Ruled Arson

The destructive and loathesome crime of arson has been ruled at the residence of Tomas and Annabelle Gomez.

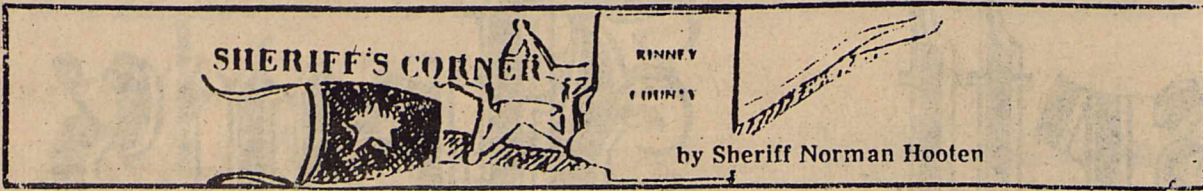

According to fire Chief Adrian Reyes, two consecutive fires within a weeks time and the discovery of a gasoline trail around the residence are conclusive evidence that it is a case of arson. "We're going to rule it as arson, there is something fishy going on", stated Reyes.

The first fire was discovered on Thursday morning when Annabelle returned home from an errand to find the front of her home door ajar and her home full of smoke. "I've been dreaming of a fire ever since the Puda's home burnt down," stated Annabelle.

Firefighters arrived on the scene and luckily discovered that the cause of all of the smoke was due to a trash can fire which was easily extinguished. With the fire under control the fire fighters left only to return two days later to discover a grass fire on the southeast side of the home. After this fire was extinguished fire officials and Chief of Police Johnny Fritter noticed the trail of gasoline around the home.

No suspects of yet have been indicated in this crime. Firefighters responded to 4 fire calls last week two of them at the Gomez residence and two at the city dump.

As a result of a Writ of Habeus Corpus served on this writer a special hearing was held before District Judge George Thurmond on Thursday, January 18, 1990 regarding Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., a suspect being held in the Kinney County Jail on three felony and two misdemeanor charges.

As you may remember, Bailey was arrested on December 6, 1989 on 1st degree felony charges of three counts of Aggravated Sexual Assault on a Child, and two Class A misdemeanor charges of Unlawful Carrying of a Weapon (a handgun), and Resisting Arrest. Bonds on the 5 cases were set at $50,000.00 each on the felonies, and $2,500.00 each on the misdemeanors for a total of $155,000.00. Bailey has been held in the Kinney County Jail since his arrest in lieu of those bonds.

In the application filed for the Writ of Habeus Corpus the attorney representing Bailey alleged that: (1) Bailey was being held illegally; (2) The bonds set on Bailey were excessive, and; (3) Bailey was in fear of his personal safety while being held in the Kinney County Jail in the custody of Sheriff Hooten.

At the hearing Judge Thurmond determined that: (1) Bailey was being held on legal grounds; (2) The bonds were excessive and a bond reduction was in order, and; (3) There was no foundation for the allegations made regarding Bailey's personal safety while in the custody of Sheriff Hooten. Based on his findings after hearing testimony from both the prosecution and the defense, Judge Thurmond ordered that the bonds on the three felony cases be reduced as follows: Cause #1735-bond set at $10,000.00 cash or surety; Cause #1736-bond set at $10,000.00 Personal Recognizance; and Cause #1737-bond set at $10,000.00 Personal Recognizance. A PR bond is a bond signed by the suspect that he promises to appear and no cash or surety other than the suspect's signature is required. At the time of this writing the bonds of $2,500.00 on each of the two misdemeanors is still in effect and Bailey remains in the County Jail in lieu of bonds totalling $35,000.00 of which only $15,000.00 cash or surety is required. A pre-trial hearing on Bailey's felony charges has been scheduled for March 23, 1990 with trial scheduled for April 16th.

District Court convened in Kinney County on Monday, January 22nd with District Judge George Thurmond presiding and hearing several civil and criminal cases listed below.

Hugh Wayne Martin of Spofford, Texas received a 5 year prison term on a plea of guilty to Burglary of a Habitation, a 1st degree felony. Veronica Sanchez, charged with Felony Theft was arraigned and appointed an attorney to represent her in her upcoming trial.

John Ray Rodriguez, charged with Involuntary Manslaughter in the Christmas Day, 1988 death of Lauriano "Larry" Estrada, went to trial before a jury on the 22nd with the trial lasting until Wednesday morning when the jury retired for deliberation on the evidence. District Attorney Tom Lee was the prosecutor. Rodriguez received a one year county jail term and a one thousand dollar fine upon his conviction of a Class A Misdemeanor of Criminal Negligence which was an option granted the jury. The jury also set punishment in the case.

