The Brackett News

Vol. 4 No. 44 Brackettville, Fort Clark, Spofford, and Kinney County, Texas December 10, 1992

"If a man had half as much insight, as he has hindsight, he would have twice as much foresight."

"The new people" in the "49ers" at #424 are not really new. They've just been away for a while. In fact, they've been gone since shortly after Fort Clark was deactivated as a Cavalry Post and their story is an interesting one.

Natives of Klondike (Delta County, Texas), they came to Fort Clark on a tour of duty and lived in the "49ers", Unit 422. Their daughter was born while they lived there. Major Agnew was the base doctor, and made house calls, but there were no maternity facilities on base so Mrs. Ray gave birth in the Del Rio hospital.

At the time Mr. Ray came to Fort Clark, he had seven years army experience, and went on to a twenty-year career. He then returned to Klondike where they continue to make their home.

He retired from service in 1955, drove through Fort Clark briefly in 1965, has not attended a "Trooper's Reunion" but plans to in the future.

One local person he recalls is former Sheriff Johnny Sheedy who at the time Mr. Ray was stationed at Fort Clark, was a "labor boss" and Mr. Ray can now laugh at how he (Ray) could not pronounce the names of the civilian employees Mr. Sheedy would take to receive their pay. Mr. Ray says he had "great difficulty" with the unfamiliar names.

Mr. Ray's story goes like this: As a former finance master sergeant and a recently appointed warrant officer, I reported for duty at Fort Clark June 29, 1942.

My MOS (military occupational specialty) was in finance, and after the brief formality of reporting to Col. Whitney, the post commander, I was told by Maj. Savage, the post adjutant, that my primary duty at Fort Clark would be that of agent finance officer, the work to consist of paying the post's military and civilian personnel. He also told me that Fort Clark's small finance office, located inside the post quartermaster's office, was operated as a branch or satellite of the Finance Office, U.S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Later, in 1943, I was assigned the additional duties of post fiscal officer and post auditing officer. Thus employed, I was present when the Fort was officially inactivated as a military installation on August 15, 1944.

After August 15, I continued my work of making final audits of closed post activities, including military property accounts, non-appropriated funds, and civilian payroll records. The work required much extra time and effort on my part, as all discrepancies and all shortages had to be adjusted by the custodians involved prior to their departures for other stations. Frequently the custodians, all officers, were handicapped in making the necessary corrections to their records, because their former employees were no longer present. Thus, due to their lack of expertise as clerks, I was forced into the peculiar position of performing some of their paper work myself.

On August 20, 1944, all of the custodians had left the post, whereupon I moved my typewriter and briefcase to the adjutant's office at post headquarters. There, I assembled my audit working papers and began the work of typing the final audit reports.

Now, for perhaps the first time since the Civil War, an eerie silence prevailed over Fort Clark, the post adjutant's office remaining as its last outpost of overt activity. With me in the office, and now sharing my lost race against time, were Mrs. Charlotte Goleman, head of the Civilian Personnel Section, and Capt. Stanley J. Sawicki, AGD, Adjutant, Military Personnel Officer and Civilian Personnel Officer.

Poor Sawicki! Big, sometimes explosive and with a huge capacity for work, he was an expert in his field. He was also, like me, now living in a state of embarrassed limbo at Fort Clark, since both of us had orders requiring that we head for our new stations on or about August 20, 1944. Unfortunately it seemed, our telephone connections with our superiors in the Eighth Service Command, Dallas, Texas, were still intact, and after August 20, Sawicki was repeatedly engaged in heated telephone conversations with the Command's military personnel section concerning their deadlines for our work at Fort Clark.

Actually, Dallas was neither remote nor unkind concerning our problems, but they were sometimes bewildered. Here it should be remembered that our fighting forces were still hotly engaged in both Asia and Europe, and that the inactivation of Fort Clark came at a time when such complex occurrences were rather rare.

Briefly stated, Sawicki's position was that there were too few hands for too many urgent, unexpected last-minute details.

One of his headaches was the mail, which continued to pour in, bringing official inquiries concerning transferred personnel and lost personnel records, as well as other official matters which required his immediate attention. Another problem was the embarrassing difficulty in getting the post's huge accumulation of precious historical and other permanent records transferred to the Army Records Depot in San Antonio. His face was red because the motor pool had been shut down and its civilian employees terminated or transferred before the many wooden boxes of files could be fully culled and inspected. Finally Sawicki and I, totally unassisted, loaded and hauled them to San Antonio in a big borrowed GI truck.

"Fort Looks About The Same"

About three days before our final departure from the post we saw the last of the faithful Mrs. Goleman. Being a fine example of Brackettville humanity, she probably worked without pay during the last days. I don't remember, but I would bet that she did.

Having worked throughout the night, Sawicki and I left Fort Clark near sunrise on August 28 in a staff car which, along with its driver, was furnished for our use in getting to San Antonio by the CO, Laughlin Army Air Force Base, Del Rio. In addition to the railway station in San Antonio, our itinerary included the records depot, for along with our personal luggage, the trunk of the staff car was filled to capacity with the final batch of Fort Clark's records.

Included among the records was the headquarters officer's register, a large, bound, loose-leaf book in which all officers were required to personally log the time, date and circumstances of their official arrivals and departures. As its last two entries, we had dutifully scrawled our own departure data, mine appearing as the last entry in the old book.

Finished at last, we settled back into the comfortable staff car and started for the entrance gate. We were tired but wide awake, and from behind the car's windows we watched with awe and sadness as beautiful, historic Fort Clark slipped away and out of our lives -- perhaps forever.

