Commissioners Meet In Special Sessions

November 1, 1991

Friday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. Kinney County Judge Tim Ward called the Commissioners Court back into special session with Commissioners Freddie Frerich, Alvin McClure and Ruben Fuentes present. County attorney Tully Shahan was also present.

In a follow-up for an interlocal agreement between Kinney County and Spofford, Attorney Shahan presented an agreement whereby Spofford would provide the materials and the County would keep up streets beginning November 1, 1991, for a term of four years. One limitation that was named was the agreement was for maintenance rather than new construction. The work would be administered through the County Road Department at the direction of the Court. The agreement would be signed by Judge Ward and J. E. Herndon, Mayor of Spofford.

Commissioner McClure moved to authorize the judge to sign the interlocal agreement. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Frerich and carried.

Judge Ward had checked with the Adult Probation Department who confirmed that the county was liable for $1300.00 which will be paid from the Miscellaneous line item.

Attorney Shahan re-affirmed that the county could not legally give money to Spofford to help pay attorney fees in their opposition to Texcor's proposed "dump." He also stated that if the county did so, any taxpayer could bring suit against the county for paying attorney expenses already incurred.

Commissioner McClure moved to pay the bond and approve Jennve Hood as a reserve deputy. Commissioner Fuentes seconded the motion and it carried.

Commissioner McClure moved to compensate Mary Mitchell, former librarian, for two weeks vacation time she had earned but not taken.

The county policy is that vacation must be taken by September 1, or be forfeited. She had said she was not aware of the policy although as a department head it had been her responsibility to see that all policies were enforced. Commissioner Frerich seconded the motion and it carried.

Commissioner Fuentes moved to advertise for a librarian and that the ad also be placed in Del Rio, Uvalde, and San Antonio papers. Deadline for applications, which may be obtained from the Judge's office, will be November 27. The motion carried.

November 4, 1991

At 9:45 a.m. Monday, November 4, 1991, Kinney County Judge Tim Ward declared the Commissioners Court in session with Commissioners Freddie Frerich and Ruben Fuentes present.

The first item on the agenda was a discussion concerning previously opened bids on computer hardware and software.

Judge Ward recommended going with Computer Junction of Del Rio for hardware at $11,040.00. Software will be bought from Apollo Data Service for $6690.00. Service for the County supply will be available at the same price. Commissioner Fuentes moved that the County accept these bids; motion was seconded by Commissioner Frerich and passed unanimously.

Commissioner Fuentes made a motion that computers be purchased for use in Courthouse and the J.P. Office. Motion was seconded by Commissioner Frerich and passed unanimously.

A motion was made by Commissioner Fuentes and seconded by Commissioner Frerich to amend the previous resolution submitted to the Texas Department of Commerce of August 5, 1991. The motion passed and the resolution now reads: "Now therefore, be it resolved by the Commissioners Court of the County of Kinney, Texas: That the joint application be for $92,275.00 of Grant Funds to carry out the construction of a necessary addition to the Public Library and the reconstruction and paving of public streets, with the understanding that Kinney County will provide matching funds from local, not tax revenue, sources of approximately $20,000.00 for use in the Library addition construction. Passed and approved this 4th day of November, 1991. /s/ Tim Ward, County Judge."

The agenda item states that Kinney County Friends of the Library will contribute $20,000 in matching funds. $30,000 to go to Construction Cost.

Commissioner Frerich moved to buy six flag poles from Uvalco Supply at a cost of $89.00 each. Commissioner Fuentes seconded the motion and it passed.

After some discussion, Judge Ward told the Court that the employment policy to be revised would be an agenda item for a later meeting.

VETERAN'S DAY

Salute to VETERANS

November 11, 1991

True heroes come from different places and occupations. They range from our childhood dreams of Superstars to our present day President.

Yet, the truest of these heroes are those who have fought, and those who are prepared to fight for this great country that we live in.

So, when Veterans Day comes around, remember those who died to preserve our freedom and give those who survived the hardships of war a special thanks.

David Seargeant, Jr.

Tigers Clench Playoff

After beginning the year with an 0-6 start, the Brackett Tigers clenched a playoff berth with a victory over the LaPryor Bulldogs on Friday, November 1, 1991, in Tiger Stadium.

It was an uncharacteristically cold Friday night, but the Tigers responded to chilly temperatures by jumping to a 15-6 lead at half time. They expanded their lead to 27-6 early in the fourth quarter. The LaPryor Bulldogs finally got untracked and scored 18 unanswered points. The Tigers ran out the clock with the final score standing at 27-24.

The Tigers are now 3-6 for the year. By virtue of their victories over LaPryor, Natalia and Asherton, the Tigers will get the second playoff spot even if they lose the season finale to the Dilley Wolves on Friday, November 9, 1991.

Should the Tigers defeat the Wolves, they would be District Champs, with Dilley as Co-Champs, for the first time since 1978.

The Wolves and Tigers will face Wimberley, Poth, Nixon-Smile, or Marion from District 30AA in a Bi-District game on Thursday, Friday, or Saturday of next week. The site and date will be negotiated after the District 30AA playoff representatives have been determined.

The Tigers have shown great character with their season "turn around." Several players had quit the team, or had been dismissed for disciplinary reasons, earlier in the season.

Those Tigers that were left decided to show the skeptics that they could play an exciting brand of football.

Everyone is encouraged to make the trip to Dilley for the District Championship game on Friday, November 9, 1991.

Grandma's Kitchen

By Grandma

There is wide-spread belief that certain signs herald particular events. For example: an itching nose means something new; a cat washing over its paws means a visitor; a dog eating grass is a sign of rain; the ace and queen of spades signify death; a knife sticking in the floor means disaster; a ringing in the ears means either bad news or someone is talking about one; and so, we could go on.

Bird calls also have certain meanings attached to them. Hence, the barn owl's cry means death. The cuckoo's call means a wish fulfilled. The green woodpecker's cry is a sign of rain, etc.

Also, a raven on the roof heralds bad luck, killing a plover means losing a lover, and as we have said, seeing a magpie implies coming sorrow.

On dreams, it is unlucky to recount a dream before breakfast, and dreams themselves have many interpretations attached to them. To dream of a flood heralds misfortune, to dream of owls means an accident is coming, to dream of breaking ice means one will soon be moving, etc.

Amongst the flood of literature, there are many so-called Egyptian dream books which go into the interpretation of all kinds of dreams.

Now, this is the strangest one I've read. Allectromancy is the art of divination by a rock. Draw a circle, and write in succession round the letters of the alphabet, on each of which lay a grain of corn, then put a cock in the center of the circle and watch what grain he eats. The letters will give you the answers you are seeking.

Now, if you believe any of this, call me, I have some swamp land I want to sell, and you just want to buy it.

If you, or someone you love, have a fever and you'd like to reduce it quickly, squeeze the juice from one grapefruit and put aside in the refrigerator. Cut up the grapefruit pulp and boil for 10 minutes in a cup of water. Strain and combine with the juice from the refrigerator. Sip slowly to bring down the fever. This really does work.

Have you ever tasted a Sweet Potato Biscuit? Well, if you haven't, it's high time you did. The best part about them, you can bake them as you need them, the rest can be frozen on a cookie sheet for several hours, then stored in the freezer in an airtight container until needed.

SWEET POTATO BISCUIT

- 2 cups sifted whole wheat pastry flour
- Pinch of salt
- 4 Tea. baking powder
- 1/2 cup sunflower oil
- 1 rounded cup mashed sweet potatoes
- 2 Tbs. soymilk

(If you don't have it, use regular) Preheat oven to 400°. Sift dry ingredients, then cut in margarine and oil. Blend in potatoes and milk to make a moist, slightly sticky dough. Drop in 1/4 cup measures on a dry cookie sheet. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes.

Who doesn't love the flavor of peanut butter and jelly? These are a truly heavenly cookie, designed around the thumbprint principal. Try them warm, right out of the oven with a glass of cold milk. They're filled with nutrition.

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY COOKIES

- 1 1/2 cups ground almonds
 - 2 cups sunflower oil
 - 1 1/2 cups peanut butter
 - 1/4 cup soft Tofu
 - 1/2 cup maple syrup
 - 3 medium bananas
 - 2 1/2 cups whole wheat pastry flour
 - 1/2 cup soy flour
 - Dash of salt
 - 1 1/2 Tea. baking powder
 - 1 1/2 cups jam
- strawberry, cherry, blueberry, or apricot

Preheat oven to 375°. In blender, or food processor, grind almonds to a fine meal, add oil, peanut butter, Tofu, maple syrup and bananas. Process until creamy. Add flours, salt, and baking powder to batter. It should be thick.

Oil 2 or 3 large cookie sheets. Roll batter to golf ball size and place on cookie sheet. Press down gently on each cookie and create a well in the center with your thumb. Spoon in 1 1/2 Tea. of jam into each well. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, or until lightly brown. Hope you enjoy these. The kids will love them - guaranteed.

My thought for today is: the most precious thing anyone can have is the good will of others. It is something as fragile as an orchid, as precious as a gold nugget, and as hard to find. As wonderful as youth, and as hard to keep.

Have a safe and happy week.

Public Notice

On October 18, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to add a new optional service offering called SmartTrunk™ Service. The application has been assigned Tariff Control No. 10687.

SmartTrunk Service provides access between the customer's premises and the serving Southwestern Bell central office for circuit-switched voice and data communications. This communication capability is provided where facilities are available using Integrated Services Digital Network architecture. ISDN services available with SmartTrunk Service use Primary Rate Interface (PRI) technology. SmartTrunk Service requires PRI ISDN compatible Private Branch Exchange (PBX) customer provided equipment registered under FCC Part 68 Rules. SmartTrunk Service employs a 1.544 Mbps facility (denoted as SmartTrunk Interface) typically divided into twenty-three B channels and one D channel. B channels are used for voice and data communications while the D channel provides out-of-band signaling.

If approved by the Commission, the rates for each SmartTrunk Interface facility will be $1,110 per month under a 36-month service contract or $1,010 per month under a 60-month service contract. The proposed rate for the use of the central office varies from $12.25 up to $18.90 per month for each B channel depending on the rate group classification which is determined by the customer's location. Southwestern Bell estimates revenue of $2.8 million from this offering during the first year.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should file comments regarding this application with the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. Texcor Radioactive Waste Dump Permit Delayed

AUSTIN - The tiny town of Spofford and surrounding Kinney County won a rare delay from the Texas Department of Health Tuesday during preliminary hearings for a radioactive waste dump. Representative Pete P. Gallego, D-Alpine, said Wednesday.