That's All

Letter to My Son

Dear Son:

I'm writing this slow 'cause I know you can't read fast. We don't live where we did when you left. Your dad read in the paper where the most accidents happened within twenty miles of homes, so we moved. Won't be able to send you the address as the last Arkansas family that lived here took the numbers with them for their next house so they wouldn't have to change their address.

This place has a washing machine. The first day I put four shirts in it, pulled the chain, and haven't seen 'em since. It only rained twice this week, three days the first, and four days the second time.

The coat you wanted me to send to you, Aunt Sue said it would be a little too heavy to send in the mail with them heavy buttons, so we cut them off and put them in the pockets.

We got a bill from the funeral home, said if we didn't make the last payment on Grandma's funeral bill, up she comes.

About your sister, she had a baby this morning. I haven't found out whether it is a boy or a girl, so I don't know if you are an Aunt or Uncle.

Your Uncle John fell in the whiskey vat. Some tried to pull him out, but he fought them off playfully, so he drowned. We cremated him and he burned for three days. Three of your friends went off the bridge in a pick-up one was driving, the other two were in the back. The driver got out. He rolled down the window and swam to safety. The other two drowned. They couldn't get the taillight down. Not much more news this time, nothing much has happened.

Love,
Ma

Well, I guess I took up most of your time See ya'll next week.

I have always been a strong supporter of the Junior Livestock Show.

The philosophy of the program is basic and fundamental. The program calling for a boy or girl to buy an animal, grow it out, keep account of cost, prepare it to show and show it; is a valuable way for development of the child.

I never see the animals at the show but I am amazed at the end product of the months of effort by these 4Her's and FFA students.

It is a thrill to me to see some boys and girls from meager income families make the investment necessary to produce the animal.

In most shows the student must acquire one calf or one or two lambs early in the fall and care for the animal through showtime.

The practice of some parents of selecting a large number of animals and either largely caring for them or having the hired hand take care of them is certainly not good. On occasion I've seen the hired hands trim the sheep, comb them and get them ready to show.

I've known of occasions where the parent cares for a number of animals and at show time chooses the best of several to show.

This violates everything the program stands for. It gives the child a distinct advantage over the poorer boy or girl who can barely afford one animal.

The real tragedy is it teaches the boy or girl to violate the rules of the game and to take unfair advantage of his opponent. This leaves an indelible stamp on the character of the child.

true way it is teaching character traits that can warp the person for life. If the rules of the game do not apply here then they can be side-stepped all through life.

No one can deny that allowing a boy or girl to select at the last moment, one of six or sixteen or thirty-six, rather than go with one selected and groomed for the show is taking an unfair advantage. This does not build real character.

It always thrills my heart to see some obscure boy or girl show a winning animal that he has personally grown, groomed, and shown. It is truly a victory for the showman.

A real tribute is due the 4H and FFA Sponsors and the many people who so lavishly give of their time and energies to make the Junior Livestock Show such an important and successful part of the lives of so many boys and girls and the Community as a whole.

Rep. Harrison Reports Meeting With The Texas Plant Food Institute

State Representative Dudley Harrison, (D-Sanderson), District 68, reports that the Texas Plant Food Institute held its 1990 "Annual Convention" in Fort Worth on January 17th - 19th. The convention focused on the issues and problems of the fertilizer industry today.

Rep. Harrison, as chairman of the Texas House Agriculture Committee, was a keynote speaker at the convention. He informed the group that the goal of the Committee was to improve communication between commodity groups and the eleven state agencies that the committee oversees. "We want to make the state agencies better aware of the agricultural associations' concerns so that they may deal with them more effectively," Rep. Harrison said.

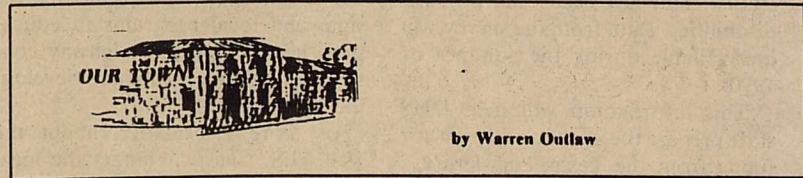

Rep. Harrison also spoke to the members on issues that are at the forefront of agriculture today. "As demanded by the public, today's farmer and rancher must also be an environmentalist, an ecologist, and a conservationist. The agriculture sector must address such issues as food safety, water quality and organic farming," Harrison said.