Arriving at the post's front entrance complex -- now unmanned and quiet as a cemetery -- we passed through. Then, turning east, we took the road to San Antonio. And now, James Ray is back at Fort Clark. He reported that the "original" part of the Fort had changed very little since 1944. He is impressed with the preservation, and the vital usage of the Fort, as a real community. Most of the residential area has been developed since he was here although he is housed in the unit next to where he lived on post. The Darrell Earwoods are his "landlords" where the army once was.

New Kind Of Entertainment

Last week local talent Sergio Salinas had the ride of his life in a T-38 which is a training jet at Laughlin Air Force Base.

Salinas sings The Price Of Freedom at each of the training pilots' graduation. Through his song and friendship of those at Laughlin Salinas was fortunate to experience this great part of their program.

"It was really incredible. I have total respect for all of the pilots. It was something I will never forget," said Salinas. Preparation for Salinas' flight included getting fitted with the right gear, learning how to eject, learning the equipment, a briefing of the flight and a light lunch!

After flying over the area including Brackettville, Salinas was met by a host of Laughlin people. And yes, Salinas has a little less color in his face than before he left the runway!

Laughlin adds a tremendous amount to the area. Brackettville is lucky to have such a fantastic neighbor.

Safely on the ground after flight, pilot Lt. Brett McDaniel and Sergio leave plane.

Rio Grande Electric Cooperative held its annual Employee Service Awards Luncheon at its central office in Brackettville on November 24, 1992. General Manager Daniel G. Laws presented the awards.

Sheriff's Corner

By Sheriff Norman H. Hooten

Twenty-four law enforcement officers were killed feloniously in the line of duty throughout the United States during the first six months of 1992, according to preliminary national figures released recently by the F.B.I. This year's semi-annual total was much lower than for January through June, 1991, when 44 officers were slain.

Firearms continued to be the weapons most often used in the slayings of officers. During the first half of this year, handguns were used in 14 of the murders, rifles in 4, and a shotgun in one. One officer was killed by a bomb explosion, and 4 were intentionally struck by vehicles.

Geographically, 14 officers were slain in the Southern States, 6 in the Western States, 3 in the Midwestern States, and 1 in the Northeastern States.

Fourteen officers were slain during arrest situations. Among the 14, 6 were attempting to prevent robberies or apprehend robbery suspects; 3 were attempting to apprehend burglary suspects; 2 were involved in drug-related situations; and 3 were attempting arrests for other crimes. Four officers were killed upon responding to disturbance calls; 4 while enforcing traffic laws; and 2 while investigating suspicious persons or circumstances.

Five officers were wearing body armor at the time of their deaths, and 1 was killed by his own weapon.

All of the 24 killings have been cleared by law enforcement agencies. An additional 29 officers lost their lives due to accidents occurring during the performance of their duties.

I would ask that you join with me in a moment of silent prayer for the surviving friends and family members of the 534 law enforcement officers who gave their lives in the line of duty and ask God to give those survivors the strength and courage to carry on in this time of loss and grief.

THAT'S ALL!

LETTER FROM SUBSCRIBER

To The Editor & Publisher:

I strongly believe that you showed very bad judgment and extremely bad taste in printing Joe Townsend's column of November 19, 1992, regarding the outcome of David Luna's trial. I think that Mr. Townsend should publicly apologize to Mr. Luna and especially to the jurors for his tasteless remarks and criticism on the trial.

You refused to print my letter when I expressed my views and opinions and made a few negative comments about Sheriff Hooten. Of course not, what made me think you'd print it? You see, it was before the election, and we all know what side your tortilla is buttered on, don't we?

How come this newspaper (if it calls itself a newspaper) hasn't reported anything on the "missing funds" from the Band Booster Club? Or is this hitting too close to home? Inquiring minds want to know.

I guess you just print what you think is fit to print. I find The Brackett News a very biased newspaper. It is for this reason that once my subscription expires I will not renew it. I hope that some of your readers and advertisers realize this also and withdraw their support of this newspaper.

I'm sure that writing this letter is a waste of time as I am sure you won't print this either, but that's okay, too. At least I had my say and there is much more to come (even if you don't print it).

In the meantime, I'll just quickly scan through The Brackett News, bypass Townsend's column, and continue to work the crossword puzzle. That's the best part of your paper.

/s/ Rudy Garcia
San Antonio

From the Editor: Glad you like the crossword puzzle. Just proves if one really tries something good can be found in almost any situation. It's amazing to me that some one with a San Antonio address can be interested in club funds in Brackettville...a rumor was investigated, nothing was printed, no evidence of anything missing from the band program.

Between Us

By Joe Townsend

Again, "Big Brother" in Washington steps into my life, and yours, and my pocket book and yours.

It's devastating how bureaucrats have such an impact on our lives and finances. The appointed big brother health care now has decreed that everything we buy to eat must contain a label, even including how much of what a man should eat.

Sullivan admits the cost in the next few years will be billions of dollars. He justifies the cost by saying it will cut down on health care and help people live longer, hence is a good investment.

Mr. Sullivan has demonstrated in a number of ways his wild-eyed desires to control the habits and eating of people.

A blind man with a walking cane can easily see all the labeling is a waste and an unconscionable cost.

Pause in any super market and see how many people stop and read the present labels before buying a product.

It's patent that most people could not care less about the elaborate breakdown of nutritional make up of a product. And yet, every product will cost more money simply to satisfy the whims of an egotistical bureaucrat.

To think that new labeling will improve health and long life is the meandering of a senseless mentality. This sort of thing is the product of political appointment to appease single interest lobbies. It means one more black in the Cabinet to satisfy that group.

It means one more carrot to the irresponsible "nutritional" hobby. Never mind the man has no qualification for the job. When people who are not elected by the people can cost every person who eats to have to pay more for his food, there needs to be some recourse for the taxpayer.