Public hearings on Texcor Industries' request for a state permit to build a radioactive waste storage facility were scheduled to begin in Brackettville on November 4, 1991. The health department's Bureau of Radiation Control hearings examiner delayed the trial-like hearings until January 6, 1992.

"I hope its indicative of the 'New Texas' of how we're actually going to be more careful of our environment. We're realizing we're not going to get any second chances when it comes to radioactive and hazardous materials," Rep. Gallego said.

Rep. Gallego said the delay should give Attorney General Dan Morales and his staff time to issue an opinion on the jurisdiction of radioactive waste disposal permits. Rep. Gallego, Gov. Ann Richards and other elected officials had requested a delay in the hearings until the opinion could settle questions created by environmental agency consolidation legislation passed this summer.

The jurisdiction question, and the discovery of volumes of unreleased documents on the Texcor permit request, led Spofford's attorney James Saunders of San Antonio, and Austin attorney Rick Lowere to seek the delay. On October 10, the environmental lawyers won an injunction against Texcor for the Joe York family of Brackettville who maintained Texcor's property cut off a deeded right for access to a caliche mine.

During preliminary fact-finding hearings in Austin Oct. 18, Saunders said Texcor revealed "a number of critical issues about its technical case. The confidential documents exposed the serious problem that Texcor's expert witnesses are tied to Texcor, not simply as consultants, but with major ownership interest," says Saunders' summary letter to examiner Gordon H. Hardin. "This has led us to uncover the role that Texcor's experts have had in the preparation and the sale of other waste management permits. Texcor now appears only to be a front."

SOUTH TEXAS REGIONAL BLOOD BANK

SAN ANTONIO--The South Texas Regional Blood Bank has been notified that it has successfully met the strict membership criteria and has been approved as a Donor Center for the National Marrow Donor Program (NMDP).

The NMDP is an international program of hope and help for thousands of patients with blood diseases such as leukemia. The NMDP manages a Congressionally-authorized registry of tissue-typed volunteers who are willing to become bone marrow donors. Marrow transplantation offers hope of a cure for patients diagnosed with leukemia and more than 30 other serious blood diseases.

"Our community has always been responsive to the needs of others. We are very optimistic that people will come forward and sign up to become bone marrow donors," said Dr. Norman Kalmin, CEO and Medical Director. As a Donor Center, the South Texas Regional Blood Bank offers south Texans an opportunity to be involved in this life-saving program.

Initially, the Blood Bank is planning a series of fund raisers to offset the cost of donor testing which is involved in entering the program. The cost of this testing is approximately $75.00 per donor. Of all challenges facing the NMDP and the Blood Bank, test funding has been the toughest to surmount. "We would like to raise enough money so that everyone who wants to join the National Marrow Donor Program can do so without having to pay the $75.00," Kalmin said.

Bandera Downs has organized a special "Race for Life" day at the race track on Saturday, November 23, 1991. Bandera Downs will donate a portion of all ticket sales for that day to the bone marrow program. One of the races on that day has been designated a "Race for Life" with a special presentation to be made to the owner of the winning horse.

The Blood Bank has already received many calls from individuals interested in becoming potential bone marrow donors. Any healthy person between the ages of 18 and 55 may volunteer. The procedure involves several steps:

- 1) Give a small sample of blood and consent to be entered into the Registry.
- 2) Your blood is HLA-typed.
- 3) Your HLA-type goes into a computer where lab results are stored to be searched internationally by patients.
- 4) A Preliminary match is identified.
- 5) Additional blood tests are requested to determine if you are a precise match for a specific patient in need.
- 6) The "miracle match" is identified.
- 7) After special counseling about donating marrow, you make the final decision to donate.

Anyone interested in assisting with fund raising or for more information on becoming a volunteer bone marrow donor, please contact the South Texas Regional Blood Bank at 22-DONOR (223-6667).

"Four Hits And A Miss"

Friday, November 15, 1991
7:30 P.M.

Town Hall, Fort Clark Springs
$6.00 per person

Tickets available at Adult Center, or from Rozetta Pingnot (563-2195), Marjorie Love (563-9543), Betty Inman (563-9376), or Helen Peck (563-9352).

We request that you purchase your tickets as soon as possible as seating will be limited. Don't miss out. These folks are not only good, they are excellent, and draw a crowd when ever and where ever they perform.

Many here will remember them from the February 1991 Cabaret Dinner.

This group of five started out as a quartet and piano player in 1988 at the First Baptist Church, Uvalde. Their logo is a target showing four direct hits with a missed shot off target. Needless to say, this "Miss" is playing a very important part as their talented piano player, and she is none other than Toni Hull, school teacher, of Uvalde.

The quartet consists of Tenor John Barnes, Uvalde Veterinarian, whose performance roots started at Rising Star, Texas. He and his wife, Karen, love the theater.

The lead singer is Bryson Knowles, a funeral director, born and raised in Uvalde.

Emmett Harris, originally from Houston but now an attorney in Uvalde, is the baritone. And last, but not least, is Don Friend, originally from Brownwood, who operated an automobile business in Uvalde for 25 years, but now is in the import business. He sings bass.

This concert will be a two hour performance of versatile music from County and Western, to Old Standards, to Old Time Spirituals. It is music you won't want to miss. Plus, it is fun and humor.

SWTJC GRANTS

Under a competitive grant program announced last week by three state agencies, $3.8 million in federal funds will be awarded to implement Tech-Prep Associate Degree programs -- joint high school and community college technical training programs to prepare students for high demand careers.

The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Department of Commerce will jointly award the grants in January 1992. Consortia of independent school districts, public community and technical colleges and public universities are eligible to compete for these funds. The Middle Rio Grande Development Council Quality Work Force along with area school districts, Southwest Texas Junior College, the Uvalde Center of Sul Ross State University, business, industrial and governmental concerns are forming a consortium to apply for one of these grants according to Richard Whipple, SWTJC Tech-Prep Coordinator.

The Tech-Prep grants will be used to plan four-year instructional programs that will allow secondary students in Texas to get the academic preparation they need to attend college and the skills they need for today's jobs.

With the support of business and industry, joint education programs in such areas as nursing, electronic engineering technology, telecommunications technology, office systems technology, microcomputer applications, and transportation technology will be offered in selected high schools and community colleges as early as fall of 1992. Programs will include valuable career-related work experience while students are enrolled in school.

Students will be offered these programs in their junior year of high school. Those who stay with the four-year program will earn an associate degree from a community college or technical college. Many will be able to continue their education at a university and receive bachelor's degrees.

More than 325 Texas independent school districts and more than 65 Texas public institutions of higher education previously received over $1 million in grants to plan Tech-Prep programs.

The Tech-Prep program implementation effort is another result of regional Quality Work Force Planning which is coordinated by the tri-agency partnership of the Texas Education Agency, the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board and the Texas Department of Commerce. The goal of Quality Work Force Planning is to match the skills that students learn with the job requirements of regional employers.

Do Your Part for the Earth—Plant a Tree Today!

If you'd like to do your part for the environment, consider planting a tree. Here are some easy-to-follow guidelines from the American Association of Nurserymen (AAN) that will help you add your tree to the nation's invaluable supply of air-cleansing vegetation.

container-grown, balled-and-burlapped (B&B) and bare root. Regardless of the type you choose, the hole should be two- or three times wider than, and about the same depth, as the rootball, recommends AAN.

Dig the planting hole deeply enough so that the plant is at, or slightly above, the same depth that it was in the nursery field. If you dig it any deeper, the tree will settle as it is watered, and this will stress the root system.

As you dig your planting hole, leave a slight mound at the bottom. Container-grown and B&B plants should be set on top of the mound, while bare root plants should be spread around the mound. When planting a bare root tree, gently place the roots in the hole and be sure not to twist or tangle them in your planting site.

Begin Your Maintenance Plan Now

After you have placed the tree in the hole, you simply need to backfill the hole with the soil in this amount of time, it likely has soil appropriate for most of the tree species in your area.

You should also test your soil if you suspect that the pH, or acidity, of the soil is not well-balanced. According to AAN, it's best to plant a tree that will thrive in whatever type of soil you have, but if that's not possible, you can alter your soil to best accommodate your tree.

For trees in need of more acidic soil, add sulphur. For those that need less acidic soil, add lime. Check with the professionals at your garden center for specific brands and measurements.

Dig the Planting Hole

Trees come from your local garden center in three ways:

Plants Clean Our World

It's encouraging to know what a difference we can make in the world around us, says the American Association of Nurserymen (AAN), if we cultivate and care for trees and other plants.

Trees are one important part of our environmental health. When properly planted and cared for, trees help prevent soil erosion caused by wind and water. Soil erosion may sound harmless enough, but it is actually one of the major causes of water quality problems.

For example, every year, more than three billion tons of topsoil erode from croplands across the country. This pollutes our streams with sediment, fertilizers and pesticides. In light of this ongoing pollution by erosion, it becomes apparent that trees, in reducing soil erosion, help provide us with a clean supply of water.

In fact, strategic tree plantings can slow erosion of the soil through water and wind, as the extensive root systems of most trees help to hold soil in place. Trees also increase the amount of rainwater absorbed into the ground, and in this way, lessen the amount of stream-polluting runoff. According to the United States Forest Service, the improved water quality resulting from tree plantings makes for healthier fish and wildlife.

Scientists have found that urban areas, with their concrete structures, highways, glass and other man-made objects, are frequently hotter than the rural areas surrounding them. Urban heat islands increase ozone pollution by reducing ventilation and warming temperatures.

Studies have demonstrated trees prevent the urban heat island effect from occurring. As you might expect, areas with an abundance of trees experience less urban heat island effect, and the air in these locations is not as polluted.

Not only do trees reduce carbon dioxide, they help control ozone pollution. Recent studies have demonstrated that trees fight the "urban heat island effect." Urban heat islands are caused in part by cutting down large numbers of trees in one area.

you took out. Gently firm the soil periodically as you refill the hole. This will remove air pockets and prevent the roots from drying out.

Water your new tree after you have refilled the hole. In general, you should avoid fertilizer at this time, although you can use one of the special fertilizers for transplanting. Look for fertilizer containing phosphorus and potassium, and only a small amount of nitrogen.

You have now successfully planted a tree, and you're well on your way to having a more serene and colorful backyard or garden. You've also done your part for the environment; your tree can serve as a living reminder of the responsibility we share for taking care of the world around us.

Martha and Raymond Cox, Wichita, Kansas, were the First Elderhostel Guest to arrive at the Wainwright House reception Sunday afternoon. The "Brackett News" editor greeted them and found they had mutual friends, Mona and Walter Smith in Wichita.