During the week of January 22nd - 26th, Rep. Harrison will speak to the Texas State Teachers' Association in Del Rio and he will attend meetings in Houston on Normal Occurring Radioactive Waste. He will finish the week in Corpus Christi by giving a speech to the Texas Agriculture Aviation Association on the new pesticide regulations.

State Records Set for Warsaw Dolphin

AUSTIN-Several impressive fish caught in late 1989 have been certified by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as state records.

A 277-pound Warsaw grouper caught from the Gulf of Mexico by Aubrey G. Eastwood of Matagorda during October 1989 is a new record, beating a 214-pounder caught just a month before by Stephen D. Murphy of Laguna Vista. Eastwood's fish was 72 1/2 inches long and 64 inches in girth.

Robby DeLeon of Corpus Christi celebrated the Fourth of July 1989 by catching a 65-pound, 9.6 ounce dolphin in the Gulf off Port Aransas. The fish has been certified as a new state record. The previous record dolphin (dorado), caught off Port Aransas in 1977, weighed 62 pounds, eight ounces. The new record fish was 67 1/2 inches long.

Another outstanding catch was that of a 30-pound, four-ounce red drum taken from Lake Braunig at San Antonio by Jack H. Talbert of San Antonio on Oct. 14, 1989. The former record for red drum (redfish) taken from a freshwater impoundment was a 27-pounder caught from the same lake in 1984.

The fish records committee also certified a 92-pound, eight-ounce rougtail stingray caught by Robert B. Elliott Jr. of Mission in the Intracoastal Canal at Port Isabel, and a six-pound, 8.8-ounce ocean triggerfish caught by Robert W. Pratt Jr. of Lake Jackson on Aug. 21 at the West Flower Gardens reef.

Golf News by Les Roper

This reporter has enjoyed some of the finest roast pork, roast beef, roast duck, roasted cabrito, but never has he enjoyed any of them like he did last Friday night when he was treated to "Roast Lundquist". When a steer, a duck, a pig, or a young goat are roasted they are not aware of it since they have traveled to the big "Feedlot in the sky". Old Gordie Lundquist was not so fortunate...he had to just sit and listen as he was "Raked across the coals" by some of his best friends.

Following the Friday Couple's Tournament Gordon Lundquist was treated to a surprise party and roast by his lovely wife, Lorraine and his golf playing buddies. The turn out was great and everyone enjoyed the good food and fellowship that followed. Gordon and Lorraine were the first couple to join the golf association after it was formed and through the years their dedication and loyalty to the activities on the course have contributed heavily toward it's success. The teasing and bantering was all done in good taste and enjoyed by everyone present. Ronnie Gibbs, the club manager, is still attacking the problems at the golf course with a vengeance and his leadership over "Operation Facelift" is now producing great results. The general consensus of the membership is that the Golf Course Management Committee knocked a "homerun" when they found, interviewed, and hired Gibbs. During his first month on the job he has been treated to suggestions, instruction, criticism, praise, and "lotsa" baloney but he has survived it all without a scratch (not counting the one caused by his dog.) When asked about his first month he replied, "I have made more friends in four weeks than I have in my whole life. I love 'em all and hope I can continue to do a good job for them."

A survey of the golf course has found the greens in the best shape they have ever been in...the fairways are looking great...the heavy brush is being trimmed and these areas are beginning to look like a park...the tee boxes are not only looking great but they are soft enough to get a tee in the ground...and generally, the whole place is looking different. The ropes are down and instructions are pointed on the ground in regards to golf cart restrictions. Last but not least, the club members are giving Gibbs their 100 percent cooperation on all of these very important matters.

The Men's Winter league is beginning to get very serious. Two of the team captains had their players up all night giving them pep talks, instructions, and threatening them with permanent disabilities if they didn't shape up and start playing tough. Both of these team captains had Mike Ditka coaching books in their back pockets before tee time this past Wednesday. Just goes to show you that a kind work and a friendly smile go a long ways but a chewing out and a kick in the rear goes a lot further.

The Gobblers and the Horned Toads are headed for a real showdown with just five weeks of competition to go. Colonel Ralph Viestenz called Lou Schlatterer, Charlie Deescheemaeker, and Harold Kauffman together before tee off time and fed them a "hustle" pill. Don't know who his druggist is but one thing is for sure...what he gave to old Ralph sure did work. They marched right out and scored eleven big points to solidify their hold on the lead with a total of 65 points. Moving through the pack like A.J. Foyt was "Big Hoagy" Nelson, Gordon Petaja, Don Herron, and Ray Kurtz and in doing so nailed down second place with 45 points. Clark Horning, Jim Bussey, Lee Herron, and Vern Ebert fell upon hard times and failed to score a point but their lead from a week ago kept them in third place and certainly not out of contention.