Things like this pass in the night and many people do not even know they've been had.

Don't expect Congress to void such idiocy. They've given this power to bureaucrats to avoid all responsibility. So many people feel the cost will be borne by big food processors. They don't have intelligence to know that the price "trickles down" to the consumer.

To suit the ego trip of a bureaucrat we all have to pay, and pay, and pay!

Texas Parks & Wildlife Magazine Celebrates 50 Years

AUSTIN—It was a very different Lone Star State, a war-time Texas that gave birth to the first issue of Texas Parks & Wildlife magazine in 1942. The early issues featured nostalgic covers and stories, along with pitches for war bonds, rationing reminders and other glimpses of a bygone era.

The magazine has evolved considerably in the 50 years before this December's special anniversary issue began rolling off the presses. It is now widely recognized as one of the nation's top outdoor publications, a window to nature for the homebody and a road map to adventure for the more ambitious.

In recent years Texas Parks & Wildlife has won awards that demonstrate national recognition of its coming of age. For example, the December 1991 special wildlife issue won a silver award in Magazine Design and Production's annual "Ozzie" competition, going up against industry heavyweights like Time and Life.

"We are probably more balanced today than ever before in coverage of a broad range of outdoor interests and issues," said David Baxter, magazine editor since 1977.

"We will continue to run stories on how to enjoy the harvest of game and fish in Texas; we will not abandon this vital heritage. At the same time we will stretch to interest the birder, biker, hiker, and the whole spectrum of people interested in the outdoors. Is that trying to be all things to all people? Yes. We have plenty of room for everyone, everyone who cares deeply about the Texas outdoor heritage."

The anniversary issue breaks from the magazine's typical format of various stories on diverse topics. Instead the entire issue is built around a single essay by legendary Texas author John Graves, whose 1960 book Goodbye To A River told the bittersweet story of the Brazos River's damming.

The ambitious theme of the special issue is signaled by the title of Graves' essay, "State of Nature."

CHANGE ONE WEEK ONLY

December's fourth issue of The Brackett News will be printed one day early...Wednesday, December 23. For that week only, the deadline for news items and advertising will also be one day early...Monday noon.

The office will be closed on Thursday and Friday, December 24 and 25.

Deadlines for the balance of the month will remain unchanged...Tuesday noon before the Thursday paper.

The issue paints a portrait of Texas with words and images that is both broad and deep, covering not only today's conservation challenges and the diverse ecosystems and wild creatures that still range across the second largest state, but also how the not-so-distant taming of the frontier shaped the current Lone Star legacy.

Graves' stirring prose is accompanied by color wildlife photography that justifies the magazine's reputation. The power and beauty of these images perhaps best convey the experience that keeps 175,000 loyal subscribers to the magazine.

This Christmas season, readers will find the magazine on newsstands in Austin, Dallas, Midland and Tyler, with contact negotiations underway to distribute it to newsstands statewide in 1993. And at $10 per year, a subscription to the magazine remains a popular holiday gift idea in Texas.

As for the future editorial direction of Texas Parks & Wildlife magazine, Baxter said to look for a more departmentalized publication in 1993. Magazine staff are at work on new departments that will focus separately on hunting and fishing, parks and places to go, the environment and outdoor experiences for young people.

"The fields of wildlife and public lands management are evolving so rapidly that it doesn't surprise me that the magazine is changing along with them," he said. "The one constant our readers can look forward to in the next 50 years is a continuing commitment to wildlife and the outdoors, to the people and natural resources of Texas."

Veterans Post by Freddy Groves

HITTING HOME — for the Homeless. A couple of weeks ago, I said in a column that as the weather gets worse in much of the nation, we need to reach out to our brothers and sisters who, despite their honorable service to the nation, are either homeless or live in dangerous shelters. I've since heard from both homeless vets and family members looking to link up with lost loved ones.

In the latter case, let me urge those who have been estranged from their kin, to contact them. (Look, it if doesn't work out, okay. But what if it can work out?)

The mail from homeless vets points up the shocking lack of facilities for people who, for one reason or another, are down on their luck, and without permanent homes. We must build decent, safe, shelters for those who need them — such as J.L., who has tried to get into a VA program for homeless vets, but was told he has to be admitted through a mental hygiene program first.

Isn't it time we stopped putting up barriers between the bureaucracy and the people it's supposed to serve?

The Deceiver

By FREDERICK FORSYTH

Author Forsyth has written excellent books. Examples of his work are: The Day Of The Jackal, and The Negotiator.

Unfortunately, he isn't as well known as some of his contemporaries. But, for those of you who like spies and espionage, he will prove to be a big favorite.

Try his latest, The Deceiver. You will meet Agent McCready who is the type person who makes the rules work for the betterment of the situation.

If not, he may bend them to the breaking point...If you haven't read Forsyth as yet, please do so, if you have, read The Deceiver. Your library has this in large print.

Book Club Notes

The Book Club met Thursday morning, December 3, at the Golf Club Snack Bar.

A very special bit of local history was shared by Nakai (Mrs. Bud) Breen. Though Cherokee by birth, Nakai worked with and for the Kickapoo Indians for 45 years. She speaks three Indian languages as well as Spanish and English.

Nakai helped secure the 125 acre Reservation for the Kickapoos. She represented them in Washington, D.C., and she was instrumental in raising money to purchase the land for the Reservation.

Mrs. Breen has a world of knowledge in folklore, in service to others, and in healing. She has met many famous humanitarians including Mother Theresa. She has received many honors from all over America and from foreign countries.

Nakai would like to be remembered as one who has worked for the most good, and one who has led a peaceful fight, for her people and their ways.

Unsung Hero

by Joe Townsend

Recently a man moved his family to Brackettville. He had accepted a vital responsibility with the school system. He quickly made himself at home in the community.