Checklist for Fall . . .

Prepare your lawn for the fall and winter months and come out a winner next spring. According to the American Association of Nurserymen (AAN), fall is a good time to:

- Let the grass grow as tall as you did during the summer until the last mow of the year. At that time, lower the mower height.
- Water just one inch or less each week if you are not receiving rainfall.
- Fertilize from mid-September to November, based on recommendations for your area. You can ask the experts at your local garden center if you have any questions.
- Collect leaves within one week of heavy rains. Collect leaves completely before the first snowfall.
- Dethatch, aerate or re-seed if necessary.
- Use lime based upon the results of a soil test.

TEA Reorganization

AUSTIN -- A reorganization plan for the Texas Education Agency approved by the State Board of Education October 12 will provide Texas educators with improved access to the Agency and improve the quality of services the Agency provides to local school districts, Commissioner of Education Lionel R. Meno said today.

The plan calls for the immediate transfer of 80 Agency positions to the state's 20 regional education service centers, with other positions to follow, and the consolidation of numerous Agency offices to better serve local school districts.

Meno said the objective of the reorganization is to help local school districts improve student achievement and enable the Agency to become a positive factor in the improvement of instruction and the educational environment.

"Our goal in education is to attain excellence and equity in student achievement within Texas public schools," Meno said. "The purpose of this reorganization is to provide the assistance and resources needed to help every school district achieve that educational excellence and equity."

"The Texas Education Agency must be a positive influence in the improvement of instruction and the educational environment at the classroom, campus and district levels," Meno emphasized. "Improving instruction and student performance must be the focus of everything this Agency does, and it is the focus of this reorganization."

A key component of the Agency's new structure is a new Office of Field Services which provide school districts with a direct communication link to the commissioner of education. The office will oversee 60 field service agents who will be housed at regional education service centers to act as ombudsmen for local school districts. Service centers also will be provided 20 positions to provide local school districts and campuses direct assistance with school-based education reform.

Julian Shaddix, who will serve as associate commissioner for field services, will head the new office. "These positions will enable local educators, administrators and teachers to have an individual who is assigned to help them with any problem, concern or question they have concerning any aspect of public education," Meno said. "They will have a person in their area of the state who they can call or visit to get advice or guidance on public education issues."

The Field Services Office also will administer a Small Schools Unit to help small school districts operate effective schools and programs.

"This unit will provide direct assistance to administrators in small school districts who, because of the size of their districts or staffs, need assistance from the Agency to address special problems and needs," Meno said.

The reorganization plan also calls for another 10 Agency positions to be transferred to the regional education service centers in January 1992 to provide regional teacher certification services, with an additional 10 positions scheduled to be transferred by January 1993. Thirty federally-funded positions in the Child Nutrition Programs division also would be decentralized to the service centers as soon as federal approval of that proposal is received.

To facilitate the personnel transfer and provision of service to local school districts, the plan also moves more than $4.2 million or 17.5 percent of the Agency's general revenue budget to regional education service centers. The transfer of another $1.6 million in dedicated fees and federal funds to the service centers for a total transfer of more than $5.8 million also is proposed.

New program offices for elementary, middle school, and high school education also will be established to enable the Agency to correspond with how campuses actually operate as schools. These offices will be co-staffed from other program offices throughout the Agency. Jay Cummings, executive deputy commissioner for programs and instruction, will direct these efforts, with assistance from Madeleine Manigold, who will serve as associate commissioner for programs.

Several existing Agency program offices will be consolidated to make it easier for local school districts to interface with the Agency and help it meet pressing demands from local schools. Vocational education functions will be consolidated into a single office, as will special education services. Each of these functions currently exists of two offices, one dealing with programs and the other with funding and compliance issues. The Support and School Administration offices will be consolidated into an Office of School Support.

The office, headed by Executive Deputy Commissioner Thomas E. Anderson Jr., will provide a single contact point for school management services. The Information Systems and Technology offices will be consolidated into a single Office of Technology Applications, headed by Associate Commissioner Geoffrey H. Fletcher, and will facilitate the application of technology to schools for both instruction and management purposes. School support activities will be administered by Paul Lindsey, associate commissioner for school support.

Bandera Downs

Despite severe weather that saw temperatures drop close to the freezing mark, Bandera Downs offered its fans their first opportunity to wager on simulcast races with the Breeders Cup Races on Saturday, November 2 and the results seemed to be very positive. A crowd of nearly 2000 braved one of the coldest weekends in history for this time of year and cheered wildly as the world's best thoroughbreds battled for the more than $10 million in Breeder's Cup purses.

By the end of the weekend, the pools were beginning to grow rapidly. In live racing action, Sunday marked the return of one of Bandera's favorite sons as Burnin Ben made his first appearance here since July of this year and did so in fine fashion winning the 6 furlong "Best of Class" sprint by 2 lengths under the guidance of regular rider Ricky Walker. In the Pick-10 Consolation Handicapping Contest held on Sunday, Sebastian Niera proved he is one of Texas' best handicappers as he picked 7 winners from a card of 10, with two of his choices finishing second, to capture the $1000 grand prize.

Bandera Downs officials also introduced their fans to the Pick-3. The new wager was slow to take-off but,

Early Detection And Treatment Of Cervical Cancer Is Critical

Patricia J. Sulak, M.D.
 Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Scott & White Hospital and Clinic, and Assistant Professor of Surgery, Texas A&M University College of Medicine

Q: I recently had a pap smear that was abnormal. I was told by my doctor that I had moderate to severe dysplasia. Does this mean that I might get cancer?

A: Yes, this does mean that you could get cancer of the cervix. Dysplasia is a term to describe "pre-malignant" or "precancerous cells" that occur on the cervix which is the opening to the uterus. These cells can be detected on a pap smear.

If a patient has an abnormal pap smear with dysplasia, then the next step is for that patient to return to her gynecologist and undergo "colposcopy".

Colposcopy is a simple office procedure which involves looking at the cervix with a set of high powered binoculars and special lenses to detect exactly where the abnormal cells are located on the cervix and exactly how abnormal they are. If abnormal areas are seen, a simple painless biopsy can be performed in the clinic. These biopsies are sent to the pathologist to look for the presence of precancerous or cancerous cells.

If the colposcopy and biopsy confirms the presence of the dysplastic or precancerous cells, then treatment can usually be managed on an outpatient basis in the office. This might involve either freezing the cervix, or laser treatment, or performing a larger biopsy in the clinic under local anesthesia.

A women should have periodic gynecologic exams and pap smears. Early detection and treatment of cervical abnormalities are your best protection against cervical cancer.

If you have a question please write to "Scott & White Options For Health" in care of your local newspaper.

Corazon Ranch

By SONJA SHELL

Addax

In the dark hours before dawn a group of quietly excited business men from Belgium climb into the back-end of a pickup truck.

They are dressed in dark clothing and each carries a gun capable of knocking down large game. They are looking for something special and expect to find it this morning. The guide explains that they have a choice of several exotic animals.

As they ride quietly into the brush the sky begins to lighten in the east. The morning steals quietly forward and the dampness of the night brushes across their cheeks. The guide points to a large scimitar horned oryx. It has horns to rival any they have seen in their travels, truly a magnificent set of world class horns.

A shot rings out and the oryx falls to the ground. When the horns are measured they are in fact a set of world class horns. The day progressed and the group saw aoudad, Texas dall, addax, mouflon, black buck, European red stag, white-tailed deer and wild turkey but none rivaled the fine specimen of the oryx.

Hunting on a Texas ranch is what thousands of men, women and children wait a year to do. Many take the opportunity to spend vacations, weekends and days hunting on the very ground that challenges one to be the best one can be. Yet, many ranchers have gone beyond what native game offers and have stocked their ranches with imported game.

The Corazon Ranch near Brackettville, Texas, is one such ranch. It is owned and operated by "Doc" Belcher and his wife, Hazel. As a retired veterinarian, "Doc" has spent almost thirty years developing his lifelong interest in genetics. He has made practical application of his profession and you will see the results of his selective breeding as he developed a world class herd of exotics. Of course, he has not limited his lifelong interest to exotics only. He runs a working ranch with sheep, goats, and cattle.

Not only is the ranch known for his exotics, but he has an abundance of whitetail deer as well as wild turkey that he offers for day hunting. Other surprises await the hunter that can only be appreciated by visiting the Corazon Ranch.

Corazon is a Spanish word that means "heart" in English. You will lose your heart to the ranch when you visit the beautiful rugged terrain that the exotics make their home in. The ranch is at the foot of Pinto mountain and borders on Pinto creek. The terrain has been said to resemble the African velt. When the morning sun rises to greet the day, the excitement grows as one is transported to the image of far away lands that match the grandeur of the animals that live in the wild country of the Corazon.

Yes, the Corazon Ranch offers a variety of landscapes that you can really lose yourself in.

Front Cover

"Doc" Belcher and prize mouflon taken on his ranch.

NOTE: The hat worn by Doc Belcher on the front cover is a John B. Stetson purchased in 1945. Shortly after he graduated from veterinarian school, Doc treated his first racehorse and the owner said, "What you did for me was worth a $50.00 bill." So Doc went straight to the western store and purchased a fifty dollar hat.

It has become his trademark and he wears it during the important times.

Muzzleloader Hunting Season Planned

Scheduled Muzzleloading Hunt Dates

Choke Canyon, North Shore Nov. 9-11, 15-17, 22-24; Dec. 6-8.
Enchanted Rock Dec. 16-18, 18-20; Jan 6-8, 8-10, 13-15, 15-17, 20-22, 22-24, 27-29, 29-31.
Guadalupe River Dec 4-6, 11-13, 18, 20; Jan. 8-10, 15-17, 22-24.
Lost Maples Jan. 6-8, 8-10, 13-15, 15-17, 20-22, 22-24, 27-29, 29-31.

Exciting news for those who would like to hunt with muzzleloading firearms and under rather unusual conditions: The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is initiating an experimental special hunt for the 1991-1992 season. Five state parks, four of which have never been hunted, have been set aside for muzzleloaders.

Permits will be on a draw basis. There will be a permit fee of $50 for each successful applicant. Camping will be permitted, and the facilities should be exceptional.

You will probably have a much better chance of drawing a permit in this muzzleloading hunt than other special hunts held in the past which allowed cartridge guns. The number of applicants should be smaller.

As noted, this is an "experimental" hunt. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is cautiously responding to requests for a regular statewide muzzleloading deer season.

Contact the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for applications.

Hunter Education Is It For You?

AUSTIN - Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind hunters that effective September 1, 1991, persons born during the period September 2, 1971, through August 31, 1975, must have completed a certified hunter education course to hunt legally in Texas.