The team standings are now:
1st...Gobblers...65 points
2nd...Horned Toads...45 points
3rd...Rattlesnakes...38 points
4th...Whitetails...24 points
5th...Javalinas...22 points
6th...Roadrunners...20 points
7th...Badgers...12 points
8th...Armadillos...9 points

The ever popular Couple's Tournament had another big successful day with 64 golfers turning out for play. This is an amazing group and the popularity of this tournament is obvious with the excitement and the enthusiasm that is seen before and after tee off time. Nailing down first place with some superb play was the team of Rueben Warren, Vickie Nichols, Al Butler, and Mary Butler. Second place was claimed by Hubie McKelvy, Carol Benefield, T. Boutwell, and Joan Boutwell. Making a strong move to finish third was Ray and Cubie Kurtz and Hoagy and Pat Nelson. Slipping in through all of the hustle and bustle for fourth place was Gordie and Lorraine Lundquist and Evelyn Whitely and P.M. Moore.

Good food and lotsa fun was enjoyed by everyone following the day's golfing activities and plans for next week were already being made.

When asked about the success and results of Monday's Nine Hole Tournament, Sondra Meil just shook her head and smiled in disbelief. A five way tie for first place was turned in to her and she did what she does best. She solved the problem by dividing the first place money equally between the five winning teams. The teams were Bob Barnett, Walt Baugess, Ron Bird, and Donnie Guajardo...Rueben Warren, Lou Sofaly, Lynn Edenboro, and J.E. Meil...Gerald Gallion, Patty Barnett, Carrie Neal, and Ted Thatcher...

Carol Benefield, Dave Yates, Bill Koons, and Dick Hirsh...Robert Correa, Dutch Schoolfield, Ed Boyco, and Ernie Hall. Talk about fun!!!

The course was covered by 35 of the best looking ladies in south Texas this past Tuesday morning competing against one another in a Nassau. Tee off was at 10:00 a.m. and as usual the well organized Ladies Golf Association was right on time. Odette Mills, one of the steadiest female golfers on the course, won the front nine with a net score of 31. Avis Anderson, wife of "Cuddles" Anderson, won the back nine with a net score of 26. The overall score of 61 was picked up by the soon to be married Louella Johnson (we know where the honeymoon is going to be but it is even too far for Dan Isenberg to drive to.) Tigers Corral Mustangs

by JJ Guidry

BRACKETTVILLE-The Tigers broke a two-game losing streak with a 57-53 victory over Natalia last Thursday in "The Jungle". This was Brackett's first victory in over a week. They had previously lost to Lackland and Cotulla on the road.

Brackett and Natalia began the game pretty evenly with the Tigers leading by four at the half.

The Tigers doubled their lead to 8 points by the end of the third period.

With 5:20 left in the game, the Tigers took a 40-30 lead when Mitch Frerich sank a three-pointer.

The Mustangs pulled within three points at the 2:34 mark, when Billy Thompson hit a turn-around jumper. Soon after, Natalia's Jeffrey Lefevre fouled out of the game sending Clay Hunt to the free throw line. Hunt made one of two free throws. Henry Booth retaliated with a Mustang free throw keeping Brackett's lead at 3.

The Mustang's pulled within two, but Steve Clementz pushed it back up to 3 with a Tiger free throw.

Natalia's Bobby Morales added to the excitement when he made a key steal and then followed with a lay up. He drew a foul while scoring and added a free throw. This decreased Brackett's lead to one with a 54-53 score.

Mitch Frerich secured the Tiger's victory by scoring the final points on a fast break lay up and a free throw with one tick left on the clock.

Clay Hunt came off the bench to lead the Tigers in scoring with 18 points. Mitch Frerich 16 points while Eddie Garza had 3 three-pointers and a total of 13 points. Other Tigers contributing to Brackett's scoring were: Steve Clementz, 5 points; John Hernandez, 3 points; and Armando Talamantez, 2 points.

Billy Thompson was the overall high scorer with 20 points. George Campos also scored in double-figures for Natalia with 11 points. Bobby Morales made 8 points, Jacob Guzman had 5, Henry Booth scored 3, and Jeffrey Letcure added 2.