He is a fine member of Rotary. He quickly ingratiated himself with the teachers and staff of the school system. He is a warm hearted and friendly individual.

He is a fine husband and father and truly an asset to the entire community.

Surely Taylor Stephenson is an "Unsung Hero."

The Book Club will meet on Thursday, December 10, to review the book For All Time, a novel about life at the Fort.

Join us, December 17 -- a Video, at Las Moras Restaurant.

Querecho's Great Chili Cook-Off

I started getting calls from some of the contestants. For a bunch of so-called Christians, there sure was some backstabbing going on. One old bat told me that a certain lady actually used some chili one of the foreign exchange students from Juarez had given her. One of the lovely ladies invited me over for some Mexican chicken stew.

One called and advised me of the fact that she had won the contest 3 years in a row and she had damn well better win it again, or my livestock might start dying.

I just love dealing with Christians. Well, the day of the contest got there just barely in time. I had made a few new rules for all these high dollar ladies to go by and they didn't like it.

Rule #1. If I was gonna judge chili, there would be no beans or anything else added except seasoning.

Rule #2. If you broke rule #1, you were disqualified.

Rule #3. All cooking would be over an open fire.

Rule #4. The first one to gripe would be disqualified.

This is a lot of trouble to go to just to win a $75.00 gift certificate.

The contest was under way, and there was a few snide remarks from some of the ladies concerning Juan's wife and daughter entering the contest. But when questioned about the griping every one seemed to be in semi-good spirits.

I made 'em use the numbered cup method for secrecy, not that I really needed it. You could smell most of the mess from 300 yards away. When we started the cook off, there was a few birds hanging around but after about an hour, most had tried to fly off and the rest just walked off. I might add, there was a definite shortage of flies too.

Well, the cooking was called to a halt and the cups were filled.

Lavenia and her mother won hands down...1st and 2nd! Both chilies were different and it was hard to give either one first place.

The trouble came when I tried to go home. Some one had let the air out of all my tires, and some one else had left me a note stating that all my cows were gonna have baby kittens.

After I did get home, I had some of the best chili I had ever eaten. Juan brought me about two gallons of it. He was mad cause the doctor had cut him off of spicy things like that.

I'm not sure, but I think their chili was as good as mine, or maybe just a little better.

At least it didn't smell like road kill.

Well, I did it, yep, I got rooked into being a judge for the great chili cook off that is held every year by the members of the Church of The Better Than Thou and Pert-Near Perfect People.

It was twice for me. My first and last time.

I had never entered the cook off because I felt that the ones that did enter didn't have a chance. I may sound like a bragging type feller, but the truth is the truth and there is nothing I can do about it. What I'm here to say is "if you got it you got it".

For the most part, the good people of the Better Than Thou Club treat me like I have a really bad skin condition. But since everyone else refused to judge the chili murdering, they had to be nice to me.

After I had agreed to judge this wanton abuse of the Mexican style cuisine, I was quick to learn that I had made a terrible mistake.

One of the past judges called me that night and advised me to take a really good stomach coating medicine of some kind, any kind as long as it was at least 90 proof or 90 weight or both.

Then, he told me that the only ones to enter the chili cooking race were the ladies of the Better Than Thou Club.

That scared me.

All of them old bats thought basically along the same lines as the K.K.K. Any time any one other than their own little snotty group was needed in this life was when the group could get something out of 'em.

I put my little mind to working. I did good.

I called the head lady from the Better Than Thou Club and asked if the contest was open to everyone or if it was just for the members of the local church.

Sugar just dripped when she said "why of course it's open to the world if the world wants to enter".

That solved a big problem for me. My next move was to call old Juan Padilla.

The plan was set.

The rules said the chili had to be cooked on the church grounds the day of the contest. The rules said there was to be no alcohol. The rules said the chili had to be judged on it's color, it's aroma, it's texture, and it's consistency.

No problem.

The rules never mentioned anything about beans, onions, or other additives that can destroy chili. But I wasn't worried about that too much, the way some of these women's husbands looked, they couldn't cook much of anything else either.

Christmas Tree Season

The day after Thanksgiving traditionally marks the beginning of the Christmas season, a time when forests of Christmas trees start popping up on street-corner lots.

Some folks will drive out to a choose-and-cut tree farm for Texas-grown Virginia pines and Afghans. Besides these varieties, retail lots will offer fir and spruce from the North. Some nurseries also will be selling trees with roots intact to plant outside after Christmas.

Whatever the variety, buying the right Christmas tree and keeping it fresh for the holidays requires some thought and planning, said Jim Chandler, forester with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Before making a selection, he said, determine where in the home the tree should go.

"The tree will look smaller at the (choose-and-cut) farm than at the house," Chandler said. "Take the advice of the farm operator and use some type of measuring pole to determine the height of the tree."

Once the tree is home, cut the bottom quarter inch off the trunk. This keeps the trunk from being sealed off with sap and allows the tree to continue drinking water. Place the tree in a water-holding stand right away. If the tree is not going to be decorated immediately, place it in a bucket of water in a cool space such as a garage, he said.

"The tree needs water at all times," Chandler said. "A normal 6 to 8-foot Christmas tree can drink up to a gallon of water in the first 24 hours."

Keep the tree away from heat sources, fireplaces, or television sets, he said. Make sure lights and electrical connections are in good working condition to avoid fires.

Do a freshness test when buying a cut tree from a retail lot. The needles should be resilient. Hold a branch about six inches from the tip and pull your hand toward the tip, allowing the branches to slip through your fingers. On a fresh tree, the needles shouldn't fall off in your hand.