Terry Erwin, conservation recreation coordinator, said the course is accepted by all states and Canadian provinces. All other states' hunter education courses are reciprocal with Texas.

Volunteer instructors, teachers and Parks and Wildlife employees across the state conduct the department's hunter education course. The course was made mandatory beginning June 1, 1988, and by September 1, 1993, all hunters born after September 2, 1971, and who are at least 12 years old, must take the course to hunt in Texas.

The 10-hour course, which must be scheduled over a minimum of two days, focuses primarily on hunting safety, responsibility, ethics and a number of other topics. The focus is on the prevention of accidents as well as the enhancement of hunting and outdoor values. The course costs $5. Hunters affected by the law are required to carry proof of certification while hunting. Proof is not needed prior to purchase of a hunting license.

Information on the courses may be obtained by writing the TPWD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin TX 78744, or by calling 1-800-792-1112, ext. 4999; or 512-389-4999.

Winchester Model 94

The famous Winchester Model 94, which is 30/30 caliber, has probably downed more deer than any other rifle. More than 2½ million Model 94s have been produced.

Oliver T. Winchester, a very successful shirt-maker, formed the New Haven Arms Company in April, 1857 and chose B. Tyler Henry to manage it. The weapons they produced were the Volcanic arms, which retained their original name, but included the name of the new company as part of the barrel markings. From 1857 until 1860, about 3,200 weapons were manufactured.

Oliver Winchester, however, was never happy with the Volcanic arms, or their ammunition. He set Henry the task of improving both it and the weapons. When Winchester purchased some of the original Smith and Wesson patents prior to setting up the Volcanic Repeating Arms Company, he used some of their ideas.

On October 16, 1860 he was granted a patent for an improved cartridge. This led to a metallic cartridge which greatly increased the power and reliability of the arms.

Henry also applied his genius to the existing Winchester rifle.

As early as 1863 Oliver Winchester had been gathering material for the company's first catalogue which was published later that year. It was translated into German and French. In the catalogue, the Henry was listed in October 1862 as costing $42 each and ammunition cost $10 per thousand. This rifle was improved until the first Winchester rifle, the Model, 1866, was developed. This success was not shared by Henry, and his early death robbed the company of a great designer and Oliver Winchester of one of his dearest friends.

The Winchester rifle may not have "Won the West," but it certainly contributed towards the taming of it. From 1873 until 1919 an estimated 720,610 model 1873 rifles and carbines were produced in calibers ranging from .44-40 down to .22.

Skillet Meat Loaf

- 1 lb. ground venison
- ½ lb. pork sausage
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 medium potato, shredded
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 tsp. salt
- Dash of pepper
- ¼ tsp. dry sage

Heat 1 tbsp. shortening in heavy skillet with a tight-fitting lid. Form a loaf of the above ingredients, brown it well on both sides and reduce heat to simmer. Dissolve 1 beef bouillon cube in 1½ cup boiling water or use 1½ cup hot venison or moose stock. Add ½ cup of this to meat loaf; cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Turn loaf and add 6 stalks celery, chopped, 6 small carrots cut in half, and remaining cup bouillon. Cover and simmer 30 to 40 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Pour off meat juice, make gravy with it and serve with the loaf. Serves 4 to 6.

Come and Get It!

- 1 lb. ground venison
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 slices bacon, diced
- 1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
- ¼ cup raw rice
- 1 small head cabbage

Salt and pepper

Fry the bacon, push aside in the skillet and brown the venison and onion in the fat. When all are nicely browned, add the tomatoes, cabbage shredded as for cole slaw, and uncooked rice. Season to your taste, cover the skillet, set it on the back of the stove and let it simmer for 1 hour. If more liquid is needed to prevent sticking, add a little water.

Barbecued Venison

(Can be used with the tougher cuts.)

Cut meat in cubes about 1½" to 2" square and brown in medium-hot fat. Rendered salt pork is best, with bacon drippings a close second. While venison is browning in a heavy skillet, make sauce as follows:

- ½ cup catsup
- ½ cup wine vinegar
- 2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
- ½ tsp. hot sauce
- 2 tbsp. brown sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- Juice of 1 lemon

Put all in saucepan, bring to a boil and simmer for 20 minutes. Add venison and stir to cover all pieces well.

BUD BREEN

For over 25 years Bud Breen, cowboy, ranch foreman, western movie actor, then artist has been painting pictures that capture the beauty of the open country and ranch life that he loves so well.

Born in Eagle Pass, Texas, Bud grew up on the ranches of Southwest Texas, and it is here he finds the scenic environment for his paintings...historical western subject matter painted into a setting as the terrain looks today.

A noteworthy resident of Brackettville since 1960, Bud's home is his studio, the kitchen table is his easel and his experiences are his inspiration. His wife, Nakai, a full blooded Cherokee, gives suggestions and help in his paintings of Indians down to the last feather.

Without the benefit of formal art training, Bud's livelihood depends entirely on his skillful handling of oil paints.

Paintings by Bud Breen can be found in collections from every setting of the compass, including such well known collectors as Dean Martin, Roy Rogers, Joel McCrea, Jimmy Stewart, Tom T. Hall, Bobby Bare, Dolph Briscoe, and many others. Just about everybody with a love for the Old West is included among Bud's clientele.

PROCESSING CARCASS IN CAMP

To aid in keeping the wildlife resource in an edible condition, a person may only quarter a deer or antelope in the field before the carcass reaches a processing plant or the home of the person lawfully possessing the carcass.

A quartered carcass is:

- ...Not more than 2 forequarters with the leg portion to the knee attached to the shoulder blade.
- ...Two hindquarters with leg bones to the hock attached.
- ...Two backstraps and the trimmings from the neck and rib cage. The boned-out neck and rib cage may be discarded.

NOTICE: It is unlawful to possess a deer or antelope with evidence of sex removed. The head of a buck deer with antlers attached, the head of an antlerless deer, or the unskinned head of an antelope must accompany the carcass until it is finally processed. Instead of the head, the hunter may obtain a receipt from a taxidermist or a statement from the landowner or the landowner's agent containing the following information:

- ..Name of person who killed the deer or antelope.
- ..Date the deer or antelope was killed.
- ..Whether the deer was antlered or antlerless.

Deer Run Over Boy

By DORTHY PAYNE
Brackett News Staff Writer

I've heard of "dog biting man," and even "man biting dog," and I've heard of hitting a deer with an automobile. But last week about 12 deer ran down a boy on a bicycle on Fort Clark Road near the Unit 15 turn-off.

Patrick Conlin and his friend, Matthew Foster, (not exceeding the speed limit on their bicycles) were traveling on the road after dark.

Patrick said he was ahead of Matthew and he saw shadows and heard hoof beats but couldn't stop quick enough. About 12 deer crossed the road on top of him.

One deer hit him on his right leg and knocked him and his bike off the road onto the sidewalk. He landed on the ground and another deer landed on his ribs as he lay there. His right leg was bruised and he thought it might be broken.

"the deer didn't stop to check the damages"

So, he lay there and Matthew went for help. Right after Matthew left, a Border Patrol car stopped and took him home. When Matthew got back to the spot and found him gone, he went to Patrick's house to see about him.

Result - Patrick has pulled muscles and bruises, but no broken bones. The bicycle is a little bent. The deer didn't stop long enough to know what damages they had, if any.

Sighting-In Instructions

All NRA life-size big game targets (black bear, mule deer, pronghorn, and whitetail deer) come with a large, bright orange sight-in target. Consider using this sight-in target before shooting at these life-size big game images. Using this target first is so important because sighting-in your firearm is a matter of hits or misses. If you miss, there is no way to tell what caused the misplaced shot or perhaps where it went.

Sighting-In Tips

- Shooting at the sight-in target will tell you exactly where your shots are going and you will know exactly what corrections to make on your sights.
- Shoot your rifle from a solid bench rest with the gun's forearm, not the barrel, resting on a padded block or sand bag.
- Sight-in your centerfire rifle at 25 or 50 yards before shooting at longer distances.
- Fire your rifle at least three times at the center bull's eye to check your bullet grouping.
- Use the clockwork numbers on the target to locate your bullet grouping and determine what adjustments need to be made.
- Make the necessary sight adjustments. Adjust the crosshairs or rear sight in the direction you want the impact to move.
- After sighting-in on this target, practice shooting at the big game image from "hunting" positions, such as standing, sitting or with a natural rest.

The Development Of Regulated Sport Hunting

Native Americans and early settlers found a wealth of natural resources in North America; the amount of game that could be harvested seemed endless. But around 1900, the clearing of land for agriculture coupled with unregulated hunting greatly reduced the populations of some animals. Many people feared much of America's wildlife would soon disappear.

Sportsmen took the lead in calling for hunting regulations and wildlife conservation efforts. We now have regulations, habitat restoration projects, and a manageable wildlife resource. Non-game species of wildlife and people who enjoy other forms of outdoor recreation also benefit from the conservation efforts demanded and voluntarily paid for by sportsmen.

Americans now understand wildlife is a renewable resource requiring careful management. This management enables game populations to be maintained at high levels with a controlled percentage of the animals harvested each year. In this way, game populations can be managed the same way a farmer manages his herd of cattle.

White-Winged Dove

PORT ARANSAS - Most Texas dove hunters will be allowed to take six whitewings per day during the mourning dove season, and hunters in the Central Zone will have an extra week during the fall season.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission set the early season migratory game bird season dates during a public hearing July 9.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service allowed the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to increase the whitewing daily bag limit from two to six in all but four Texas counties - Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy. In those counties, where the whitewing population still is recovering from a prolonged drought and the 1989 freeze that destroyed much of the citrus whitewing nesting habitat, only two whitewings will be permitted per day during the regular season, the same as last year.

Dove hunters in the Central Zone (see dove hunting zone map) asked the department for a shorter winter season and longer fall season, said Ron George, TPWD dove program leader. In response, the commission approved taking the last seven days of the winter season and adding them to the fall season in the Central Zone. The Central Zone season this year will be September 1 - October 30, and January 3 - 12.

Despite a one-million bird increase in the continental blue-winged teal population, the USFWS denied a request by the department for a September teal season.

USFWS also denied TPWD permission to have a four-day special white-winged dove season, instead leaving a two-day season.

Dates for the mourning dove season are:

North Zone
September 1 - November 9
Central Zone
September 1 - October 30
January 3 - 12
South Zone
September 20 - November 11
(ends Nov. 9 in Special White-winged Dove area)
January 3 - 19

Daily bag limits in all three zones is 12 mourning, white-winged and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than six white-winged and two white-tipped doves per day. The only exception is Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy counties in the Valley, which will have a daily whitewing bag of two. Possession limit in all zones is twice the daily bag.

Shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The Special White-Winged Dove season is September 7 - 8 and shooting hours are noon to sunset. Bag limit south and east of Del Rio will be 10 white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than five mourning doves and two white-tipped doves per day. Bag limit north and west of Del Rio is 10 white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than two white-tipped doves per day. Possession limit is twice the daily bag. One fully-feathered wing is required on all dressed doves at all times in the South Zone and the Special White-winged Dove Area.

Dates for rail and gallinule hunting are September 1 - November 9. Bag and possession limits for king and clapper rails are 15 daily in the aggregate and 30 in possession; Sora and Virginia rails, 25 and 25; and gallinules, 15 and 30. Shooting hours for rails and gallinules are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

"Leaves Three Let Them Be"

By DORTHY PAYNE
Brackett News Staff Writer

Beware of the Rhus family of plants; poison ivy, oak, or sumac, on your outdoor summer outings.

At least 70% of the U. S. population will acquire "allergic contact dermatitis" if exposed to them, according to Charles Zuger, M. D. associate professor of Northwestern University Medical School, and consultant to Blistex, Inc., makers of Ivorest poison ivy mediation.

Early recognition of the plant is important, but treatment immediately is urged for the 18 million cases of poison ivy expected this year. Wash with mild soap and warm water to remove toxins.

Toxins are the oily substance called urushiol in all parts of the plant. Launder clothing separately, piece by piece.

The rash can spread in camping gear, sporting goods, and garden tools. Animals carry urushiol but are not sensitive to the rash themselves. Treat with lotions, warm water with a little vinegar, or oatmeal, but if the rash becomes severe, see your doctor.

Poison ivy grows from Canada to Florida. So beware the old adage

"Leaves three let them be," and head for outdoors with the proper knowledge on how to treat the rash.

Hypothermia

The temperature has dropped from the balmy 50s in early morning to the lower 30s by afternoon. Snow has begun to fall. Ducks and geese pour in to seek a secluded refuge from the storm. Your decoy setup is in the perfect spot to attract the incoming waterfowl.

You're shivering. Is it excitement, or has cold and wetness seeped through your clothing and sapped your warmth? Take time out to assess the situation now. It could be more serious than you realize. The number-one killer of outdoor enthusiasts in North America is hypothermia, or "freezing to death."

Hypothermia can strike any time of year, but is most common when persons are caught off-guard by rapid weather changes during outdoor activities in the fall. Once described as "exposure," hypothermia literally means a loss of heat in the body's inner core. Even during the warm months of the year hunters should be cautious when exposed to cold water, rain, wind, and cool weather conditions.

There are four elements that cause hypothermia: Cold—The danger of hypothermia increases as temperatures go well below zero or up to 60 degrees. Hypothermia most often occurs when the temperatures are between 20 and 50 degrees.

Moisture—When cool air temperature is combined with wetness from precipitation, cold water, and body perspiration, you increase the likelihood of the body losing a dangerous amount of heat. Wet clothing can lose up to 90 percent of its insulating value.

Wind—As wind velocity increases, its chilling effect on exposed skin increases. Moving air may also penetrate clothing and shelter, diminishing the protection they provide.

Exhaustion—When you're very tired you may not have enough energy to stay warm.

ARCHERY EQUIPMENT

Except for the crossbow, legal archery equipment may be used for taking game animals or game birds during any open season. Crossbows may be used only during the Archery-Only Season by certain handicapped persons. NOTE: Only shotguns with shells having shot no larger than number 4 may be possessed during the archery-only season, but they may not be used for taking deer or turkey. No other firearm may be possessed while hunting during the Archery Only Season.

Bow

- A bow is a longbow (including the recurved and compound) that is hand held and hand drawn.
- It may not have mechanical devices built into or attached to the bow that let the archer lock the bow at full or partial draw.
- No device to propel the arrow is permitted other than energy stored by the drawn bow.
- To hunt turkey and all game animals, other than squirrels, the bow must have a minimum peak draw weight of 40 pounds.

Arrow

In taking game animals and game birds, the arrow may not be poisoned, drugged, or explosive.

- To hunt turkey and all game animals other than squirrels, the arrow must be equipped with a broadhead hunting point at least 7/8-inch in width upon impact and have a minimum of 2 cutting edges. The width must be demonstrable.

Crossbow (Handicapped Only)

Persons with an upper limb handicap may use a crossbow to hunt deer and turkey during the Archery Only Open Season, provided:

- (1) no telescopic sight is attached to the crossbow,
- (2) the crossbow has a minimum pull of 125 pounds,
- (3) the crossbow has a mechanical safety,
- (4) the crossbow stock is not less than 25 inches in length, and
- (5) the bolt is not poisoned, drugged, or explosive and the broadhead hunting point is at least 7/8-inch in width upon impact with a minimum of two cutting edges.

"Upper limb handicapped person" is a person that has a permanent loss of the use of fingers, hand or arm in a manner that renders the person incapable of using a bow.

While hunting deer or turkey with a crossbow, the person must possess a physician's statement certifying the extent of the disability.

Texas Parks And Wildlife Commission Provides Opportunity For Citizens To Make A Natural Investment In Texas

PORT ARANSAS — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved a new $25 Conservation Passport that will provide an opportunity for citizens to make a natural investment in Texas. It will open up vast areas of Texas to outdoor enthusiasts and will provide discounts on many park services.

"This is an opportunity for Texans who don't hunt or fish to help support the conservation programs of Texas Parks and Wildlife," said Andrew Sansom, TPWD executive director. "Hunters and fishermen make their contribution through license sales but there really hasn't been an effective vehicle for nonconsumptive users to contribute. The Conservation Passport will give those who appreciate the natural beauty of Texas the chance to help preserve it."

The Conservation Passport, HB 1207, was passed during the recent legislative session, the commission approved the fee during its public hearing July 9, and the bill becomes effective and passports will be available beginning September 1.

The passport will not be required for day-use or overnight-use in state parks, but anyone with the passport will not have to pay the daily entrance fee and will receive a $1 discount on each night's camping. Other perks include discounts off the Texas Parks and Wildlife Magazine and from ancillary products that will be marketed in the future.

The passport will not be required for hunting if a person has a Type II hunter permit or is participating in a Type I public hunt on TPWD public lands.

The passport replaces the annual and restricted annual park entrance permit so the public does not have to contend with two separate annual permits.

It will be sold at state parks and other department facilities around the state and will be good for one year from the date of purchase.

Fee Scale Set For Texas Parks

AUSTIN - The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has set new fees for Texas' state parks. Entrance fees will increase to a maximum of $5 on weekends at the most popular parks, while camping fees at some less visited parks will stay at their current rate.

The fees become effective September 1 and reflect a more business like approach to pricing and takes into account the popularity of various parks.

Three factors were considered in determining the fees: 1) some parks are more heavily visited than others; 2) most parks draw more visitors on the weekend; 3) some parks are used more during peak seasons.

The department was very sensitive to the impacts increased fees would have on visitation (21 million people visited Texas parks last year), and that's why most fees will be raised only $1 or $2. Fees needed to be raised but not so high the increase would keep people from using the parks. The fees were last increased in 1986.

Fees for camping facilities such as screened shelters will increase, but lower prices on weekdays will be a bargain for visitors who stay overnight during the week. Department officials hope this will encourage increased visitation during traditionally slower periods.

The Conservation Passport, approved recently by the Texas Legislature, will take the place of the annual entrance permit, allowing passport holders free entrance to most state parks. The Conservation Passport also will provide access to previously unopened lands and provide discounts on camping and other TPWD services.

For more information on state park fees call any state park or TPWD headquarters in Austin at 1-800-792-1112.

Visit The Area Attractions In Six Texas Counties and Mexico

Val Verde, Edwards, Maverick, Real, Uvalde, Mexico

Kinney

The area surrounding Brackettville, Uvalde, and Del Rio offers some very exciting possibilities for planning memorable short trips.

The area is rich in history, and in scenery. Highway 90, the road adjoining the cities, is part of the Chihuahua Trail, the path used by Spain and Mexico to carry treasure from the central Mexican mountains to the Gulf ports via San Antonio.

Recreational areas, including hunting, fishing, and camping, abound throughout the area.

Consult the nearest Chambers of Commerce for hunting and fishing regulations, guides, and specific directions.

Alamo Village

ALAMO VILLAGE - 7 miles north of Brackettville on Hwy. 674 is a western family recreation center built around the movie set for John Wayne's The Alamo. The Alamo replica overlooks a frontier village of the 1800s. The town includes a cantina-restaurant, trading post, Indian store, stage depot, old-time jail, and 18 walk-in museums.

Opens daily at 9 a.m. From Memorial Day to Labor Day live entertainment is offered daily.

Brackettville

BRACKETTVILLE - established as a supply village for adjacent Fort Clark in 1851, the town is the county seat of Kinney County and is 22 square miles larger than the state of Rhode Island. The town became a trade center for surrounding ranches and farms, and is a mecca for white-tailed deer, wild turkey, javelina, and upland game birds.

Several historic buildings are of interest. St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church datés from 1878; Masonic Lodge Building, circa 1879 was original court house and received a Texas Historic Medallion in 1990. The First Baptist Church was once the Fort Clark Post Chapel.

The Flatiron Building now houses Breen Gallery, Leona Ranch, and The Brackett News. The Public Library is on the original site of the Mellifont Building and part of the original wall is being incorporated into an expansion project.

Seminole Cemetery

SEMINOLE CEMETERY - dating from frontier days. The army hired 150 Seminoles as scouts to follow trails of raiding Indians. The main cemetery is three miles from Brackettville. Four U. S. Medal of Honor winners are buried there.

Fort Clark Springs

FORT CLARK SPRINGS - long a favorite Indian campground, Fort Clark was established on the banks of the Las Moras Creek by the U. S. Cavalry in 1852. The Fort played an important role protecting the El Paso Trade Route, and frontier settlers from vicious Indians and bandits who slipped across the border to safety in Mexico.

Virtually all U. S. Cavalry units lived, trained, or visited at Fort Clark while patrolling West Texas and the U. S. - Mexican border.

It has two golf courses, modern motel rooms, a giant swimming pool, restaurant and lounge, a complete RV park, abundant wildlife, and historic charm. Now, Fort Clark Springs is a residential community with many people making it their permanent home.

Barksdale

BARKSDALE - the oldest community in Edwards County. Early settlers experimented with cotton and even established a cotton gin in 1887.