Pictured above is Mitch Frerich scoring 2 of his 16 points as the Tigers upset Natalia 57-53. Brackett and Natalia, along with Cotulla, are 4-3 in district and tied for third place.

J.V. Tigers Win Big

by JJ Guidry

ROCKSPRINGS-The Brackett Junior Varsity Tigers earned first place honors at the Rocksprings J.V. Tournament held last Saturday. The team is coached by Jesse Rodriguez.

The Tigers ran right over El Dorado in the first round. The final score was 79-27.

Tevin Senne, Lynn Floyd, and Peter Perez all scored in double-figures to lead Brackett. Senne had 23 points, Floyd had 13, and Perez made 11. Victor Sanchez contributed 8 points. Cary Haynes, JJ Sandoval, and Refugio Martinez all made 6 points. Scott Sims had 4 points and Lenny Wardlaw made 2 free throws.

The Tigers then faced Rocksprings J.V. in the championship game. Rocksprings was victorious the two previous times the teams met, but the Tigers won this time 38-37.

Tevin Senne was once again the leading scorer with 11 points. Scott Sims and Cary Haynes both scored 10 points, while W.T. Hunt made 7 points.

Peter Perez had 3 three-pointers in the first game, while Tevin Senne and W.T. Hunt both sank one in the final.

The Tigers will host a Junior Varsity Tournament this weekend. See related story.

Paliminos Get Pounded

by JJ Guidry

BRACKETTVILLE-The Cotulla Cowgirls delt the Tigerettes their first district loss in two years last Tuesday.

The Tigerettes came back to Brackett with their heads held high on Thursday as they defeated the Natalia Paliminos 79-43.

Against Natalia, Brackett used their quickness to earn them a 21-10 lead at the end of the opening period and then a 38-17 half-time lead. During the third period the Tigerettes played their best as they rallied for 24 points.

Yvonne Luna was the high scorer for the Tigerettes with 22 points, while Stephanie Ahrens scored 18 and Dorothy Ward had 11. Wendy McDaniel and Michelle Brandt came off the bench to score 6 points each. Dee Ann Frerich had 5 points, while Theresa Tenazas made 4 points. Vivian Luna, Myrna Gonzales, and Regina Pena all scored 2. Tanya Frerich added a free throw.

Kim Mayes led Natalia with 12 points. Kathy Juarez and Lisa Alvarado both made 8 points and Lee Enderlin made 7 points.

Tigerette defense is on the move!!

Bulldogs Bite the Dust

by J.J. Guidry

BRACKETTVILLE-The Tigerettes upped their district record to 8-1 on Tuesday as they defeated the Lady Bulldogs of LaPryor 56-43.

The Tigerettes shut down LaPryor's leading scorer, Joanne Bishop, to only 4 points in the first half as Brackett earned a 31-11 lead.

Did the Tigerettes have a home-court advantage by playing in The Jungle? Last time we played (in LaPryor) we only beat them by four. Brackett has given up only two losses at home and they were both non-district games.

LaPryor's Joanne Bishop did manage to score 12 points in the fourth quarter. She rallied up 23 points on the night.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Charles King Cooper

WEEKLY TIP: Competition on the job coupled with domestic concerns keep you busy.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Try an innovative approach and you'll find solutions. Someone's sneaky tactics could upset you, but close allies are quite helpful. Listen to their advice. Stay clear of arguments.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Pent-up emotion may surface in romantic relationships, or children could resent correction. New job opportunities are possible. Domestic problems may mar the week, but a chance encounter lifts your spirits.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Romance is likely, but watch expenditures. Resentment could make you somewhat tongue-tied. A talk with a family member could give you new perspective. Home life is favored. Others may take issue with your attitude about finances.

MOON CHILDREN (June 21 to July 22) Consult with friends on new work ideas. Pleasant news comes unexpectedly. Be less insistent on your own way. Despite some career problems, a new opportunity is in the offing. Use ingenuity.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Malicious words could backfire. Hold your tongue if tempted to speak unfairly. Evenings bring happier outlook. Distant news intrigues. Use care in financial dealings now. A friend may seem unjustly put out.