Then, lift the tree a couple of inches off the ground and let it drop on the stump end. Examine the needles that fall. There should be a few old brown needles that have died, but if you have a lot of green needles fall from the tree, that's a sign that the tree has dried out. A good fragrance and a green color also indicate freshness.

Trees that will be planted outside after Christmas should be handled differently. Since they are living plants, they cannot be kept indoors as long as cut trees. They'll dry out from central air-conditioning. They shouldn't be left in the house more than a week."

Chandler had a word of encouragement to those dismayed at the disposal of so many cut trees during Christmas. "Remember, for every Christmas tree cut, there are two to three new seedlings planted to ensure that we will have Christmas trees for the future," he said.

Additionally, many cities have started recycling projects for Christmas trees. In some urban areas, trees are chipped and used in landscaping. Some coastal cities are using the trees to hold back erosion of coastlines. Cities near major lakes are sinking trees into the water to provide habitat for fish.

3-Par Tourney

Twenty-seven hearty golfers turned out for the Monday morning scramble on December 7. No one made a "hole-in-one" so the $50.00 prize money designated for that event is still waiting for someone to claim it.

Patty Barnett is the only person to have ever made a hole-in-one during the Monday morning scramble. Three teams - Fay Gooch, Shirley Baldwin, Ron Buckles; Dave Yates, Jackie Marrs, Jim Palmer; Chuck Endris, Bob Barnett, Ward Pomoroy - tied at even par 27 for first place. In a chip-off between Gooch, Yates and Barnett, Gooch came out first, Yates second, and Endris third.

At one over par 28, three teams tied for fourth place. They were James Stafford, Margo Kendrick, Del Kendrick; John Osborn, Wayne Marrs, Rick Bacon; Tom Faulken-berry, Lois Endris, Mac McCannless. Stafford's team was named winner on a Handicap Hole.

Two teams tied at 2 over par 29. They were Vern Ebert, Dutch Schoolfield, Ron Frisby, and Donnie Guajardo, Lorraine Obsorn, and Tom Baldwin.

Bill Koons' team of Edith Palmer and Ernie Hall came in at four over par 31. That is nine teams with scores separated by only four strokes.

A bogie hole was named (rather than the usual birdie hole) and three teams bogied it (#4)...Vern Ebert's, Dave Yates', and Tom Faulkenberry's.

See you next Monday, straight down the middle, up on the green, and in the hole. "Par 3", you can't beat it!

"Road Experiences"

Beta Sigma chapters, Beta Epsilon Omicron and Theta Sigma, met at Jean Somers' house for a short training session. Then, three van loads of members loaded up and headed out for the wilds of the Frerich Ranch at night. Fortunately Tony Frerich met the group at the highway gate and led them to the bumper gate. Realizing that most of the ladies were city slickers, he opened and held the gate for them to prevent car and gate damage. He then told them to go on because the house was straight ahead and they couldn't miss it.

Cautiously the group set forth and soon encountered shadowy critters along the side of the road which turned out to be cattle. When three or four moved in front of the lead van and refused to move city slicker Callan did the only thing she knew to do, she honked the horn. The vans were soon surrounded by a lot of cattle. Eventually they made it to the house, but many are still convinced that there were also Comanches out there.

The meeting began with the opening ritual and a short business meeting was conducted by Shirley Hadsell. Wilma Lewis and Nancy Frerich talked to us about refrigerator magnets.

"A refrigerator is the center of the universe. On the inside is food essential to life, and on the outside of the door is a summary of the life events of the household: grocery lists, report cards, gems of wisdom, cartoons, family schedules, urgent bills, reminders, instructions, complaints, photographs, postcards, lost and found items, and commands. The door of the refrigerator is a chronicle of current events not found on TV or in the daily newspaper.

"An important art gallery is often found here as well: postcards of paintings from museums; scribbles from a child's long, rainy afternoon with a box of crayons; a collection of drawings, collages and paintings that come home from school in a steady stream; all stuck to the front of the family fridge.

"When you no longer have any on the refrigerator door, something is over-your children have grown up. If you don't have anything on your refrigerator it means you are a nice person who has carried neatness in the kitchen one step further than the 'Goodhousekeeping' seal of approval requires. Lighten up get some magnets and get your stuff up on the door of the fridge," from an essay by Robert Fulghum.

With this in mind, members created refrigerator magnets from supplies furnished by Wilma and Nancy. The creations were great. This creative activity was followed by cake and coffee, tea and soft drinks.

The next event that the two chapters participated in was the highway pickup which occurred on Saturday, December 5, 1992. Dee Curry, Nancy Frerich, Luella and Dwite Gilliland, Lou Green, Shirley Hadsell, Betty Inman, Marty and Dan Isenberg, Pat McKelvey, Ruby and Frank Cheaney, Opal Groce, Pam Melancon, Barbara and Bob Miller, Stan Somers, Bob Houk and Ken Kellar were pickers. Although it was a dark, cold day, everyone had a great time and the job completed in a short time. Ken Curry was the official photographer for the occasion.

A delicious lunch was prepared and served by Jean Somers, Leslie Houk, Doraline Kellar, Betty Ebert, Evelyn Whitely, Flo Stafford Marge Geeze, Betty Schlatterer, Lily Schwandner, Oleta Townsend and Mabel Parham.

PUBLIC NOTICE

GTE Southwest Incorporated (GTE-SW) and Contel of Texas Inc. (Contel) have filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to seek approval to provide two new private line services and to change rates for existing services. GTE's intraexchange DS1 Service will be offered pursuant to the rates proposed with this filing and will no longer be available through concurrence with GTE's interLATA access tariff rates which are lower. Contel's intraexchange DS1/DDS Service will be offered pursuant to the rates proposed with this filing and will no longer be available through Contel's current private line tariff rates. Existing customers with DS1/DDS Services will not be affected by these rate changes. DS1 1.544 Megabits per second (Mbps) Service and Digital Data Communications Service (DDS) will normally be used for the transmission of data communications. These or large volumes of voice communications between two locations. These services are optional and will not affect the existing rates of customers who do not order these services. The estimated annual effect on GTE-SW's revenues in the first year is $1,080,567. The estimated annual effect on Contel's revenues in the first year are $42,383.

