Answers to some taxing questions

Several weeks ago, in this column, I outlined a number of proposed tax reductions under consideration in Congress. While our sights remain fixed on finding a way to balance the federal budget; tax relief is high on readers' minds

The possible cuts outlined were estate tax relief, child tax credit; capital gains tax cut, education tax cut, and individual retirement accounts. Then I asked you to tell me which cuts were most important to you.

I received a number of interesting comments that I will share later in this column, but first a brief review of your priorities.

Responding to the questions about estate taxes, one person wrote, "There really should not be any estate taxes. Taxes already have been paid once in accumulating the estate."

The second most popular taxcut proposal was capital gains tax. A family wrote, "Capital gains should take inflation into consideration. After holding something for a good many years, your 'gains' actually are losses."

About phasing out limits on IRAs, one person wrote, "This suggestion sounds good in that you could pay taxes on what you contribute up front, but be allowed tax-free withdrawals. Quite often today, what older folks thought would be enough to live on turns out not to go far enough."

A few weeks later, he put in a frantic call to the company he had ordered from.

"Oh, you must not have read the instructions," the factory rep said. "You don't take away the scaffolding until you put up the wallpaper!"

Bubba and Thurmon were having another of those deep personal conversations about their love-lives.

"I can't make up muh mind," Bubba said, "whether to marry this here wealthy widder that I don't really love or to marry this here poor girl that I really do love very much."

"Why, happiness is better than wealth," Thurmon said. "You better listen to your heart and marry that gal you love instead of hitching up with some woman just because she has got money."

"You're right, Thurmon," Bubba said. "By golly, I'm gonna marry the poor girl."

"In that case," Thurmon asked, "how 'bout giving me that widder's phone number?"

Rocksprings to host rodeo this weekend

ROCKSPRINGS - It will be an action-packed Fourth of July celebration weekend here as Rocksprings hosts one of the state's largest amateur Open Rodeos with performances on Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m.

This rodeo, which informally began in the late 1800s, is sponsored by the Edwards County Fair Association.

Events include bullriding, bareback and saddle-bronc riding, barrel racing for the ladies, tie-down calf roping, including a special section of this event for juniors, and county-wide and adjoining county team roping featuring local cowboys.

Spotlights will turn to the kids when the "mutton bustin" begins. This event gives youngsters age 10 and under a chance to demonstrate their growing cowboy skills by attempting to ride a sheep.

Also slated are dances each night from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m., with Richard Wolfe and the Magic River Band.

The celebration begins Saturday at 11 a.m. with a parade, which travels around the historic square in Rocksprings then continues to its finale at the Edwards County Fairgrounds. Cash prizes are given to division winners of the parade.

Visitors may attend the Old Settlers Reunion, which is held after the parade at the fairgrounds. Rocksprings' tradition each year names a queen.

The queen's family history of life in the area is read, then displayed through old photos and family heirlooms. This reception is held at the fairgrounds at the Edwards County Park Building.

Also on Saturday is the crowning of the new Miss Edwards County. This year, four young ladies will vie for title. The winner will receive a scholarship from the Edwards County Chamber of Commerce.

event is $5 for adults and $1 for kids.

Stella was the mother of a large family and a great help to her husband. She was a hard worker, whether in the public sector or at home.

She was a devoted mother and, in turn, was deeply loved by her children. Seldom have I known a large family so concerned and caring for a mother.

She will be sorely missed by her family. Surely, Stella Guajardo was an Unsung Hero.