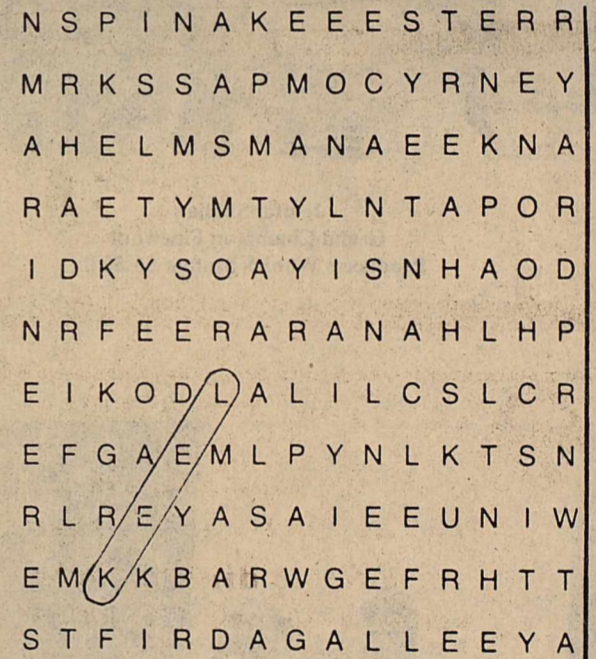

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Keep new ideas under wraps. Let them develop further. Don't overact or a confrontation could develop on business interests. New friends prove stimulating. Enjoy mental rapport.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A work problem defies solution unless you obtain a more relaxed attitude. Take a break, relax, then try again. Curb angry reactions. A friend could be jealous. Doing something new together aids your cause in romance.

WORK WEEK WARDROBE — Here is a tip for those busy working mothers. On the weekend while I have the chance, I take 20 to 30 minutes and pick out the clothes I plan to wear the following work week. I iron what's necessary and then put them in the closet in matching sets.

In the morning, all I have to do is decide which outfit I want to wear. There's no last-minute ironing to do. This has saved me many morning hours of frustration and hassles over the years. Liz K., Carlsbad, N.M.

FILING DOCUMENTS — I keep many important documents in a wall safe and found it very difficult to organize these papers for easy access. It is no fun to have to unfold each document to look at the contents.

Now all I do is refile the documents so the letterhead is facing out and use a paper clip to secure the fold. When I need a document, I thumb through the file and the document is easy to recognize. Carolyn E., Ft. Bragg, N.C.

BABY BOOK — We recently had our first baby after waiting 12 years. When we started receiving gifts from friends and family, I immediately sat down and made out the thank-you cards the same day. It was so easy to keep up this way.

I also put the information in her baby book with a check by the name if I'd made out the thank-you. This proved to be a great way to double check if for some reason the thank-you was not done.

I kept all the cards and when I had more time, I made a scrapbook of them, writing a personal note about the person next to each card along with a description of the gift sent. Charlotte G., Boston, Mass.

Kinney County Land Co

One of the benefits of a free-enterprise system is the right of property owners to buy and sell their holdings at fair market value. This applies to land, homes, commercial buildings, automobiles, gold coins, furniture--any asset of a tangible nature.

Legally, property which is immovable, such as land and the fixed improvements that are a part of the land are called "real" -- as opposed to moveable objects such as automobiles, lawn mowers, and TV's which are called "personal" types.

A Realtor is a person who acts as a broker between a "buyer" and "seller" of real property to bring them to agreement on the FMV (fair market value) at which change of ownership is to occur. Such a person is most essential in today's economic climate encumbered by long-range financial arrangements and many legal requirements.

In our community, Kinney County Land Company--a "realty" business, owned and operated by Molly Ardrey, renders a valuable service to local property owners in many ways. First and foremost, she often brings a buyer from other points in Texas or out of state, together with a local seller, or vice versa. Second, she provides tenants for landlords holding rental property. Third, she may find new owners for a sort of second home--the so-called recreational vehicle (RV) which may be a self-contained motor home or travel trailer, and also the camper trailer. All serve to shelter humans one way or another, so she also provides personal security.

Molly Ardrey's experience in the real estate field is closely intertwined with the history of Fort Clark Springs. She first worked for Nat Mendelsohn in California until 1971 when she came to Texas to assist him on the grand opening of FCS. She and her two sons, Kevin and Seth fell in love with the local scene and decided to make Brackettville their home as NEW Texans. The boys completed their elementary and high school education here, and went on to earn degrees from Texas universities.

Molly continued her employment with Mendelsohn until 1977 when she opened her realty business, which is located directly across from the Highway 90 entrance to Fort Clark Springs. She deals in property on the Fort and in town, as well as ranch sales and hunting leases in the county. She is also a part-owner and developer of Kinney County Ranch Estates, a 500 acre land sub-division two miles away, offering 5-25 acre tracts, which are popular with many folks who plan to make their home in Kinney County.