DS1 Service

DS1 Service is an intraLATA Private Line Service which provides a dedicated, high capacity channel which may be used for simultaneous two-way transmission of voice data or other digitally encoded customer information signals. DS1 Service provides a transmission speed of 1.544 Mbps and is designed to provide an average performance of at least 95 percent error-free seconds of transmission over a continuous 24-hour period.

DS1 Service is available in and between all exchanges of GTE-SW and Contel where digital facilities exist. DS1 Service is available on a point-to-point intraLATA basis between two Customer Designated Locations (CDL) between a Serving Wire Center (SWC) and a CDL, between a CDL and a point of connection with another service provider or between two SWCs.

IntraLATA DS1 Private Line Service is comprised of three rate elements: DS1 Local Loop, DS1 Transport and DS1 Transport Termination. Each element is described below.

DS1 Local Loop

This rate element is for the cable facilities from the CDL to the SWC. The customer has two payment options for the purchase of DS1 Local Loops. There is a month-to-month plan or term contract Optional Payment Plan (OPP).

The month-to-month payment basis allows the customer to establish and disconnect DS1 Services, without penalty, other than to meet the minimum service interval of one month's service, as needed. Under the month-to-month service, the additional DS1 Local Loop rate applies only when the additional DS1 Local Loop (s) is (are) ordered at the same time and between the same two CDLs as the first DS1 Local Loop.

The OPP plan allows the customer to select a term of service (1 YR, 3 YR and 5 YR) with lower monthly rates associated with longer term contracts. If the customer selects an OPP, additional DS1 Local Loops may be ordered and installed at the Additional DS1 Local Loop rate between any SWC and CDL covered by the OPP, at any time during the term of that OPP.

DS1 Transport

This rate element is for the mileage sensitive charges for transporting a DS1 signal between Serving Wire Centers. Transport occurs only when the two CDLs being connected are served by two different SWCs.

DS1 Transport Termination

This rate element is for the equipment to terminate DS1 Transport at the SWCs. This charge applies only when DS1 Transport is required for the service configuration of the customer. One transport termination charge applies at each end of the DS1 Transport.

Proposed Rates and Charges for DS1 Service are as follows:

	Nonrecurring Charge	Monthly Rates
DS1 Local Loop
Month-to-Month
First System	$ 1,000.00	$ 298.00
12-month term
First System	-0-	$ 283.00

DS1 Transport
Per airline mile	-0-	$ 16.00

Per Termination	-0-	$ 40.00

Digital Data Service

Digital Data Service (DDS) is an intraLATA Private Line service which supports synchronous, full-duplex transmission between the CDL and the SWC or the point of connection with another telephone company at transmission speeds of 2.4, 4.8, 9.6, 19.2 and 56 kilobits per second (Kbps). DDS provides a transmission path for digital data signals within the same LATA.

DDS Service is available in and between all exchanges of GTE-SW and Contel where digital facilities exist. DDS Service is available on a point-to-point intraLATA basis between two CDLs or between a CDL and a point of connection with another service provider.

IntraLATA DDS Private Line Service is comprised of three rate elements: DDS Local Loop, DDS Transport and DDS Transport Termination. Each element is described below.

DDS Local Loop

This rate element is for the cable facilities from the CDL to the SWC. The customer may establish and disconnect DDS Local Loops without penalty other than the minimum service interval of one month's service, as his/her needs demand.

DDS Transport

This rate element is for the mileage sensitive charges for transporting a DDS signal between SWCs. Transport occurs only when the two CDLs being connected are served by two different SWCs.

DDS Transport Termination

This rate element is for the equipment to terminate DDS Transport at the SWCs. This charge applies only when DDS Transport is required for the service configuration of the customer. One transport termination charge applies at each end of the service.

Proposed rates and charges for DDS are as follows:

	Nonrecurring Charge	Monthly Rates

Brackett ISD Campus And Advisory Committee Members

Parent and community leader input is being sought by Superintendent Bobby D. McCall on Campus level improvement committees and on the District Advisory Committee. Nomination forms are being sent home this week with Brackett ISD students. Three separate committees on the campus level will be formed which will include Mittie E. Jones Elementary, Brackett Middle School, and Brackett High School. A District Advisory Committee will also be formed to give input at the district level.

The committees will include administrators, parents and community leaders. Parents must have at least one child attending Brackett ISD, must live within the boundaries of the District and must not have a spouse working for the school district. A Community Leader is defined as one who does not have children attending Brackett ISD and who lives within the boundaries of the school district.

Self nomination forms are available at the district level office as well as the forms that children will bring home with them. The deadline for submission of the form is noon on Thursday, December 17. Those who would like to nominate themselves to serve on one of the school improvement committees should complete the form by the deadline and bring it or mail it to the school district office at the following address:

Brackett Independent School District
Bobby D. McCall, Superintendent
P.O. Box 586
Brackettville, Texas 78832

Questions on the self nomination process should be directed to the superintendent's office. After the nomination forms are received in the central office, parent and community members will be appointed to the various committees by the superintendent, principals, and teachers serving on the committees.