Campwood

CAMPWOOD - the site of an abandoned Spanish Mission, established 1762, became an U. S. Army post in 1857. The Texas Rangers used facilities following the Civil War and the community of Campwood grew. In 1924, Charles Lindbergh crashed his plane into the hardware store.

Montell

MONTELL - the site of Mission Nuestra Senora de la Candelaria, established in 1762, by Franciscan missionaries for the conversion of the Indians and protection of Spanish lands. One hundred Lipan Apaches volunteered to live within the walls and a chapel was built. Due to scarcity of meat and unrest among the mission Indians, poor defense and raids by Comanches and Apaches, it was abandoned in 1767. Also found in Montell is the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, a quaint old church.

Concan

CONCAN - established 1840, famous for the clear Frio River (named for a Mexican gambling game). The area has many camps and places to eat along the way. Three miles east of Concan is located the "Big Tree Ranch," noted for the Nationally Recognized Cypress tree, one of the largest in the U. S.

Rocksprings

ROCKSPRINGS - in Edwards County at an altitude of 2750 feet, Rocksprings was named after a "Rock" spring from which travelers on the Texas Forts Trail found water. When the office of the American Angora Goat Breeders Association moved to Rocksprings in 1926, Rocksprings became the "Angora Goat Capital of the World." Ten miles east lies a 365 ft. deep cavern called Devil's Sink Hole. In the Sink Hole are running streams with blind fish and speleogogists believe a larger cavern exist below.

Uvalde

UVALDE - situated at the intersection of Highways 90 and 83, Uvalde was the stomping grounds of notorious frontier sheriff and outlaw J. King Fisher back in the early 1880s. Historic homes are plentiful. The city is well known for Garner Memorial Museum, former home of John "Cactus Jack" Garner, vice president under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Located at 333 N. Park St., the museum features historical material and special displays. It is open Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. until noon, and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The Grand Opera House also attracts many visitors throughout the year. Located at East North and North Getty streets, this two-story Victorian structure is an architectural landmark, dating back to 1891.

Chalk Bluff

CHALK BLUFF - about 14 miles from Uvalde, Chalk Bluff can be seen from Hwy. 55 to the West. There are camp grounds along this stretch of the Nueces River (Spanish for nuts or pecans) that are open to the public.

Garner State Park

GARNER STATE PARK - a 1420 acre park sitting in the rugged hills and spring fed streams of the Texas Hill Country. It is one of Texas' most scenic and beautiful outdoor recreation spots. Named for the late John Nance Garner, former vice-president of the U. S., who lived in Uvalde.

Utopia

UTOPIA - originally named Waresville for Capt. Wm. Ware. Waresville was the first non-military colony in Uvalde County. In Utopia, the Methodist Church was established 1866. Pecan grove behind the church was the site of many pioneer camp meetings. The first, 1866, was held by Rev. A. J. Potter, noted Civil War Chaplain and Circuit Rider. New name praising climate was chosen by Postmaster George Baker. The town is now a center for ranching, retirement, and vacationing.

Sabinal

SABINAL - established 1854, was in operation for a short time, then used as the camp site of the Texas Rangers. There are many pre-1900 homes in the town.

Knippa

KNIPPA - established by George Knippa, a freighter from East Texas. In 1899 gold mining was tried. In 1900 a post office was acquired. In 1909 the town was laid out and called Chatfield and later named Knippa. The Trap Rock Mine, a stone and gravel business (1913) is still in operation today.

Leakey

LEAKEY - established 1883, John Leakey and his wife, Nancy, found cypress timbers in Frio Canyon and settled there despite Indian attacks. He manufactured cypress shingles, had a steam mill, freighting, and ranching interests. Archeological excavations show evidence of prehistoric civilizations in the area. Ranching is the main industry with registered Angora goats producing prized mohair. On their way back from Mexico, hundreds of Hummingbirds flock into the area from March to June. Six miles north of Leakey is the site of the McLauren Massacre, 1881, the last Indian Massacre in Frio Canyon.

Lost Maples

LOST MAPLES STATE NATURAL PARK - located on Ranch Road 187, 4 miles north of Vanderpool, offers 11 miles of hiking trails, picnicking, camping, nature walks, bird-watching, and sightseeing.

Eagle Pass

Piedras Negras

EAGLE PASS - is an international gateway to Mexico. Fort Duncan Park is the site of the fort established in 1849 to protect frontier settlements and keep Indians from raiding into Mexico. A museum in the park features exhibits of archaeological interest, as well as dispalys on local and pioneery history. Piedras Negras, situated across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass, features a number of places to shop, restaurants and night clubs.

Del Rio

DEL RIO - is known as the "Queen City of the Rio Grande." Del Rio is a green oasis amid the plains of the Edwards Plateau. The city offers a variety of sight-seeing attractions. Val Verde Winery, a fourth-generation family enterprise founded in 1883 by Italian immigrants, is located at 139 Hudson Street and is open to the public.

Whitehead Memorial Museum is located at 1308 S. Main St. Once the largest store between San Antonio and El Paso, the facility has grown to include six buildings featuring exhibits on the history of Southwest Texas.

Also on the grounds are the graves of Judge Roy Bean and his son, Sam.

Ciudad Acuna

CIUDAD ACUNA - this Mexican city located across the Rio Grande from Del Rio offers intriguing night spots, restaurants and fascinating arts and crafts shops.

San Felipe Springs

SAN FELIPE SPRINGS AND MOORE PARK - the springs gush forth from a subterranean river at a rate of 50 million to 90 million gallons per day. From prehistoric times this natural phenomenon has been as oasis in an arid land, attracting wandering Indian bands, Spanish explorers and many others. Take Highway 90 east from Del Rio, turn left onto the first dirt road after San Felipe Creek.

Amistad

AMISTAD RECREATION AREA - offers swimming, beaches, marinas and free campgrounds managed by the National Park Service on the U. S. side of the huge Amistad Reservoir. The area headquarters is located on Highway 90 on the western end of the city.

Langtry

LANGTRY - in deep Southwest Texas by the Rio Grande, the village was established 1881 when Galveston, Harrisburg, and San Antonio Railway was building through; was junction of construction from east and west. Judge Roy Bean is credited, by some sources, as naming the town in honor of his idol, English actress Lillie Langtry.

Judge Roy Bean Visitors Center features rustic saloon, courtroom, and billiard hall of Judge Bean, the colorful and controversial "Law West Of The Pecos" in the 1880s. The center preserves historic site where Judge Bean ruled with high-handed, but appropriate brand of homespun law, outrageous humor, and sixshooter justice.

Adjacent modern visitor center interprets highlights of Judge Bean's career in six dioramas with special sound programs.

An impressive cactus garden displays flora of Southwest; plaques label specimens and cite Indian/pioneer lore about the thorny plants.

Seminole Canyon

Guided hiking tours (strenuous) Wednesday through Sunday to Fate Bell Shelter where 4000 year-old rock art may be seen.

Visitor center displays of early man and area history.

Remainder of park open daily, campsites and picnicking. On U. S. 90.

THE ESSENTIALS OF FIRST AID

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

If breathing stops begin mouth to mouth respiration at once and continue until breathing is restored or help arrives. DON'T GIVE UP TOO SOON!

The need for artificial respiration results most frequently from drowning, heart attack, electric shock, poisoning, suffocation or trauma. The average person may incur brain damage and/or die in six minutes or less.

With victim on his back open his airway by tilting his head backward. Place one hand beneath victim's neck and lift. At the same time place the heel of the other hand on the victim's forehead and press down.

Place your cheek and ear close to the victim's mouth and nose. Look at the chest for movement. Listen and feel for air to be exhaled for about five seconds.

If no breathing, pinch nostrils shut, open mouth wide, take a deep breath, seal your mouth tightly around victim's mouth (for child, over mouth and nose) and blow in four quick breaths. Look and listen for breathing. If no chest movement check air passages again. If no sign of breath continue rescue breathing at a rate of 12 times per minute for adults and 20 times per minute for child.

CHOKING

If the victim cannot cough, speak or breathe and is still conscious, position victim so head is lower than body, bracing the victim's upper body with your hand and arm. With the heel of your hand, deliver four sharp back blows between the victim's shoulder blades, then rapidly deliver four abdominal thrusts.

For abdominal thrusts, wrap your arms around the victim's waist and make a fist with one hand, thumb side towards the abdomen. Place your other hand on top of your fist. To be most effective and to prevent internal damage, fist should be above the navel and below the breastbone.

Press your fist into the victim's abdomen with a quick and forceful upward thrust. Repeat steps until effective or victim becomes unconscious, remembering each time to ask if the victim can speak.

For unconscious victim, roll victim onto his side facing you. Deliver four sharp back blows as described earlier, then place victim face up on hard surface. Turn victim's head away from you. Deliver four abdominal thrusts by placing the heel of one hand between the navel and breastbone and the heel of other hand on top of the first one. Apply an inward and upward thrust. Sweep mouth for foreign matter. Repeat series until effective.

POISONING

Call doctor or poison control center at once. Maintain respiration and circulation.

If antidote is known or can be determined by examining the label from the package in which the poison was contained, administer at once.

If antidote is unknown, dilute poison by administering a full glass of water or milk. Discontinue dilution if it makes the victim nauseated.

Induce vomiting only if (a) the victim has ingested an overdose of drugs or medications or (b) it is certain that the substance was not a strong acid, alkali or petroleum product.

Save poison container and any remaining contents and the vomitus for medical analysis.

Inhaled poisons: Get victim to fresh air immediately. Give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation if breathing has stopped or is difficult. Keep victim warm and quiet. Call doctor.

OPEN WOUNDS

Any break in the skin is an open wound. Do not touch open wounds with fingers. Do not breathe on an open wound. Do not remove material imbedded in a wound. Consider all wounds potentially serious, and consult a doctor about the need for anti-tetanus treatment.

Minor cuts and abrasions — wash thoroughly with soap and warm water. Cover with a sterile gauze pad or compress bandage. If signs of infection appear later (redness, swelling, etc.) see a doctor.

Serious Wounds — for deep extensive cuts or wounds, cover the wound and the area around it with the cleanest material available (a sterile gauze pad is best) and bandage snugly. If bleeding does not stop control it by the methods under "bleeding" section.

Puncture Wounds — wash with soap and water, then bandage. Take the patient to a doctor. External bleeding is limited therefore increasing the chance of infection.

BLEEDING

When blood is spurting or flowing in a steady stream, it should be checked immediately or the patient may lose enough blood to cause death. In such injuries, control the bleeding, dress the wound, treat for shock and seek the help of a doctor.