Office hours for the business are 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., Monday-Saturday, with appointments on Sunday, if necessary. In addition to Molly, you can contact Pat Owens, her able and congenial assistant, by calling 563-2446, or just come by to visit them. The office is a comfortable place to do business, with plenty of parking space in front. You will enjoy knowing them as friends, and also as capable experts on the complexities of property exchanges. Best of all, they are generous with good advice to help you make the best decisions for your property interests. Look for the sign with the cross sabers logo.

Grandma's Kitchen

Ground-Hog day is just around the corner and, I like to learn all I can every day, so I looked up the little creature and learned even though his pretty smart, he's also pretty dumb. They are actually woodchuck's and I'm real sorry for anybody who hasn't a woodchuck on his premises, and sorry for anybody who has.

It's dreadful to think of the cabbage heads an old-fat gourmand woodchuck can stuff into his baggy hide in a single night. Farmers lose a lot of lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower and celery because they descend upon it daily and devour whatever is green.

Well, kill them you say! Have you ever tried it? I heard about this farmer who did, he got his gun and decided he'd wait for the little fellow to come out of the hole. After more hours than he cared to mention, he decided his days were too precious to stores than try to grow his own. That little ground-hog, or whatever-sleeps its easier to buy celery and ect. in the stores than try to grow his own. That little ground-hog, or whatever-sleeps all winter, he is perhaps the least industrious animal in existence, except when engaged in digging his hole. He pop's up for breakfast while the dew is still on the ground, then at lunch time, he spends more time sunning himself than eating. Then late in the evening he shows up again and eats until sunset, by autumn he reaches a perfectly ludicrous state of obesity.

He is fat, obstinate, lazy, sleepy, defiant, tough, flabby, placid and withal, a nuisance. Yet it's amazing how he stays ahead of the dogs, foxes, and other enemies and persists in digging his hole, just anywhere he likes. Well I say long life to you ole Woody without you, we'd never know yea or ney about 6 more weeks of winter.-I don't know anyone who doesn't love muffins, the country style have a hearty taste and old-fashioned farm goodness, they're perfect for topping off a well-balanced meal, and make a great breakfast when your traveling.

Raisin Molasses Muffins
3 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 Tbs baking powder
1/2 tea salt
1/2 tea ground Cinnamon
2 large eggs
1 cup milk
1/2 cup melted margarine
1/4 cup dark molasses
1 cup dark raisins

In large bowl combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. In medium bowl, whisk eggs, milk, melted margarine and molasses until will blended. Pour liquid ingredients into dry ingredients, add raisins, stirring just until mixed. Spoon batter evenly into 12 greased, 2 1/2-inch muffin cups. Bake in a preheated 400 degrees oven 20 minutes or until golden.

Buttermilk-Nut Muffins
3 cups all-purpose flour

1/4 cup sugar
1 Tbs baking powder
1/4 tea salt
2 large eggs
1 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup melted margarine
1 cup chopped pecans

In a large bowl combine flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. In medium bowl whisk eggs, buttermilk and melted margarine. Pour egg mixture into dry ingredients: Add pecans, stirring quickly just until mixed. Spoon batter into 12 greased, 2 1/2 inch muffins cups. Bake in preheated 400 degree oven, 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 12 muffins.

Thought for the week-Happiness is not a matter of good fortune or worldly possessions. It's a mental attitude. It comes from appreciating what we have, instead of being miserable about what we don't have. It's so simple - yet so hard for the human mind to comprehend.

I love you, so don't forget it-now have a safe and happy week.
Big Hugs,
Grandma

Amateur Stargazers Report Excellent Viewing

AUSTIN-Texas state parks, located in rural settings away from city lights, provide amateur stargazers with excellent viewing conditions statewide. January is a quiet time in state parks and visitors can establish viewing locations in the best spots to take advantage of the long winter night's dark sky.

The following Sky Calendar was compiled by the George Observatory, in Brazos Bend State Park near Houston, where a 10-ton research telescope is open for public viewing on Saturday nights at the Observatory.

During the cold days of January, it is hard to believe that the earth is now closest to the sun or "at Perihelion."

This closest approach occurs on Jan. 4th at 11 a.m. CST when the earth is only 147,000 kilometers from the sun. It is the tilt of the earth's axis that causes the seasons rather than the nearness of the sun. In winter, the earth's Northern Hemisphere is tilted away from the sun and receives lower, less intense rays of sunlight.