The adults that are selected for the committees will be a part of an overall process called-site based decision making. Community involvement in management or decision making is mandated by the state education department. Brackett ISD has recently completed its site based management plan, and the written process in the form of a plan has received approval from the Texas Education Agency. Many Texas school districts are still trying to get approval of their plans in Austin. Brackett involved educators, parents and community leaders in its approach to site based management. Site based committees will be involved in planning based on accreditation criteria or excellence indicators. Decisions of the committees will take into account the aspirations, goals, and resources of the community and will be directly related to the campus and district mission statements.

Site based decision making will focus on the following areas: curriculum, instruction, student performance, staff, student management, school and community relations, budget, supplies, materials, and equipment. This list is most important to the Brackett School District and more importantly to the students who attend the schools. I hope that you will think about filling in the nomination form and volunteering to help with this project. Parental and community involvement in the public schools of Texas is vital as we work together to try to give a better education to the children of this state. Together, we can make a difference!

Tigerettes Lose In Overtime To Eagle Pass

Last Tuesday evening Brackett traveled to Eagle Pass to take on their 5-A AAAA border rivals.

The Tigerettes certainly gave their opponents a worthy matchup. Both teams got off to a slow start in the opening quarter as Eagle Pass went up by one at 6 - 5. Brackett trailed late in the final period but came back to tie the game to end regulation. The Lady Eagles converted on Tigerette turnovers in overtime to take a 48 - 39 victory.

Wendy McDaniel scored a total of 20 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. Tanya Frerich was hot from the perimeter as well scoring 6 points as did Nina Gonzalez. Theresa Terrazas scored 4 and 6 steals, Dee Frerich 3, and 9 rebounds.

Eagle Pass Pounds Tigers

The Tigers had their hands full and were pummeled 80 - 38 by the experienced Eagles. By just scoring 17 points to their 46 at halftime, it was all over from there.

Lynn Floyd scored 21 points and had 10 rebounds to lead the Tigers. J. J. Sandoval got into foul trouble early in the game but performed very well by scoring 11 and grabbing 15 rebounds. Jesse Terrazas scored 4 points and showed unselfish play by giving the ball up for 13 assists. Victor Sanchez added a basket.

Nueces Canyon Tourney

Tigerettes - 2nd

The Tigerettes opened up the 12th annual Nueces Canyon Invitational against the Knippa Crushers in the first round. After a slow first quarter, the Tigerettes came storming back for a 56 - 36 lopsided victory. Seniors Theresa Terrazas and Wendy McDaniel were leading scorers with 16 apiece.

In the second round, it was another "no contest" for the Tigerettes as they shut down the Sabinal Yellowjackets 65 - 47. That earned them a trip to the final round.

Brackett then faced the defending champions from last year's tournament - the Utopia Lady Buffalos. After a usual slow first quarter, the Tigerettes picked up the pace and went into the locker room with a 25 - 16 lead.

After a couple of questionable calls from the officials, the Buffalos took the momentum in the third quarter by outscoring Brackett 24 - 11 in the second half, and took the championship.

McDaniel once again led the team in points with 13 and 15 rebounds. Terrazas and Dee Frerich scored 17, Kim Ahrens 4, Tanya Frerich and Nina Gonzalez 2, and Myrna Gonzalez added a free throw.

McDaniel and Terrazas were both named to the All-Tournament team. Congratulations, Tigerettes!

Tigers Lose Consolation

The Tigers opened up against Knippa but weren't as fortunate as the Tigerettes. They lost 77 - 29. Floyd scored 10, Terrazas 6, Sandoval and Matthew Rocha 4, Mike Munoz and Victor Sanchez 2, with Ruben Terrazas adding a free throw.

In the second round, the Tigers met Sabinal. Brackett held the lead until early in the second half as the Jackets outscored Brackett 18 - 8. Things seemed to have gotten worse until late in the third quarter. Down 43 - 29, the Tigers rallied for a 31 point fourth quarter. With just under 2 minutes to play, the Tigers made their biggest comeback of the early season.

Jesse Terrazas hit a 3-point basket with seconds remaining to end regulation with a tie. Ricky Flores made a perfect 4 out of 4 free throws to help his team outscore Sabinal 9 - 6 in overtime for a 60 - 66 victory.

J. J. Sandoval scored a career high 30 points for the Tigers. Floyd had 15, Jesse Terrazas 8, Ricky Flores 7, Victor Sanchez 6, and Ruben Terrazas 3.

Brackett met up with Utopia in the Consolation round. After a 20 - 5 first quarter deficit, the Tigers had to play catch-up for the rest of the game.

After an almost remarkable cometack, the Tigers lost 65 - 58. Floyd was high point with 19, Jesse Terrazas scored in double figures with 13, Sanchez 7, Kelly Henrich and Sandoval (who got in early foul trouble) was held with 4, and Ruben Terrazas, Munoz, and Rocha each contributed two.

Natasha's Stars

ARIES (March 21-April 19) With an important decision behind you, it's time to concentrate on financial matters. Although you will be tempted to overspend this holiday season, try to set a realistic budget.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You've had enough of "flying solo," and will be in a more sociable mood this week. Take advantage of social invitations winging your way. Be sure to keep an eye on a jealous coworker whose behind-the-scenes scheming might trip you up.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is a good week to pay more attention to serious matters on the work front. At home, all will be harmonious, and you'll find yourself looking forward to the holidays ahead. Spend some time this weekend spiffing up your home and reorganizing.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Romance is definitely in your stars this week, so enjoy this special time. Someone who had seemed elusive in the past seems to be seeing you in a new light, and you bask in the glow. At home and at work, you find yourself tackling tasks with a renewed vigor.