Direct pressure — place cleanest material available over bleeding point and apply first hand pressure until a bandage can be applied. In an emergency use bare hand or fingers until a bandage can be applied. Elevate limb.

Pressure on Brachial Artery — If necessary, finger or hand pressure on supplying vessels causes bleeding to diminish. Pressure on the brachial artery which runs from the shoulder to the elbow by pressing it against the underlying bone will diminish the flow of blood to the upper extremity below the pressure point.

Pressure on the Femoral Artery — Pressure with the heel of the hand on the femoral artery in the mid-groin against the underlying pelvic bone will diminish bleeding in the lower extremity below the pressure point.

Tourniquets — should be applied ONLY in cases where an extremity has been severed or severely mangled. Wrap a strong, wide piece of cloth around the upper part of limb above wound. Tie a half knot, place a short stick on it and tie a full knot over the stick. Twist the stick just tight enough to stop the bleeding. Mark the letters "TK" and the time it was applied on the victim's forehead with anything available (pen, soot, lipstick etc.) and get him to a doctor immediately. Do not loosen or remove a tourniquet once it has been applied.

SHOCK

Shock usually can be detected by a pale face, cool, moist skin, shallow breathing, nausea, and detached, semi-conscious awareness toward what is going on around him.

Lay victim on his back with head level with or lower than his feet. Do not impair breathing. Cover to maintain body heat and send for medical help immediately. Do not give fluids unless medical help is more than an hour away. Shock is a serious condition that can cause death even when the injury itself is not a fatal one.

BURNS AND SCALDS

Burns are classified according to the degree of injury to body tissues.

First Degree: the outer skin is reddened and welled or slightly swollen. Immerse burnt area in cold water until the patient ceases to feel pain. When it is impossible to immerse the burned area, moist cold towels should be applied and renewed frequently. Follow this by application of dry dressing. If desired a simple burn ointment may be applied.

Second Degree: the under skin is affected and blisters are formed. Follow steps prescribed above except do not apply any burn ointment. Gently blot area dry with sterile gauze or clean cloth. Apply sterile gauze or clean cloth as a protective dressing. — Never break a blister.

Third Degree: the skin is destroyed and tissues underneath are damaged. A first aider cannot know the extent of injury in a third degree burn, but it is commonly recognized as a burn where blisters have been broken. Do not remove adhered particles of charred clothing. Cover burned area with sterile dressing or freshly laundered sheet. Do not allow victim to walk. If medical help is not available for one hour or more and victim is conscious and not vomiting, give a weak solution of salt and soda — four ounces of solution over a period of 15 minutes.

Shock following burns is extremely dangerous. Keep a victim of serious burns lying down and administer shock treatment as described earlier. Get the patient to a doctor or hospital immediately.

Chemical Burns: wash away the chemical completely with large quantities of running water. After removing the chemical, apply a burn dressing just as for any similar heat burn.

Burns Of The Eye: irrigate the eye thoroughly with running water. Place a sterile dressing over the eye to immobilize the lid and obtain medical aid immediately.

Sunburn: gentle application of oil or ointment to exclude air reduces pain. Aspirin helps reduce discomfort and fever. Wet cold packs are soothing. Drink plenty of water.

FRACTURES AND DISLOCATIONS

The general symptoms of fractures are pain in the injury area, tenderness to touch, deformity of bones in fractures of the limbs, severe or moderate swelling, pain on moving and discoloration. If medical aid is not immediately available, proceed as follows. Never move the injured person without splinting a fracture.

Closed Fracture: 1. arrange the limb in as natural a position as possible without causing undue discomfort to patient. 2. apply splints of any rigid material, such as a board or pole, corrugated paper, rolled newspapers, rolled blankets, long enough to extend beyond the joints above and below the fracture. To protect the flesh, pad splints with clothing or other soft material. Avoid any unnecessary movement while applying the splint. Fasten splint firmly with bandage or wide cloth strips in at least three places, preferably more to immobilize the joints and the point of break.

Open Fractures: Control bleeding if present and apply sterile dressing to wound. Don't try to clean wound or reposition protruding bone. 2. follow rules for closed fracture.

Fractured Spine: An injured spine is marked by back pain and by paralysis in the legs if the spinal cord has been damaged. Keep victim flat and do not try to move him to any other position.

Fractured Neck: Pain upon movement of the head may indicate a broken neck. There may also be numbness or paralysis in the limbs. The person must be left in original position, his head supported. He should not be moved except in a flat position with head well supported. Don't lift head to give water. Splints for a broken neck or back should be applied only by persons well trained in first aid.

Dislocation: A dislocation is a displacement of a bone end from a joint, resulting in some injury to surrounding tissues and ligaments. Since the symptoms of a dislocation are similar to those of a fracture, it should be treated as a simple fracture.

Sprains: Sprains are the result of torn or stretched ligaments around a joint. A sprain is marked by pain, swelling and sometimes discoloration. Elevate the injured part and apply ice packs or cold towels. Use no heat. Get medical attention.

Strain: strains involving muscles are common in the back. First aid calls for rest and mild heat to relieve pain.

HEAT STROKE

Heat stroke is recognized by the victim's hot, dry skin, extremely high body temperature — 106 or more, rapid, strong pulse and possible unconsciousness. It is a serious condition and requires the attention of a doctor. Remove victim's outer clothing and immerse him in cold water, or sponge victim with cold water or ice until temperature drops to 102 or lower. Place victim in cool place or fan him. If conscious administer salted water, one half teaspoonful of salt per half glass of cold water, every fifteen minutes. As temperature begins to drop, take care to avoid overchilling.

FAINTING

Fainting is a loss of consciousness caused by a temporary reduction of the blood supply to the brain. It has many causes ranging from emotional to hunger. When first symptoms appear — weakness, dizziness, palor, cold sweat — seat victim with knees far apart and hold head far down between knees for about five minutes. If victim loses consciousness, lay him down on his back with head turned to one side. Wave spirits of ammonia under nose. After consciousness returns keep victim quiet for about fifteen minutes.

Sourdough (and other breads) For The Camp Cook

Sourdough Starter

Mix 1 cup flour, 1 cup water, ½ to 1 package (or cake) of yeast in a pint jar. Let stand in a warm place overnight.

Sponge

Empty starter into a bowl. Fill the pint jar with warm water (2 cups), empty it into the bowl, add 2 cups flour and beat to a smooth batter. Let bowl stand in a warm place overnight. Batter should be thin enough to pour. If too thick, add a little warm water.

In the morning, take out ¼ to ½ cup of the sponge, put in clean pint jar, and place in refrigerator or cool place for the next sponge.

A sourdough starter will be good for many years if kept in a cool place and used every week. Never add anything to the starter except flour and water.

To carry the starter or keep it longer than a week, thicken it with flour to form a ball and keep it in the flour or in a covered container. To activate it, thin it out with water.

Sourdough Hot Cakes

To the sponge (which should be about 3 cups after a portion has been put aside for starter) add 2 unbeaten eggs (or ¼ cup dried egg powder mixed with 1/3 cup water). Sprinkle over the top 1 tbsp. sugar, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. oil or melted fat. Beat with a fork until foamy. If very thick, add a small amount of water or milk. Bake on a hot griddle.

Sourdough Bread (Brown)

To 1 cup sourdough sponge add 1 tsp. salt, 2 tbsp. molasses and 2 tbsp. fat. Mix well. Add 2 cups coarse graham flour, or enough to make a stiff dough. Knead lightly. Place in warm greased loaf tin, let stand ½ hour, then bake at 375° F. until lightly browned, about 40 minutes. This is a coarse, heavy bread with a good flavor.

Sourdough Bread (White)

Use the above recipe, substituting white flour for graham flour and omitting the molasses.

Sourdough Muffins

Sift together: 1 cup fine whole wheat flour, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. salt and ¼ cup sugar. Measure 2 cups sourdough sponge and add 2 eggs (unbeaten) and 1/3 cup melted fat. Mix well. Add flour mixture. If too thick to pour, add a little water; if too thin.

Yeast Ferment or Starter

Wash, pare and boil one medium-large potato, drain and save the water. Or, cook potatoes for a meal, save one, and save the water. Mash the potato, add the potato water and 1 level tbsp. sugar, and cool to lukewarm. Add 1 package granulated yeast or 1 cake yeast, crumbled. Add lukewarm water if necessary to make 1 quart of mixture. Mix well, cover loosely, and keep in a comfortably warm place (85° to 90° F.) until next morning. If potato water is unsalted the starter will work faster.

To activate this starter bring it to room temperature the day before bread is to be baked, add 1 level tbsp. sugar, 1 mashed potato, lukewarm potato water plus enough lukewarm water to make 1 quart, and (as when setting the original starter) keep it in a warm place overnight.

Bread

Next morning this yeast ferment should be bubbly or frothy. If it seems cold, set it in tepid water until barely lukewarm (80° to 85° F.). If flour seems cold, warm slightly, but do not heat. Ingredients should feel only lukewarm to the hand.

Measure 10 cups (3 lbs.) sifted flour and 4 level tsps. salt into a mixing bowl. Dissolve ¼ cup sugar in yeast mixture, save 1 cup for starter, add rest to flour mixture and blend, then add 4 level tsps. melted (but not hot) shortening. Mix all together in the bowl, then turn out on floured board (not a cold board) to knead.

Knead, with greased hands, for five minutes, adding a little flour to the board from time to time if bread is sticky. Knead from the outside in, moving mass of dough clockwise with

Lyme Disease And Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever

By MIKE MOELLER

Whether you're tackling that overgrown spot in your yard, going picnicking out in the woods, or especially if you're going hunting, there's a good chance you'll run into a tick or two. Texas is home to ticks that are harmless, but there are two tick-borne diseases that can cause serious skin, heart, and nervous system problems. Lyme disease and Rocky Mountain spotted fever, both occur in Texas, and it's up to you to take protective measures.

Lyme Disease (LD). Named after the town of Lyme, Connecticut, where it was first described in 1976, it was diagnosed in Texas in 1984 and is now the most frequent tick/insect-borne disease in the country.

Confusing Symptoms. While not fatal, Lyme disease will make you miserable. Transmitted by the bite of an infected tick or flea, Lyme is tricky to diagnose because its symptoms vary from person to person.

Phase one includes development of a small red bump at the bite site within 30 days. Flu-like symptoms may occur or a rash might develop. You may have none of these early symptoms at all. In phase two, about 20 percent of untreated people develop neurological or cardiac disorders weeks or months later. And, in phase three, about half of untreated people develop recurring or chronic arthritis after a latent period of up to two years.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever (RMSF). Rocky Mountain spotted fever can be fatal, especially if treatment is delayed. The incubation period is three to ten days.