Sky Calendar
•••Jan. 3 - Quadrantid Meteor Shower. This shower produces meteors from the northeastern pre-dawn sky. Best viewing occurs when the first quarter moon sets on the mornings of Jan. 3 or 4. This shower has been known to produce 40 meteors per hour in clear dark skies. A brilliant "shooting star" meteor makes a beautiful addition to an evening of stargazing.

•••Jan. 4 - The first quarter moon is overhead at sunset and sets in the west at midnight Central Standard Time. The earth is at Perihelion.

•••Jan. 10 - The bright planet Jupiter is just south of the moon. Located in Gemini, this bright planet rises in the east before sunset and is up for most of the night. Jupiter can be found close to the bright stars, Castor and Pollux.

•••Jan. 11 - The full moon rises in the east at sunset and is up all night long.

•••Jan. 18 - The last quarter moon rises in the east at midnight and is overhead at dawn. The planet Venus passes between the earth and sun and cannot be seen.

•••Jan. 22 - The red star Antares in Scorpius is just north of the moon.

•••Jan. 23 - The red planet Mars is due north of the moon.

•••Jan. 24 - The faint planets Uranus and Neptune are north of the moon. The bright inner planet Mercury is north of the moon.

•••Jan. 25 - The ringed Saturn is north of the moon. Most of the month it is too close to the sun for viewing.

•••Jan. 26 - The dark new moon rises and sets with the sun making this the darkest night of the month for stargazers. An eclipse on this date is not visible in Texas or the northern hemisphere.

•••Jan. 27 - Mercury passes just north of the faint Neptune. Diligent viewers might catch a glimpse of the planet as it rises just ahead of the sun in the eastern pre-dawn sky at month's end. Otherwise, this closest planet to the sun is lost in solar glare throughout the month.

Farewell to the "Evening Star"

The brilliant Venus, now near the western horizon at evening twilight, is called our "evening star", even though Venus is a nearby planet rather than a distant star. In starfield where almost all change is gradual, Venus is a popular exception. If you watch the planet on every clear evening, it will gradually disappear into the twilight glare. Each evening binoculars will reveal a thinner, more slender crescent appearance. By Jan. 11 the planet will no longer be visible. After passing between the earth and sun on the 18th, Venus will pull away from the sun in the southeastern pre-dawn sky. By month's end, we could call this brilliant planet our "morning star," heralding the arrival of dawn.

Watching Jupiter and its moons

Jupiter lies in the outer solar system and orbits the sun at a more stately rate than the speeding Venus. All month, Jupiter will dominate the eastern evening sky and the western morning sky. The same binoculars that showed the crescent shape of Venus will display Jupiter's four largest moons. Each night, the moons are in a different position as they orbit their master planet. Jupiter also lies within the richest portion of the winter starfield. Above Jupiter are the bright stars Capella, on the left, and Aldebaran on the right. Castor and Pollux lie to the left and below. The brilliant constellation of Orion, the hunter, lies to the right of Jupiter. Look for the hunter's three-starred belt surrounded by a four-starred rectangle of bright stars.

Maria Teresa Joramillo was born in 1841 in New Mexico. Her mother later married Governor Charles Bent who called her "Teresina", which means "Little Teresa". Her life was always turbulent. Charles Bent only served a short time as Governor before he was murdered by the revolting Indians in the uprising on Jan. 19, 1847.

His widow and children lived in Taos, by Kit Carson, who was brother-in-law to Teresina's mother. Finally Carson took her into his own home and raised her with his own children.

Carson was an associate of Lucien Maxwell, a wealthy landowner and cattleman. The two families lived together. Here Teresina grew up. Once an Indian chief tried to kidnap her but Kit Carson and the troops rescued her. Carson feared the chief would try to kidnap her again, so he enrolled her in the Loreto Convento. After graduation Carson settled her in a home in Sante Fe. Here she stayed until 1860. There she married a man named Locke. Locke volunteered for the confederate Army and never came back after the Civil Wars end.

She waited a long time for him to come home but he was never heard from again. In 1864 she met a wagon trader, Aloysius Scheurich, a Bavarian who recently came from Germany. In Taos they raised five children and had a very happy and successful life. Teresa had a good memory and had lived through some very historical times. Her stories of her life in the early days were sought after by writers and historians. When her husband died she lived on with her unmarried daughter.

She died at the age of seventy-nine on Feb. 25, 1920. All the business houses closed for her burial in the Kit Carson Cemetery. Teresina Bent Scheurich will always be remembered as, "The Grand Dame of Taos."