LEO (July 23-August 22) The beginning of the week may not find you in the best of moods, but don't inflict this on coworkers. Family members sense this as well. By week's end, you'll be smiling again. The weekend is good to just stretch out and relax.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Although disappointment has you down, heed the advice of someone who just may be onto an acceptable solution. Others look to you to find answers to their problems, but don't burn yourself out. It's time to fill your own needs right now.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) You may feel somewhat unbalanced in the beginning of the week, but don't let this throw you into a panic. As you know, the pendulum always swings in the other direction to straighten things out. A loved one has a problem only you can solve this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) If at all possible, try to get some time off this week. You have really been burning the midnight oil with work, but there's more to life than that. Refocus on family and friends this weekend. They will all be grateful for your attention.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) A loved one disapproves of your recent behavior, but take heart. You can straighten everything out once you admit your wrongdoing. The middle of the week will be somewhat hectic at work, but by week's end, your schedule clears, and a relaxing weekend looms.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) You may be concerned this week with a loved one's spending, but your fears are unwarranted. Purchases made now won't threaten any security. A coworker may disagree with how you handle a work problem, but you're on the right track.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) This isn't a good time to give in to the Peter Pan in you, as others are counting on you. Use that sharp mind to address problems at work and at home. The weekend looks good for getting out and about.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You are all work and no play this week, which will irritate a loved one. Don't fight back. This person only has your best interests at heart. It's high time you get some much-needed rest. You know how you get when you're overtired.

An anonymous individual has offered to pay, directly to a Veterinarian, all costs involved in neutering Reyna, if the adoptee so wishes. Reyna has a family with her: three Labrador mixed puppies nine weeks of age, healthy, frisky and adorable and in need of a special holiday home. "Bandit" is white with a black and brown "mask", "Tanner" is fuzzy and tan in color and "Motley" is a kaleidoscope of dark hues.

Also in residence is an Australian Shepherd female, age unknown. She is named "Star" because of her facial features. She loves attention and is extremely lovable.

SCOTT & WHITE OPTIONS FOR HEALTH

Preparing for the Big Chill

Katherine M. Jew, M.D.
Department of Internal Medicine at Scott & White Santa Fe Center and Assistant Professor of Medicine, Texas A&M University Health Science Center

Q: Can hypothermia pose a problem for individuals in the south? What can you do to prevent this condition?

A: Cold weather can be a threat to our health, even in Texas. If the body's central or core temperature dips to, or below 95° F, a person's health may be affected. This condition is referred to medically as hypothermia.

The normal body temperature for most people is 98.6° F. When the body temperature drops to 90-95° F, a person is considered to be experiencing mild hypothermia. If a person's body temperature dips to 86-89° F, moderate hypothermia is the term for the condition, and if the temperature falls to less than 86° F, the person is in a severe hypothermic state.

In addition to a low body temperature, symptoms of hypothermia may include any combination of the following:

- Pale, puffy skin
- Low blood pressure (medically referred to as hypotension)
- Slowed heart rate

- Heart rhythm problems (or arrhythmias)
- Aspiration (inhaling stomach contents into the lungs)
- Shortness of breath
- Decreased alertness and/or mental confusion
- Decreased reflexes and/or slowed speech
- Decreased pupil reactions (pupils in eyes not dilating appropriately)
- Decreased or increased urination
- Low blood counts (decreased platelets and white blood counts)
- Acidosis or reduced alkalinity of the blood and body tissue
- Cessation or stopping of breathing (medically referred to as apnea)

There are simple precautions that can be taken to avoid hypothermia. Follow an adequate diet that includes enough calories to produce the necessary body heat. In addition, it is important to avoid alcohol and other drugs which predispose people to hypothermia, unless prescribed by and discussed with a physician. Wear sufficiently warm clothes to prevent heat loss (layered clothing helps to prevent heat loss). Check to make sure that living quarters are well insulated and heated. It is a good idea to obtain qualified medical care for other illnesses or conditions that lead to increased risk of hypothermia. Finally, it is important to exercise consistently to improve body temperature regulation.

If you think someone is experiencing hypothermia, take the following steps:

- Remove any wet clothing
- Wrap the person in warm blankets and give him something warm to drink (liquids should only be given if the individual is totally alert).
- Get the person to an emergency room. Hypothermia is a medical emergency and should be treated as such.

Medical treatment for hypothermia depends on the complications and the severity of the patient's condition.

Meditations

Many people remember the name Nat King Cole. That Black Man won the acclaim of millions of people by his music.

Mr. Cole once had to enter a hospital for cancer surgery. His mother lived in another city and was on her way to the airport to take a flight so she could be with her son.

Mrs. Cole had a flat tire on the way to the airport. A Methodist pastor drove along the route, stopped, changed the tire, and then refused to take any money for the service.

The lady asked for the man's name and address. A few days later a truck backed up to the Methodist pastor's home with a large television set.

The pastor said to the driver, "You've made a mistake. I didn't order this!"

The delivery man smiled as he said, "No you didn't, but here's a note from Nat King Cole in which he asks us to deliver this television to you with his thanks for helping his mother when she had a flat on her car"

A long time ago Solomon wrote in Ecclesiastes something about "casting bread upon the water" which returns in time. Try doing something worthwhile for someone along the trail of life and you'll be rewarded for it.

You may not get a new car, a television set, or even a thank-you note. And yet, deep within you'll receive a new sense of joy at having done some deed to bless another. Additionally, God sees what we do, and He pays in big dividends those who honor Him and help others.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL WINTER VISITOR WELCOME PARTY

The Bottom Line:
Open Lines Of Communication
Are Important

When dealing with a technical, often misunderstood subject such as radioactive waste, open and truthful communication between a company and its neighbors is critical. That's why we have published and mailed newsletters, placed copies of our application in three different public locations, made speeches, answered all media inquiries and more. Our office is always open to anyone with questions about anything related to our proposed operations. And if you call ahead and let us know you're coming, we'll have a fresh pot of coffee waiting for you.