While the same "flu-like" symptoms occur, the patient is more severely ill.

A measles-like rash on the wrists and ankles usually appears one to three days after the fever begins and can spread over the entire body. Prompt treatment is crucial to recovery. There is currently no vaccine against RMSF.

Tick Tactics. You might be alarmed about the numbers of reported cases of LD and RMSF in Texas. But with 16 million Texans, your chances of contracting LD or RMSF are remote. You could forego picnics or summer camp, or hunting, but that's hardly realistic. Tick habitat areas are forests, lawns, and watered areas. But you can reduce your chances of being a "host" by keeping these common sense measures in mind:

1). IPM. Integrated pest management methods are the least toxic approach to pest control and are applicable even for ticks. Cover your body as much as possible. Ticks usually hang on grass or brush and wait for a "host" to pass. Legs are the most accessible target, and from there they crawl upwards. Keep clothing buttoned, tuck pant legs into socks, keep shirttails inside, don't go barefoot. Examine the entire body, paying special attention to the head and scalp. The longer an infected tick is attached, the greater your risk of infection.

2) How about an insect repellent? Most repellents contain N,N-diethyl-m-tou-lamide, or DEET, a very powerful chemical repellent. Some people are sensitive to DEET; children are especially at risk. Some products contain permethrin, which is a pesticide rather than a repellent. Some repellents contain concentrations of 100 percent DEET, and serious reactions in children and adults have been reported even with brief exposure to small amounts.

What can you do? READ ALL LABELS. Apply repellent sparingly, avoiding your skin. As a rule, pesticides should not be used on people or pets, but if you use a repellent, they're safer, more effective, and longer-lasting when used on clothing. Avoid using high-concentration products for children. Never use repellents on irritated skin, and avoid applying repellents to children's hands that are likely to come into contact with eyes or mouth. Wash repellent off after coming indoors.

3) Consult your vet about your pets, and check your pets frequently for ticks.

4) Reduce tick habitat by burning vegetation and mowing and clearing brush. Mouse-breeding sites, such as abandoned bird nests, tree cavities, and wood piles, also should be eliminated because small rodents make ideal hosts.

Tick Removal. Proper removal of the tick is important in reducing the chance of infection. Don't try to detach it with bare fingers; bacteria from a crushed tick may be able to penetrate even unbroken skin. Using a pair of fine-tipped tweezers, grip the tick close to your skin and gently pull it straight away from you until it releases its hold. Don't twist it or squeeze as you pull. Thoroughly wash your hands and the bite area, and apply an antiseptic.

Save the tick in a small container labeled with the date, location of the bite, and where you think the tick came from. You can show it to your doctor if necessary.

For more information about IPM practices, contact the Pest Management Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin TX 78711.

NRA Gun Safety Rules

The fundamental NRA rules for safe gun handling are:

- Always keep the gun pointed in a safe direction.
- Always keep your finger off the trigger until ready to shoot.
- Always keep the gun unloaded until ready to use.

When using or storing a gun always follow these NRA rules:

- Be sure the gun is safe to operate.
- Know how to safely use the gun.
- Use only the correct ammunition for your gun.
- Know your target and what is beyond.
- Wear eye and ear protection as appropriate.
- Never use alcohol or drugs before or while shooting.
- Store guns so they are not accessible to unauthorized persons.

Be aware that certain types of guns and many shooting activities require additional safety precautions.

To learn more about gun safety, enroll in an NRA hunter clinic or state hunter education class, or an NRA safety training or basic marksmanship course.

Whitetail Are Most Adaptable Of All Big Game

By DORTHY PAYNE
Brackett News Staff Writer

The Indians, in the days before the white man in America, would pick a day when the wind was right and burn the forest floor. The whitetail would amble along, in no great hurry, pausing to stop behind the thick bushes. At the creek, they would cross and disappear into the trees where they would wait until nightfall knowing the fire could not follow them.

The whitetail are the most adaptable of all big game, and a close neighbor to man from coast to coast. The whitetail, blacktail, and mule deer are of such long residence in North America that their beginnings are lost millions of years in the past. When white men began to change the Continent, there were an estimated fifty million of them.

American's own rifle was the Kentucky, a descendant of German jaeger but with longer barrel and simple mechanism needed for frontier use. The Kentucky went westward, its bore was satisfactory for whitetail, black bear, and squirrels.

In the west, prairie settlers destroyed the deer, but their cultivated fields brought back the deer and they increased in many areas from which they had disappeared.

With the new deer hunting laws shortly after 1890, few deer hunters believed the whitetail could be brought back.

Having saved the whitetail, man went overboard in the protection. The buck-only law became the cause of disastrous crowding. In the 1920s, sportsman remained opposed to doe killing despite the advice of game managers. By the 1930s, the deer were starving, they were smaller in size, and it was then that seasons on antlerless deer were accepted, bringing the needed balance.

Now the canny whitetail deer is king of American big game, living close to city or farm, and capable of hiding in brush patches or fence rows. Whitetail are still plentiful and some sportsmen still refuse to hunt does.

The Texas Deer Lease

Deer hunting is big business in Texas. Lease hunting for deer remains one of the few constant sources of revenue for many Texas landowners.

Texas landowners have a unique position for lease hunting. Unlike other states, Texas has little state-owned land available for public hunting. Thus, the private landowners control the supply of most huntable land in the state. This unique position affords Texas landowners a source of income not shared by landowners in other states.

Location of the deer and not the ownership of the animals, however, is what generates the revenue. In Texas, all naturally occurring wild animals such as white-tailed deer belong to the state. As such, the state can regulate the taking of game through hunting laws.

Although the state regulates when and how deer may be taken, the state cannot authorize trespassing on privately owned land by a hunter in pursuit of deer. Independent permission from the private landowner must be secured first by the hunter. Granting the right to enter and hunt on private property generates the landowner's income.

Historically, permission to hunt was granted with the asking. Recently, however, Texas landowners have begun exacting a price for this privilege in the form of an agreement commonly referred to as a hunting lease. Depending upon the size of the lease tract, the abundance of game, and the amenities available to the hunter, prices vary. The lease may last a few hours, a few days, several months, the duration of the hunting season, or for longer periods of time.

The so-called Texas hunting lease is not, in fact, a lease at all but rather a license. Technically, a lease is a contract that conveys exclusive possession or control of land to another for a specific period. A license, on the other hand, grants permission to do something that otherwise would not be allowed or would be illegal. Because the typical Texas hunting lease does not grant the hunter exclusive possession or control of the land, it is better characterized as a license.

Granting the hunting lease may take numerous forms -- it may be given orally on the payment of a specified amount of money to the landowner; or, it may be given by way of an elaborate written document covering all aspects of the hunt, including an exact description of how the landowner's property may be used.

The property owner and the hunter should resolve all the major issues before signing the agreement.

Watch Out For Snakes!

Eastern coral snake

By DOROTHY PAYNE
Beckett News Staff Writer

When venturing into snake country, hunters should know what snakes to avoid. Poisonous snakes in the United States are secretive and can be very aggressive when provoked.

Copperheads, cottonmouths, and rattlesnakes are the most common poisonous snakes a hunter is likely to come in contact with. But the rattlesnake is not the most deadly reptile. The coral snake usually causes death in 24 hours. He is tiny and is rarely seen.

He has red, yellow and black rings completely around his body. If the red and yellow rings touch each other, he is the deadly coral snake. Several other snakes have red, yellow and black rings but are not poisonous if they have a yellow belly and the red and yellow bands do not touch.

The Western diamond back, or Texas Rattlesnake, are found from Central Texas to California. Other species common in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona are the blacktail, the red, the tiger, the green and others.

One of the most interesting species is the horned rattler, seldom over 30 inches long and has a blunt horn over each eye. He is pale yellow, or pink, with blotches. He is also known as the "sittewinter" because of his peculiar gait, he winds to the side.

The largest North American rattlesnake is the plain diamond-back, 6 to 10 feet long, with one-inch fangs. He usually coils to strike but if he is surprised or stepped on, he can strike uncoiled.

Knowing where to look for these reptiles and wearing protective clothing are the best ways to prevent a painful encounter with a poisonous snake.

Reptiles sun themselves in spring and fall. When the weather is hot, they will seek shelter during the hottest part of the day. Most people are bitten on the hand, foot, or leg, so watch your step and where you put your hands.

Heavy shoes, or boots, are good protection when hunting. There are also snake proof chaps of "Cordura" nylon that is water proof and also protects against thorns, and brush as well as snakes.

According to Bob Elgin, nationally known herpetologist and former director of the Des Moines Zoo, "Snake chaps are the best combination (a) protection, (2) versatility, and (3) convenience. Carry a snake bite kit when hunting and know how to use it, better to be safe than sorry.

But the best advice is to protect yourself; know the poisonous snakes in the area in which you are hunting, and wear protective clothing.

Turkey Most Difficult To Hunt

By DORTHY PAYNE
Brackett News Staff Writer

In the 1600s the Indian found plenty of game, controlling his fires, using fire to create game habitats for future years, and it was three centuries before the Whites learned the fire procedures of the Indian. Fire brought new tender grass for the game to feed upon.

In the early days of the pioneer, the turkey was the most difficult game to hunt. The gun of the hunter was heavy and slow and the target was moving fast with turkeys running in all directions.

Wild turkeys were a staple of the earliest white settlers and lived in clearings and open forests close to settlements where they were killed on their roosts by the hunters matchlock. The small clearings were attractive to game because of the new growth.

Wild turkey has made an amazing comeback. In 1836, turkeys were lured to a decoy or they were used in shooting matches as of today.

Although attempts were made to breed wild turkeys to domestic turkeys, it wasn't very successful. By the late 1960s new crops of wild ones had returned to the forests, even feeding at the edge of the highways and are no strangers to housing developments.

Wild turkeys occupied much of the East and Middle West when Europeans arrived. Indians of the Southwest domesticated them, using their feathers ceremonially and their bones for tools. Some ancient arrows were tipped with turkey spurs.

Wild turkey is among the most wary of game birds, able to escape by air or by ground, and has been brought back to a comparative plenty by careful management. Early flocks were depleted by gun and farming practices, but propagation planting has returned birds to the old habitat and brought flocks to new ranges.

The earliest written accounts of hunting were incidental to other reporting. It was not until the 19th century that hunters and travelers began to set down their experiences with game in an orderly manner. The past half-century, as the hunters increased and game management became advanced, even to a well-applied science, the literature and history of hunting in America came forth in volumes.
